STATE FEDERATION OF CLUBS HELD AT DETROIT

In speaking to the Ladies of the State Federation of Womens Clubs now in session at Detroit, Prof. Roth said "you are the only body in Michigan which represents the people. Political bodies which should represent cliques." Prof. Roth is head of the forestry school of the U. of M. and gave a very fine address Wednesday afternoon. He further said "you women have done more for progress in the best sense not in the sense of making money, but in the sense of high ideals and all that makes happiness, than any other force in the state. When your chairman Mrs. L. L. Mautner comes to me for advice, I go away richer for my meeting with her when the men turned me out she took me in."

Mrs. Edith C. Minger of Hart made a plea for birds and upbraided women for wearing breasts and wings on their hats. Mrs. Howard Warren wife of the professor of psychology at Princeton, president of the New Jersey Federation of Womens Clubs scored the the ladies right and left on puffs, false hair, long hat pins, styles of dress and lack of manners, in fact the ladies were utterly lawless in spirit. To most people it is hard to discover how such an address would do much good No doubt she is more fortunate than many of her sisters and has a good head of hair and when attending the reception her dress was modish if not extrene. She also recommended a saner Christmas that the poorer classes might not be forced to give gifts that they cannot afford and much more in the same strain.

Many other addresses were given that were heartily applauded. The financial condition of the State Federation is good their being a ballance of $500 now in the treasury.

KNOWLEDGE IT

Tecumseh Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove it

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Tecumseh given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidney in good health since, can be relied upon to preform the same work in other cases. Read this

W. C. Witherell, W. Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I publicly expressed some years ago and I willingly confirm all I have previously said in their praise. I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips and often after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that my trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I Read of Doans Kidney Pills, I obtained a supply at Wright & Son's Drug Store and the contents of a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken this preparation and the results have been pleasing."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Rember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Iceland's Minerals.

Besides gold and copper, silver has also been discovered in Iceland by a French engineer. The mines are situated in the mountain of Ingolfsfjall, in the environs of Oelfus, South Iceland. The mountain belongs to some farmers, and an engineer, on behalf of a French company, has purchased the right of digging. English companies have now rented certain Icelandic districts where gold mines were discovered.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. la Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 2.402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

NO NEWS FROM TRIPOLI

Turko-Italian War Eclipsed by Chinese Rebellion.

Italy to Garrison Towns of North African Coast with 70,000 Troops —Turks Are Starving.

London, Oct. 16.—Italy's anemic and newsless war has been thrust still further into the background of public interest by the Chinese rebellion.

In the complete absence of news of hostilities, for even the oft-sunk Turkish "warships" no longer figure in the daily dispatches, the struggle between Italy and Turkey, so far as print is concerned, is confined to speculation on peace possibilities and the outcome of the situation in the Balkans, together with Italy's prospects in north Africa if the state of war continues.

Information comes from Rome to the effect that the headquarters of the revolutionary forces will be at Bengazi which, with Derna and Tobruk, will be strongly garrisoned. The estimated strength required for the garrisons of the coast towns is estimated at 10,000. The present army of occupation, numbering 50,000, will be reinforced in November and brought up to 65,000 or 70,000. The expenses of the expeditionary forces in the first two months is calculated at $60,000,000.

Despite optimistic reports and reassuring official announcements the Turkish garrison in the hinterland of Tripoli is starving and in no condition to offer serious resistance. The government is greatly preoccupied and the war office realizes fully that the problem is most difficult and dangerous.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—Princess Patricia of Connaught is to be conspicuous at functions in Riddau Hall, where her father, Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, has just taken up his residence as governor general of Canada. The first name of Princess Patricia is really Victoria, but as she was born on St. Patrick's day (March 17, 1886), Patrica was added in honor of the patron saint of Ireland. The princess' only sister is the wife of the crown prince of Sweden, Gustavus Adolphus.

GIRL DEFENDS MOTHER

Progress of Stannard Trial in Ontonagon, Mich.

Daughter Denies Allegations of Prosecution and Proves Strong Witness for Defense.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 23.—Elaine Stannard, fifteen years old, cool and unwavering under an examination that would have taxed the strength of an adult, was a hostile witness for the prosecution at the trial of her mother, Mrs. Laura Stannard, who is charged with causing the death of her husband, Charles Sumner Stannard, March 26, last, by strychnine poisoning.

The girl denied that she heard any talk about poisoned coffee the morning of her father's death; denied that she heard her mother before breakfast say anything about putting an anti-drunkenness powder in Stannard's coffee; denied that she heard her brother Alvah ask her mother what had been the matter with Stannard's coffee and while admitting that her mother took a drink out of the same cup that her father had used for coffee, denied that her mother had called the attention of the witness and her brother Alvah to the fact that it was the same cup.

Other witnesses who testified were Dr. Victor C. Vaughan of Ann Arbor, who said that he traced strychnine in the stomach, liver and blood of Stannard, and William Ninnis, who testified that when he reached the Stannard home after Stannard's death, Mrs. Stannard was crying violently and lying on the bed beside her husband's body.

RICHESON HAD ONE MORE GIRL

Understood to Be Engaged to One near Haverhill.

AVIS LINNELL AND TROUSSEAU

Dead Girl Worked Upon it from Time Her Engagement Became Known Until She Met Sudden Death by Poisoning in Boston.

New York, Oct. 23.—Rev. Clarence V. T Richeson was reported to be engaged to a young woman in or near Haverhill, Mass., two years ago, according to the story told to Miss Helen Margaret Crosby, a junior at Barnard college and a close friend of Avis Linnell.

A young woman in the neighborhood of Haverhill and also a Barnard student, on meeting Miss Crosby at the college one day and learning that she was from Hyannis, asked if she knew Richeson. Miss Crosby said that she had met him a few times as the fiancee of her friend, Miss Linnell. The other student then told of Richeson coming to Haverhill for a two or three weeks' stay two years ago and of his meeting there, or in Georgetown near by, a young girl. The two became very close friends, according to the story told Miss Crosby and when Richeson left after his short stay it was understood by the young woman's friends that she was engaged to be married to the minister.

The Hyannis high school, from which Miss Linnell was graduated with the clas of 1908, has among its students young men and women from several surrounding villages. It is what they call the town high school for the township of Barnstable. It was thus that Miss Crosby met Miss Linnell and became intimately acquainted with her.

Avis Linnell told Miss Crosby of her engagement to the minister in August, 1909. She said that the marriage was not to take place for some time, as she wanted to study music for a time first. Miss Linnell also told many of her other friends and so made it generally understood that she and the minister were engaged and she displayed her ring to them. In all Miss Linnell brought Richeson three times to call at the Crosby home in Centreville. On each occasion the engagement was mentioned.

Miss Crosby saw Avis Linnell for the last time shortly before returning to college this fall. The meeting was only for a minute and nothing was said definitely about the coming marriage. There was nothing in Miss Linnell's manner, however, to indicate that she did not expect the wedding to take place.

Meanwhile, Richeson's engagement to Miss Edmands had been published in the Boston newspapers and Miss Linnell's friends understood from it that her engagement to the minister was off. The young woman, however, continued with her preparations, which she had begun at the time she told of her engagement. She had had considerable clothing made and had done much work herself in getting her trousseau ready. The friends of the girl did not understand her position in the matter of Richeson's engagement to Miss Edmands, but she seemed to them to believe that the whole matter of the announcement had been a mistake.

CO-OPERATIVE COLONY

Forty Missouri Families Will Try the Experiment.

If Socialist Scheme Succeeds Similar Colonies Will Be Established Near All Big Cities.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23.—A co-operative colony of forty families near Independence, Mo., a suburb of Kansas City, will be started next spring. Socialists from all over the United States have been in Kansas City the past week working out the scheme. They have purchased a site of thirty-five acres on which the colony will be established.

Although the plan is promoted by the socialists and is a part of a national socialistic program for establishing such colonies near every large city in the United States, it is not for socialists only, but for any person who desires to become a member of a co-operative colony.

The colony here will be the headquarters for the national movement, and the socialists, establishing colonies in other places, will make their headquarters here.

NEGRO'S HEARING IN JAIL

Wheaton Officials Fear Race Riot Because of Attack on Marshal.

Wheaton, Ill., Oct. 23.—Fear of a race riot caused a magistrate to hold a negro's preliminary hearing in the jail here. Audrey Medley was held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Medley and Lloyd Hunt, another negro, had been arrested for an alleged attack on Mabel Brente. Medley was dismissed and Hunt held. As Marshal E. Hinger and A. L. Hawkes were taking Hunt to jail, Charles Hunt, a brother, and Medley attacked them. Charles Hunt escaped, but Medley was caught. Feeling was raised to a high pitch.

Fifteen Thousand Revolutionists Attack General Yin Tchang's Troops in Mountain Pass and Win Decisive Victory.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—The Chinese Free Press received the following cables from Shanghai:

"Shanghai—Big engagement between revolutionary forces and the imperial army. Fifteen thousand revolutionists attacked army of General Yin Tchang in Hankin Pass, Kwang-Sui, in mountain range between Ho-Pol and Ho-Nan, where General Yin had made his headquarters. Imperial army defeated with great slaughter. Army retreated in rout for twenty miles north. All stores, artillery, guns and ammunition which General Yin had stored there were left behind and captured by revolutionists. It was a great victory for Commander-in-Chief Li Hung Huen, who led the rebel army. The rebels occupy Sha-Gat district and control every mountain pass."

"Hong Kong—Viceroy Chang Min Chi of Quang Tong province has issued an edict forbidding all newspapers to publish any reports of the revolution. People of Canton are greatly aroused at this measure. Viceroy Ching has taken precautions and is an able leader. Inside, the walls of the city are well fortified and the imperialists do not fear an uprising for some time."

QUEUES MUST COME OFF

Educated Chinaman Doubts Reports of Massacre of Manchus.

San Francisco, Oct. 23. — On the door of the imperial Chinese consulate the Chinese revolutionist leaders posted a proclamation calling on all Chinese loyal to the revolution to cut off their queues at once or they would not be known as revolutionists. It is said that the notice was the result of instructions given by the leaders of the revolution in China.

Ton Lui, who until a few months ago was dean of the commercial college in Hankow, says that reports of the massacre of thousands of Manchus at Hankow are impossible. He said:

"In the whole district surrounding Hankow there are not more than 100 Manchus, including men, women and children. In the imperial army which fought against the revolutionists there are perhaps a dozen or so leaders who are Manchus, all the rest being residents of various provinces. The story of the massacre must have been sent out by the imperial authorities to discredit the cause of the revolutionists."

This idea was not largely considered by counsel for the defense. Nevertheless, a vigorous struggle over every man in the jury box is expected.

RECALLED TO END REVOLT

Chinese Imperial Edict Restores Yuan Shi-Kai to Power.

Peking, Oct. 16.—Yuan Shi-Kai, formerly grand councillor and commander in chief of the army, and navy, who was dismissed from power and banished from the capital some three years ago, was recalled and made viceroy of Hu-Peh and Hunan provinces.

This action, taken by imperial edict, indicates the plight of the Manchu administration. Figuratively speaking, Yuan Shi-Kai is their last and best card. He is known as a strong man, and it was he who first organised the northern modern army. It is believed that he is the only man around whom the troops will rally, but it is uncertain whether he will accept the appointment, or, in accepting, can prevent the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty.

KNOWLEDGE IT

Tecumseh Has to Bow to the Inevitable—So[illegible] Citizens Prove it

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Tecumseh given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidney in good health since, can be relied upon to preform the same work in other cases. Read this.

W. C. Witherell, W. Potawatamie St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I publicly expressed some years ago and I willingly confirm all I have previously said in their praise. I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips and often after stooping; a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that my trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I Read of Doans Kidney Pills, I obtained a supply at Wright & Son's Drug Store and the contents of a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken this preparation and the results have been pleasing."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Rember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the welfare of your bowels. There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this results indigestion, piles, weariness, etc., that women constantly complain of. But there is no use taking "female remedies" and things of that kind until you have started your bowels to moving. You will find that when the bowels move regularly once or twice a day all your petty ills will disappear. Take a good, mild laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for awhile and you will find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will regulate themselves and work at stated times, and then your headaches and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartic pills or salts, but just such a mild and pleasant-tasting remedy as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

You can obtain a bottle of your druggist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cured them and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child, but if you have never used it take the advice of Mrs. Earl B. Cox, 409 Twenty-fifth street, Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Ellen Dungan, Muncie, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That it will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

H. L. WHEELAN BOUGHT A HOUSE

Says, However, Money Did Not Come from Lorimer Vote.

CLAIMS TO HAVE BORROWED IT

Tells of Getting $700 from One Friend, $300 from Another, and Says His Wife Contributed a Certain Amount.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—One more member of the Illinois legislature, Representative Henry L. Wheelan of Rock Island, a Democrat, denied before the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate that he had received money for his vote for Senator Lorimer in 1909.

Mr. Wheelan was called before the committee to explain the purchase of a $1,900 house shortly after the senatorial election. He denies that the $1,900 represented $1,000 Lorimer money and $900 from the legislative jack-pot.

In paying for the house, Mr. Wheelan said, he borrowed $700 from J. K. Scott, a Rock Island attorney, and $300 from Thomas Cox, also of Rock Island. He paid $1,200 cash and $700 by check, the $1,200 consisting of the $1,000 borrowed from Scott and Cox and additional $200 contributed by Mrs. Wheelan, and the $700 check being drawn on an account in a Rock Island bank.

The witness admitted that he could not offer in evidence either of the notes which he gave Scott and Cox. He said he paid back the $300 borrowed from Cox and paid part of the $700 borrowed from Scott and destroyed both of the original notes. A new note for the balance due Scott was given a year ago, about the time the former senatorial investigation committee was in session in Chicago.

In explaining his vote, Mr. Wheelan said that Patrick Walsh and Patrick McCarthy of Davenport, Ia., contractors formerly associated in business with the Illinois senator, and John L. Hughes of the Lorimer construction company, asked him about ten days before the end of the senatorial deadlock to vote for Mr. Lorimer. He said he told them that he would vote for Mr. Lorimer any time enough Democratic votes could be obtained to elect him.

TELLS OF BRIBE OFFER

Declares He Was Told He "Could Have Anything He Wanted."

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 23.—Two of the three Democratic assemblymen who absented themselves from the legislature March 4, 1909, and thus gave Senator Isaac Stephenson a majority sufficient to elect him, were before the senatorial investigation committee. One of the three is dead.

John T. Farrell said that he was eating dinner outside of the capitol building when Senator Stephenson was elected. He attributed his attitude to indifference. Silas A. Towne, another member, declared he had come to the conclusion that it was useless to try to elect a Democratic senator. Both denied that they had received any consideration for remaining away.

Peter F. Leuch said that before the five weeks' deadlock was broken, he had been told by David Davies, a Stephenson supporter, that he could have "anything he wanted if he voted for Stephenson." He said he did not pursue the offer further.

It was announced that Edward Hines, the lumberman, would be summoned early this week.

Negro Is Trapped by Young Girl He Wrote Letter To.

Hiawatha, Kan., Oct. 22. — Edward Walthall, a negro, barely escaped lynching following his arrest on a charge of writing an improper letter to Miss Virgil Sarver, who had been induced by the authorities to agree to meet the negro.

As Walthall came in sight the young woman's father threw a rope about his neck and with others attempted to string the negro up. Officers took the negro away in safety. Walthall is believed to be demented, following his participation in the lynching of the murderer of his brother several years ago.

Legislator John T. Farrell Testifies in Stephenson Investigation.

"It has been charged that you received money for absenting yourself. Is that true?" asked Senator Heyburn.

"It is not true," replied Farrell, "nor did anyone offer me anything to absent myself."

PRESIDENT EATS BUFFALO STEAK

Bison Are Killed by Indians with Bows and Arrows.

Nearly Every Member of Taft's Part Takes Chance to Win Farm—Quiet Sunday in Pierre—Seventy-Mile Ride Over Prairie.

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 23.—Buffalo steak from bison killed by Indians with bows and arrows was served to President Taft at a dinner given him by Representative Burke of South Dakota.

There is a herd of about 300 buffalo on a ranch near Pierre and a moving picture company of Chicago rented the herd to secure a picture of a buffalo hunt. Indians from the Rosebud Indian reservation and cowboys were sent among the herd and two of the flock killed by Indians and dressed. It was this meat which the president ate. More of it was placed on the president's car.

A delegation of boosters from the Rosebud Indian reservation came over to see the president. They made the distance, somewhat over a hundred miles, in automobiles. Nearly all of them were bundled in shaggy buffalo and bearskin coats and they looked fit citizens to force the white man's civilization on the new land as they walked up to the trig Major Butt and called out their names for introduction to the president. A big tract of land has recently been opened up in the Rosebud reservation and the boosters are trying to build an Alladin's land there.

Nearly every member of the president's party went up to the land office at Rapid City, S. D., and paid 25 cents for a chance in the land lottery. Winners receive 160 acres of land, and conversation on board the Taft special sounded like a landlord's convention. Wisdom gained later, however, shows that to get the land, even after winning in the lottery, requires a fourteen months' residence there and the payment of $6 an acre. That was a bad jolt to the comfortable spirit of proprietorship.

The president came nearer to enjoying a real rest than he has on any Sunday of this trip. With the exception of a speech on his arbitration treaties delivered at the auditorium in the afternoon, he was free from public functions. In the morning he attended services at the Methodist church as the guest of Governor Vessey, who was also host to Mr. Taft at luncheon. After his speech the president was taken for a seventy-mile automobile ride over the South Dakota prairie.

Mr. Taft spent the night at the residence of Representative Burke.

PLAN $30,000,000 STATION

Scheme for Gigantic Terminal for Thirteen Railroads in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—A new plan for the proposed Chicago and Western Indiana railroad terminal, to replace the old Dearborn station, is now under consideration by the railroads. If adopted, it will give Chicago the most complete development of terminal facilities in the country.

As mapped out the scheme is a modification to meet present conditions of the old Delano plan of a series of passenger terminals on Twelfth street. It provides accommodations for thirteen railroads, including not only the seven roads now using the Dearborn station of the Western Indiana but the five roads using the La Salle street terminal and one now using the Illinois central terminal. Estimates have placed the cost of carrying out the entire project at $30,000,000.

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

ANNIVERSARY

OUR 61st BIRTHDAY

The anniversary number of the 61st birthday of The Tecumseh Herald which is issued today is an innovation.

The Herald has always endeavored to be up-to-date, and in touch with the times, hence we are presenting Tecumseh of the present in a pictorial form.

We have received the cooperation and support of our advertisers and friends, far beyond our expectations, in fact, have almost been snowed under, and we here wish to thank each and every one who has made it possible by their help for us to issue this number, both as an historical and pictorial edition.

We have endeavored in the write-ups to give the people an idea of Tecumseh in its early days, quoting freely from a speech given by Judge Stacy before the State Historical Pioneer Society many years ago.

In his closing remarks Father Stacy tells how interested he was in this work and wondered who would continue the history of this village that he loved so well and it is with great pleasure that we have endeavored to continue the work that he began, and regret that space would not permit a more extended history.

The old adage that a bad beginning makes a good ending has been verified in the vicissitudes of the Herald, as its early history records twelve changes during its first year.

With more or less of ups and downs it continued its career, until Oct., 1874, when it was purchased by S. C. and G. N. Stacy, since which time it has remained in the Stacy family, and is now entering its 38th year with the Stacy name at the head of its editorial column.

The Tecumseh Herald is in a prosperous condition, with a fine advertising patronage and a large circulation, owns its own building and plant, and the one thing that goes to make the editor happy is that we are able to discount all our bills.

An extended write-up of The Herald was given a year ago, on its 60th birthday, so we feel it is not necessary to give another at this time.

Mrs G. N. Stacy.

THE TECUMSEH OF

1823 TO 1850

AS GIVEN BY A PIONEER, JUDGE C. A. STACY

Intrepid French explorers who at an early day penetrated the territory which was in later years destined to become the state of Michigan, in the course of their explorations came to the banks of a beautiful river flowing through a country that nature in one of her most generous moods had made beautiful. As they looked on the enchanting scene their gaze turned to the trees which grew on the bank of the river the leaves of which were turned to red and gold by the first frosts of autumn. Festooned among their branches were grape vines bearing clusters of the purple fruit. With one accord the party exclaimed, "Le Raisin!" (the grape, the grape) and thus the river was named "La Rivere au Raisire" or river of grapes.

Such was the scene that met the eyes of Musgrove Evans and it was here he decided to build him a home, the first white habitation in Lenawee county.

Following is a history of Tecumseh taken in part from an address given by Judge C. A. Stacy at a meeting of the pioneer society of Michigan, July 4, 1876.

The founder of Tecumseh was a worthy Quaker, Musgrove Evans. He was a native of Pennsylvania but for several years prior to 1823 had resided in Chaumont, Jefferson county, New York. Like other enterprising men of the day, he caught the western fever and early in the summer of 1823 came to Detroit to "seek his fortune." Here he formed the acquaintance of Austin E. Wing. After obtaining from Mr. Wing what information he could in regards to most desirable localities, he started out to explore the Raisin Valley. Shortly before this time this portion of Michigan had been surveyed and the land placed upon the market. Of this trip by Mr. Evans but little is known as we have neither records nor tradition to enlighten us, but it is known that the Quaker pioneer fell in love with beautiful oak openings around Tecumseh and the splendid hydraulic power afforded by Evans Creek and the River Raisin and he resolved to make this section his future home. He returned to Jefferson county, enlisted his brother-in-law, J. W. Brown, and a few others in the enterprise and made preparations to move his family west in the coming spring. Early in 1824 he, in company with over 20 others left Chaumont, Jefferson county, New York, to take up their abode among the oak openings of the Raisin Valley in Michigan.

The journey was no holiday trip and consumed more time, endured more privations and hardships than a like company would today in traveling from New York to San Francisco.

The party consisted of Musgrove Evans, his wife and five children, General J. W. Brown, Ezra F. Blood, Peter Benson and wife, Turner Stetson and wife, two Fulsoms, father and son, Nathan Rathbone, Peter Lowe, John Boreland, Curtis Page, George Spafford, Levi Baxter and Henry Sloate. They came up lake Ontario to Lewiston and from there to Black Rock near Buffalo. In those days steam navigation was in its infancy, there was but one steamboat on Lake Erie, passenger tickets between Black Rock and Detroit were $20 each. Most people traveling west were unable to pay the fare. The Evans party therefore chartered the schooner Erie (the same craft which went over Niagara Falls afterwards) and sailed for Detroit, disembarking there April 1, 1824.

The men of the party starting on foot for the spot located by Evans the year before. They followed the St. Joe trail to Ypsilanti, traveling single file in Indian fashion from Ypsilanti to Saline and thence to the River Raisin, a mile north of where the village of Clinton now stands. Crossing the river they started in a southwesterly direction, journeying until they came to the creek which bears Evan's name. This they followed to its junction with the Raisin.

Here on the spot where the Globe Mill now stands they found two or three Indian wigwams, here the company passed the night. The next morning they explored the surrounding country and (here they decided to settle down). Three or four days were spent exploring until their store of food became exhausted. They left for Monroe where they expected to meet the remainder of the party, arriving there just at night.

The whole village of Monroe turned out to meet them, for it was a strange sight to witness a company of white men coming into Monroe from the west. Here they met the women and children of the party who had just arrived from Detroit in a sailboat called the Fire Fly.

Austin E. Wing met them at Monroe and the partnership of Wing, Evans & Brown was formed to secure the location of a county seat at Tecumseh. General Brown and most of the men went back to Detroit and thence east for their families.

Evans hired about 30 men and they proceeded to Tecumseh, clearing a road as they went. They followed the course of an Indian trail until, they reached the east bank of the Raisin about 30 rods from the present site of the Globe mill. The river was too high to ford at this point, so they followed it some distance north and west until evening and here they camped for the night. The next morning they commenced work on a log house, the dimensions of which was about 20 feet square. There was a low garret two logs in height above the ceiling which served as a bedroom for the boys and hired men. There was no floor, as the nearest saw mill was at Monroe. The roof was covered with bark peeled from elm trees and until the next November it was provided with neither chimney or fire place. A bake kettle served the purpose of an oven. A fire was made on the ground, the smoke ascending through a hole in the roof. Mrs. Benson accompanied the party of workmen to prepare meals for them and was the first white woman in Lenawee county. In this house Evans and his wife and children, Peter Benson and wife lived during the summer.

As soon as the house was completed Evans returned to Monroe for his family, packed their household goods and provisions in wagons, secured ox teams and on the first day of June, 1824, the men traveling on foot and the women and children riding in the wagons, they started on the journey for their new home. On the afternoon of the second day, June 22, they arrived at the Evans mansion in Brownville.

Their household utensils were but few and of the rudest kind. They brought no bedsteads with them but a bed was made in each corner of the house by sticking two poles into a hole in each wall supporting the outer ends of the polls where they crossed each other with a block of wood. Tradition tells us that the lord of the house, Musgrove himself, was unceremoniously tumbled out of bed one morning by having the block which formed the corner post knocked from under the two saplings. Rough benches served as chairs. In the following November a floor was laid, a chimney and an outdoor oven and two small shanties were added to the house for two other families had arrived during the winter.

General Brown returned east in July, bringing back his wife and children. George Spafford and his wife had arrived. Brown brought a dozen chairs with him and other articles of household furniture. During the winter of 1824-25 this house afforded a home for Mr. Evans, his wife and children, General Brown, his wife and six children, Peter Benson and wife and George Spafford and wife. This log house was the first in Lenawee county and one of the first ones in Michigan west of Monroe and Detroit. A building was made nearby of tamarack poles, 12 feet square. This was used as a school house, Mrs George Spafford teaching school during the winter.

Among the farming implements brought to the settlement by Mr. Evans was a plow. No crops were put in the first summer except a little corn and wheat and some garden truck. The first plowing took place on the bank of the creek near the spot where A. McNeil's house now stands.

During the summer several other families reached Tecumseh. In June or July James Patchin arrived, locating on land east of Brownsville. Here he resided many years on what is now known as the Jacob G. Robert place. E. P. Champlin settled on land a little west of the Roberts place. Turner Stetson and wife came with the original Evans party, built a house near the present site of the Episcopal church.

The first land bought of the government was in 1823 when Austin Wing entered two lots covering the Brownsville mill privilege. Abner Spafford arrived with his family July 4, 1824, they located their house on the flat a few rods north of the Lake Shore depot. In the fall of 1824 an Indian trader by the name of Knaggs built a small house on the north side of Chicago street and this was the only place of business in Tecumseh. In July or August, Daniel Pitman and family arrived, built a home the next summer, erecting a store and embarked in the mercantile business. Mr. Boreland, his wife and two children, arrived late in the fall and took up their abode with Mr. Blood on his farm where they lived for two years. Horace Wescott and family came about the same time, also Peter Lowe. Jesse Osborn and family arrived here the same fall and to him belongs the honor of taking to the mill the first wheat ground in Tecumseh. Thomas Goodrich and H. R. Clark took up land in the vicinity of Newburg.

We have thus enumerated (as far as we have been able to gather dates) all the people who came to Tecumseh in 1824, the total population numbering about 50.

The mails came from Monroe every week or ten days and during the autumn of 1824 the first saw mill was erected. The site of the saw mill was east of the bridge across the mill dam.

The partnership of Evans, Wing & Brown entered into at Detroit some time before to secure a county seat at Tecumseh. General Brown was sent to visit Governor Cass and the governor appointed a committee of two consisting of C. J. Lammon and Oliver Johnson who visited Tecumseh and approved the location. In the meantime Wing, Evans & Brown entered the land comprising the present village east of Railroad street and north of the Brownville mill. Upon this tract of land the original plat of the village was made.

Musgrove Evans, who was a surveyor, laid out the villiage plat during the summer of 1824. The original plat embraced the territory bounded east by Wyandotte street south by Killbuck, west by L. S. & M. S. railroad and the section line running directly north of the depot and north by a line about 10 rods north of the street leading east from Brownville across the river. The cemetery square was located on the corner of Ottawa and Killbuck streets, the military square on Shawnee street, the court house and park squares on the west side of Maumee street and upon either side of Chicago street.

During 1825 a few new settlers arrived. Among these were Curtis Page and William W. Tilton, two practical carpenters and Thomas Griswold and wife and 4 children. In the spring of 1825 General Brown erected a large frame tavern on the southeast corner of Maumee and Chicago streets and this was kept as a public house for 10 or 12 years and was known as Green Tavern.

Colonel Hickman and Theodore Bissell arrived the same summer. The first religious services were held in the summer of 1825 and were conducted by Rev. Noah M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, services being held in the Brown tavern. The same fall Rev. Bauchman, a Methodist, commenced preaching here and conducted services regularly. Tecumseh being the principal point in his circuit, he received a salary of $100 a year.

In the fall of 1825 a large amount of wheat was sown and in the fall and winter of this year Wing, Evans & Brown started the project of a new grist mill. The first white male child born in the county was George W. Goodrich. This same fall a small frame school house was built on the north side of Chicago street, George Taylor being the first school master.

The grist mill which had been started the previous fall was completed but the project came near being a failure for the lack of mill stones. Fortune, however, favors the brave. About a mile or so from the site of the mill was a large granite boulder. With a drill and wedges two large slabs were split off and worked down into suitable size to answer the purpose. The first wheat ground in this mill was harvested on land just east of the Stacy home.

On July 4, 1826, a celebration was held, the procession forming at Brown's tavern. Daniel Pitman, marshal of the day, rode at the head, mounted on a small bald face pony. Brass bands were not plentiful in those days but music of some kind was necessary, so they got a French fiddler from Monroe and that Frenchman with his fiddle constituted the band. Cake and biscuit made from the new flour ground at the new mill that morning were served by Mrs. Brown at the banquet after the procession.

The first two years of pioneer life in Tecumseh were filled with many privations and trials, many illustrations of these have been given, while many more will never be recorded.

An anecdote told of Capt. Merritt, an early resident, which showed the feeling of the early settlers. Meeting a friend one day in Monroe, he asked him where he lived. "In Tecumseh," he said. "And where is that?" "It is thirty miles from Monroe," he replied, "and forty miles beyond God's blessings." Those of us who have come up from the present generation have but a faint idea of the privations and struggles that the pioneers endured who laid on the banks of the river Raisin the foundation of Tecumseh.

JUDGE C A. STACY

Prominent among the earliest business and professional men of Tecumseh was the Honorable Consider A. Stacy. He was born in Hamilton, Madison county, New York, January 6, 1817. During his youth he had only meagre opportunities for obtaining an education but these he improved to the best advantage. Young Stacy when 17 years of age commenced the study of law coming to Tecumseh in 1836 and for over 50 years was a familiar figure to Tecumseh people. In 1838 he was elected Justice of Peace and served four years. In 1844 he was elected judge of the probate court of Lenawee, serving three terms or 12 years in that capacity. In 1849

In 1850 he was appointed by Governor McClelland as member of the State Board of Education and rendered efficient service in organizing the State Normal school, erecting the first building for its use.

Mr. Stacy served on the school board of Tecumseh 26 successive years, filling the positions of moderator and director. The consolidation of the three separate school districts in the village into the present union district was accomplished through his efforts. In 1852 he entered into a law partnership with Edwin B. Wood which continued 20 years. In 1858 he was the Democratic nominee for congress but was defeated. In 1867 he took as a law partner Scovel C. Stacy, they conducting a law office in Adrian but still resided in Tecumseh. In June, 1886, he was appointed Tecumseh postmaster. Although a man of great business activity whose spare moments were but few Judge Stacy always took the time to advise a friend or console the suffering. His death occurred Nov. 5, 1888.

GENERAL J. W. BROWN

In beautiful Brookside cemetery, marked by a weather-beaten cross surmounted by a shaft, is the grave of one but little known to the present generation of Tecumseh and yet he was one of the first and most active founders of the village.

General J. W. Brown, a native of Pennsylvania, and a brother-in-law of Musgrove Evans, the original founder of Tecumseh, came with him in company with about 20 others to the present site of our beautiful village and they were the first white people in Lenawee county.

From General Brown's first arrival he was actively engaged in the work of advancing the new settlement. The first frame house in the county was built by General Brown and was known as Brown's tavern and was the first public house 60 miles west of Monroe. He was instrumental in the building of the first grist mill and saw mill, was the first judge of Lenawee county and it was he that was sent to interview Governor Cass in regards to a county seat for Lenawee county.

In 1832 General Brown led a command in the campaign of the Black Hawk war composed of several companies of Lenawee and counties as far west as Niles. One company from Adrian, two from Tecumseh and one from Clinton made up Lenawee's quota which took up its line of march by way of Chicago turnpike through Jonesville, Coldwater, Sturgis and were stationed at Niles.

The Indians, however, were overpowered and their fierce chief, Black Hawk, was captured without the aid of the militia. General Brown receiving orders to disband his command, the Lenawee regiment was honorably discharged. The volunteers received from the United States one months' pay and 160 acres of land each. Before General Brown left Tecumseh with his command this order was issued by him, "Take no man with you who is not a volunteer. Let the timid return to their homes," but to their credit not a man left the ranks.

Again in 1834 General Brown was called upon to defend the rights of his adopted state and commanded a regiment in that bloodless affray known as the Toledo war, he being selected by Acting Gov. Mason for this delicate and responsible duty. After being "in camp" for several weeks on the disputed territory, both the Ohio and Michigan forces were withdrawn and the matter left to the decision of congress, Ohio receiving the narrow strip which included the city of Toledo. Michigan was given the upper peninsula which in later years years proved of far greater value than the disputed territory.

Many of the older inhabitants will remember General Brown who spent his declining years in Tecumseh. He was ever ready to relate incidents of early life here and when in the mood tell stories of happenings during his military career. The general made his home for some time at the Central House, a part of this old hostlery still stands on Evans street. Although advanced in years the old military trait to command was still retained by him. An amusing incident of this is related. While a guest at the Central House, the General was used to take for his own an especially easy chair which he occupied a good portion of the time, and upon leaving it giving orders that no other person occupy it. If some luckless individual chanced to seat himself in the General's favorite chair he would soon be startled by a stentorious voice demanding his right of occupancy.

General Brown was a native of Pennsylvania and was born March 26, 1793. His death occurred December 9, 1880, at the advanced age of 87 years.

L. S. & M. S.

The first railroad through Tecumseh was the Jackson branch of the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana R. R. company and had its origin in the Palmyra & Jacksonburg railroad incorporated by an act of Legislature, March 28, 1836. The road was built from Palmyra as far as Clinton. The cars were drawn by horse power on wooden stringers or rails. These were out in a short time and the road was partially abandoned.

In June, 1844, the road was sold to the state and then became a branch of the Michigan Southern railroad running from Monroe, Adrian and Hillsdale. Iron straps were placed on the wooden rails. This was the beginning of what is now known as the Grand Rapids & Toledo division of the New York Central lines. Equipped with the most modern type of trains with an aim to speed and comfort for the traveling public.

In the spring of 1881 work was commenced on the road now known as the C. J. & N. branch of the New York Central lines. It was originally known as the Mackinaw & Ohio and later as a branch of the Cincinnati Northern road.

In 1898 a road was constructed from Lima, O., to Detroit, known as the Detroit and Lima Northern. After some years this road consolidated with the Ohio Southern and extended from Detroit to Ironton, O., under the name of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton. With these three railroad lines extending in every direction, Tecumseh is afforded excellent shipping facilities.

Compared with today's mode of travel that of half a century ago seems rather crude. The following description of a passenger coach is an excellent one. The carriage in which we traveled resembled an omnibus placed at right angles to the track moving sidewise on four wheels. The conductor walked on a platform in front and along the end of the car collecting his fares, hanging by his arms in the window.

From a copy of The Tesumseh Herald of Oct. 20, 1853, the following is taken: From a conversation held a few days since with the engineer in charge of the Jackson branch of the Southern road, we learn that the work is progressing finely. The track from the junction (meaning Lenawee) to Tecumseh is being relaid with heavy rail, the grades altered and bridges rebuilt. This work will be completed at an early day. Beyond Tecumseh the new line is being pushed forward as fast as possible and in a short time the iron horse will exhibit his sterling qualities to the citizens of Clinton. He is a "blooded nag" and always takes the premium.

CLUBS

The Woman's Club movement in Tecumseh has been a great factor in the town's intellectual growth. Literary clubs there were as far back as the memory of the oldest inhabitant reaches, but they were more of the old fashioned "Debating Society" kind, where young and old men and women get together of an evening for a display of oratory and an interchange of wit. A place where all one's intellectual assets were always in evidence and ready for immediate use. The Woman's Club idea was something more of a study class, where it was no disgrace to be ignorant of the exact population of China, nor a sin not to know the heights of the mountains on the surface of the moon. It is also a place where if you do not see what you want on the bargain counter of knowledge, you may ask for it without fear of criticism, and can be assured that a dozen other women will be ready to supply you with the needed information. A little circle of this description was formed by Mrs. Charles Burridge, Sr., in 1894, which has since grown into a large and prosperous federated club, now called the "Research Circle," with a good membership and fine weekly program. In the same year the Monday Club was organized by Mrs. C. A. Wright, with a membership of forty. These two clubs are now beginning their seventeenth year, with Mrs. Milburn Keyser as president of the Research Circle, and Mrs. John F. Hicks as president of the Monday Club. Mrs. George N. Stacy, Mrs. M. E. Cory, Mrs. T. C. Harris, Mrs. N. A. Howland, Mrs. B. J. Garlinghouse, Mrs. F. O. Tefft, Mrs. Wm. Albert and Mrs. Alfred James have also served this club in the same capacity in the order named.

These two clubs are strictly afternoon study clubs, where the history, literature and art of many foreign lands and also of our own country is read and discussed much to the profit of the members. An occasional social afternoon, cheered by a cup of tea, also helps to the better acquaintance of the members.

This seems to be a great improvement on the old way of village social intercourse, which was generally confined to an old fashioned tea party, or a church social where nothing but local news was discussed, sometimes much to the detriment of both narrator and the subject narrated upon.

Tecumseh has also another popular and flourishing semi-literary club—the "Wit and Wisdom"—an evening club to which gentlemen are also eligible. This club with a membership of over forty, is well attended and much enjoyed and as it is not entirely a "feast of reason," but is always a place of more material refreshment, one cause for its popularity is not hard to find. Little private circles and groups of students there are in many neighborhoods who meet regularly for study. These it is difficult to accurately enumerate.

The three leading clubs mentioned number by actual count a little less than two hundred. The others no less than forty, thus making two hundred and forty club folks to a population of twenty-four hundred people which the last census so grudgingly gives us. Therefore when one of every ten souls in the town are studying something of an education nature, it should not be difficult to establish our right to be called a literary community.

VESPER BELLS

By Addie Rogers

Published by request.

Through the strange sweet silence of the summer Sabbath air
I hear thy voice, sweet bell, in call to evening prayer,
"The Lord is in His temple holy."
In thought I see the crowd
Of worshipers with head bent lowly
Before the shrine invisible.

Within my quiet room I sit; the bonds of pain that hold me
I chafe at till I half forget the love that hath controlled me.
O vague desire, and sad unrest,
O questioning heart,
And sinful thoughts but half confessed,
O will unteachable!

And do I need the reverential crowd and priestly word,
The chant of choir, and organ peal,
to tell me of my Lord?
Behold Thy temple, Lord is here.
The curtain of Thy holy place
Scarce veils Thy presence drawing near,
The grace and love ineffable.

Again I hear, "Let all the earth keep silence before Him."
And penitent, I bow to confess Him and adore Him.
Before Thy altar, Lord I bring
My heart, O cleanse it pure
From sin, and make it meet for offering
A sacrifice acceptable.

Ring on, sweet bell, I lift mine eyes;
The beauty of the earth, the glory of the sunset skies,
Ever more shall speak to me
Of the temple's sacrifice,
Of other glories yet to be
By faith attainable.

THE REPORTER

I think that the general public supposes
That the editor's life is a garden of roses,
With never a thorn, or a slug, or a blight,
But just one continued round of delight.
That his ideas flow, in a clear steady stream
And when he can't think, he has only to dream—
That the light of his genius—a magical taper,
Illumines each line that appears in his paper,
Like the mill in the story, he only says grind
A wonderful grist of fine copy to find.
That his patrons, with tender affection just pat him,
And never a word of complaining throw at him.
Faith, this would be bliss could it only be true
And the Editor willing, would share it with you;
But keep your delusion, although its absurd,
The Editor's story is yet to be heard.
Yet this newspaper work has its own fascination,
Although it oft brings us both pain and vexation.
In its broad field of action, we meet one another
With hand clasped in hand, greet a friend and a brother.
Today we present you a souvenir sheet,
That we have endeavored to make most complete,
With notes and with comments, historic and clear,
To show you the age of The Herald
this year,
And to show you with pride how Tecumseh appears
In the wonderful changes of sixty-one years.
Thus the Editor speaks, and I, the reporter,
Endeavor to act as a sort of supporter,
To give of my time and my talent the best,
With patience to listen to every request;
To tell you where Tom, Dick and Harry are going
When farmers are plowing, are reaping or sowing;
When this club, or that, has its very next meeting,
Or which club in baseball the record is beating;
To furnish good "copy" and that in full measure,
To please every reader, no malice to treasure;
To aid and assist with a hearty good will,
Each page of the paper with matter to fill.
When the Editor's work, and reporter's is done,
When fast through the press, the last paper is run,
Then back to their task, ere the close of the day,
For the next must be planned ere the week flies away.

HOME OF S. W. TEMPLE.

S. W. TEMPLE

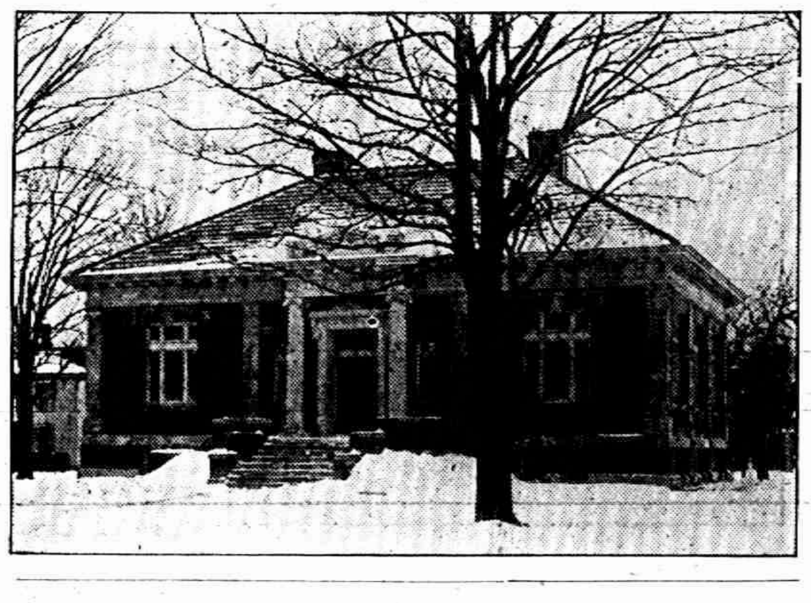
S. W. Temple arrived in Tecumseh from his home in Vermont in June 1869, and his reminescences of these early days are very interesting.

He recalls how at that time wild cat money was afloat, and one had to go about with a small book to consult before taking the bills.

There was one small bank run by Mr. Rayner of Monroe, which later came under the control of Perley Bills, who run it for several years, when a State bank was formed with Peter R. Adams as President. Next it was run under the management of Lilley Bidwell & Co. and today is known as the Lilley State Bank with a fine corps of officers. Another bank was started later by P. R. Adams which lasted but a short time. Through the energy and pluck of C. R. Miller and J. H. Smith another bank was started that today is known as the State Savings Bank, and today we have two of the best banks in the State, and wild cat money is no more a menace to the community.

Mr. Temple began working at his trade, that of house carpenter, at the munificent sum of 75c per. day. In 1863 he started business for himself and by persistent effort soon had a planing mill and large lumber yard. In 1887 he sold this business to an Ohio & Michigan Co, retaining an intrest for a number of years.

A few years since he and his youngest son, Leon E. Temple formed a partnership under the head of "S. W. & L. E. Temple and are doing a large business. They have a fine trade in farming implements, coal and wood, tile and cement, and keep a full supply of groceries and provisions in the brick store on the corner of Railroad and Shawnee Streets where they have their general office.



TECUMSEH PUBLIC LIBRARY.

It was a great day for Tecumseh when on February 10, 1905, the new library building was dedicated to the education and enjoyment of the people, with President James B. Angell, of the University of Michigan, as the guest of honor. The beautiful little building with furniture complete was then for the first time opened to the public. It was the beginning of the third epoch in the history of our library.

In the spring of 1883, certain public spirited citizens of Tecumseh felt so strongly the need of a library that they met and formed themselves into a Library Association. At a meeting called by Mr. A. W. Mills, on April 26th, a constitution was adopted, officers elected, and it was [illegible] to the articles of incorporation with the county clerk. The first officers were President—F. S. McKinnon.

Vice President—Louisa Kahler.
Secretary—Clara Hayden.
Treasurer—[illegible] P. Bills.
Collector—Jennie Rosacrans.

Funds for the project were provided by selling four hundred shares at five dollars each. 645 books were procured and the room afterwards used by Jennie [illegible] as a music studio was rented and the library was opened for use on the first day of October, 1883. There was no librarian, but those interested gave their service by turns. After the original funds were exhausted, entertainments were given and all sorts of means devised to pay the running expenses and buy new books occasionally. There is no part of the history of our library of which we may be more proud than the hard struggle made in those first years.

In 1895 it was agreed to turn the library over to the Board of Education, who were to put with it the school library and run it as a free public library. This is the beginning of the second epoch. A regular income from taxation was now assured. Mrs. Gertrude Huey was hired as librarian and the two rooms over the Lilley Bank were rented, one as a reading room and the other as delivery room.

From this time there has been a constantly increasing use of the library. If there were any measure of the pleasure and helpfulness which the institution has afforded, perhaps it is safe to say that the original shares were the best investment of five dollars our citizens ever made.

It was largely through the efforts of Mr. Seaton W. Anderson that the present pleasing and appropriate building was obtained as a gift from Andrew Carnegie. The value of the building site and furniture is estimated somewhat over $12,000. The number of books has grown from 645 to 5,170. Since March, 1907, 1,630 persons have taken out cards for library use. During the year July 1, 1910 to July 1, 1911, 15,115 books were issued for home use. Of the books used at the library no record is kept.

The Civic Improvement Society have recently added to the convenience and attractiveness of the place by putting in a sanitary drinking fountain. A gift of about five hundred books has also been received from Mr. Tefft Hewitt, of Pittsburg, in memory of his little daughter.

One of the best tests of any community is its care for the children. In order to encourage good reading among Tecumseh children, the Board of Education has furnished and opened an attractive little children's room with low table and chairs. Here the children's books are within reach and the St. Nicholas, Youth's Companion, and American Boy on the table. Needless to say it is a happy room. Here, too, Tecumseh extends its hospitality to all strangers within its borders. It is a place where all are welcome and the opportunity is made for everyone to know "the best that has been thought and said."

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT AS CARRIED OUT IN VIENNA

Vienna, Sept. 7, 1911.

The Herald, Tecumseh, Mich.

As a member of the Civic and Town Improvement Society, I want to tell you of a few observations I have made in Vienna, which might be of some use to the society.

Although in many ways the capitol of Austria is generations behind, yet in one thing Vienna stands proudly to the front, this immense city of two millions, the commercial centre of fifty millions, is irreproachably, daintily clean, and although the government is no doubt a good manager in this respect; for example the streets are all paved; and sprayed and swept every night, yet the credit for the sweetness and cleanliness of Vienna are due to the co-operation of the whole population. The laws and regulations are there, but the people, from the oldest man to the child that can barely toddle, carry them out. Civic untidiness and dirt are considered a disgrace, and the children are trained as much in public neatness as they are in habits of personal cleanliness. I have walked up and down the city, backwards and forwards, through back alleys and court yards. I have found NO rubbish heaps, stinking cans of garbage, horse manure, or even scraps of paper.

Vienna is composed of apartment houses, and the people carry their garbage to the bottom of the house before daylight on appointed days, and the carts remove it before people are about.

Garbage cans and iron baskets are placed all over the city and the people would no more think of throwing scraps of food, broken glass, or waste paper into the street, than they would of doing so in their own drawing-room.

On the boulevards and in the numerous public gardens the iron refuse cans are shaped and painted like a tree trunk, about 3 feet high, in fact I thought they were trees at first. Through an opening in the side the rubbish is thrown in. Babies, who can just walk, will toddle along and throw their orange or banana peel into the can.

There are no public drinking cups, everyone carries an individual cup, and warnings against use of public cups and spitting because of tuberculosis are posted everywhere.

On a public playground I saw a boy, instead of borrowing a cup from his playmates, take a piece of paper out of his pocket twist it into a cone, and drink out of it. Then he walked clear across the grounds to drop the paper into the refuse can. Hundreds of children were playing all over this garden, and there was no litter. And the lovely ponds with water fowl and lilies were free from refuse.

The gardens here are as fine as any in Europe, and as far as I can see, the children are allowed to play everywhere, which would be impossible if they would scribble on the marble statues, destroy the flowers, or litter up the place.

Even the street car tickets are not thrown about the cars, the people evidently take them home, one ticket is not much, but millions are. I once threw a couple away, to my embarrassment the conductor picked them up and put them in his pocket.

We went into the tremendous Art Museum on a free day, and the people of every class of society were streaming in in shoals. Every man and woman wiped his or her feet carefully and repeatedly on the mats, until they were absolutely sure that not a trace of dirt remained on their shoes. There may have been thousands of people in that day, on the white marble floors, on the magnificent mosaic, there was not a speck. The doctor and I looked at each other and said simultaneously: "Really, these people are to be admired," and in a flash I realized the reason why Vienna is beautiful.

I attended a socialistic meeting of workmen in a beer garden in one of the poorest quarters of the city. I was the only woman who wore a hat, and I do not think there was a woman there whose outfit cost five dollars, and most of the men and women had brought such food as they ate with them, and only bought their beer, of which they drank in great moderation. Yet there was no waste food on the tables, no paper on the ground; those near the cans deposited their scraps in them, those who could not get there on account of the crowd, folded up the paper neatly and put it in their bags or pockets.

I remained behind after they left and except for the disarranged chairs and some drops of beer on the tables, one could not have told that perhaps a thousand people had held an excitable meeting of protest against the government. It simply means that civic cleanliness has become as much a part of the people as breathing.

There are no flies in Vienna. I have not seen a dozen since I have been here, though there are very many in the country, there are no fly screens anywhere.

I have asked many people: "Is it because you are so clean?" "Are we so clean?" is the surprised answer, "I do not know, it has always been so."

Civic cleanliness has become so ingrained in the Viennese that they do not even know that they are dainty, and it is this second nature, this impossibility of any different condition that we should seek to attain in the United States. It is of no use to say: "We are the finest people, the best city in the world." This feeling shuts the door to all progress, there is much that is good and to be admired in every nation, we can copy and follow that which is admirable, without any diminuition of our self esteem.

The Civic and Town Improvement Societies all over the U. S. are working for the beauty which is the heritage of centuries in the Old World, and incidentally they are also working for the health of the community.

Cleanliness and the consequent absence of insects and infection means less sickness and longer life to us all. At this very minute, the cholera is raging in dirty Constantinople and all over Turkey; it has come up the river Danube, the great highway from the East to Vienna itself. We have had several cases here, but they have not spread. Vienna has been terribly exposed, the Danube boats, the railroads from every infected center lead here, but the sickness has not spread, there are no breeding places for disease.

We can not attain to the beauty and magnificence of Vienna, but there is no reason why we cannot equal her in sweetness and daintiness. And as in Vienna every human being is virtually a member of a Town Improvement Club, why cannot every person in the U. S. actively cooperate to the beauty and health of the country they love best? Why cannot they show their love and admiration by refraining from spoiling her fair looks? Why should not the children be trained to value beauty in the town they live in, as much as in their own clothes and looks?

And this is the reason of this long letter, an ardent wish to see what is best here transplanted to America, to see fostered that spirit of civic pride which is so necessary to a great country.

With kind regards,
Yours very truly,
Jenny C. Law Hardy."

The machinery will be operated by electric and hydraulic power. The buildings will be heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Each department will be in touch with every other department by an intercommunicating telephone system.

Tub and shower baths will be provided for the use of both men and women employes, and a "quick-aid" hospital will be at their command, in case of necessity. Every other practical modern facility will be installed which will insure to the public that degree of sanitary cleanliness now rightfully demanded in the preparation of their foods.

Under the famous "UNCLE SAM'S" trade mark will be manufactured a full line of macaroni spaghetti, vermicelli, egg noodles, short cuts and soup pastes. A complete stock of the better Italian delicacies will also be handled from a properly equipt jobbing department.

As befits this well established brand, the use of nothing but the highest grade of raw materials will be countenanced. From Dakota will come the purest durum wheat flour, which will be delivered on the private track of the company in Tecumseh, will be elevated directly from the car by special machinery, re-sifted, automatically weighed, automatically mixed with pure artesian water and other ingredients, kneaded, rolled and forced thru huge hydraulic presses.

The delicate, ivory-tinted tubes will then be conveyed on trucks to the curing rooms. By a patented process, and surrounded by washed air, it will be cured in less than half the time required by the old, uncertain and unsanitary methods used by other manufacturers. Emerging into the packing room as a finished product, it will be prepared for its final passage to the shipping department by neatly attired young women. A hydraulic elevator in the warenouse will then lift the laden trucks to the cars, which will convey their burden to distant markets.

Thus by a regular progression, thru a scrupulously clean institution, and practically untouched by human hands, will be produced a portion of the world's great staple foods in the utmost perfection of quality.

The plant is expected to be in operation about January 1st, 1912.

Visitors will always be welcome.

MASONIC TEMPLE

LUCIUS LILLEY THE LODGE'S OLDEST LIVING PAST MASTER

TECUMSEH MASONIC LODGE. On the 15th day of June, 1854, Masonry was born in Tecumseh in the old "Union Hall" building in the rooms now occupied by the K. of P. Lodge.

On this date appeared W. M. Wm. L. Grandy (so the minutes read), bringing with him the charter and a special dispensation from M. W. Geo. W. Peck, Grand Master of the State of Michigan, empowering him to institute Tecumseh Lodge, No. 69, F. and A. M.

The following ten brethren were then enrolled as charter members:

Consider A. Stacy, Thos. J. Faxon, Stillman Blanchard, Charles Hewitt, Thos. W. Clark, Dr. M. A. Patterson, Peter J. VanVleet, Jno. C. Dunham, Jas. Patchen, Frederick A. Kennedy.

Petitions were also received at this meeting from Charles De Mott, Henry W. Clark, Jno. McConnel, Peter F Bloper and Thos. Cummins for the first three degrees in Masonry.

C. A. Stacy was the first Master of the Lodge, with Stillman Blanchard and Thos. Faxon as Senior and Junior Wardens, and Charles Hewitt as Secretary.

Since that early date the original ten has steadily increased until at the present time Tecumseh Lodge, with its 350 members, stands 40th in point of membership among the 417 lodges in the State, being ahead in the numerical column of such places as Albion, Marquette, Mt. Clemens, Marshall and Cadillac.

Of the 26 Masters who have filled the chair in the East, 15 are still living, Lucius L. Lilly being the Lodge's oldest living Past Master and one of the earliest lodge members.

Alfred James, Sr., to whom the Lodge is indebted in a great measure for its present attractive home, is the oldest Masonic member, he being initiated in the order in 1855, or one year after the foundation of the Lodge.

A chapter of Royal Arch Masons was dedicated and consecrated March 22nd, 1866. The council's charter was restored in March, 1903, and the Order of Eastern Star organized May 31st, 1888.

At their last regular meeting the Blue Lodge discussed and voted to establish reading, lounging and rest rooms in the apartments just beneath the lodge room proper.

It is proposed to fit and furnish three rooms there for the exclusive use of the members of the Lodge and their wives, and also the members of the Eastern Star. The object in establishing these rooms is to promote sociability among the fraternity and to more firmly cement the tie that binds together the brotherhood.

That the Masonic fraternity is in a prosperous condition is evidenced by their splendid lodge rooms in the Masonic Temple, the modern equipment for their work and the late furniture and decorations that grace its

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

George Northrope Kennedy, Minister.

The first preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church who made Tecumseh a regular appointment was Rev. John A. Baughman, who arrived at Monroe in 1826 and included Tecumseh in his circuit. It was not till 1842 that a church was built on the southwest corner of Shawnee and Pearl streets. This church became too small, till in 1862 the present site on the northwest corner of Chicago and Pearl streets was secured and the present church edifice erected.

Rev. E. R. Hascall was the minister at this time. In 1879, during the pastorate of Rev. A. J. Bigelow, extensive improvements were made upon the property. Again in 1905-6, during the pastorates of Rev. E. Sedweek and Rev. W. M. Ward, an enlargement of the auditorium and the rooms for social purposes was necessary and extensive improvements were made.

The church has about 300 members and numbers many of our prominent and substantial people in its constituency. There are also many who are doing grand service in various parts of our country who received their Christian training in this church, and look back lovingly to Tecumseh as "home."

Dr. L. G. North discoursed in a most interesting and instructive way on "A Trip Through Yellow Stone National Park" Tuesday evening at the Baptist church. The lecture was under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U. and neted them a hansome amount towards their paino fund. Preceding the lecture Lester Coller and Wilford Waldron entertained the audience with several selections.

W. B. HARTZOG PH D.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

When the Tecumseh Herald was founded the First Baptist Church had attained the age of 21 years, having been organized in 1839.

Its constituent members numbered 28. For a time the feeble band was ministered to by Rev. J. I. Fulton then pastor at Brooklyn. The first house of worship was erected on the corner of Pearl and Logan streets in 1840. The first regular pastor was Rev. L. H. Moore. After one year and a half he resigned and Rev. J. I. Fulton became pastor. This pastorate continued 3 years and 4 months. Elder Fulton, as they called him in those days, was a strong preacher. During his pastorate the church building was moved to the west side of Ottawa street between Logan and Chicago streets and enlarged.

Samuel Cornelius next became pastor. After a pastorate of two years he was called to the pastorate of the Pontiac church.

The year 1850 marked her 21st aniversary, at that time there were 90 members enrolled, Rev. E. Royce was pastor.

Since that time 61 years have passed and this year, 1911, finds the church with a membership of 230, a parsonage valued at $2,000 and a church edifice valued at $15,000. Rev. William B. Hartzog, Ph. D., is pastor. The church is alive and progressive. It has a Sunday school with an enrollment of about 200 under the superintendency of A. O. Howard. The men's class is one of the prominent features of the school. The class has an enrollment of over 50 and meets every Sunday during the Sunday school hour in a room set apart for this special work. The B. Y. P. U. of this church is one of the most enterprising young people's societies in this section of the state. Recently they entered with their accustomed zest, into the Adrian Telegram contest and won a $200 credit on a fine piano, which they have installed in the chapel. The Missionary Society and the Aid Society of the church are vigorous. The church is now in its seventy third year and is as enthusiastic and hopeful as at any period in its history.

OUR CLASS PICNIC

There was much discussion among the pupils of the eighth grade of the Cass school as to where they would go for their class picnic. The question was happily decided when Don Armstrong came to school with an invitation to go on his fathers yacht, "The Comet," to Walpole Island, the Canadian Indian reservation.

At nine o'clock Saturday morning we were sailing swiftly up the river and as we neared the beautiful wooded island, we saw the Indians moving around.

When we landed they were squatting under the trees with bows and arrows and sweet grass baskets all spread out to sell. We made many purchases of "heap big bows and arrows" and pretty baskets.

After lunch we started to explore the island. We were surprised to see that most of the Indians lived in nice houses with orchards and patches of corn and potatoes, but some lived in wigwams.

In one of the prettiest spots on the island, we saw the Episcopal Mission church. It was of white stone and was covered with beautiful English ivy and the lawn was velvety and green and well kept.

We came to the Indian graves which were mounds about two feet high surrounded by rail fences. While we were looking at the queer shaped mounds, the yacht whistle blew and we started running for the yacht, which we reached, tired and breathless.

After we boarded the yacht, it was discovered that three of the party were missing. The whistle began to blow again, and alarmed, we were just about to set forth in search of them, when they arrived running like mad.

They said they were resting near the graves and telling ghostly Indian stories, when a shadowy form arose from behind a mound and uttered a muffled grunt, which started them shrieking and running for the yacht and thinking all the spirits in the burying ground were after them. They were glad to be back on the yacht again with their companions, who enjoyed a good laugh at their fright.

The yacht was soon steaming away towards home, and the ride was made merry by the singing of songs and telling of stories in the moonlight.

THE RUFFED GROUSE OR PARTRIDGE

The grouse, or commonly known as the partridge, is one of the finest game birds of New England. It is also one of the shyest and most difficult birds to study.

The partridge mates during March, when, if any of you are fortunate enough to live in a wooded, hilly part of New England, you may have heard a loud booming, starting low and increasing in volume. Well, this is the famous drumming of the male bird, but this is a wrong impression, for the partridge has no drum, but makes the sound by rapid beating of the wings against the air. This is the love call of the male, soon he is joined by a sleek, brown female partridge, for whom he is ready to fight.

About the second week in April the female grouse seeks a sheltered place, always on the ground, usually at the foot of a tree or in some sheltered thicket. Here she make a nest of leaves and soft grass, but no sticks.

If you look sharply there you may find a nest with about twelve eggs in it. You may visit the nest very often but finally you will see nothing but the nest left. When you start home and have gone some distance, fairly at your feet falls a full grown partridge, crying most pitifully and acting as though both wings were broken. You reach out to pick up the helpless thing, it suddenly becomes well and flies a few feet repeating the same actions Perhaps you would follow it some distance into the woods. If you did not follow it but hunted in the bunches of grass you might have found a young partridge lying around it some where because they leave the nest as soon as they are hatched. It is not very often that any one hears very much about a partridge.

THE SCHOOL BUTTERFLY

Once some boys brought a fat green caterpillar to school and gave it to the teacher.

She put the caterpillar on a leaf in a glass-covered box, and told the children they might watch it through the winter.

It was lots of fun to watch it every day.

First they saw it spin its cocoon; and after a while the chrysalis grew darker and darker.

One day in the spring they heard a noise and when they looked in the box, it was trying to make a hole in its cocoon.

The children were very glad that it was going to come out.

In a little while they could see the butterfly, but it wasn't very pretty yet.

Soon it got dry and the fat green caterpillar had turned into a beautiful red and yellow butterfly, and flew out the window to be happy in the sunshine.

NOTE: John Garlinghouse being the only one to send in a story from the lower grades, receives both prizes. We hope next month we will hear from a number of pupils.

SCHOOL NOTES

The reports from the scientific work of the High School are very good The class in Physics are studing Pendular motion. Their daily experiments worked out in the laboratory are also on the subject. They are required to develop formulas and in case they fail to do this an extra session of the class meets after school.

The work in chemistry is progressing rapidly, The class is now studying the molecule and atom taking the molecular laws and the molecular theory. The class this year is very small compared to classes of previous years and no girls are taking the subject. The pupils are doing such good work that in a short time they will be required to write only four times a week instead of the five. This will give them the extra time to work on experiments, in the laboratory. Out of one hundred experiments, which are required during the year; they have thirty-five completed, which means that in about six months their work will be completed in the laboratory.

A game of basket-ball was played between Clinton and Tecumseh, Wednesday afternoon. The Tecumseh girls were defeated by the score of 25 to 7. Our girls are certainly right there with goods but owing to the lack of experience the Clinton team was a little too much for them. The players of the opposing team are of much wider experience. They are old at the game while Tecumseh put in some inexperienced girls. In the first half Tecumseh was a little bit anxious but in the second some good plays were made, Our girls may have been a little stage struck at first but later they settled down to sound business Our girls were equal to them on the fouls making all of them except two.

A good sized crowd was out to see the game but they lacked the spirit that they should have had when the game first started, when they did get excited and begun to show their enthusiasm the result was that the girls played better and were not so discouraged, Although the Tecumseh team is not in the habit of being called pet names as the Clinton girls were, yet it is doubtful whether it would have been to their advantage or not. We are glad that the Clinton team is composed of such lovable, adorable, creatures.

Wilfred Mills was permitted the privilege of entertaining the Senior English class, Wednesday morning with a selection on a Jew's-harp of his own invention.

Ray Binns is absent from school on account of the illness of his mother.

Florence Russell visited school Thursday afternoon.

No school district of the State will be apportioned any school money until the month of July. This apportionment was supposed to have been in November but has been delayed until July-1912.. This means that the district will be obliged to borrow money to meet expenses until that time,

C

The long looked for basket ball game between Clinton and T. H. S. came off Wednesday and it appears it came off even then too soon, for the score was 27 to 5 in favor of Clinton. Work harder girls and we'll beat next time.

Glen Bowen has left school to work in Detroit.

The English IV class had the pleasure of listening to some very fine music Wednesday morning, rendered especially for the occasion by Mr. Wilfred Mills, a well known resident of Tecumseh,

The foot ball game Friday was a decided success at least in the opinion of all the loyal students of T, H. S.

German I class had a test Wednesday and many heavy hearts were carried about in consequence.

There has been a large number of tardy marks during the last months that are wholly unnecessary. To guard against this, a rule has been made requiring that every person tardy must have a permit from Mr. McAlpine before entering their own room. Then too they cannot enter their room until the end of the hour, as it would cause much confusion,

PULVER-SPRINGER

MARRIED IN LANSING THURSDAY OCTOBER 26, 1911 AT 4 O'CLOCK P. M. B. J. PULVER OF TECUMSEH AND MISS ETHEL SPRINGER OF LANSING.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Springer of Lansing, was the scene of a charming wedding when their daughter, Miss Ethel Springer, was united in marriage to B. J. Pulver of Tecumseh.

Palms and ferns with pink primroses and chrysanthemums were used in the decorations. and the house was a bower of beauty.

Promptly at the opening strains of the wedding march played by Miss Schloskie, Mr. Pulver and his best man, Lester Heesen, entered the room followed by the bridesmaid, Miss Charlotte Rowlinson. The bride leaning on the arm of her father, was met at the improvised altar by the groom, The Rev, Williston, pronouncing the words that made them husband and wife, the ring service being used. After the ceremony they received the congratulations of their many friends and then adjourned to the dining room where dainty refreshments were served.

The bride's table was decorated with maidenhair fern and pink chrysanthemums. The bride wore a gown of Irish point and cluny over white chiffon and white satin wearing a bridal veil and carrying a shower boquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. Her maid of honor was robed in blue chiffon over blue satin with white trimmings. She wore a dainty bonnet of gold with blue trimmings and carried pink roses and lillies of the valley.

The mother of the bride was charming in a robe of turquoise silk and Mrs. Pulver mother of the groom was dressed in lavender and white lace.

Mr. Pulver is one of Tecumseh energetic young business men, and Mrs. Pulver has won many friends here, where she has taught in our public schools. Their many friends unite in best wishes for a happy future.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. B R Weld, Pastor.

Just one year after the settlement of Tecumseh by the building of its first cabin, and eight years before any house of worship was erected, a Presbyterian minister by the name of Rev. Noah M Wells, then pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Detroit, delivered the first sermon ever preached in Tecumseh, or even in Lenawee County. This was in the summer of 1825.

"In October 1826 Rev. Alanson Darwin then a resident in Shelby, N. Y., Orleans County, visited the southern part of the Territory of Michigan." In the winter following, the people petitioned the American Home Missionary Society to appoint Mr. Darwin their missionary, for that place. The Society complied, and he removed to Tecumseh Sept. 1, 1827, and commenced his labors among them.

April 6, 1828 a church was formed by Mr. Darwin, under the title of, "The First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh" "The following persons were admitted members, John Huyck, Mary Huyck, William T. Finch, Rachel Finch, Mella Ann Ketchum, Euphemia Hillick. Emilia Hollbrook, Maria Dixon, Mary Darwin, Mary Metcalf." The proceeding quotation is taken directly from the Sermonial records of the church of that day, which records are still preserved in splendid order.

The congregation has during its history of 83 years worshiped in a School House once situated on Chicago Street, near the Court House. The Court House, the Session House, (1837) subsequently sold to the Friends Society and now standing on the Adrian road, The Frame Meeting House, (1840) and the present Church dedicated March 31, 1869. During this period 23 ministers have served the congregation in varying capacities.

The Church in early years growing to a large membership, has held a commanding place in the Presbyterianism of the County and the State.

At the present day with its membership of 338 communicants, it ranks second among the churches of the Presbytery.

Since the time of the celebration of the 75th Anniversary in 1893, after which time the history of the church was published, three men have been called to minister to this congregation, H. F. Fox Supply, 1906 1907, J. Wirt Dunning, pastor 1907 1910 and the present pastor Benjamin R. Weld.

It is most interesting to note that during the housing in the Meeting House and the Brick Church, in all 71 years, the position of Janitor has been held by but three men, John McConnell 45 years, J. L. Waldo 16 years, Samuel Shutt 10 years. The latter resigning recently gave place to James Henderson.

F. D AVERY,

F. D. Avery came to Tecumseh Jan. 2nd 1888. He worked in C. A Wright's drug store till Sept. 1890.

At that time he and Mr. G. D Ellis formed a partnership, and the firm of Avery & Ellis bought the the grocery and crockery business of W. F. Anderson. About a year later Mr. Ellis retired, Mr. Webster Anderson buying his interest in the business. The firm then became Avery & Co, and continued under the name till November 1909 when Mr. Avery purchased Mr. Anderson's interest and has since been sole proprietor.

During all of these years this store has been one of which Tecumseh might well be proud, for Mr. Avery has always kept a line of goods equal to that found in many of the best city stores. Quality has always been the first consideration in buying for this store, and that has made it headquarters for the best goods. Here you will find such goods as Chase & Sanborns Teas and Coffees. Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar, Heinz Pickles, Ketchup and a fine line of canned goods.

TO OUR READERS

We could not issue this number of the Herald without telling the material is all home talent thus making it of much more interest to our readers. Our original story is woven around incidents of early history. The haunted barn lies between Tecumseh and the lakes. The Mormans used this vicinity for headquarters for proselyting and very few people know that Joseph Smith founder of Mormanism and Brigham Young were here at that time. Judge Stacy was informed that these two men were to be rotten-egged, and he befriened them, taking them to the Stacyhome where they spent the night.

The poem "Vesper Bells" which was written several years ago by Miss Rogers, who at that time was a shut-in was published three years ago in the Tecumseh Herald and is printed again by request. our write-ups are given by people who are conversant with their subject. The pictures were made by our well known photographer, Mr. Coller.

The sketch upon which the cut was made for the heading of our anniversary number was made by Kenneth Sndlcor.

Our reporters poem will be enjoyed by young and old.

Editorially we were assisted by Mrs. Charles J. Peery, who served six years as The Tecumseh Herald reporter.

Our competent force were untiring in their efforts to make this a successful edition especially Mr. George S. Field upon whom fell the burden.

A Fidgety Age.

Repose of manner was considered at one time essential to the well-bred woman, but this is an ideal consigned to the past. Every one fidgets in these days, no one has time to sit still, nor to listen for more than a minute at a time without being bored and showing it.—From the Queen.

To Keep Room Moist for the Piano.

A piano tuner told some friends of mine that in a room heated by a hot-air furnace a big jardiniere should be kept full of water near the piano. The dryness of the atmosphere is very bad for the piano.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

THE HAUNTED BARN

Where the River Raisin winds its sinuous way through the northern part of Lenawee county, uniting with Evans creek on its journey to Lake Erie, there were in the days of early settlement, large tracts of sparsely settled country. This region, dotted here and there with isolated farm homes, was a fine field of adventure for bands of horse thieves, who came across the border from Indiana, wandering about the country, sojourning sometimes over night with the hospitable farmers, under pretense of locating land for prospective settlers, and returning again later by night to carry away with them unknown to the owner some of the best horses in the country.

Many tales are told of chance travelers passing in the sleepy hours toward morning, a flying horseman leading another steed, whose hoofbeats none could hear. Superstitious old ladies and credulous youngsters attributed this phenomenon of the silent horseman to ghosts and witches, while the more practical farmer whose horse had disappeared was strong in the belief that the horse's feet had been padded with bits of old carpet to deaden the sound of hoofs on the hard road.

These stories were handed down among the earliest recollections of the region, and were received with more or less credulity, according to the hearer's belief in the supernatural.

But scoff as they might, there was one barn of mystery on the Sand Lake road, for whose strange sights and sounds there was no accounting. Returning from late fishing trips many persons had seen lights dimly showing through the cracks about windows and doors and the more venturesome who had explored beyond the road fence, declared that strange sounds had come from within, sounds of women weeping and screaming, so that they fled in fright and investigated no more. Their strange tale spread, however, and lost no detail, other travelers confirming and adding to it by seeing a green light and a white horse tethered in the bushes.

John Doe, on whose farm the barn was situated, was questioned, but had seen nothing unusual, and was rather inclined to be skeptical about what others had seen, and his wife was quite indignant that any such report should have gained circulation.

Returning late one night from a day spent in fishing, and stopping near this place to secure the fastening of a minnow pail, which contained the day's catch, Jim Delayney caught a strange sound as of a woman crying, and then louder voices came to his ear. Listening to locate the sounds, as no farm house was near, he heard a crackling of bushes just over the fence and caught a glimpse of something white. It moved. It came nearer. His horse shied and started. Just then a woman's voice cried:

"Oh, fly to the desert with me!"

"Not on your life!" yelled Jim. "I'm flyin' fer home! Ketch me cavortin' around with no lonesome woman way out here, near midnight!" And he sent his horses half flying down the pike, never once looking back to see whether the ghostly female on the white horse was in pursuit, or was remaining to entice other belated citizens to her abode.

Once nearing town and at a safe distance from the scene, he began thinking of all the stories he had heard of the old barn's ghostly visitors, and realized that the tales were not imaginary. Jim was no coward and was bound to solve the mystery.

"They're human bein's," he soliloquised; "they're no ghost critters, and I'm goin' to take the village officers up there some night and ketch 'em at their doin's."

When he related his adventure in town, he found few believers, all his listeners were smiling at the tale of the screaming woman and the white horse, and suggesting that James must have imbibed something beside lake water that day.

"All I ask of yez is to go along with me, and ketch 'em if ye've got the nerve," was all the refutation he made of their slanderous charges.

Finally goaded into some sort of action by their ridicule, he enlisted the services of a couple of friends and a village officer, all the party except Jim being well provided with guns. Jim disdained a proffered revolver.

"No use pullin' guns if they're spooks," he said, "for shots go right through them. They are nought but shadders—but thim I sane, ain't no spooks, thim's regular humans, wid good lungs, and I prefer fer me own use a club."

Thus equipped with weapons to protect the body, and a supply of bottled spirits to fortify the mind, they started up the pike one night, about nine o'clock, fully determined to bravely lay the ghost, and solve the mystery.

They hitched their horses in a fence corner a few rods away from the scene of Jim's recent adventure, and proceeded cautiously on foot, Jim leading. A clump of hazel brush near the rear, but commanding a view of the front door, was considered a convenient hiding place, and they all crawled under its shelter—lying flat on their faces, or reclining on elbow, gun in hand, ready for trouble.

"If I'm not mistaken, there's the grane light of them now, over there in the bushes beyond the shed. Now will yez belave me?" whispered Jim.

All crept along over the tall grass and low shrubbery, to near the place indicated, and there sure enough was the green light, and a white horse, and listening a moment there came a woman's voice through the half-open rear door. It was shrill and shrieking. Our watchers crept nearer. The voice stopped as if something had given her warning of their coming, and then raised to a shriek again:

"Fly, fly—if yet thou lov'st me, fly,
Soon will his murderous band be here
And I shall see them bleed and die!
Hush! Heardst thou not the tramp of men
Sounding from yonder fearful glen?
Perhaps e'en now they climb the wood—
Fly, fly—though still the west is bright,
He'll come—oh! yes, he wants thy blood,
I know him—he'll not wait for night!"

Jim's courage did not desert him at this blood-curdling moment, and he sprang up to the sill, club in hand, and shouted: "He don't need to wait for anything, lady; we're right here. What's doing?"

A scream and a rush, and a dozen women were scrambling for a place of exit, while a few surrounded the intruder bravely, and demanded "what right those horrid rough-looking men have lurking around these premises."

"Well, we're here to break up this lunytic asylum, and these here ghost matings, that's calculated to make timid folks belave in spirits, and scare the hosses. We're arrestin' ye, and takin' yez all to town and ye'll have a chanct to tell Judge Hosmer what thase carryin' ons mane, ye will," spoke James. "Come along, all of yez. We've got a wagon out here that ain't exactly a paytrole, but it will answer the purpose well, and we're fer loadin' yez all in, and it's to town ye are goin'."

"Why, haven't we a right to a meeting here on our own ground when we are not disturbing any one, without your coming out here and threatening us. What authority have you?"

"Authority is it? Why there's our authority, that feller there behind the tree. He is one of our village officers, and has plenty of authority over iverybody, though he's a bit cautious now, and takes some of us along to help out in time of trouble; but he's got authority enough, and he said we was to come and git ye."

As matters seemed to be assuming a serious stage, the foremost lady, she who claimed ownership to the white horse, demanded:

"What's the charge, officer, and where is your warrant?"

"Warrant is it? An' what do we nade of a warrint when ye bin schreechin' an' howlin' and showin' grane lights in the bushes an' scarin' the horses. Ye are disturbers of the pace, that's our warrint, belave me."

"Isn't Mr. Sykes here somewhere? Call him to our assistance, Lizzie," the lady said, turning to one near her. "We are not to be threatened and interrupted in this way."

"Ye have a man wid ye, thin. I belave it. Bring him out till I see him. Wan man and twinty wimin. It's Mormons ye are, I belave it. It's not allowed in this country any more. No, Miss it is not; an' ye'll soon git yer come-up-mints whin Judge Hosmer gits after yez."

"Nonsense, man, you must be in a state of intoxication. Have you never heard of a woman's club, and their meetings for the betterment of humanity, and for intellectual development?"

"Divilment, ye mane! I've heard of the Mormons years ago whin they visited this community, as I've heard me father tell. The very head and chafe of thim, Brigham Young and Joe Smith, they came to this town wan time long ago makin' converts to their prachin', an' the dacint people of the town got out with stones, and eggs that were none too fresh, and were about to bate them to the limit, whin they were rescued by wan of our old citizens and perticked, kept over night, and sint on their way in the morning, with orders to niver return—an' here they be agin, on me sowl, I belave it, an' 'tis well we found ye."

"You certainly must be crazy, man; this is only a Woman's Club meeting for study and improvement."

"Wimin's club? Improvemint? I've heard of thim both. It's the wimin's clubs in this country and thim improvemints that's raisin' our taxes, with their tryin' to vote, and greasing the streets with coal oil, and tryin' to forbid a man from buyin' a drink for a friend. We've enough of improvemints. Away wid ye. It's to town ye'll go this time. Ye'll not escape me. We've bin hearin' since I was a lad of this barn bein' haunted, an' it's even worse than I supposed. I thought at most it was only an old woman's tale of ghosts, an' here I find a fine nest of live ones. Bad luck to ye fer tryin' to ruin the country. By your own confission, ye are a bloodthirsty lot, and far from harmless. Didn't I hear wan of your own number a-schreechin' an' warnin' me to kape away, with sayin' 'Soon will his murderous band be here, an' I shall see thim blade an' die'? What have ye to say for it? Why was ye howlin' that spach at me? Answer me that an' I'll lave ye alone."

"Why, man, you don't understand. We were studying Thomas Moore, a fellow countryman of yours, and we each were to have a quotation or a part of a verse, you know, from a poem he wrote called 'The Fire Worshippers.'"

"Fire worshippers! Aha, worse and worse, deeper and deeper. Thin it is bomb throwers ye are. Small wander ye warned us away, wishin' to save our lives, an' for that I'm obliged to ye—and the grane light in the bushes, an' is that where ye have yer fireworks stored. Well, I'll march ye out there at the pint of a gun, and if I find any of thim dangerous fixtures, I'll make ye touch 'em off yerself and blow the hull of yez where ye'll niver again scare the horses! Come on, min, it's a nice nest of anarchists we find here. Come on, an' we'll charge on the bushes by the grane light."

Encouraged by the heroics of their leader, the other three followed on where Jim lead, compelling the lady who had been spokeswoman for the circle to precede him.

"Go along now, lady, lade the way, ye probably understand the dark corners of this place better than yer visitors do. There'll no harm come to yez, except from yes own fireworks out here. Ye can bring the rist of yer band along, and all be blown up togither if yez would prefer to die that way, instead of singly."

Jim, preceded by his fair prisoner, marched carefully out to the clump of lilacs whence the green light shone. The others waited anxiously. The procession had reached the dangerous ground and yet no summons came. There was a long parley being held over there. Then they heard their comrade's voice:

"Come here! Come quick, both of yez, all of yez. Come on at once!!"

Under great excitement and with much trepidation, they stumbled through the uneven grass, advancing to Jim's assistance.

"Come not too near. I warn yez. To the victor belongs the spiles of war. I captured this spot mesilf, but I'm willin' to share with yez."

By the green light of a bicycle lamp his surprised helpers saw Jim standing beside the smiling lady with one arm stretched in a sort of proprietorship over a huge jug and a covered basket. He had discarded the club and was lighting a pipe with which to soothe his over-wrought nerves while he delivered an explanatory oration:

"Me friends an' gintlemin, this lady and I have come to an understandin' an' made terms of pace which I trust ye will agra to. These wimin, of which this wan is the foine and handsome leader, are harmless. The Mormons I told yez of have left years ago. This barn was onct visited by horse thaves, but now honest people live here and own the property. The grane light ye have often seen is this bicycle lantern, used as a warnin' to travelers on the road of a dark night to get out of the way.

"The howls and scrames which have been reported to us in town as coming from this place came from the throats of harmless women speakin' pieces which they ought to have learned long ago in school. This jug which ye see before ye contains swate cider, and the basket has plenty of doughnuts for the ateings of thim all whin the show is over. The explanation is perfectly convincin' and satisfactory, and the terms of pace as agreed to by us parties of the first part are this: This club may go on holdin' its matings not oftener than wance a week, agreein' niver to ask to vote, nor paradin' the streets with banners fer local option at any future time. They are to kape the white horse quiet like in the back yard, put out the grane lamp to avoid talk, and in return for these favors we agra to return paceably to our homes, and kape mum about this little encounter, and to bind the bargain we are to all go inside and share the feast of cider and doughnuts with the ladies to show thim that we harbor no ill will, and I belave me sowl it was the sight of this jug in a dry county that changed me mind about thim entirely. I'll trust thim to kape their word an' we'll kape ours and say no more."

That the contract was kept by both parties may be the reason that we hear no more of the haunted barn, and also the reason that there are said to be no Suffragettes in the township.

VIOLENT UNREST AMONG RAIL MEN

England Likely to Have Another Monster Strike.

MATTER NOW UP TO LEADERS

Employes on Principal Lines Demand Higher Wages and Shorter Hours and Are Ready to Quit Work, If Necessary, at Any Time.

London, Oct. 30.—The railway employes of the chief railway centers held meetings to denounce the report made by the railway commission ten days ago and to demand better conditions for the men.

None of the meetings was influenced by the recent announcement that the Great Western railway would at once increase the pay of its men in the lower grades at a cost to the road of something like $500,000 yearly or by the reports that other companies were preparing to increase wages. The temper everywhere was that of impatience and insistence upon higher wages and shorter hours. There were threats of another strike if their demands were not conceded, and it is impossible to regard the possibility of another strike as very remote.

James H. Thomas, M. P., who was the moving spirit of the August strike, told the men at Crewe that the leaders had not agreed to accept the commission's findings and they should accept nothing short of full recognition of the unions. He had received a hundred resolutions within the past week urging the leaders to call a monster strike.

He was not prepared to announce what the leaders would do about the matter, but they had determined that the present conditions should not continue.

Ramsey McDonald, addressing the Chester men, said that the men would not be pacified while they were in a condition of slavery. If the conditions were not to be changed by negotiation the men must strike.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—The high school of Mount Pulaski, Logan county, thirty miles northeast of here, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with insurance of about $10,000.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Flames were shooting from the basement to the roof of the building through an airshaft when first discovered. Several times the fire seemed to be under control, but broke out anew. There is no building in the town suitable for school purposes. The school housed 300 pupils. It was used as a grammar and high school combined.

RULINGS DO NOT PLEASE DEFENSE

McNamara's Counsel May Ask for Another Judge.

THEIR CHALLENGES ARE DENIED

Defense Protests Because Challenges of Admittedly Biased Talesmen Are Overruled by Court—Darrow Refuses to Talk for Publication.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—At the murder trial of James B. McNamara Judge Bordwell denied challenges offered by the defense against two talesmen, A. C. Winter and Walter H. Frampton. Both were challenged for bias.

After the adverse ruling of the court both talesmen said they would not vote for conviction on circumstantial evidence alone in a murder case. As this is ground for challenge under the law, they were challenged again. The state resisted, Assistant District Attorney Horton declaring that such challenges should have been offered sooner or not at all. He said the statutory provision never was intended, and could not be used, as "a savior of peremptory challenges."

Four talesmen accepted by both sides as to cause, but still subject to peremptory challenge, two more now under challenge for cause, and six in the box awaiting examination is the showing at the beginning of the fourth court week.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel, refused to discuss the plans of the defense, but his associate attorneys admitted that appeals for change of judge is their legal recourse if they feel it necessary or advisable. If the appeal should be refused, it still would be part of the record, as subject, in the opinion of the defense, for appeal to a higher court in the event of an unfavorable verdict.

ACQUIT MRS. STANNARD

Jurors in Ontonagon, Mich., Find Her Not Guilty.

Woman Was Accused of Having Poisoned Her Husband Last March with Strychnine.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Laura Stannard was found "not guilty" of murdering her husband, Charles S. Stannard of Greenland, last March by strychnine poisoning. The jury was out one hour and ten minutes.

The prisoner rose to her feet when Foreman Rudolph Stindt of the jury announced the verdict. She followed the jurors when they retired to their room and thanked them warmly.

Returning to the courtroom, Mrs. Stannard was congratulated by a number of women.

Throughout the trial, which began Oct. 16, Mrs. Stannard professed the greatest affection for her husband and declared that he was always affectionate to her, except when he was drinking, and that then he became cruelly abusive. Her four children clung to the prisoner during the trial with marked devotion.

Mrs. Stannard was arrested May 13, after a chemical analysis at Ann Arbor showed strychnine in her husband's stomach.

ADMITS HIMSELF WRONG

Witness in Lorimer Case Contradicts Himself.

Benton Dentist Says He Wanted Trip to Washington Free of Cost.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Former State Representative Sidney P. Espy of Benton, before the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate, faced one of the men who several days ago he swore had conspired to injure him by involving him in the Lorimer case.

D. T. Woodward, a Benton dentist, was the man accused by Espy. Woodward admitted that he had asked Seba Hudson of Benton to write a letter to the committee suggesting that Woodward be called before the committee as a witness.

Woodward also admitted that his chief object was to get a trip to Washington at the expense of the government. He denied that he wanted to injure Espy.

Woodward was kept on the stand until the committee adjourned for the day. By that time he had contradicted himself so many times as to invalidate his testimony.

Under interrogation by Senator Fletcher, Woodward admitted finally that he knew absolutely nothing bearing on the Lorimer case, aside from gossip.

HER CAREER

She Would Not Willingly Acknowledge Defeat

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

The stranger stood upon the station platform and looked down a vista of blossoming apple trees toward the village. He was apparently a prosperous man of the world, but with the breath of these spring blossoms a subtle change passed over his tired face, softening its careworn lines.

"Carry your satchel, sir?" A barefoot lad approached him eagerly.

"Why, yes," the stranger answered, "you may. Now, can you lead me to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Page? They live in the same old place, I suppose?"

"Sure," the lad responded. He shifted the valise to his other hand. "Say," he asked, "do you know Miss Nell?"

"I knew her long ago," the man slowly replied.

"Before she was an artist?"

The stranger smiled. "Yes," he answered musingly.

"Miss Nell's just about the nicest person in the world," said the boy.

An odd smile played about the man's lips. "I agree with you," he said. "A recent trip around the world has confirmed me in that opinion. She is the nicest person."

"That's Page's house," the boy announced, and his eyes widened as he glanced at the silver piece which the stranger pressed into his grimy palm.

"Look here," he suggested, "I'll trot that satchel back up the hill when you are ready to go."

A host of memories were awakened as the man raised the knocker and waited in the vine wreathed porch. The door was opened presently by a little old lady, who peered unbelievingly into his face. Then her voice rose quaveringly.

"David," she said—"David, is it really you?" A tall, white haired old man appeared at her joyous cry, and together, laughing and talking, they drew him into the house.

"How many years have you been gone, David—ten or twelve? And, my, how you have got on! We read every one of those articles of yours in the city papers describing them foreign folks and places in such an interesting way. And do the papers really pay your expenses all over the world just so you can write for 'em?"

"It's like Nell," the old lady interposed. "She can sell pictures just as fast as she can paint them. Course Nell isn't rich yet, but she sends us money every week, and she has had this house fixed over to be more comfortable for us, David, as you can see. It was a bit hard for her at first, studying alone in the city—just a bit hard, but Nell has made her way."

"You were wrong, my boy, when you thought she had no talent," the old man said gravely. "Nell never quite forgave you for discouraging her in that way, and she determined she'd show you."

David Phillips sighed. "I was a hot headed young fool," he said. "It was reprehensible to me at the time that Nell should choose an uncertain career in preference to the love and devotion of a lifetime. However, I tried to atone for my hasty words. I sought her out in the city, as you know, haunting the art classes and begging her upon every occasion to alter that cruel decision until at length she disappeared, annoyed no doubt by my persistency, and I have never seen her since. When you refused to enlighten me as to her whereabouts I concluded that it was because Nell had forbidden you to answer my letters. Then when opportunity offered I went abroad. Returning to New York, I could not resist stopping over for an hour or two to see you both and perhaps—to hear news of Nell."

"She is well," the mother said falteringly. "When you lost trace of her, David, Nell went to New York. She is still there. We have her house address, but I may not give it to you. Her heart was in this artist's career, David, and sometimes I think she knew that you alone had power to make her give it up."

"We are mighty proud of Nell," the old man added hastily. "Would you like to see a little water color she sent us—just to show what her last great painting was like?"

He led the way to the cheerless closed parlor, and David stood before a panel picture which hung upon the wall. His face brightened at the first sketch of an apple tree laden with spring blossoms, their white petals daintily tinged with pink. Nell had always loved these blooms. Then followed a second sketch of the same tree. Now numberless rosy cheeked apples showed among its green leaves. At the last picture David turned suddenly to the old man:

"She is not happy," he said, with conviction. It was the tree in winter, standing bare and desolate, its naked branches pointing to a leaden sky, and beneath the picture was one written word—"Bereft."

As the train carried him upon his homeward journey David gazed gloomily into space. "She is not happy," he repeated. Much work had accumulated during his absence, and as he entered an office building several days after his arrival he recollected an important business letter which must have a prompt reply and immediately sought the office of a public stenographer. "Miss Margaret Owen" was the name inscribed in gilt above the doorway, and as David entered a stout old man passed out. The stenographer's sanctum was separated from the outer room by heavy curtains, which parted presently to admit the gray clad figure of a dainty little woman. A great bunch of apple blossoms were fastened at her belt. David saw the blossoms before he met the steady light of her clear blue eyes.

"Nell!" he cried sharply. She drew back hastily.

"David!" she breathed.

"It is good to see you, N-Nell," he said, stammering in his joy like a schoolboy. "Never expected to find you here. I—I am looking for a public stenographer."

The little gray figure retreated toward the curtains; then Miss Nell laughed tremulously. "I, too, wished to engage Miss Owen's services," she said, "but have learned that she will not be here this afternoon."

The man stood looking at her for a moment; then with a quick stride he crossed the room.

"Nell," he entreated, "grant me a few moments alone. Is your office or studio in this building?"

"Yes," she answered, and her tone was quite composed. "I am located here, David, but when we have congratulated each other upon our phenomenal success"—she smiled up at him—"then it will be wiser to shake hands simply and say goodby. You have been successful, David?"

"I suppose so, Nell," he said. "At least I have made some money. That spells success, does it not?" David caught his breath sharply and hurried on: "My life has been like that famous picture of yours, Nell. There have been blossoms along the way, of course, but the blossoms never lasted long, while the fruit of my labors—that's the money—is garnered away somewhere. I don't seem to attain it so now there is nothing but the bare tree with its naked branches. 'Bereft'—isn't that what you call it?"

The girl drew farther back against the curtains. Her face had grown very white.

"I must speak, Nell," David said tensely. "I have waited too long to miss this chance. Fame is not a satisfying thing, dear, and now that I bow humbly before you, acknowledging your skill and your triumphs, won't you come and fill this empty life of mine with happiness? I do not ask the sacrifice of your beautiful dreams, dear one. I crave but the privilege to care for you, to be near you. Will you come?"

"No," she answered gently, "no, David, for I must always dream my dreams alone."

David turned abruptly to go. As he reached the door it was thrust open to admit the same stout old gentleman, who waved a fat hand in greeting toward the figure huddled against the curtains."

"Miss Owen," he cried, "glad to find you here. Will you now finish that interrupted dictation?"

The old man's query was met with silence, while Nell's sweet face changed from white to crimson in the most alarming manner. David hesitated a moment uncertainly; then his puzzled expression gave way to one of sudden enlightenment.

"Beg pardon, sir," he asked the bewildered old man, "but is this lady generally known as Miss Owen, the public stenographer?"

"Certainly," the man responded, "she is Miss Owen."

David's laugh rang out boyishly. "In that case," he said, "I will have to keep you waiting while I discuss a—er—business matter with Miss Owen. I will not detain you long," he added in a low tone as the stenographer timidly followed him into her private sanctum.

Then when the curtains had been carefully adjusted he caught the little gray figure up in a masterful embrace, while the crushed blossoms gave forth a dying fragrance.

"So," he said breathlessly, "this is what you have been doing all along, working away here night and day in order to send them money at home, burying your aspirations under a cloak of deceit that they might not be disappointed in your career and living under an assumed name so that they may never learn of your sacrifice. Girl, girl, how could you do it?"

"All your prophecies came true, David," she said. "I was a complete failure as far as art was concerned; even when I tried to pass off my paintings as 'impressionist pictures' they would not take them." Her little smile of mockery vanished. "I could not bear to disillusionize them at home," she continued. "The faith of those two old people was a thing that one could not lightly destroy, and so I drifted on until the weaving of the wonderful tales I wrote became my chief delight and the game of 'make believe' a substitute for the reality."

"I have been too yielding and patient with you always, Nell. Henceforth you shall be managed—dictated to. We will go back to the old farm and tell them all that you have found love to be a far greater power than art, and then—then we shall be married. Shall we, Nell? Do you understand?"

"If you please," came an impatient voice from the opposite side of the curtain, "have you taken that young man's dictation?"

And as Nell appeared the stout gentleman blinked in surprise at her radiant face. "Yes," she answered demurely, "I believe I have."

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You are not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are eaten like candy, and are ideal for children delicate persons, and old folks as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Tecumseh only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver

Doan's Regulets cure constipation without griping, nausea, nor any weakening effect. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents per box.

CAUSES MUCH DISEASE

Advice About Stomach Troubles and How to Relieve Them

Do not neglect indigestion which may lead to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent physician once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be among the most dependable remedies known for the relief of indegestion and chronic dyspipsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, some of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is very prompt. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time tends to bring about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets help to insure healthy appetite, to aid digestion, and thus promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver.

For any pain, from top to toe, from any cause, apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectri oil. Pain can't stay where it is used.

The Man Guessed Right.

In a church at Amsterdam there is a very ancient funeral monument of white marble on which are engraved a pair of slippers of a very singular kind with this inscription, "Effen Nyt," which means "exactly," and the story of this singularity is this: A man who was very rich, but who was a bon vivant, took it into his head that he was to live a certain number of years and no longer. Under the impression of this idea he calculated that if he spent so much a year his estate and his life would expire together. It happened that he was not mistaken in either of his calculations; he died precisely at that time which he had presented to himself in fancy and had then brought his fortune to such a predicament that after the paying of his debts he had nothing left but a pair of slippers. His relations buried him in a creditable manner and had the slippers carved on his tomb with the above laconic advice.—Tales and Anecdotes.

A Curious Tea Case.

A correspondent of the British Medical Journal gives an account of the curious symptoms he experienced after drinking tea. He writes: "Whenever I take tea I go through a regular procession of events most distressing and stultifying. Shortly, these are as follows: Within fifteen minutes of walking (movement seems to be essential) I feel hot about the scalp and knees. The former feels as if pepper were dusted all over it. Then I practically lose my sight and hearing and if in conversation cannot say more than 'yes' or 'no' because I am so faint and listless; then I lose the power of walking quite straight and choose the wall side of the path. Lastly I break out into a general perspiration, and within forty-five minutes I return to my senses." This correspondent adds that he has consulted many medical men, but has never found any means of relief.

B. Y. P. U. HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL FRIDAY EVENING OCTOBER 27

About 65 of the B. Y. P. U. and their friends gathered at the commodious home of Hazel Hall on Friday evening. Hayracks were brought into requisition for conveyances, and a jolly crowd assembled for the occasion. Ghosts, witches, fortune-tellers and their like were present. Jack o'lanterns furnished their illumination. Hallowe'en games, peanut hunt and pumpkin seed stunts furnished much amusement. Old and young alike were engaged in the various sports.

Pop corn was passed to the crowd and later refreshments were served to which all did ample justice. It was in the "wee sma' hours ayant the twal" that the company left for their homes each one expressing themselves as delighted with the evenings entertainment.

JOLLY 16

The Jolly 16 met at the home of Mrs. Will Barrett on Friday evening last. Four tables of cards were played, Mrs. Albert Clark and Mrs. Oscar Lidke were tied for first prize which was finally won by Mrs. Clark. Mrs. G. W. Church won second. At the close of the game light refreshments were served.

DANTE'S INFERNO

Booked by the Shuberts for Production in Their Theatres Throughout America—Pictures will be Handled in Same Manner as Regular Road Attraction

New York, July 22 (Special to the Billboard.)—The much talked of production of Dante's Inferno has been secured by the Shubert enterprises for the production in their theatres.

One of the biggest moving picture deals ever made is that between the Monopol Film Co. of New York City, and the Sam S. Shubert booking agency for the booking of the now celebrated production of Dante's Inferno by the Milano Films Co. to be exhibited in all the Shubert houses in this country. This great set of pictures was shown at a private exhibition at the Casino Theatre in New York City before a select few theatre managers whose names ar known through out the United States

The Dante pictures, which are in five reels, created a profound sensation among these men who are used to dealing with sensations themselves. They left the theatre speaking in enthusiastic terms of this production and Mr. J. J. Shubert lost no time in closing with the Monopol Film Co. for a tour of the Shubert houses.

On their part the Shubert people are extremely enthusiastic over the entire matter. They have seen the Dante pictures and in so doing they have seen wonderful possibilities in the moving picture that they never saw before. The Dante pictures are of so high a class that the Shuberts have made an exception and will handle the Dante pictures exactly as though it were a large regular production.

Dante's Inferno is a five-reel subject and besides being the largest in size of any of the special films handled in this country it is one of the most expensive and most elaborate productions ever made. Coming from Italy, the home of so many notable film producers, one would naturally expect a somewhat exceptional film but the production as presented in these five reels surpasses the expectations of even the most imaginative genius on this side of the water.

Dante's trip through the Inferno is pictured complete as outlined in his description with the many scenes of woe and agony mentioned by him present in livid illustrations. The setting is a wonderful work of art and while the producer of course, had some very striking illustrations to guide him he seems to have surpassed any of the famous illustrations in the production here. The constructions of the different parts of the Inferno has been done without leaving the slightest trace of artificiality and anyone seeing the film would declare that the rock formation as pictured was real scenery The costuming also and the arrangement of the property such as there is, is carried out along artistic lines and possesses an air of reality no one would expect to find.

The most striking feature in the photography. In this is included of coarse, the wonderful light effects as well as the plain picturing of the objects in a clear and steady manner. The toning has been done with evident great care and has been applied to almost the entire length of the film few scenes appearing in plain black and white. The entire set of pictures explained by a competent lecturer. At the BRADLEY OPARA HOUSE, Thurs. Nov. 2. Special matinee at 2:30.

SATAN SANDERSON

The play of "Satan Sanderson" presented at the Opera House last Thursday night was one of the finest ever presented in Tecumseh. Each part was perfect and Norman Hackett as "Satan Sanderson" could not be excelled the scenery was fine in every detail and the story embodied in the play was a strong one, the moral was good

The packed house attested to the reputation held by Norman Hackett.

KNOWLEDGE IT

Tecumseh Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove it

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Tecumseh given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidney in good health since, can be relied upon to preform the same work in other cases. Read this.

W. C. Witherell, W. Potawatamie St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills which I publicly expressed some years ago and I willingly confirm all I have previously said in their praise. I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips and often after stooping; a sharp winge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that my trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I read of Doans Kidney Pills, I obtained a supply at Wright & Son's Drug Store and the contents of a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken this preparation and the results have been plesing."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Roman Script Favored.

Shall the world's script be Roman, such letters as we use, or Arabic or Chinese? The Roman script has by far the best chance and the best claim, according to the New York Independent. Efforts are making to introduce it in China and Japan, and now the effort is making to interest India in reducing its fifty alphabets to a single one.

Free Sample Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the basic touble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with salts and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mr. O. P. Wisher's of Sycamore, Ill., and Mrs. Carrie Culler's of 325 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SEES CHICAGO PARK SYSTEM

President Whisked over Fifty-Five Miles of Boulevards.

ENDORSED BY BUSINESS MEN

President Harry Wheeler of Association of Commerce Reviews Taft's Policies, and Asks a Pertinent Question.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Even without a Mount Rainier, the committee conducting President Taft's visit here gave him an automobile ride which at times quickened the breath of those with him.

The president rode fifty-five miles through the Chicago park system. At hardly any point was the speed less than twenty-five miles an hour and frequently for short stretches it was increased to thirty-five. The maximum speed was forty miles and this was made on Michigan avenue, Chicago's automobile boulevard, which was crowded with automobiles at the time the president passed.

A police car carrying Assistant Chief Shuettler led the procession and a squad of a dozen motorcycle policemen surrounded the president's car. The police arrangements all along the route seemed excellent, but in several places the president was taken through a dangerously narrow space at thirty miles an hour. There were ten automobiles in the procession and the local committee in the rear cars, who had stepped out from the hotel to enter the machine so spick and span in top hats, looked more like chimney sweeps than hosts to the president when the drive was over.

The president stopped once during the drive to address a meeting of colored men at the colored Y. M. C. A. He spoke to them of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in the far east, as he had known it.

In the evening the president addressed a crowded house at Orchestra hall on international peace. He attended services in the morning at the Auditorium, where Dr. Gunsaulus preached.

Mr. Taft received a hearty endorsement from the business men of Chicago in an address by President Harry Wheeler of the Chicago Association of Commerce at its banquet. Mr. Wheeler reviewed the five chief policies of President Taft, a scientific revision of the tariff, currency reform, international arbitration, reciprocity and the construction of the Panama canal and pointed out the saneness and value of these policies to the business men of the country.

Speaking of the tariff Mr. Wheeler asked the question whether the public should hope to gain most in the small capita reduction of the import duties or by the elimination of the unrest in business which uncertainty in tariff revision is causing.

LYNCHERS LOSE NEGRO

Fellow Suspected of Shooting Merchant Eludes Drunken Captors.

Washington, Ga., Oct. 30.—After having confessed that he murdered C. S. Hollenshead, a wealthy merchant and planter, A. D. Walker, a negro, escaped from a mob which had taken him from the sheriff, after a rope had been placed about his neck and as the mob was in the act of stringing him up to a limb.

The negro's escape was daring and was made possible only by the fact that the members of the mob were too drunk to conduct a lynching properly. Hollenshead was killed in his store the previous night and suspicion fell on Walker, as his wife had trouble with the merchant.

MISS LA FOLLETTE MARRIED

Washington, Oct. 30.—The marriage of Miss Fola LaFollette, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert LaFollette, to George Middleton, the playwright, took place at the Washington residence of Senator and Mrs. LaFollette. Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, chaplain of the senate and pastor of All Saints' church, performed the ceremony. No cards had been issued and only the immediate relatives were present. The couple were attended by Paul Kester, the dramatist, and Miss Mary LaFollette, a younger daughter of the senator.

Immediately after the wedding breakfast the bride and groom left for their New York home.

VICTORY NEAR HANKOW CHEERS

Drooping Spirits of Government Revived by News.

LOAN ADDS TO ITS COMFORT

Officials Announce Arrangement to Borrow $18,000,000 from European Syndicate—Four Leading Nations Interested in Loan.

Pekin, Oct. 30.—The report of an imperialist victory in the vicinity of Hankow, which has been received from the minister of war, General Yin-Tchang, has revived the drooping spirits of the administration.

Additional comfort has been found in the conclusion of a loan agreement which, Chinese officials say, has just been arranged with a Belgian syndicate, having French and British connections. The loan is for $18,000,000, the price being 96, with 6 per cent interest. The syndicate receives 4 per cent commission.

The financial groups representing the four nations interested in the railway loan, the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, took under advisement a proposition for a loan of $8,000,000, but the American financiers decided that the present was an inopportune moment.

There are persistent reports that Ching-Kiang, 150 miles from Shanghai, is about to fall into the hands of the rebels. Ching-Kiang is the first of a series of lower Yangste river forts above Shanghai and is regarded as the keystone of the defense of this city. It it falls it is conceded that all the forts below as far as Wu-Sung will be seized by the rebels.

Edward T. Williams, American charge d'affaires, denies that Sheng Hsuan-Huai, deposed minister of posts and railways, entered the American legation in his flight, but says he cannot discuss the ex-minister's departure. At Tientsin and Shanghai, foreign residents will give Sheng the protection of the foreign police.

Revolutionary sympathy has developed to such an alarming extent at Amoy that Taotai Ching, the only high Manchu official there, sent his family to Fu-Chow, the capital of the province, for protection. As a precaution, all the members of the household on the voyage northward wore the clothing of the native Chinese, discarding their Manchu robes.

The unveiling took place in the presence of Mrs. Ingersoll, his widow, as well as two daughters and two grandsons. Addresses were made by Charles Frederick Adams of New York and Ex-Congressman John J. Lentz of Columbus.

OLYMPIC BLAMED

British Naval Court Exonerates the Hawke for Crash in Solent.

New York, Oct. 30.—The British naval court of inquiry on the collision between the White Star liner Olympic and the British cruiser Hawke Sept. 20 has exonerated the Hawke and placed the blame on the liner, according to dispatches received by shipping men in this city.

The loss caused by the collision will be a heavy one to the White Star line, as it has to bear the burden, as, in addition to the repairing of the Olympic, which is expected to cost close to $500,000, the liner has missed three round trips in the busy season, which would mean a loss of at least $750,000.

CROOKS IN THE CAPITAL

Dangerous Outlaws Are Camping in Washington.

Arrested Cracksman Tells Police That Operations on a Large Scale Are Being Planned.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Frank Lowery, alias Brooks, the notorious cracksman and train robber arrested here for stealing an automobile laprobe, says several of the most dangerous crooks in the country have been camping here and planning a series of robberies. Two jobs already accomplished were credited to this band by Lowery, one of them being the robbery of the fashionable ChevyChase club of $1,000 in money and jewels.

Lowery told that an hour before his arrest he was with some of his old "pals" who were planning operations on a large scale. He declined to give names, but said the men were still in the city.

The police are scouring the city for traces of the alleged band, but are inclined to suspect that the old cracksman was trying to deceive them.

A Curious Swiss Custom.

In one part of the canton of Ticino, Switzerland, a very quaint marriage ceremony prevails. The bridegroom dresses in his "Sunday best" and, accompanied by as many friends and relatives as he can muster for the fete, goes to claim his bride. Finding the door locked, he demands admittance. The inmates ask him his business, and he solicits the hand of his chosen maiden. If his answer is deemed satisfactory he is successively introduced to a number of matrons and maids, some perhaps deformed and others old and ugly. Then he is presented to some large dolls, all of whom he rejects with scorn amid general merriment. The bridegroom, whose temper is sometimes sorely tried, is then informed that his ladylove is absent and is invited to come in and see for himself. He enters and searches from room to room until he finds her in her bridal dress ready to go to church. Then all his anxiety is at an end, and the nuptials are duly celebrated.

TIRED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

YANTIC COMMAND HELD UP

Hancock and Escanaba Rivals for Naval Reserve Ship.

Hancock, Mich., Oct. 31.—Until the recent appointment temporarily of Lieutenant Henry Hecker, the United States naval training ship Yantic, stationed at Hancock for the use of the local naval reserve division, had been without a commander for a month, owing to the resignation of Commander H. S. Goodell and the failure of the state military board to confirm the election as commander of Lieutenant Grant Stephenson of Escanaba. A controversy has arisen as to the regularity of Mr. Stephenson's election. It is heightened by rivalry between the Hancock and Escanaba naval reserve divisions, as it is understood that Mr. Stephenson will remove the Yantic to Escanada if his election as commander is confirmed.

The Yantic recently has been equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus.

GHOST IN NEW BOSTON DEPOT

Villagers Excited Over Stories of Operators Scared Out by Noises.

New Boston, Mich., Oct. 31.—This village is in a state of excitement over a "ghost" that is said to make its headquarters at the depot. When the Pere Marquette double tracked its system from Romulus to Toledo the New Boston depot was moved back fourteen feet from its original position. Since then the telegraph operators say the depot has been haunted. Strange rappings, sounds of some person walking across the floor and blood chilling shrieks, [illegible] declared, are of nightly occurrence. A new operator from Carleton, installed Friday, worked one night and said that was enough for him.

It is recalled by superstitious residents that years ago a man was murdered in a saloon near the depot and buried on the present site of the depot.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Italians Riding on Pilot of Locomotive Crushed to Death.

Monroe, Mich., Oct. 30.—A locomotive on the pilot of which six men were riding ran into a gravel car on the Pere Marquette two miles south of Carleton. One of the men was killed outright, one died a few moments later and another died on his way to the hospital here.

The men are Joseph Guadogno, Charles Baratto and Tony Garzone. Joseph Basillo was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. The other two men jumped in time to escape injury. The men were members of a construction crew on their way to Romulus to work.

DAUGHTER'S CHARGE FALSE

Jury at Escanaba Discounts It and Acquits Father.

Escanaba, Mich., Oct. 30.—After a trial of two days, a jury in the circuit court found Elmer Peterson not guilty of a serious charge preferred by his sixteen-year-old daughter. The defendant is a prominent fisherman and a resident of Fairbanks and he has stoutly maintained his innocence of the charge in spite of the revolting tale told by his daughter.

He claimed it was a false accusation inspired by his wife from whom he is separated. The case was hotly contested and sensational.

SHURTLEFF SAYS HE ASKED BROWNE

Former Speaker Acknowledges Helping Lorimer.

Mr. Shurtleff Enlisted Support of Minority Leader—Ira C. Copley Attributes His Support of Lorimer to Desire to Defeat Hopkins.

The support of Lee O'Neil Browne for Senator Lorimer was enlisted by him, testified Edward D. Shurtleff speaker of the Illinois house during the 1909 session, before the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate in Chicago.

Mr. Shurtleff said he approached Mr Browne on the subject at the suggestion of either Senator Lorimer or one of his close friends.

His personal solicitation of the aid of the man who is accused of having acted as paymaster for Senator Lorimer was one of the features of Mr Shurtleff's testimony. In the two hours he was on the stand he told a good deal of the inside history of the senatorial deadlock and of his election at the beginning of the session as speaker through a bipartisan combination.

Ira C. Copley, member of congress from Aurora and ancient enemy of Former United States Senator Albert J. Hopkins, also an Aurora resident was also a witness. Mr. Copley's testimony related to his opposition to Mr Hopkins and also to the statement of James Keeley that he had information regarding the Hopkins plot to purchase Democratic votes.

He said he visited Mr. Lorimer in December, 1908, and asked him to become a candidate for senator, but that Mr. Lorimer refused on the ground that he preferred to remain in the house. Mr. Copley said he would have liked to have aided in the election of Governor Deneen as senator, but that his chief purpose all along was to defeat Hopkins.

JOSEPH PULITZER DEAD

Veteran Publisher of New York World Passes Away on Yacht.

Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, died on board his yacht Liberty in the harbor of Charleston, S. C. He had been ill only about forty-eight hours and until just before he died it was believed that the illness was only a slight indisposition. Death was caused by heart trouble, caused, it is believed, by an attack of acute indigestion.

Mr. Pulitzer was sixty-four years old. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters.

TAFT AT DAIRY SHOW

President Sees the Sights and Makes a Brief Address.

President Taft visited the national dairy show at the union stock yards in Chicago. He made a brief address to the assembled dairymen and presented the president's medal to Russel Jensen, a student in the South Dakota state agricultural college. The medal is awarded to the student making the best score in judging cattle.

The president was then escorted by H. E. Van Norman, president of the show, on a tour of inspection. The long rows of prize cows were visited and the big 12,000-pound cheese, made in Appleton, Wis., and one of the features of the show, are gazed upon at close range.

From the dairy show the president was taken to the site of the new Hamilton club building, where he took part in the laying of the corner stone. This was followed by a luncheon given by the Hamilton club at the Hotel La Salle. At 5:30 President Taft departed for Pittsburgh, well pleased with his reception in Chicago.

Newaygo, Mich., Oct. 30.—The body of Henry Bode, Hollander, seventy-six years old, was found in the ruins of a barn burned on his son's farm. The old man is supposed to have ignited a hay mow with kerosene while in a temporary fit of insanity. He leaves a widow and four children.

STEEL TRUST IS TARGET

Government Brings Suit to Dissolve the Big Corporation.

The government of the United States has filed suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation in the federal court in Trenton, N. J.

Some of the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel corporation also are attacked in the petition which was prepared by Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, who had been retained by the government as its special counsel in this case.

The petition charges the steel corporation and those subsidiaries which are named as defendants with maintaining or attempting to maintain a monopoly in the steel business. The evidence upon which the suit was brought was obtained by the special investigators of the department of justice.

CHINA GIVES IN TO ALL DEMANDS

Loyal Troops Were Ready to Seize Pekin.

Government Notified That the Navy Would Munity Unless a Political Change Was Made—Demands on Throne.

With 27,000 loyal soldiers, backed by the empire's fleet, threatening to attack Pekin, all China awoke to face a new era.

By his own act, done through the prince regent, the boy emperor has granted demands for genuine reforms under a constitutional government, giving up a vast portion of the authority hitherto vested in the throne.

The demands were made first by the Army league, then indorsed by the Chinese National assembly, and presented to the throne. An immediate attack on the city of Pekin was threatened if the demands were not granted.

The attack was to be made by the 27,000 soldiers of the Third and Twentieth divisions, and the Second mixed brigade, composing what was designed to constitute the second army for the Yangtse campaign. When the demands were made they were at Lwan Cho within striking distance of the capital.

At the same time a telegram was received from the secret war counsel by Admiral Sah. This said the navy would mutiny unless a political change was made. It indicated that the navy was in co-operation with the army.

Yuan Shih Kai has been summoned to Pekin immediately. Yuan's is undoubtedly the master hand which shaped the whole situation. He apparently possess complete control both of the army and the national assembly.

Following are the demands made on the throne at Pekin by the loyal Chinese army and the Chinese national assembly:

Full power to parliament to revise the constitution.

Army and navy must not be used in internal troubles without consent of parliament.

Emperor must no longer have absolute power of life and death.

Pardon for political exiles.

A responsible cabinet, with a premier to be chosen by parliament.

Royalty to be ineligible to the cabinet.

Parliament to share the treaty-making power and have full power over the budget.

Throne to have no power over taxation unless authorized by parliament.

No appointive members in the upper house of parliament until the reforms are completed, and the army and navy to have a ful voice in their shaping.

He was at work shingling the barn on the Hulett farm He was not on the scaffolding but up on the roof, when he lost his footing, slipped down the roof, over the edge and fell to the ground below.

Careful examination has failed to reveal any broken bones, but his spine is badly injured. He is a heavy man and fell a considerable distance. He is past middle age and has several children grown up.

SCHOOL NOTES

CONTESTING FOR THE $25 PRIZES

A very interesting program was given Friday afternoon by the fifth and sixth grades of the East Branch School. The program was given in fifth grade room. One of the most interesting features of the program was a reading by Miss Rathbun the sixth grade teacher. The fifth grade pupils gave a dramatization of the story of "The Landing of Columbus" which was very good. This is the first of a series of mothers' meetings which will be held the last Friday afternoon of each month. The mothers are especially urged to be present at these meetings in order to appreciate the work and training of their boys and girls.

The State Teachers' Institute will be held at Detroit Thursday and Friday of this week and the schools of Tecumseh will be closed during that time

Ray Binns has returned to school after an absence of a week.

Flora Ketchem spent over Sunday at her home in Onsted.

Lucile Rice and Blanche Snyder will go as delegates to Saginaw Thursday to attend a Y. W. C.A. convention to be held in that city from Nov. 2 to Nov. 5.

Beginning Monday and until further notice, the library will be open at twelve o'clock on school days instead of one o'clock as heretofore. Every High School Student is entitled to a library card.

WANTED—An alarm clock to awaken Wilfred Mills early enough in the morning to enable him to arrive at the twelth grade room of the Central High School building at 8:22. C.

No school Thursday and Friday on account of Teachers Association at Detroit.

The report cards were given out Wednesday on account of there being no school Friday. It is hoped that the parents will look these cards over carefully and if there are any failures registered on them, that they will endeavor to find the reasons therefore We hope that the parents will take a greater interest in their children's progress [illegible]. It would also be greatly [illegible] if the parents would visit the schools at least once or twice a year, thereby showing their interest.

Our school was represented at the Y. W. C. A. Convention at Saginaw, by two worthy seniors: Anna Carson and Blanche Snyder, and one busy junior, Lucille Rice. We are sure they will come back with many new ideas, which will be very useful in the work here.

P

In regard to tardy marks of the Central High School building some rooms have a good record the eight grade room being the only one having a perfect record Since Sept. 1, they have not had one tardy mark, others have been having only a few while others are poor indeed. The seventh grade, during the month of September had 2, and during October 8. The Freshmen room had 2 in September and 5 in October. The Sophomores had 11 during October. The Junior and Senior rooms seem to be the greatest offenders of this rule, the juniors having 2 during September and 17 during October, the seniors in September and October 25. The two highest grades who are expected to set a good example for the others had better take pattern after some of younger pupils.

Rayola Gilmore of Parma, visited school Monday afternoon.

Mr. Smith's class in Physical Geography are studying the condition of the Ocean. Their note-book work along this line proves very effective to each pupil. At different times the class take a study out of doors the last one being the study of effects of vertical and slanting rays of the sun at this time of the year. Each day they are required to take the weather observation which consists of temperature the barometric pressure, relative humidity, direction and velocity of the wind, kinds of clouds, form of precipitation and the amount, and the position of the storm center. This is a very interesting study and the class are making good progress in their work.

Cornelia Mathers of Adrian, visited school Wednesday morning.

Donald Wallinger is absent from school on account of the death of his grandmother.

There may be some excuse for lower standings during the first month of school, in that the work may be entirely new and that it takes some time to get settled down to business but the second month should show an increase in the standings of every pupil. There are other reasons howeves besides the above mentioned, that cause failures. We know of course that a pupil who is interested, and who spends time and prepares each lesson by a good conscientious study is the one who comes up to the requirements of the High School every time There are others who may half come up to the standard but on an average the pupils who fail are those who do not do the outside assigned work. They fail to compete with those who do all the required work. Much of this kind of work is given out and if neglected it takes down the standing considerably. Another reason is the absence of pupils from their work, unless good regular work is done, the connection of each lesson from day to day is lost. If a pupils is absent one day he has practically lost two for he will hardly be able to prepare and recite his lessons on the next day. Those pupils who devote their whole time to their school work are those who go far ahead of those who are interested in other work, such as working in a store or doing odd jobs, these pupils cannot keep up with their work and these are the ones who fail everytime.

The conduct of certain pupils has led to the strict enforcement of the following.

(1.) Any [illegible] absent one half day unexcused by the teacher, shall receive one mark, and a like mark for tardiness; and six marks for either or both may suspend the pupil, at the discretion of the Superintendent.

(2.) All pupils absenting themselves by concerted action, from their regular school duties, shall be liable to suspension.

No mere statement that the parent has kept the pupil at home shall be accepted by the teacher as an excuse for absence, and unless it shall appear that sickness has detained the pupil the excuse shall not be deemed satisfactory. Much stress will be laid upon the above By-Laws of the Public School, that pupils be regular and punctual in their attendance, unless otherwise excused by the Superintendent. Parents and pupils please bear in mind these facts

The foot ball game between Tecumseh and Clinton Wednesday afternoon proved unsuccessful for the Tecumseh boys, the score being 6 to 0 in favor of Clinton. It was a well played game and Clinton did not win easily but until our team has had more practice, they cannot expect to win from experienced teams. C

FOUND, THE WELL IN THE ROCK

On the Farm of Ed Brooks 1 Mile West of Town

For years it has been thought impossible to secure a good well on the Thomas Boyd farm just west of town, and it remained for Mr. John Moore of Tipton, to accomplish the task which he did last week beginning Wednesday at noon and finishing Saturday.

Working his tools with an engine he first struck clay and then passed through 50 feet of quick sand. Striking rock at 100 feet below the surface he drilled through this for three feet, when a fine flow of water came with a rush.

A number of people have tried to dig a well on this farm but have been met with so many discouragements that it has given up as a bad job. Mr. Ed Brooks who now own the farm feels that he has been highly favored.

The well cost about $123 when finished.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1811 and he said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

For Sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Some time ago, I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and since taking th have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." For sale by all druggists.

WATERWAYS [illegible]

Illinois House Defeats Pet [illegible] of Deneen at Late Session.

The Deneen waterway bill was defeated by the Illinois legislature, 5 to 63. Seventy-seven votes were needed to pass.

The solid strength of the Lorimer influence was exerted against the bill except a few votes coming from the Illinois river districts. The Cook county vote split almost to a man on the Lorimer and anti-Lorimer line of cleavage. The McKinley territory, over on the western side of the state, was solid against the governor. Roger C. Sullivan's friends from Chicago voted for the bill

Free Sample Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the basic touble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with salts and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mr. O. F. Wisher's of Sycamore, Ill., and Mrs. Carrie Culler's of 326 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.509 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

ENRIGHT FOUND GUILTY

Labor Slugger Convicted of Murder of Vincent Altman in Chicago.

Maurice ("Moss") Enright has been found guilty in Chicago of the murder of Vincent Altman in the Briggs house bar on March 22 last. Judge McSurely received the verdict shortly after 10 oclock, the jury having been out all night.

The punishment of Enright was fixed at life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Enright, who was in court when his fate was announced, took it calmly.

Enright, alleged leader of labor sluggers, killed Altman, another labor slugger, after an altercation. His conviction was largely due to the testimony of Fred Irish, who was in the bar at the time of the tragedy. Enright is the confessed slayer of William Gentleman, claiming he shot in self-defense Gentleman was killed in Pat O'Malley's saloon on State street.

The police assert they believe Enright was responsible also for the killing of "Barney Malloy."

When a Peanut Sprouts.

"Few persons are perhaps aware that a thing of beauty is a common peanut plant growing singly in a six or eight inch pot and grown indoors during the colder weather," said a florist. "Kept in a warm room or by the kitchen stove, a peanut kernel planted in a pot of loose mellow loam and only moderately moistened will soon germinate and grow up into a beautiful plant, extending its branches over the pot. The leaves close together like the leaves of a book on the approach of night or when a shower begins to fall upon them. The plant bears tiny yellow flowers. There is nothing else just like it."

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain [illegible] shortness of breath on going up-stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alterative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Obituary

Francis Carrie Pocklington was born in Ridgeway, Mich., March 30, 1890. She was the youngest child of Frank E. Ida Pocklington who with her sister Dora L. Hardman and her brother Elmer while deeply mourning her departure are not forgetting to be thankful for the years they have enjoyed having Frances with them.

She was a member of the Ridgeway M. E. church and Sunday School and Epworth League and also of the Eastern Star. Her life was a mission of cheerfulness, her greatest pleasure was in seeing others happy, and her deepest sorrows was caused by the suffering.

Together with the father and mother she spent the past two years in the South, and she began the other part of her life Saturday p. m. October 21 1911, at Fort Worth Texas.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to the friends, who helped cheer our dear one curing her days of sickness, and who have helped us bear our burden of grief sinse she went away.

ASSESSED VALUATION RAISED $80,000,000

Result of Reviews of the State Tax Commission.

Of the Amount Practically $70,000,000 Was in the Increase in the Iron Mines—Average Rates Not To Be Disturbed.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 30.—About $80,000,000 has been added to the assessed valuation of general property in the state as a result of reviews the state tax commission has made during the year. Of this amount practically $70,000,000 was in the increase of the iron mines.

These figures indicate that the average rate of taxation for the railroads and other corporations assessed under the ad valorem system should be reduced from $20.67, but doubt is expressed as to whether that will be the result. It is pointed out that many counties in the state have gone into the good roads business on an extensive scale and in consequence have increased their taxes somewhat. The increase is estimated to be sufficient to meet the increase in valuation, although there are no definite figures available, but if that is true the average rate will not be disturbed to any extent, nor any benefit derived by the public service corporations from all the fuss made over the equalization.

TIPPIT ON THE STAND

Tells of an Alleged Lorimer Political Deal.

How Democratic legislators voted for William Lorimer for United States senator because of his support of Adlai Stevenson, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in 1908, was told before the senatorial investigating committee by Thomas Tippit of Olney, leader of the so-called Tippit faction of house Democrats at the 1909 session.

Mr. Tippit declared that Senator Lorimer met secretly with the Democratic state executive committee following the defeat of Richard Yates at the Republican primaries in 1908 and entered into an agreement to support Mr. Stevenson.

In reply to a question by Senator Kern as to what Senator Lorimer received for his "betrayal of his party" at the gubernatorial election, Mr. Tippit said he did not understand that the senatorship was considered at that time.

Mr. Tippit denied that he received anything for his vote for Senator Lorimer, or that he distributed any money to his followers. He said he did not see Former Represntative William C. Blair of Mount Vernon in Olney on July 20, 1909, when it is charged that the latter received money for his Lorimer vote.

Roger C. Sullivan, Democratic committeeman, took the stand for the first time in the Lorimer inquiry. He told the senate committee why the Democrats voted for Senator Lorimer and why Republicans, in some instances, rallied to the aid of Adlai E. Stevenson in the gubernatorial campaign of 1908.

TIRED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy.

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

CEMENT BRIDGE FALLS

Unfinished Structure Carries Twenty Men Down.

Loss Will Reach $100,000 and Cause of Accident Is Not Known.

Auburn, Cal., Nov. 6.—A giant cement bridge across the north fork of the American river, in process of construction, collapsed and carried twenty men down into the river. Three men were killed and five hurt. The cause of the accident is not known.

A big night shift had been put to work in an attempt to finish the structure before the winter rains begin, and possibly forty men were at work when the central span collapsed. Twenty men were near the center of the span and went down, but the others escaped to the shore.

The loss is heavy, probably $100,000. The bridge when completed will be the largest cement structure of its kind in the world.

No Contest Looked for In Tarkington Proceedings In Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—The attorneys for Mrs. Booth Tarkington expect that the divorce suit against the author will be called for trial before the end of the week and that a decree of absolute divorce be returned at once. It is said that Tarkington will be here this week and that the answer to the suit will not raise any issue that will require more than a couple of hours for the trial.

It is said that Mr. Tarkington will not offer any evidence and the wife will confine her testimony under the allegation of "cruelty" to the mere refusal of the husband to live permanently in any one place.

MRS. VERMILYA NEAR RECOVERY

Passes Crisis and Condition Is Very Favorable.

TRIED SUICIDE WITH ARSENIC

Attempt of Woman Who Is Accused of Poisoning Policeman Bissonette to End Her Life Made Under Nose of Police.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya is making a gallant fight for life, with the chances overwhelmingly in favor of her complete recovery from the dose of arsenic poisoning with which she attempted to end her life Saturday. The woman, who is held for the murder of Policeman Pisonette and whose sensational attempt to end her life was made almost under the very eyes of the police, has passed what was regarded as the crisis and later was so far recovered as to be able to sit up for a short time.

The police have redoubled their watch over the woman with the idea of cutting her off from all opportunity of making a fresh attempt at suicide.

"Unless fresh complications set in Mrs. Vermilya will recover and will live to face a trial for her life for the murder of Bisonette," was the statement given out by those in attendance.

LOOK FOR SNOW FALLS

Weather Service Intimates This Week Will See Pronounced Drop.

Washington, Nov. 6. — The present week will be one of pronounced weather changes. Disturbances that now cover the Rocky mountains and British Columbia will advance slowly eastward and be preceded by unsettled weather, local rains and mild temperature the first half of the week in the middle west and the southern and eastern states; rains are also probable in the north Pacific states.

Following this disturbance the pressure will rise rapidly and decidedly colder weather will overspread the northwestern states Tuesday and Wednesday and advanse eastward over the middle west Wednesday and Thursday and the eastern states the latter part of the week. It is probable that this cold change will be attended by snows in the northern states.

PEARS CRANBERRY CORNER

Chicago District Attorney Is Told Organizations Are Boosting Prices.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The possibility of a corner in the cranberry market that bade fair to eliminate cranberry sauce as a feature of Thanksgiving day dinners was established by District Attorney Wilkerson after an investigation. Cranberries last week reached $10.50 a barrel, an increase of nearly $5 from last year.

The district attorney was informed that in Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts, where most of the commercial cranberries are grown, there were organizations which in turn belong to a central organization in New York. These organizations easily could control the price, he was

MONEY FROM LORIMER

Browne Says Senator Contributed to His Defense.

Dramatically Declares He Knew of No Money Being Paid to Secure Lorimer's Election.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—"So help me God, senators, I know of no money having been paid to secure the election of Senator Lorimer!"

Lee O'Neil Browne thus dramatically answered a volley of questions put to him by the senate committee investigating the Lorimer election directly bearing upon the alleged use of money to bring about Lorimer's election.

A minute before he had reluctantly admitted that Senator Lorimer contributed to the fund for his defense in his two trials in Cook county and that other prominent men, whose names he could not remember, also contributed; that he met Edward Hines, who is alleged to have boasted that he "put Lorimer over" in Chicago."

The admission that Senator Lorimer contributed to the Browne defense had never been made before, and caused a sensation in the hearing. His inability or unwillingness to tell the names of other contributors roused the committee to ask many questions about the source of his defense fund.

Mount Carroll, Ill., Nov. 6.—The Chinese revolution has knocked the bottom out of the ginseng market, exportations having fallen off to such an extent that farmers face large losses.

CAL. P. RODGERS MAKES PASADENA

Twenty Miles Yet before He Reaches Pacific Ocean.

CONTINENTAL TRIP COMPLETED

Birdman Is Almost Torn to Pieces by Crowd When He Lands—Has Narrow Escape from Disaster at Banning.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6.—Calbraith P. Rodgers, the transcontinental aviator, completed the last lap of his epochal route and descended at Tournament park, Pasadena.

His coming was awaited by thousands and no sooner had the bridman brought his aerial steed to earth than he was literally mobbed. Men, women and children fought and struggled for an opportunity to shake his hand, speak a word to him or seize some part of his dress or equipment as a souvenir. The police were compelled to use clubs in order to force the crowd back from the machine, which they were in a fair way to tear to pieces. Finally, guarded by police, Rodgers made his way through the throng and was driven to a hotel, where he went to bed, declining to see any reporters until later.

His plans call for a continuation of the flight, a distance of twenty miles, to the ocean, where he will land on the beach, thus actually completing his ocean to ocean trip.

Explanation by Rodgers of his remarkable escape from death when descending at Banning shows that his flight was a race for life, during which he operated his machine with but one hand for a distance of six miles. When Rodgers was entering a narrow stretch on the San Gorgonio pass his machinery broke in several places at once. One of the connecting rods of the crank shaft broke at the bottom when he was at a height of 2,500 feet.

The biplane dipped and plunged but Rodgers, holding the jumping broken rod with his thumb, and a loosened magneto with his finger, kept the engine going at top speed. In spite of this peril and handicap he made the twenty miles from Palm Springs to his landing place at Banning in 11 minutes. It had to be a record breaking spurt or he was doomed.

Coming over the town he was 2,500 feet high, but he turned sharply toward the mountain cliffs and took a dive almost straight downward 2,000 feet. Then instantly shifting his planes he made a short curve and settled in a freshly plowed field.

Rodgers in his journey from New York to Banning traveled a total of 4,141 miles in 4,846 minutes actual flying time.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth when Properly Combined

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Napthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well-known ingredient for restoring the hair to its natural color, when the loss of hair has been caused by a disease of the scalp.

These ingredients in proper combinations, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well-defined nourishing properties, perfect perhaps the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

We have a remedy which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely invaluable medicinal agents. We guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or we will refund your money. If the scalp has a glazed, shiny appearance, it's an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances we believe baldness is curable.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a positive cure in 93 per cent of cases where put to a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely particular, better than anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire risk. Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Tecumseh only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver.

Insect Tones.

An investigator, given to the collection of curious data has observed that there are at least three different tones emitted by insects—a low one during flight, a higher one when the wings are held in such manner that they do not vibrate and a yet higher tone when the insect is held so that none of its limbs can be moved. This last, it is pointed out, is the "voice proper" of the insect. In some cases it is produced by the stigmata of the thorax.

Thoughtful Painter.

"I see you are paying the hospital expenses of that painter who fell off the roof."

"Yes. He's too good a man to lose. As he went down he touched up two or three places which would have been very hard to reach."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

EDITOR AND MRS. FRANK L. GATES OF THE MILAN LEADER MET WITH A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

While returning to Milan from Detroit in their auto October 27. Mr. and Mrs. Gates were victims of a peculiar accident. A husking machine was at work on the farm of Dewel Finch on Lake Ridge. The belt being across the road there were two or three loads of cornstalks standing near and the belt was almost hidden. There were no danger signals or anything to stop the traveler and before they had a chance to take the situation both Mr. and Mrs. Gates were struck by the belt and were badly bruised and stunned. He being struck above the mouth and she across the forehead brusing and burning their faces quite badly. Had the belt been lower they would surely have had their necks broken.

Bruised as he was, Mr. Gates never forgot his machine but brought it to a stop before further damage was done. We congratulate Editor Gates and wife on their wonderful escape and trust they soon be all right again.

Teaching the Teacher.

The teacher of the first grade in the district school in the cattle country had much trouble with the six-year-old boy who was the sole member of that grade. The boy is the son of a cattle man. After a week or so of refusal to learn the alphabet the teacher said: "Johnny, if you do not learn your letters you never will know anything."

"Shucks!" replied Johnny. "I know more'n you do."

"Why, Johnny, what do you mean by such talk?" gasped the teacher. "I never heard of such impudence."

Johnny bolted for the blackboard and drew half a dozen cattle brands—the Flying D, the Lazy B, the Triangle Dot, the Lazy Crutch, the Bar 7 and some others.

"What's them?" he asked.

The teacher couldn't guess.

"Well," said Johnny, "don't you talk to me no more about them things you call letters when you can't tell cattle brands apart."—Saturday Evening Post.

The World's Worst Penman.

Most remarkable among execrable writers was John Bell, the barrister of whom Lord Eldon said to the prince regent that he was the ablest equity lawyer of his time, though he could "neither read, write, walk nor talk." Bell was a cripple, and his Westmorland accent combined with his stammer to make his speech unintelligible. The character of his writings appears from his own statement that he had three styles, one of which he could read, but his clerk could not, while the second was intelligible to his clerk, but not to himself, and the third baffled both of them. Something similar is told of Henry Ward Beecher, whose daughter, acting as his copyist, had three chief rules—that no dotted letter of his was meant for an "i," that no crossed letter stood for a "t" and that no capital letter ever began a sentence.—London Chronicle.

Drunkenness In China.

As regards the sobriety of the Chinese there seems to be a difference of opinion, and it is a question upon which writers disagree, but it seems to be the general opinion that very few intoxicated men or women are seen upon the streets. What drinking is done—and from all accounts there must be considerable—is carried on within doors. Habitual drunkenness is punished by banishment and servitude, but occasional intoxication is only a matter of comment, and the result is the notifying a person on the street in which he lives that so and so is drunk, and if the subject is not boisterous the affair is let drop. But, on the other hand, if he is noisy and shows a disposition to quarrel and fight he is at once taken to his rooms and compelled to remain there until the effect of the liquor has worn away.—New York Sun.

Concerning Freshmen.

James, aged five, and Sarah, aged seven, were the children of a professor and took a great interest at the beginning of the college year in the class collisions which they daily witnessed on the campus. They discussed the merits of the case from every side James usually preferred the freshmen, while Sarah always sided with their enemies.

One afternoon James was trotting across the campus, holding tightly to his father's hand. His little face was quite serious, and he kept looking behind him more or less fearfully. His father, deep in meditation, was not noticing until finally a small voice said:

"Father, they wouldn't mistake a little boy for a freshman, would they?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Antimilitarism In Germany.

At Strassburg I saw a general leave barracks. The sentries stood at attention, then when he had passed on they both at the same instant mimicked his gait, which was peculiar, behind his back—sentries, mind you! I have also seen street boys in Germany mock the paradeschritt of troopers when an officer passed by, and the troopers grinned broadly and the officer saw, but said naught. Such antimilitarism is unthinkable in France.—London Globe.

He Made the Sale.

"Yes, the property is cheap enough. Why do you want to sell it?"

"You won't give me away?"

"No."

"Well, sir, it's because I'm the only man in this neighborhood that doesn't move in high society, and I'm lonesome."—Chicago Tribune.

Naval Salutes.

Originally a town or a warship fired off its guns on the approach of friendly strangers to show that they had such faith in the visitors' peaceful intentions they didn't think it necessary to keep their guns loaded. Hence the naval salute.

Old Fashioned.

"What's the trouble with you and your fiance? Is he jealous?"

"Well, he isn't exactly jealous, but he's what you might call old fashioned. He doesn't want me to be engaged to anybody else."—Washington Herald.

Marked Resemblance.

"Grace, is that sweetheart of yours an auctioneer?" "No, father. Why?" "Because he keeps on saying he's going—going—going, but he hasn't gone yet!"

LAKE SHORE & MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILROAD INSTALLS FIVE NEW CIRCUITS

THE TELEPHONE FOR DISPATCHING TRAINS PROVEN A SUCCESS.

That the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern has found the telephone a very successful means of dispatching trains is borne out by the fact that it recently ordered of the Western Electric Company enough telephones and selectors to equip five new circuits. When this equipment has been installed the Lake Shore will be operating about 1850 miles of circuit by the telephone.

The new equipment will consist of a train dispatching circuit to run from Hillsdale, Mich., to Lansing, Mich., with a branch from Homer, Mich., to Dundee, Mich. Twenty-six stations will be equipped on this circuit, and the dispatcher will be located at Hillsdale.

A second train circuit will run from Fort Wayne Indiana, to Jackson, Mich., with a branch off from Bankers, Mich., to Ypsilanti, Mich. There will be thirty six stations on this line and the dispatcher will also be located at Hillsdale.

Another train circuit will run from Detroit to Jackson, Mich., with a branch off from Monroe, Mich, down to Toledo, and another one off from Grosvenor, Mich., to Fayette, Ohio, with a short branch from this line at Lenawee Junction, Mich., to Adrian, Mich. The dispatcher for this circuit will be located at Detroit. Forty one stations will be equipped.

There will also be three message circuits, one to run from Fort Wayne straight through to Jackson, for which twenty-two stations will be equipped, one to run from Detroit to Toledo with thirteen stations will be equipped between Detroit and Monroe, but from there on to Jackson, with a branch off from Lenawee Junction to Adrian, Mich., and Fayette, Ohio, there will be twenty-two stations exuipped.

An interesting feature of this installation is a special switching device which will permit the stations between Grosvenor and Fayette to be switched over to the train wires when desired.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

At the meeting of the Woodmen of the World held last Monday evening, quite a little interest was observed.

Already a number have joined and more have promised. All candidates taken before Dec. 17th, will be taken to Detroit for initiation with a large class.

Those from out of town were Dr. James of Adrian, John Asman of Port Huron and E. P. Nash of Monroe.

GRANGE BANQUET

Grange Hall was the scene of a very pleasant social occasion on Friday evening November 3, it being the annual banquet of the Grange. Covers were laid for 120 and a bountiful repast was served as might be expected from such a company of farmers wives.

At the close of the banquet a short program was given, Mrs. D. T. Hall acting as toast mistress in a very able and witty manner.

The first on the program was an instrumental duet by Mrs. F. B. Wood and Mrs. Ella Hodges, which was exceptionally fine.

"Why a Farmer?", responded to by James Waldron was answered in a very telling manner, and showed where the young man stands on this subject.

"The Farmer's Wife", Mr. A. W. Mills was very good, he took his mother as a sample and spoke quite feelingly.

"Her Husband", Mrs. Andrew Wilson took her husband as her subject and illustrated her talk in a forceful manner, proving that in her estimation he was the one husband of all others.

Mrs. W. J. Waldron and Wilfred then favored the company with some fine music, followed by Mrs. N. L. Bryan with an instrumental piece, on being called back she gave a pleasing recitation.

"The Farmer's best Crop", was handled in a very able manner by C. H. Bramble who is up to date in all that pertains to farm life. The meeting closed at a late hour, each one having spent a delightful evening.

Everybody's friend—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Cures toothache, earache, sore throat. Heals cuts, bruises, scalds. Stops any pain.

Where It Hurts.

"I tell you," said Sinnick, "men are getting so deceitful these days that you can't trust your best friends."

"And, what's worse," interrupted Borroughs gloomily, "you can't get your best friends to trust you."—Catholic Standard and Times.

It Certainly Did.

"Johnny," said the Sunday school teacher, "can you tell me what caused the flood?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the little fellow; "it rained."—Chicago News.

HENRY WILSON

Died in Hamilton, Kansas Friday Oct. 24, 1911 of heart failure, Henry Wilson, aged 76 yrs. 11mo. 3 ds.

Mr. Wilson was about town the day before in his usual way. Waking at 5 o'clock Friday morning he arose as usual and went out of doors, returning he went back to bed remarking "it isn't very cold." His wife noticed that something was the matter and called assistance but before a physician could reach him he became unconscious and never rallied, passing away at 10:30 a. m. Mr Wilson will be remembered by a host of friends in Tecumseh where he came as a youth of 12 years coming with his parents from Antrim, Ireland. He left Tecumseh in 1879 for Kansas where he has since resided.

He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his sudden taking away.

Mr. Wilson was a man of deeply religious convictions being converted at the age of 17 years and joining the Presbyterian church at that time. A few years ago he joined the Methodist church at Hamilton where he was always to be found ready to do his masters work.

His funeral was held Sunday at 10:30 a. m. at the church, the Rev. C. H. Gerkin officiating. A large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to their friend. For over twenty years, before leaving Tecumseh Mr Wilson was in partnership with Mr. Joe Russell in the stock business and was well known throughout the country. The sympathy of the community goes out to his bereaved wife and family.

WILLIAM McCOWEN

William McCowen passed away Saturday afternoon at the home of his sisters, Misses Jennie and Allie McCowen, aged 60 years.

He has been in poor health for a long time, but was able to be about coming down town every day, when the weather permitted.

He was an artist of considerable talent, and so long as he was able was busy with his brush and palatte, except for a few years his life has been spent in Tecumseh.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Frank Kinney of Indianapolis, and a son, Wm. McCowen of Great Bend Kansas, and his sisters, Jennie and Alice McCowen to mourn his loss.

CARD OF THANKS

To the kind friends and neighbors who so willingly assisted us during the sickness and death of our beloved one, we wish to express our heartfelt thanks, also to those sending flowers and assisting in the music. May the Lord bless you all and spare you such sorrow is our sincere wish.

METHODIST ANNIVERSARY

The Methodist Episcopal Church began the celebration of the 85th Anniversary on Sunday. The services were very interesting and attended by fine congregations.

At the morning service Rev. Dennis Clancey of India, gave a stirring Missionary address in which he outlined the progress of Christian missions in India, during the past 50 years.

At the 5 o'clock Vesper service the church was filled with an audience that enjoyed the beautiful Antiphonal service of song.

On Friday evening next the congregation will enjoy an indoor basket picnic. On Sunday November 12, Rev. Seth Reed D. D. of Flint will give addresses at both morning and evening services. At 5 p. m. he will relate experiences of the early days when he traveled through the wilderness, to preach to the early settlers here.

When Liszt Met Diriks.

A Paris contemporary relates an interesting story of Liszt. The great pianist was living in a little German town when Diriks, the Norwegian painter, went to reside at the same place, thinking he would be able to work there without interruptions. He had been installed in his new quarters only one day when he made the pianist's acquaintance. The painter had been trying his art for about two hours, and then he gave up in despair. He went outside, and at the same time Liszt came out for a breath of fresh air.

The painter addressed the pianist, and this dialogue ensued: "Are you the pianist, monsieur, whom I have heard all day?" "Yes, monsieur." "It is very irritating." "Alas, monsieur, you do not love music?" "I detest it." "It is very regrettable, but I must practice." "But you disturb me in my work. Moreover, you play atrociously." "Ah, you think so? It is the first time any one has ever told me so." "Judging from your age, there have been many opportunities," was the painter's answer. Then there was silence for a moment. Liszt, going indoors, contented himself with the observation, "My name is Liszt."

Nature's Parachutes.

Careful examination has been made of the heads of Canada thistledowns in order to determine their effectiveness as parachutes carrying the seeds of the plant to great distances through the air. The results of this examination are quite remarkable. Calculation shows that a thistledown starting from an elevation of twenty feet in still air would require two-thirds of a minute to reach the ground. With a wind blowing twenty miles an hour it would be carried on the average about a fifth of a mile. The total surface exposed to the air in an average thistledown is, on account of the great number of hairlets, a little more than one-third of a square foot. Another well known and very beautiful example of nature's parachutes is furnished by the light silken threads with the aid of which the little gossamer spider makes long aerial voyages.—Scientific American.

MERRY PARTY GIVEN LAST TUESDAY EVENING

in Honor of all Saints Night at the Home of Mrs. J. J Belcher

About 40 research Circle ladies in the guise of witches and hobgoblins met at the home of Mrs. Belcher Tuesday evening for a Hallowe'en frolic.

They were greet at the door by grinning jack-o'-lanterns and the house was decorated with bats, black cats etc.

After the business meeting the program in charge of Miss Sawyer was given. Mrs. Mills read a paper on "Masters of Music and Art in England" Mrs. E. M. Coller gave her report of the County Convention at Addison, and Miss Mingay, delegate to M. S. F. W. C. at Detroit gave a very interesting report of that meeting. After this the lights were turned off and fortunes and ghost stories told.

Many of the costumes were unique and those dressed as witches certainly looked the part.

It was a hilarious and pleasant occassion.

MYSTERY PARTY

Mesdames B. B. Gillespie and F. D. Rector entertained 20 ladies at a mystery party last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gillespie in the interest of the Town and Civic Improvement society. Each lady was presented with a picture of some famous personage and assuming the character told about herself the others guessing her identity from her story some havd been a long time dead but revived enough to tell their story. This occasioned much comment and close study and was very interesting indeed.

A game of proverty came next which was also illustrated with pictures. It was quite interesting to watch the ladies in their search or the hidden meaning. A dainty luncheon was served and the afternoon was pronounced a great success.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing, and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvience, whatever. They do not gripe, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in three size packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tabletes, 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver.

After a heavy meal, take a couple of Doan's Regulets, and give your stomach, liver and bowels the help they will need. Regulets brings easy, regular passages of the bowels.

Making Love by Telephone.

Wooing is a slightly more complicated matter in Sardinia than it is here. The marriage customs are very curious. If a father has a marriageable daughter the would be suitor applies to him for permission to see her as she goes to church, or in the event of her not wishing to be seen he communicates with her by means of a species of telephone which has been in use since time immemorial. It is a long string with a wooden knob at each end. The father's permission having been given, the lady drops one knob out of the window and, the shutters being closed, places the other knob to the ear, while down below her would be lover pours his protestations into the knob she has thrown into the street. Sometimes this curious form of courtship continues for two or three years, the man never seeing the face of his inamorata.

Longfellow's Incomplete Library.

I remember there was one little boy of whom Longfellow was very fond and who came often to see him. One day the child looked earnestly at the long rows of books in the library and at length said, "Have you got 'Jack the Giant Killer?'"

Longfellow was obliged to confess that his library did not contain that venerated volume. The little boy looked very sorry and presently slipped down from his knee and went away, but early next morning Longfellow saw him coming up the walk with something tightly clasped in his little fists. The child had brought him 2 cents with which he was to buy a "Jack the Giant Killer," to be his own.—Annie Field, "Authors and Friends."

A Womans Meeting, today at 7 p. m. a meeting which has been arranged by the Womans' Suffrage Committee will take place in the Hall of Commerce of Lower Austria, Vienna, Eschenbachgane II, in which Mrs. Jenny Law Hardy, a grandneice of Philisopher Ludwig Leuerbach, and a cousin of Auselin Leuerbach, will speak on "The Social Conditions of Australia and New Zealand." The lecture takes place in the German language. Mrs. Hardy is a born Australian, who has become acquainted with nearly all the countries of the world in numerous travels, and who is therefore in the position to draw comparisons between the social conditions of the different countries.

As is known, Womans Suffrage is in force in Australia, therefore the lecture is not only exciting interest in womans circles, but also elsewhere.

The above was taken from a paper from Vienna just received at the Herald office from Mrs. Jenny Law Hardy. It will be read with much interest by her many friends in Tecumseh

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1911 and he said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

Some time ago, I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and since taking th have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." For sale by all druggists.

Mrs. Margaret Horan, widow of the fire chief who was killed with his men, will receive $17,000. Mrs. Helen Burroughs, widow of the second assistant fire marshal, will receive $11,000. Relatives of the other victims will receive lesser amounts.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Faint?

Have you weak heart, dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals? Or do you experience pain over the heart, shortness of breath on going up-stairs and the many distressing symptoms which indicate poor circulation and bad blood? A heart tonic, blood and body-builder that has stood the test of over 40 years of cures is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The heart becomes regular as clock-work. The red blood corpuscles are increased in number—and the nerves in turn are well fed. The arteries are filled with good rich blood. That is why nervous debility, irritability, fainting spells, disappear and are overcome by this alterative extract of medicinal roots put up by Dr. Pierce without the use of alcohol. Ask your neighbor. Many have been cured of scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc., by taking Dr. Pierce's Discovery. Just the refreshing and vitalizing tonic needed for excessive tissue waste, in convalescence from fevers or for run-down, anæmic, thin-blooded people. Stick to this safe and sane remedy and refuse all "just as good" kinds offered by the dealer who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing will do you half as much good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

MANY STATES TO BALLOT ON NOV. 7

Interest Centers in Big Contest in Massachusetts.

SEVEN STATES ELECT OFFICERS

New Mexico Will Choose Full Set of Officers for First Time in History—Arizona's First State Election Dec. 12.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Although the elections to be held in a number of states Nov. 7 will be quiet, compared with the presidential struggle a year hence, interest nevertheless is keen. States which will elect governors or other state officers are Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana and New Mexico.

In other states justices of the supreme court, members of legislatures and mayors will be among the officers chosen. Several congressional vacancies are to be filled.

While this is regarded as an off year, national interest centers in Massachusetts, where the Democratic and Republican parties have named full state tickets. Eugene N. Foss, who was elected as a Democratic governor in a Republican state last year, is a candidate for re-election.

The Republican ticket is headed by Louis A. Frothingham, the present Republican lieutenant governor. Members of the legislature also will be chosen.

In New York a new assembly will be elected as well as several justices of the supreme court and city and county officials. New Mexico votes, for the first time in its history as a state, for a full set of state officers, members of congress and for a supreme court, eight district judges and eight district attorneys. It also will vote on a proposed amendment to make the constitution more easily amendable than is at present provided for.

Arizona on Dec. 12 will hold its first state election.

Ohio will vote for municipal officers and delegates to the constitutional convention. In the larger Ohio cities the contests for city offices are unusually spirited because of divisions in the lines of both old parties and the determination of leaders to strengthen their organization preparatory to the fight next year for delegates to the national conventions.

Pennsylvania elects mayors in all cities. Municipal officers also will be voted for, among other states, in Tennessee. Georgia will hold a primary to nominate a candidate to succeed Governor Hoke Smith, who soon will resign to become United States senator.

In several states the Democratic, Progressive, Prohibition, Socialist and Socialist Labor parties also have named candidates for various state offices.

Maryland, besides electing a governor, will choose a state controller, attorney general, judge of the court of appeals, the full membership of the house of delegates and half of the senate.

Arthur P. Gorman, Jr., is the choice of the Democrats for governor, while the Republicans have named Phillips Lee Goldsborough.

Both the Socialist and Prohibition parties have nominated practically full state tickets. New Jersey elects a legislature.

Five parties also in Rhode Island, where a full state ticket is to be elected, have nominated candidates. Governor Aram J. Pothier, Republican, is a nominee for re-election, while Louis A. Waterman heads the Democratic ticket. A legislature will also be chosen.

Mississippi will vote for all state officers; in Kentucky a governor, lieutenant governor, and railroad commissioners will be elected, and Virginia will vote for legislative and county officers.

CLAIMS TRIPOLI AND CYRENAICA

King Victor Emanuel II Signs Important Decree.

ENTIRE SOVEREIGNTY DECLARED

Italian Government Sends to Ambassadors for Communication to the Powers Explanation of the Epochal Step It Has Taken.

Rome, Nov. 6.—King Victor Emanuel II has signed a decree declaring Tripoli and Cyrenaica "placed under the full and entire sovereignty of Italy."

The decree adds that a law will be framed making definite regulations for their administration, and until the law is formally promulgated the affairs will be carried on with royal decrees.

The decree will be submitted to parliament for transformation into law.

It is announced that the following has been sent to all Italian ambassadors abroad for communication to the powers:

"The occupation of the principal towns of Tripoli and Cyrenaica, combined with the continuous success of our arms and the enormous forces we have concentrated there, with the addition of those we are preparing to send, render any further resistance upon the part of Turkey vain.

"On the other hand, in order to put an end to the useless bloodshed, it is of urgent importance to dispel any dangerous uncertainty in the conditions of the population of Tripoli and Cyrenaica and by royal decree Tripoli and Cyrenaica have been definitely and irrevocably placed in the full and entire sovereignty of Italy. Any less radical solution of the question which would have left even a vestige of the sovereignty of the Sultan over the provinces might have led to endless conflicts in the future between Italy and the Turkish, which might have broken out later, even against the will of the government, at a moment dangerous to the peace of Europe.

"The solution adopted is the only one affording a definite safeguard of the interests of Italy and Europe and even Turkey herself. A peace treaty signed upon this basis will do away with all cause of serious difference between Italy and Turkey and will enable us to inspire our politics with the great interest we have in the maintenance of the territorial status quo of the Balkan peninsula, of which the consolidation of the Turkish empire is an essential factor."

Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

Political Principle Is Argued Before United States Supreme Court.

For several hours in Washington the supreme chamber was a political forum in which was carried on a spirited debate turning on the question whether legislation by initiative and referendum is a republican form of government.

The principle of inatiative and referendum as it has been adopted already in eleven states of the Union, was at stake. The issue arose on two cases that came up from the state of Oregon.

TWENTY CONVICTS MAY BE RELEASED

Supreme Court Hands Down Important Decision.

Indeterminate Sentence Under the Act of 1903, Which Has Been Repealed, Is Declared Invalid in Part by Court.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 6.—About twenty convicts in the prisons of the state will probably secure their release under a decision handed down by the supreme court in the habeas corpus proceedings brought in behalf of William Forscutt, a convict in Jackson prison. Forscutt was sentenced from Hillsdale county to serve seven and one-half years to fifteen years for burglary. He was sentenced under the indeterminate sentence law of 1903, which was in force when the crime was committed, but in June, 1905, the legislature expressly repealed that act.

The supreme court says that the act of 1903 in question, having been expressly repealed, an indeterminate sentence under its provisions was unauthorized and that the sentence imposed was valid only as a definite sentence for the minimum term of seven and one-half years, less good time.

It is understood there are nine prisoners in Jackson, six in Ionia and five in Marquette who will be entitled to release under this decision when their minimum term, less good time, has expired.

MAY SELL THEIR MILK

Ban on Kalamazoo County Unclean Dairies Is Raised.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 6.—The health board and milk producers living in the country have come to a temporary agreement over the order of the board excluding the supply of about a dozen producers from the city.

Recently a quiet investigation was made by the department and many of the dairies were said to have been found in deplorable condition. Their owners were ordered not to bring milk to the city until their places had been cleaned up and pronounced satisfactory by the board. The Milk Producers' association immediately took up the fight for the excluded men and has secured permission for them to sell milk while their places are being cleaned up and placed in condition satisfactory to the health board.

LANSING—According to financial statement of the auditor for postoffice department in Washington, Michigan ranks eighth among the states in gross postal receipts for the quarter ending June 30, 1911. Her gross receipts for that time were $1,703,224. The principal expenses in Michigan were: Compensation to postmasters, $234,332; compensation to clerks, $270,765; city delivery service, $272,766; rural delivery service, $451,340; rent, light, fuel, $30,272; special delivery service, $8,824; total, $1,268,299.

JACKSON—Joe Wendrowboski was placed under arrest in this city charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon his wife, Josie Wendrowboski. The complaint was made by a neighbor of the Samuel A. Kennedy has held this position for a number of years, but failing health necessitated Mr. Kennedy's removal to Texas several weeks ago and he is reported to be in a critical condition from an ailment he has suffered with since the Civil War. Mr. Watt, who is a well-known attorney in Ionia county, will take up the work at once.

Takes the Oath of Office in Mexico City, Mex.

Francisco I. Madero Jr. has been inaugurated president of the republic of Mexico, at Mexico City.

Madero took the oath, or, as is prescribed by Mexican law, "protested" in the chamber of deputies before a joint meeting of both houses of congress, the oath being administered by the president of the chamber. Madero made no inaugural address but left at once for the national palace where Francisco Leon de la Barra, who has been the provisional president since the departure of President Diaz, met him.

De la Barra removed from his breast the tricolor band, insignia of the presidency, and Madero donned it. Short speeches were exchanged and the retiring executive left for Vera Cruz, whence he will sail for Europe.

During the afternoon Madero's cabi-

RISKED LIFE FOR AUTO

Grocer Cranks Up Blazing Car and Drives It Out of Garage.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 6.—Whether A. W. Kingsley, local groceryman, is heroic or foolhardy depends on the viewpoint, but at any rate he is nervy. Kingsley found his garage full of smoke and, throwing open the door, he discovered that his automobile was ablaze.

To save the garage Kingsley cranked the blazing machine, jumped in and steered out of doors. Then he called the fire department. Incidentally a big tank of gasoline was located a few inches from the burning auto, making the stunt doubly risky. The auto was badly damaged and Kingsley himself a bit scorched.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

CARRIE M. SUTTON

Carrie M. Sutton was born in Ridgeway Township, April 29th, 1874 and departed this life October 19, 1911 aged thirty seven years and six months.

She was united in marriage to Arthur Palmer on December 24th, 1896. To this union was was born one son, Raymond S. who with the husband, mother, one sister, one brother and a multitude of friends mourn her early departure.

She possessed a kind, loving disposition and always was in readiness to lend a hand to help the needy. She was a loving mother; and to have a cheerful and attractive home, seemed to be her chief delight. Her life has always been one of sunshine which has made for her a host of friends.

Her failing health has extended over a period of years, but developed into serious conditions on Thursday evening.

Although the entire community feels that they have lost one worthy of immitation, yet her memory will live on, and make our lives better for having associated with her.

"Oft we tread the path before us
With a weary burdened heart,
Oft we toil amid the shadows,
And our fields are far apart.
But the Saviors "Come ye Blessed"
All our labors will repay,
When we gather in the morning,
When the mists have rolled away."

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. S. S. Main of the Christian church at the late home on Wednesday afternoon. The interment being in Ridgeway cemetery.

PRICE LOW ON POSTAL BONDS

Bring Only 92 1-2 in the New York Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The first sale of U. S. government 2 1-2 per cent bonds, issued through the postal savings bank department, has just been made on the market here, the bonds fetching only 92 1-2. It was realized by bankers from the time that the first of these postal savings bonds were issued that they would not be worth par, but the sale at 92 1-2 has put a lower valuation on them than some government bond dealers expected.

It thus appears that the small depositor who takes bonds at par must hold his bonds until maturity, 20 years hence, or if forced to realize on his holdings, must accept a heavy loss on his principal. For example, the holder of $200 of these 2 1-2 per cent bonds who bought them last July for $200, has now sold them for $185 suffering a loss of 7 1-2 per cent of the principal invested for months ago.

Bankers declare that it will be necessary for the government to adopt some change where the parity of these bonds may be maintained.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth when Properly Combined

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Napthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well known ingredient for restoring the hair to its natural color, when the loss of hair has been caused by a disease of the scalp

These ingredients in proper combinations, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well defined nourishing properties, perfect perhaps the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

We have a remedy which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely invaluable medicinal agents. We guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or we will refund your money. If the scalp has a glazed, shiny appearance, it's an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances we believe baldness is curable.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a positive cure in 93 per cent of cases where put to a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely particular, better than anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire risk Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Tecumseh only at our store—The Rexall Store. MEMORIES

A Letter from Arthur O. Crossman a Former Tecumseh Boy Showing His Appreciation of our Anniversary Number

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 6, 1911

Dear Friend:—

I want to thank you very kindly for the paper I received giving a description of the improvements and also a record of those who are prominent in the upbuilding of your city. In reading over the several accounts I was very much interested, having been acquainted in my childhood days with many of the people mentioned. This paper took me back to the time of my early childhood and I was a bare-footed boy running about over the village with no particular object in view except to get as much pleasure out of each day as was possible. I should like very much to go back to the old town and take another trip with you about the village to all of these places that have impressed my memory with the pleasures of early recollections. We think today that the frontiersman has considerable to contend with, but when I read the account of some of the early experiences in Tecumseh I realize we know very little in this age about the hardships and privations I have had a little experience in the frontier life in Nebraska but nothing like those described in the Herald. The young men of this generation would certainly feel that they were severely punished if they were compelled to undergo the experiences of our forefathers. My father first went to Tecumseh in 1831. They were just breaking up the soil and the decomposition caused malaria so that the people from the East were so badly afflicted with fever and ague that they could not live with any degree of comfort in that locality at that time so he returned to Vermont and remained until about 1855.

I would like very much indeed to have you with us for a visit and go over the city of Omaha which is a live western city with a population of about 175,000 people That is including the cities and villages adjoining, which practically makes it about the same as one city.

My son is located in Omaha, practicing law and is having a good business. He seems to like it here and I think his outlook is favorable.

Sincerely Yours,
Arthur O Crossman

SCHOOL NOTES

Dale Marsh of the 3rd grade has not missed a word in spelling this year. That is a fine record and Dale deserves a lot of credit.

D. L. Lyons a representative of the D. C. Heath & Co. was holding an interview with some of the teachers of the High School Thursday morning. He was trying to introduce a new kind of German text book.

The Senior English have started the the study of Shakespeare's, "Hamlet."

Miss Leeson's class in Biology have been studying insects taking up especially the grasshopper, how this insect is injurious and also how it may be beneficial. So far this year they have studied only plant biology later they will study some different phases of the work. Note books are used in connection with the text book and also work in the laboratory

Donald Hall has left school for the present.

The kindergarden work of the west branch school under Miss Cupples proves very interesting indeed. From the narrow circle of the home the children are gradually led into a large world and with it a sense of their dependence upon the same begins to grow. This gratitude for all that they owe to others is expressed in the Thanksgiving day which makes easy the preparation for the Christmas thought, the next climax of the year. "Shall all work and he alone be idle?" is the formulated question stirring in the mind of the child who begins to have a sense of the busy working word In answer to this the school helps the child to realize that he to may be a helper.

Their work consists of the stories of Nature's preparation for winter. The study of the caterpillar and its cocoon, the migration of birds the death of the flowers, the hardening of wood, harvesting of food, appearance of frost and the disappearance of insects

The little children take great interest in their work and are very proud of it. They are bright and wide awake to receive new ideas and new thoughts which their small minds are open and willing to receive.

The children of the first and second grades prove very interesting. One particular thing that one would observe is their eagerness to learn. They are now studying the life and works of Eugene Field, the American humorist and poet. They have already committed four poems by the author.

The first and second grades are very proud of the fact that they have eight pupils who have a perfect record in everything.

The third and fourth grades under Miss Cutting are studying the life and paintings of Merillo and they have completed the life and paintings of Sir Edwin Landseer.

Mildred Price of Adrian entered the 4th grade Monday.

Vera Shaw was absent Monday morning on account of illness.

A prize is to be given the Senior English and German classes at the end of this week, so it behooves each Senior to do his best. It is not yet known what the prize will be.

The Y. W. C. A. as the name signifies is an organization for the girls of the High School. The association of the Tecumseh High School has a membership of about thirty-seven. One hour is spent each week for Bible study, a business or social meeting. Some special work in Bible study is being planned now. During the year prominent people of the village are asked to address the girls on various subjects that are of interest to girls. The work is divided up into committee work and each girl is placed on some committee, where she is made to feel her responsibility along this line. The association this year has gone through a process of complete re-organization and is now in a very good condition The officers for this year are as follows:

Pres.—Flora Ketchum.
Vice Pres.—Elizabeth Satterthwaite
Sec.—Hazelle Tyson.
Treas.—Mabel Skinner.

O.

Thurlo Sweet was absent from school Monday.

The question was asked Tuesday, what the word Wednesday came from; the answer was "Wedding day."

The Sophmores should be applauded on account of the fact that 24 out of 33 pupils, had no failures on their report cards last month. They beat the Seniors for only 19 out of 30 twelfth graders passed without failures.

Florence Clark was absent from school last, owing to a cold. She came back Tuesday but will have to give up for the rest of the week. We hope she will soon be well.

One of our teachers found an open Bible on her desk the other day with the following words marked, "Our fathers made our yokes heavy, but make thou our yokes light unto us." Pretty good.

CONTROVERSY

By request of Mr. L. L. Dewey we print the following with comments:

Editor The Telegram:—I would like to ask you through the columns of The Telegram whether the linesmen of a telephone company, or any other company, have any right to use shade trees in town for posts to put their guy wires on for the lightning to flash round on their wires and down trees and kill them. The general opinion is that they have no right to put a guy on a shade tree. Please let us know your opinion on the matter.

L. L. Dewey.

Tecumseh, Oct. 6.

[As a general rule of law we understand that nobody has any right to attach a wire to a shade tree without the owner's permission. In individual cases, however, the circumstances might be such as to raise the presumption of a license or permission. It would hardly be advisable for the owner to take any action without a lawyer's advice. Generally, however, the telephone companies are reasonable in such matters and disputes can usually be adjusted amicably.—The Editor.]

Judge Wightman says, "In my opinion I have no doubt they have a perfect legal right to use the trees outside the walks for such purposes or to trim them if necessary."

[The above opinion of the editor of the Telegram is doubtless true as a general rule. But we understand that it would not apply to trees outside the lot lines, the trees there belonging to the village, methods by which the lines are attached would also have quite a bearing on the question.—Editor.]

MRS. JANE SATTERTHWAITE

The death of Aunt Jane Satterthwaite, as she was lovingly called, is mourned by a large circle of relatives and friends. Her long life of eighty-three years was useful and inspiring. Her home was always a pleasure to visit; of her church she was a loyal member; and to those who were unfortunate she was a friend in need.

Jane Comfort came from Pennsylvania to Michigan with her parents in 1840. They settled on a farm just southwest of Tecumseh village, She was one of the three Comforts who married into the neighboring Satterthwaite family. Her marriage to Samuel Satterthwaite took place in 1851. Their son Edward died at the age of fourteen and the daughter Anna survives her parents.

Mrs. Satterthwaite's life was spent on their farm in Raisin and for a few years at Raisin Valley Seminary, were she and her husband were superintendent and matron. Since the death of her husband in 1891 she and her daughter have lived in Tecumseh in the little vine covered house on West Chicago Street. Here her death took place on the evening of October 30. Death claimed her before Old Age as she was bright and active and young in spirit up to her last illness.

The funeral was held on Thursday at the Friends' church and was conducted by Edgar Wollam of Cleveland

Among the relatives who came to honor her, were Prof, and Mrs. Will Beal and children of Jacksonville, Ill, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Comfort of Raisin Valley, Mrs. Woolston Comfort, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Comfort of Jackson, Mrs. Frank Leslie of Toledo, Mrs. Jamet Hagaman of Detroit,

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citicen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of meret.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 28, 1611 and he said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

GRAND RAPIDS—The police of this city are attempting to find Joseph Zulkiewski, who left this city on the night of Oct. 22, and has not arrived at his intended destination in Muskegon. He had been visiting here and boarded an interurban for Muskegon late at night. The fact that he had about $200 in his possession leads his friends to believe that he may have met with foul play.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

NEW ERA DAWNS FOR THE CNINESE NATION

Throne Agrees to Conditions Imposed by National Assembly

Under Precious Document People of China Are Guaranteed Rights and Freedom Greater Than Now Enjoyed in England.

At Shanghai, China, Dr. Wu Ting Fang, at one time Chinese minister to the United States, in a statement to the Associated Press, announces that he has joined the movement to establish a republican form of government in China.

Another edict has just been issued by the Chinese throne, which, by its promptness, gives further proof of its docility in accepting unhesitatingly the conditions imposed by the national assembly.

In this one it is said, "we recognize the importance of the nineteen principles of the monarchial constitution issued by the national assembly. They are accepted and when the assembly drafts the constitution it will be based upon those principles. We shall arrange to swear before the temple of our ancestors to issue them to the whole empire on yellow paper."

The first of the nineteen principles declares that the Ta Ching dynasty shall reign forever.

Second—The emperor's person is inviolable.

The most important of the other seventeen have already been cabled as the demands of the assembly and the Lanchow army. They are those laying down the powers of the parliament and making the cabinet responsible thereto and otherwise limiting and constitutionalising the monarchy, which is deprived of the power of altering the constitution. There is provision for imperial decrees to replace the law in case of emergency; but under strict limitations. International treaties are not to be made without the consent of parliament, but the emperor may declare war or make peace if parliament is not sitting, the approval of parliament being subsequently obtained. Parliament fixes the imperial expenses. The edict sanctioning the regulations is fitly described in English here as China's Magna Charta, but it goes much farther than that famous document wherewith the name was originally connected.

The new constitution, based on these regulations, gives the people through an elected parliament, greater share in their government, more than that of Great Britain. The nominal power of the British sovereign in vetoing bills and appointing a premier is not conceded to the emperor. The throne's right to appoint a successor is also forfeited, succession being constitutionally arranged. Moreover, the members of the upper house are directly elected by the people, the reformers having no idea of admitting the establishment of a hereditary or privileged house of peers.

The success of the revolutionists at Shanghai, China, is most complete. The native town fell into the hands like a ripe plum. When the revolution was declared there was no resistance except a few shots from the arsenal. The majority of the guard there immediately joined the rebels and they, as well as the active police adopted the white badges of the revolutionists.

Two Norwegian steamers loaded with ammunition for Sa Cheng Ping's ships had cleared and escaped. The rebel leaders have issued proclamations appealing for order. It is expected that the Woo Sung forts will speedily join the rebels.

Almost the whole of the native city of Hankow is afire and it is feared that the Wesleyan mission, near the Han river, in which are fifty blind boys and 150 wounded persons, who, with the staff of the mission, make up a total of 200 persons, has been burned.

The fires in the town were started by the imperialists, who threw inflammable shells into the place. A strong wind carried the flames across the river to Han-Yang, and a strip of that city on the water front a mile long was destroyed, and the fire was still burning.

TO ACT ON TURKEY'S PLEA

Washington Officials Ready to Stop Italian Atrocities in Tripoli.

Officials in Washington, D. C., were acting on Turkey's appeal that the United States intervene to stop the Italian slaughter of Arab women and children at Tripoli as an incident of the Turko-Italian war.

Secretary Knox of the state department, who was communicated with soon after the appeal was made, was expected to rush back to Washington or telegraph orders concerning the program to be followed.

On all sides General Canova, commander of the Italians at Tripoli, was denounced as a "ruthless butcher."

Turkey's appeal was made by the sultan's ambassador to Mr. Adee, acting secretary of state, by order of M. Assin, minister of foreign affairs in Constantinople. In the minister's instructions was the following:

"The Italians are violating not only the sacred principle of modern law of nations, but also the most elementary rules of civilization and humanity, in shooting down the natives who have properly enlisted, and even innocent women and children, on mere suspicion—not to mention those deported by thousands."

Tact.

"How shall I close this letter to Bowpay—'yours truly' or 'respectfully'?"

"Say 'respectfully,' but add, in parentheses, 'for the last time.'"—Fliegende Blatter.

SHURTLEFF SAYS HE ASKED BROWNE

Former Speaker Acknowledges Helping Lorimer.

Mr. Shurtleff Enlisted Support of Minority Leader—Ira C. Copley Attributes His Support of Lorimer to Desire to Defeat Hopkins.

The support of Lee O'Neil Browne for Senator Lorimer was enlisted by him, testified Edward D. Shurtleff, speaker of the Illinois house during the 1909 session, before the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate in Chicago.

Mr. Shurtleff said he approached Mr. Browne on the subject at the suggestion of either Senator Lorimer or one of his close friends.

His personal solicitation of the aid of the man who is accused of having acted as paymaster for Senator Lorimer was one of the features of Mr. Shurtleff's testimony. In the two hours he was on the stand he told a good deal of the inside history of the senatorial deadlock and of his election at the beginning of the session as speaker through a bipartisan combination.

Ira C. Copley, member of congress from Aurora and ancient enemy of Former United States Senator Albert J. Hopkins, also an Aurora resident, was also a witness. Mr. Copley's testimony related to his opposition to Mr. Hopkins and also to the statement by James Keeley that he had information regarding the Hopkins plot to purchase Democratic votes.

He said he visited Mr. Lorimer in December, 1908, and asked him to become a candidate for senator, but that Mr. Lorimer refused on the ground that he preferred to remain in the house. Mr. Copley said he would have liked to have aided in the election of Governor Deneen as senator, but that his chief purpose all along was to defeat Hopkins.

Edmund Burke of Sangamon county explained before the Lorimer investigating committee of the United States senate the circumstances leading to Former Senator D. W. Holstlaw's confession that he received $2,500 for his Lorimer vote and $700 from the jack pot. Mr. Burke denied emphatically that Mr. Holstlaw was influenced to "frame up" a confession along certain lines, as alleged by counsel for Senator Lorimer.

Lee O'Neil Browne gave a better account of the manner in which the Lorimer forces lined up Republican and Democratic votes for the senator than any witness who has yet testified. There was no effort on his part to pass responsibility along to some one else.

For the most part Mr. Browne's story was similar to that which he told before the former senatorial committee, although he was allowed to go into greater detail.

He repeated his denials that he paid Charles A. White, H. J. C. Beckemeyer Michael Link, and other Democrats of his faction for their Lorimer votes or that he had the slightest knowledge of corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer.

Always cool and self-possessed, Mr Browne invariably had an explanation for his actions at the tip of his tongue Neither John J. Marble, attorney for the committee, who conducted the direct examination, nor any of the senators was able to trap him.

Browne admitted that Lorimer contributed to the fund for his defense in his two trials in Cook county and that other prominent men, whose names he could not remember, also contributed; that he met Edward Hines, who is alleged to have boasted that he "put Lorimer over" in Chicago.

The admission that Senator Lorimer contributed to the Browne defense had never been made before, and caused a sensation in the hearing. His inability or unwillingness to tell the names of other contributors roused the committee to ask many questions about the source of his defense fund.

MRS. LOUISE VERMILYA

Chicago Woman Accused of Poisoning to Get Insurance.

BOYSEN IS EXONERATED

Undertaker and Dr. Hertel Relieved of Suspicion.

Former Friend of Mrs. Vermilya Says He Really Suspects That She Is a Poisoner.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—After being questioned by Captain Harding of the Twenty-Second street police station and Coroner Peter Hoffman in the latter's office, C. C. Boysen and L. L. Hertel were formally exonerated of all connection with any of the deaths supposed to have been caused by poison at the hands of Mrs. Louise Vermilya.

Dr. Hertel was questioned first. For an hour and a half he was subjected to a close cross questioning by the two officials. Boysen, who has been under police surveillance for the past two weeks, apparently had no difficulty in convincing the coroner and Captain Harding of his innocence of any wrongdoing. He was questioned for less than an hour.

"Our suspicions of Mr. Boysen," said Coroner Hoffman, "apparently were unfounded. He has explained to us in detail his entire connection with Mrs. Vermilya. At one time he thought that he himself was about to become one of her victims. Although he refrains from making the direct charge, both he and his attorney say that they think Mrs. Vermilya is a poisoner."

MRS. QUINN IN COUNTY JAIL

Accused Murderess of Three Husbands Now In Cell.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Accused of slaying the last of three husbands whose deaths never have been satisfactorily explained, Mrs. John M. Quinn was placed in the county jail. There she will await the result of the grand jury investigation of the death of John Marshall Quinn on Nov. 2, at 11050 Michigan avenue.

In the jail hospital, not far from Mrs. Quinn, lies Mrs. Louise Vermilya, who is suspected of causing nine deaths by poison.

BOMB IN NEW YORK STRIKE

Explodes In Gutter Not Twenty Feet from Two Policemen.

New York, Nov. 13.—The first bomb throwing of the strike of street cleaners has occurred. Lieutenant Jones and Sergeant Healmors, in charge of a squad on guard at Stables D, East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, were talking at the corner of Pleasant avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street. Something hit the curb twenty feet from them. There was an explosion that jarred the ground. They heard things whistle past their ears. Glass was broken in houses near by.

Jones and Healmors, investigating, found a jagged piece of gas pipe in the gutter. It was, they concluded, the remains of a very business-like bomb meant either for them or for strike breakers.

Nationality Not Cause of Dismissal.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The dismissal of Cadet Joseph Leon Israel of Birmingham, Alabama, from the United States Military academy at West Point was due to the fact that he received more demerits for different minor infractions of the regulations than is allowed. There is no truth in the reports from Birmingham that he was dismissed because he was a Jew.

NEBRASKA MAY NOMINATE BRYAN

Considers Plan to Name Him in State Primaries.

IDEA MAY BE TO BEAT HARMON

Movement Also Understood to Be Partly for Purpose of Counteracting Movement to Choose Underwood Delegates In South.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 13.—If the plans of the friends of William J. Bryan are not vetoed by their chief, a petition will be filed this week placing him as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in the state primary to be held in April.

Under the new law of Nebraska voters of each party are permitted to instruct the delegates they nominate at this primary by direct vote. Bryan, it is figured, can easily carry the state against other Democrats and then at the national convention utilize this delegation to aid in the nomination of whoever he favors.

This move has been projected as a plan to rob Harmon of any chance of beating out the field and securing the Nebraska delegation, and is intended to counteract the movement in the south for Underwood delegates, looked upon by Bryanites as a means of gathering delegates for Harmon.

PLAN REVIVAL OF RACING

No Objections to Preparation for "Gentlemen's Driving Track."

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 13.—For the edification of Chicago's sporting element, horse racing is to be again attempted in Hammond under the guise of a "gentlemen's driving track." A mile course is to blossom forth in the spring on the grounds of Sharpshooters' Amusement Park, just beyond the southern limits of the city. It is expected to excel the famous Robey Park, long ago abolished. The street railway company will extend its tracks to the park.

Chicago capitalists are said to be financing the project, and William McCoy of Hammond will manage the park. Local officials have taken no action against this matter.

FIGHTS TO AID ADMIRAL

Butler Guarding F. M. Ramsey's Silver Slashed by a Burglar.

Washington, Nov. 13.—William Newman, a negro butler, attacking an armed burglar with no better weapon than his hands, saved the contents of the silver cabinet in the home of Rear Admiral F. M. Ramsey, U. S. N., on New Hampshire avenue, early in the day.

Newman was stabbed in the arm and slashed across the face by the burglar's knife, but he fought gamely, and the intruder finally made off without the valuables he was in the act of bagging when surprised.

HITCHCOCK DENOUNCED

Railway Mail Clerks Say He Failed to Live Up to Agreement.

St. Paul, Nov. 13.—Postmaster General Hitchcock and his associates were denounced in wrathful terms at a special meeting of the railway mail clerks on lines running into the Twin Cities.

It was charged that the officials failed to live up to agreements entered into last spring under which clerks consented to go back to work after a strike had been called. A committee was appointed to see that the department fulfilled its pledges.

TOLLED LORIMER KNELL

Witness Tells Investigators of Mock Funeral.

Rockford Newspaper Man Who Gives Testimony Is Accused of Being Deneen Partisan.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—How the bells of a church at Rockford, Ill., were made to toll forty-six times to indicate the number of votes cast in favor of Senator William Lormer retaining his seat in the United States senate, and how badges of black were distributed to those present and the meeting referred to as "Lorimer's funeral," was related before the senatorial investigating committee by Fred E. Sterling, editor of a newspaper at Rockford.

Sterling said the meeting held at Rockford after the senate, following the first Lorimer investigation, had voted to sustain the senator in his seat, was only one of a series of anti-Lorimer meetings, at which both Lorimer and Senator Cullom were denounced. Senator Cullom, the witness said, was criticised because of his support of Lorimer.

Sterling had testified that he heard that "high prices" were being paid for votes to secure the election of William Lorimer as United States senator in May, 1909.

Attorney Hanecy, counsel for Mr. Lorimer, sought to show that Sterling was opposed to Lorimer because of a desire to promote Governor Deneen's prospects for the senatorship.

EVIDENCE BY PHONOGRAPH

Massachusetts Court Is to Try a Substitute for Stenographer.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 13.—For the first time in this state phonographs instead of stenographers are to take courtroom evidence. An elaborate system of phonographs and sounding boards has been installed in the Springfield courthouse in preparation for the trial of Bertram G. Spencer for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone. As each of the phonographic records is filled it will be taken to another room to dictate to stenographers.

Attorney General Swift says the new system is more accurate than the old. It is adopted in this instance because of the importance attached to the case.

MAKES TOWNS DECLINE

"Dead" Places Are Attributed to "Inbreeding" by Kansas Official.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13.—A novel theory for the decline of prosperity and trade in small towns is advanced in the current number of the Wisconsin Alumni Magazine by Dallas S. Burch, the dairy commissioner of Kansas.

"Inbreeding" is the term used by the author. By this he means that a town lives too much to itself, its citizens intermarry, innovations and newcomers are not welcomed, and gradually the community drops behind and becomes "dead."

Adopts Precinct Meetings.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 13.—In pursuance with requests from various Democrats, A. D. Weeks, chairman of the Vigo County Democratic committee, has stated he will arrange to hold precinct meetings for electing delegates to the county convention, instead of making nominations at mass meetings.

A Broken Contract

Being a Romance of Northern Italy Half a Century Ago

By LUIGI CAPRONI

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

This is a true story. It occurred in northern Italy during the spring of 1861, when in America the southern states, one after another, were leaving the Union and wheeling into Confederate line; when northern men were drilling for a great war and hurrying forward to occupy those states that were part loyal to the north and part ready to join the southern side.

In the land where the story was enacted a crisis that was to result in the formation of a nation was taking place. Victor Emmanuel, Cavour, Garibaldi, were endeavoring to draw together the different parts of Italy and unite them in a nation. Garibaldi had brought in the islands of Sicily and Naples, attaching them to the kingdom of Sardinia; Rome hung in the balance; Venice was still under the domination of Austria.

In Turin, the capital of Piedmont and of so much of Italy as had been thus far united, in the villa of one of those aristocratic families whose titles have come down from medieval times, two elderly men, Count Bertinetti and Baron Mettiuci, sat in conference.

"I think," said the baron, "that I can do better for my daughter than to marry her to your son, both in the way of title and fortune. Nevertheless, since we are old friends, I yield the point and give my consent."

"I am delighted, baron, at the prospect of uniting our families," repeated the other. "I take it that we shall have no trouble with the young people. They have never seen each other, but since they have both been brought up to obedience in the choice of a mate I am sure they will make no opposition. My son might rebel if he had made an attachment, but I have heard from him recently, and he assures me that he has no preferences and will accept the bride I provide for him."

"And I assure you, count, that my daughter will obey me. Besides, she has had no opportunity to form any attachment. She is still in the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Milan, where she is finishing her education. I intend to present her to society at the coming Tote ball."

The Tote ball, held every spring at Turin, was given for this very purpose of introducing debutantes of aristocratic families. Fresh from their convents, dressed becomingly, animated with this their first view of the social world, they formed a scene charming to look upon. They were all, or nearly all, soon provided with husbands (having themselves nothing to do with the provision), married immediately and might thereafter receive all the attention they liked from the hosts of admirers who crowded about them.

"My son," replied Count Bertinetti, "is now traveling, but will arrive in Turin for the ball. I suggest that the first meeting between the two young people take place on that occasion. There will be a great advantage in such an introduction. The music, the array of beautifully dressed young women and well groomed young men, the adornment and perfume of flowers, the ripple of chat, mingled with laughter, all will conspire to seduce the senses, and that, you know, baron, when we were young men one always found alluring in a matter of love."

"I agree with you, count. My daughter leaves the convent in a few days, and I will give directions to her mother that she be kept like a bird in a cage till she is set free in the ballroom."

This closed the interview, and the two friends separated.

Within a few days after the meeting in which was arranged one of those marriages of convenience without love, common among the aristocracy of Europe, young Count Giuseppe Bertinetti alighted from a post chaise at his father's door and entered the house.

"Ah, my son," exclaimed the older man, kissing his offspring on both cheeks, "I am delighted to see you again."

"I am glad to rejoin you, father, though I admit that I have had a delightful trip."

"The next will be your wedding journey, my boy. My negotiations with my old friend, Baron Mettiuci, have resulted in the betrothal of yourself to his daughter."

The young man's brow darkened ominously. His father saw the change of expression and said anxiously, "Giuseppe, you appear to be disappointed."

Giuseppe made no reply.

"Did you not write me," pursued the father, "not a week ago that you had no preference as to whom you should marry and would leave the matter to me?"

"I did. But a single evening has changed all that. I came by way of Lake Maggiori. The moon was full and unclouded. On one side the peaks were bathed in its soft light, on the other they were black. I sat on deck with a young girl I had just met whose beauty, whose"—

"Fool!" interrupted the father. "How long did the moonlight last? No later than dawn. And how long must you live with a wife? Till you are parted by death, for in our church, as you know, there is no divorce. For this dissolving moonlight, for this face of a young girl, doubtless softened by it and which will soon belong either to a fat or a skinny old woman, you will throw away a splendid opportunity."

The interview ended, as all such interviews are bound to end, in a quarrel. But Giuseppe stood firm as a rock. His attachment to the girl who in a few hours had won his heart was too strong for the father who had begotten him and brought him up. The boy declined to accede to the marriage that had been arranged for him.

The Tote ball was coming on, and it was necessary for Count Bertinetti to announce to his friend that Giuseppe repudiated the contract. The count went to the baron's villa and told the story.

"Do you mean, count," asked the baron, "that I am to suffer, through my daughter, this insult from you, my old friend?"

"What can I do?"

The baron drew down the corners of his mouth, closed his lips tight together and finally spoke:

"Be it so. The contract is broken."

It was only the next evening that the Tote ball took place. There was to be no introduction between Giuseppe and Bianca Mettiuci. Indeed, the girl's father, had he been present at the ball, would have considered a request for an introduction an additional insult. Giuseppe had no thought as to the girl being present and if he had would have naturally kept out of her way. He found many a rosebud to flirt and dance with, but refrained. He was thinking of her he had met on Lake Maggiori.

Suddenly his eye lighted. There on the floor, waltzing with a young lieutenant, was the object of his thoughts. He followed her with his eyes and as soon as she ceased to dance approached and spoke to her. She received him with a smile of delight and, nodding a dismissal to the lieutenant, walked away with Giuseppe.

During their promenade the young count said to her:

"Do you know that at this ball I was to have been presented to a girl to whom I had been contracted in marriage?"

"And I was to have met a young man whom my father had accepted as a husband for me. My betrothed declined the match."

"Are you glad he did so?" asked Giuseppe in a low voice, pressing the hand that rested on his arm.

"Yes," she said in a still softer voice. Giuseppe was thrilled with delight.

"Who was to have been your fiance?" he asked presently.

"A son of Count Bertinetti."

"What?" exclaimed Giuseppe, turning his eyes upon her in wonder and in horror.

She repeated the name.

"And you are Bianca Mettiuci?"

"I am."

"Heavens! What have I done?"

"What do you mean? Explain."

"I have refused to marry you."

It was the girl's turn to look surprised, but she said nothing. Indeed, there was nothing to say. Her young heart had gone out to the first man she had met after leaving the convent under the influence of the scenery of the beautiful Italian lake bathed in moonlight. But, slight as may be the spark that kindles love, it may lead to the bursting of a flame. And so it was with both these young people.

"I will go to your father at once," said Giuseppe. "I will withdraw my refusal. I will"—

"No, no, not now. Papa is terribly angry. I fear he will never get over the insult that he considers has been offered him. As he feels at present he would be only too glad to refuse a renewal of the contract, and I doubt if he ever will consent to one now."

"Then I will go to my father. He and the baron are old friends. My father will apologize for me. He will get on his knees"—

The girl smiled.

"No; he will say that I am ready to get on my knees before him, beg his pardon, offer to do any penance he may name."

"Let us enjoy the evening together while it lasts; we may never have such another."

"Enjoy it! I am half crazed at what I have done."

Not only does youth live for the present moment, but is full of hope. These two would not have been young had not the delight of being together and their entrancing surroundings enabled them to throw off the cloud that hung over them. If the moonlit lake had first drawn them together, this ballroom, voluptuous, yet above which hung for them a cloud, strengthened the bond that united their hearts. Perhaps the cloud—the terrible mistake that was now likely to separate them—did more to cement them than either of the other causes.

As soon as Giuseppe reached home he aroused his father from slumber told him of the mistake that had been made and begged him to get out of bed, go at once to the baron and endeavor to effect a renewal of the contract. Naturally the father was opposed to going on such an errand at 2 o'clock in the morning and told his son to go to bed, promising to see the baron as early the next day as it would be proper for him to call.

Giuseppe walked the floor till dawn. His father kept his promise and by 10 o'clock called on the baron. Giuseppe went with him, but on reaching a point some distance from the villa stopped to watch his father's entry and to wait for his exit.

Two hours passed—they seemed like two days to Giuseppe—and still the count failed to reappear. The lover, considering the time occupied, feared the worst. He was in despair when he saw his father coming and ran to meet him.

"I've won," said the count.

Giuseppe fell into his father's arms.

Some Mysteries of Dress.

We have wondered at the popularity of the fez in the east in spite of its apparent unsuitability to eastern suns. Sir Charles Eliot has some observations which are in point. "Dress in the east is a matter determined by rank or race and is not affected by such trifles as climate or temperature. Some people think it proper to go about almost naked, others bury themselves under a mountain of clothes, but all would scorn the idea of putting on an overcoat because it was cold or leaving off a fur lined robe because the thermometer was at 90 degrees in the shade." These remarks are made in connection with the Bulgarian women's gala costume—white linen gown with woolen embroidery on skirt and sleeve, various sleeveless garments over this and above all a thick quilted jacket and voluminous sash. In all this they will perform the national dance throughout a blazing afternoon.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Changed His Mind.

A southern senator was alone in his office one morning when a middle aged woman entered, bringing with her a wild gleam in her eye.

"Can you lend me $20?" she asked, calling the senator by name.

"I'm sorry," replied the lawmaker "but I'm afraid I can't this morning I'm pretty hard up"

The visitor fidgeted in the chair which she had taken without invitation "I need $20 very badly," she continued "In fact, I've just escaped from a lunatic asylum" The gleam in her eye got wilder, and she began to wave her hand bag in long swinging motion before her. "I just got out yesterday," she said.

"That being the case," concluded the senator somewhat hastily, "here's the twenty."—Washington Star.

WIT AND WISDOM

At the last meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club held Monday eve Nov. 6 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. G. North a very interesting program was given Dr. North gave a very fine talk on his late trip through Southern California. This was enlivened with post cards and other pictures of places visited.

F. D. Rector, followed with his experiences of travel and camping out on the rockies.

J. H. Smith gave a very pleasing account of his trip up the Soo and St. Marie river. He was followed by Miss Alice Wimple who also spoke on her trip to and from the Soo, which she gave in a very interesting manner Rev. B. R. Weld gave the closing talk on a trip to Florence in a manner that gave great pleasure to his listeners

The why and where each one wished to travel also furnished a very pleasant entertainment as a "Travelouge evening" it was certainly a great thing.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the program the views displayed added much to the interest of the various places visited.

LARGE COAL BEDS

Found Near Flint—Work of Development Going on.

What is belived to be the largest field of biuminous coal in Michigan has been discovered in a territory comprising 775 acres of land a mile west of Flint.

Development of the property by the Genesee Coal Mining Co., which is now operating a mine east of that city will soon be begun. Officials of the company are now at work on the plans for sinking a number of shafts. The company's prospectors have been working on the new mine for some time, but the extent of their findings has just become known. The men interested financially are greatly pleased with the results of the tests, which have developed the fact that there is an almost unlimited supply of coal on the property under contract

The first trace of coal was found when workmen were boring for a well on the farm of William Wilson. This lead was followed up. The prospectors found they had struck a thick vein which increased in size the further they explored. A score of other farms in the vicinity were leased and testing started on all of them. On five farms beside the Wilson place the same indications of a very rich bed of the coal was found. —Milan Leader

SCHOOL MONEY

The Lenawee Schools are receiving their last semi annual apportionment of primary school money, under the old system. Hereafter districts having enough money in their treasury to pay for the teachers for two years, will receive none of this money so long as they have such an amount ahead. Adrian receives this time $1,263 50 with 2,527 included in the apportionment, while Tecumseh receives $282 00 with 564 in the apportionment.

FRATERNAL VISIT

About 75 of the members of Blanchard Council went to Jackson Friday evening, to confer the Super Excellent degree on a large class of candidates.

A most delightful evening was spent by all, every thing being done for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors But alas and alack, the coming home was a long and weary journey, packed away in one lone car on a freight train they reached home between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning tired and cross, for their trip consisted of long stops and short trips between.

GRANGE NOTICE

The regular meeting of Tecumseh Grange will be held at their hall Friday evening Nov. 17 a good program has been prepared. Following works, there will be work in the 1st and 2nd degree. It is very important that every member should be present.

Accidents will happen, but the best-regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You are not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myraids of associate or dependent chronic ailments if taken with regularity length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents: 39 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents Sold in Tecumseh only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver.

Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Doan's Regulets operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. 25c. Ask your druggist for them.

AUCTION.

The undersigned, having sold his farm, will sell at Public Auction, on the premises, one mile south and about two miles west of Tecumseh on THURSDAY, NOV. 16, 1911 at 12 o'clock, M. sharp, the following described property:

2 HORSES—1 good Work Horse. 1 Bay Horse, 6 yrs. old.

M. E. CHURCH OF TECUMSEH CELEBRATES 85th ANNIVERSARY

The M. E. Church of Tecumseh celebrated their 85th anniversary on Sunday with special services. Rev. Seth Reed the "grand old man" of the Methodist church was present and gave the anniversary address, he was assisted by Rev. John Russell of Detroit, father of the Prohibition Party Dr. Canright of Chan Ging, China and F. B. Fenn of Hillsdale,

In the services Rev. Reed spoke on the gains and losses of 50 years. The reverend brother is in his 88th year and the 68th year of his ministry. He gave a fine address and at the evening services gave a further talk to the young people.

During the week previous suitable services were held The sermon of the Sunday before leading up to this occasion. The Antighonol Concert was listened to by a full house and and was much enjoyed by all. The picnic gathering on Friday evening was a very pleasant social gathering.

The anniversary celebration was one long to be remembered and if the next 85 years are as in good work as the past have been surely there will be a rich harvest to be garnered.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should not Be Disregarded

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest and healthest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge all in Rochester who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief, aiding to neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote nutrition and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—They Rexall Store, B. J. Pulver.

Dislikes Statue of Bacchus.

Life is disturbed by the presentation of a life-size statue of Bacchus to the University of Pennsylvania. "Is an effigy of this heathen person, deceased long ago and deservedly as a consequence of his habits, a suitable embellishment for a college of young men?" it asks, indignantly.

Bishop Ryan's Compromise.

The late Bishop Ryan was once asked by a fair daughter of his parish whether he considered it a sin to use rouge. "Well, my child," he answered, "some pious men condemn it, others see no harm in it. I, however, hold a middle course—you may use it on one cheek."

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citicen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of meret.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1611 and he said: You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

Deer In Scotland.

The deer are probably the safest crop in Scotland. Oats may perish and never ripen by reason of too early frosts and long continued wet. Grouse may have disease and cease to count on any moor for several years. Sheep are generally voted of less value than grouse. But deer are very rarely affected by the seasons in such a way as to touch the sport and the letting value of forests. Illustrated Sporting News

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Woman's Reason.

Elliott R. Hooten of Indianapolis was questioning a woman who was a reluctant witness, and he inquired: "Why did you leave that hotel?" "I object," shouted her attorney. Then began a wrangle concerning the admissibility of the question, which the court finally decided to be perfectly proper. Mr. Hooten then said: "Now, madam, please tell us why you left that hotel." "Well," she said, "just because."

COMPANY FORMED FOR HUGE MERGER

Traction and Electric Interests Are Involved.

$400,000,000 ENTERPRISE

"Public Service Company of Northern Illinois" to Operate in Chicago and Over Great Area of Adjacent Country.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Another step toward the consolidation of electric power and traction properties covering Chicago and the northern part of the state into a vast unit was taken when the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was launched.

This new corporation is controlled by Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, and chairman of the board of the Chicago Elevated Railways, with his associates. There is to be $6,825,500 capital stock issued and $1,500,000 additional held in its treasury.

The company is a merger of the following properties:

North Shore Electric company.

Chicago Suburban Light and Power company.

Economy Light and Power company.

Illinois Valley Gas and Electric company.

Kankakee Gas and Electric company.

The merger takes in electric light and power, gas, water, heating and traction utilities, that spread over northern Illinois from a point nearly 100 miles to the southwest, extending to the Wisconsin state line.

It adds an immense suburban and country territory to the public service properties already under the direct control of Mr. Insull and his associates, and it is to be an integral part of a gigantic structure of public utilities representing considerably over $400,000,000 gross capital now issued.

POLICE INTERRUPT WEDDING

Groom-to-Be Forced to Flee While Donning Matrimonial Garb.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 13.—Officers are searching for Ole Oleson of West Terre Haute, while Mamie Skelton, who was to have become his bride, has shut herself away from visitors. The bride-to-be had gone to the parsonage, where the ceremony was to take place, and was awaiting the arrival of Olson.

In the meantime, while the bridegroom was donning his wedding garb at his home, officers with capias writs appeared. They were not quick enough for Olson, however, who escaped.

Crown Prince Receives Reprimand in Newspaper.

Emperor Displeased at Frederick William's Recent Demonstration in the German Reichstag.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—A public and semi-official rebuke has been administered to Crown Prince Frederick William through an inspired telegram from Berlin published in the Cologne Gazette.

This dispatch confirms the report that Emperor William reprimanded his son for having openly demonstrated his approval of the attacks on the government's Moroccan policy and the bellicose utterances in the reichstag Thursday.

For a similar instance of public censure for the crown prince one must go back to 1863, when Crown Prince Frederick was rebuked for criticisms of Chancellor Bismarck's policy in a speech made at Danzig.

JAILED FOR DRINKING

Passenger on Train in Wisconsin Gets Taste of New Law.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 13.—For taking a drink of liquor on a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train, Charles Buckinridge of Highland, N. Y., was sent to the county jail for thirty days.

Buckenridge, a through passenger, who was returning home from the west with his earnings, evidently did not know of the new Wisconsin law making it a misdemeanor to take a drink of intoxicating liquor on board a train.

COLD WAVE GRIPS LARGE TERRITORY

Frigid Spell Preceded by Fatal Storms in West.

ELEVEN KILLED IN WISCONSIN

Great Damage Done by Disturbance of Cyclonic Severity—Many Buildings Demolished in Virginia, Ill.—Springfield Also Hit.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The severe cold wave that at present holds much of the country in its grip, was ushered in by a fierce tornado in several sections of the middle west.

Widespread damage to property, combined with considerable loss of life and injuries to many persons by this storm in Illinois, Iowa and southern Wisconsin.

At least eleven persons were killed in Rock county, Wisconsin. In the village of Virginia, near Springfield, Ill., many of the most important buildings were demolished.

The heavy wind was accompanied in many places with a downpour of rain, and this soon turned to sleet and snow, as the temperature dropped with great rapidity. In Iowa the mercury went down fifty degrees in a short time, and a driving sleet storm tied up street railway and steam traffic in many parts of the state. The sudden drop in temperature also caused much suffering.

Nine persons are dead, another is probably dying, many are injured and nearly half a million dollars' worth of property was destroyed in a cyclone that swept over Rock county, Wisconsin. Near Orfordville, the whole Smith family—three daughters, a son, and the father—was killed. Mrs. John Crowder, eighty years old; Mrs. Proede, a bride of a few months; Fred Lentz, a carpenter, and Amy Kerban, eight years old, met death. Wensel Kerban is probably fatally injured.

Two persons were reported killed when the storm struck Milton, Wis., ten miles north of Janesville, according to messages received by the train dispatcher's office of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. Considerable property damage also was reported and train service was greatly delayed by buildings, windmills and other obstructions blown across the tracks at Milton Junction, Pewaukee and other Wisconsin towns.

The storm broke suddenly and with intense fury. Farmers and villagers were caught entirely unprepared. The loss will run up into the millions, according to David Atwood, who made a trip into the country immediately after the storm passed Janesville. The loss to the tobacco crop alone will be more than half a million.

Many valuable farmhouses were destroyed.

A tornado swooped down upon Virginia, Ill., dealing destruction right and left. A score of persons were seriously injured, while many had narrow escapes, but none was killed. The most seriously injured are Earle Whittaker, the little son of William Whittaker, Fad French, and Olis Middleton.

The Whittaker boy was caught under the wreckage of the Whittaker house, which was demolished.

The storm swept with terrific force through the center of the town. Not a business building or residence that lay in its path escaped damage. A hundred dwellings were unroofed or sustained other serious damage, while the business section is a mass of wreckage. A drenching rain, which followed the violent wind, added to the horror of the situation.

In Springfield some of the heavy windows, just below the statehouse dome were blown in, falling with a great crash on the roof of the false dome, 100 feet below.

A heavy rain and wind storm, accompanied by much lightning, swept over Vermilion county, Illinois, and developed into a tornado at Rossville, where much damage was done. At the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad roundhouse several small buildings were blown down and the coal chutes were blown across the tracks.

TIRED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic. Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

GOVERNOR CRUCE.

Who Will Plead for Cheyenne and Kowa Indians at Washington.

© 1910, by American Press Association.

Smarting under threat of the agent at Segar, Okla., to stop the "willow" and "gift" dances of the Cheyenne and Kowa tribes, a delegation of Indians, headed by Chief Cloud and Chief Washee, pleaded successfully with Governor Cruce of Oklahoma to intercede in their behalf at Washington. The dances date from the time the Indians roamed the plains. The red men pooh-pooh the idea that the gatherings lead to trouble. They declare a fair measure of the white man's liberty is being denied them.

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 14.—Richard Hurst, fifty years old, was shot by his wife and instantly killed. The couple had been living apart for some time, the husband staying at a hotel and the wife occupying the family residence.

Responding to repeated telephone requests, Hurst called to see his wife. He had just taken a seat in the house when Mrs. Hurst fired a shot at him with a revolver, the bullet taking effect in the back of the head. After the shooting Mrs. Hurst summoned the sheriff and told him the details of the tragedy. She was placed in jail.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED AS A CAR ROBBER

Baggageman at Lansing Is in the Law's Grip.

Said to Have Confessed Robberies of Pullman Sleepers on the Burlington Route near Savannah.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 13. — Charles Reeves, nightbaggageman at Grand Trunk station in this city, was arrested by the police at the request of Assistant Chief Mustagh of the Burlington railway detective bureau, who was accompanied to this city by Special Officer Scully of Michigan Central headquarters in Chicago, and Special Officer Henry Decke, of the same road, whose headquarters are in Jackson.

Reeves, who is a negro, was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the robberies of several Pullman sleepers on the Burlington route several weeks ago near Savannah, and the tip given the railroad detectives as to Reeve's whereabouts was furnished by another negro, who was arrested several weeks ago and is said to have confessed, according to Grank Trunk officials. Reeves has made frequent trips to Chicago, claiming that he went to visit his mother who, he said, was sick. He was taken to Chicago.

Queer Mixup Caused by Fact that Two Men Have Same Name.

"Why, that's not my husband," she exclaimed as she approached the bed whereon lay the injured man.

And then it came out that there were two men in Flint named Orren Davis, both traveling men. The wrong Mrs. Davis took the car back to Flint, promising to find the right Mrs. Davis and inform her of her husband's plight.

IN TRIPOLI TRENCHES.

Italian Troops Firing on Combined Turkish and Arab Forces.

FIGHT BLOODY BATTLE

Turks Are Repulsed in an Attempt to Recapture Tripoli.

The first engagement of importance in Tripoli, Africa, since October 26 has been fought. In honor of the Mohammedan festival, a combined Turkish and Arab force, which apparently tried to capture the town, did not succeed.

The attack began to the eastward lines and developed all along the lines. The enemy in great strength, supported by artillery, attacked with great bravery and determination, but was unable to withstand the combined firing of the artillery and the warships which poured shells into them.

The aeroplanes greatly assisted in the fighting for eight hours. The enemy was repulsed about midday.

How Water Freezes.

It used to puzzle all thinking people why ponds and rivers do not freeze beyond a certain depth. This depends on a most curious fact—namely, that water is at its heaviest when it reaches 40 degrees F.—that is, 8 degrees above freezing point. On a frosty night as each top layer of water falls to 40 degrees it sinks to the bottom. Therefore the whole pond has to drop to 40 degrees before any of it can freeze. At last it is all cooled to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat. Therefore it shuts off the freezing air from the big body of comparatively warm water underneath. The thicker it gets the more perfectly does it act as a great coat, and that is why even the Arctic ocean never freezes beyond a few feet in thickness.

The Japanese Empire.

The Japanese empire proper is made up of four large islands, Nippon, Shikoku, Kyushu and Yeddo and about 3,800 small ones, many of them too small and rocky for habitation. In area the empire is very nearly the same as the state of California, about 156,000 square miles. It has a population of between 45,000,000 and 50,000,000, the larger part of it being engaged in agriculture and fishing. The arable land of the whole empire, not including Formosa or Korea, is about 9,000,000 acres, or just about that of the state of New York.—New York American.

PROBE'S END IN SIGHT

Lorimer Investigators to Close Chicago Hearing Nov. 24.

The senate committee now in Chicago investigating the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate announced that the Chicago session of the inquiry will end Nov. 24. If not all testimony is completed here the hearing will reconvene in Washington, Dec. 5.

Representative George W. English, of Vienna, political and personal apponent of Lee O'Neil Browne, took the stand before the committee. Otis Yarborough completed a day of cross-examination before Mr. English was called.

"Did you hear any report of Democratic votes going to Senator Hopkins?" Attorney Marble asked Mr. English.

"Yes, I heard a rumor that fourteen or seventeen votes were going to Hopkins the next day and I spoke to Speaker Shurtleff," said English. "He said that he had heard of it and if it was attempted he would denounce it. The next day the roll of the house was called first."

The testimony jumped to the day of Senator Lorimer's election and Representative English told how he walked to the statehouse with Former Representative Beckemeyer. Mr. English said Beckemeyer told him that he had been solicited to vote for Lorimer, but would not do it.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION.

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1911 and he said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Woman's Reason.

Elliott R. Hooten of Indianapolis was questioning a woman who was a reluctant witness, and he inquired: "Why did you leave that hotel?" "I object," shouted her attorney. Then began a wrangle concerning the admissibility of the question, which the court finally decided to be perfectly proper. Mr. Hooten then said: "Now, madam, please tell us why you left that hotel." "Well," she said, "just because."

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

COMPANY FORMED FOR HUGE MERGER

Traction and Electric Interests Are Involved.

$400,000,000 ENTERPRISE

"Public Service Company of Northern Illinois" to Operate in Chicago and Over Great Area of Adjacent Country.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Another step toward the consolidation of electric power and traction properties covering Chicago and the northern part of the state into a vast unit was taken when the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was launched.

This new corporation is controlled by Samuel Insull, president of the Commonwealth Edison company, and chairman of the board of the Chicago Elevated Railways, with his associates. There is to be $6,825,500 capital stock issued and $1,500,000 additional held in its treasury.

The company is a merger of the following properties:

North Shore Electric company.

Chicago Suburban Light and Power company.

Economy Light and Power company.

Illinois Valley Gas and Electric company.

Kankakee Gas and Electric company.

The merger takes in electric light and power, gas, water, heating and traction utilities that spread over northern Illinois from a point nearly 100 miles to the southwest, extending to the Wisconsin state line.

It adds an immense suburban and country territory to the public service properties already under the direct control of Mr. Insull and his associates, and it is to be an integral part of a gigantic structure of public utilities representing considerably over $400,000,000 gross capital now issued.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 13.—Officers are searching for Ole Olesen of West Terre Haute, while Mamie Skelton, who was to have become his bride, has shut herself away from visitors. The bride-to-be had gone to the parsonage, where the ceremony was to take place, and was awaiting the arrival of Olson.

In the meantime, while the bridegroom was donning his wedding garb at his home, officers with capias writs appeared. They were not quick enough for Olson, however, who escaped.

Crown Prince Receives Reprimand in Newspaper.

Emperor Displeased at Frederick William's Recent Demonstration in the German Reichstag.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—A public and semi-official rebuke has been administered to Crown Prince Frederick William through an inspired telegram from Berlin published in the Cologne Gazette.

This dispatch confirms the report that Emperor William reprimanded his son for having openly demonstrated his approval of the attacks on the government's Moroccan policy and the bellicose utterances in the reichstag Thursday.

For a similar instance of public censure for the crown prince one must go back to 1863, when Crown Prince Frederick was rebuked for criticisms of Chancellor Bismarck's policy in a speech made at Danzig.

COLD WAVE GRIPS LARGE TERRITORY

Frigid Spell Preceded by Fatal Storms in West.

ELEVEN KILLED IN WISCONSIN

Great Damage Done by Disturbance of Cyclonic Severity—Many Buildings Demolished in Virginia, Ill.—Springfield Also Hit.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The severe cold wave that at present holds much of the country in its grip, was ushered in by a fierce tornado in several sections of the middle west.

Widespread damage to property, combined with considerable loss of life and injuries to many persons by this storm in Illinois, Iowa and southern Wisconsin.

At least eleven persons were killed in Rock county, Wisconsin. In the village of Virginia, near Springfield, Ill., many of the most important buildings were demolished.

The heavy wind was accompanied in many places with a downpour of rain, and this soon turned to sleet and snow, as the temperature dropped with great rapidity. In Iowa the mercury went down fifty degrees in a short time, and a driving sleet storm tied up street railway and steam traffic in many parts of the state. The sudden drop in temperature also caused much suffering.

Nine persons are dead, another is probably dying, many are injured and nearly half a million dollars' worth of property was destroyed in a cyclone that swept over Rock county, Wisconsin. Near Orfordville, the whole Smith family—three daughters, a son, and the father—was killed. Mrs. John Crowder, eighty years old; Mrs. Proede, a bride of a few months; Fred Lentz, a carpenter, and Amy Kerban, eight years old, met death. Wensel Kerban is probably fatally injured.

Two persons were reported killed when the storm struck Milton, Wis., ten miles north of Janesville, according to messages received by the train dispatcher's office of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. Considerable property damage also was reported and train service was greatly delayed by buildings, windmills and other obstructions blown across the tracks at Milton Junction, Pewaukee and other Wisconsin towns.

The storm broke suddenly and with intense fury. Farmers and villagers were caught entirely unprepared. The loss will run up into the millions, according to David Atwood, who made a trip into the country immediately after the storm passed Janesville. The loss to the tobacco crop alone will be more than half a million.

Many valuable farmhouses were destroyed.

A tornado swooped down upon Virginia, Ill., dealing destruction right and left. A score of persons were seriously injured, while many had narrow escapes, but none was killed. The most seriously injured are Earle Whittaker, the little son of William Whittaker, Fad French, and Otis Middleton.

The Whittaker boy was caught under the wreckage of the Whittaker house, which was demolished.

The storm swept with terrific force through the center of the town. Not a business building or residence that lay in its path escaped damage. A hundred dwellings were unroofed or sustained other serious damage, while the business section is a mass of wreckage. A drenching rain, which followed the violent wind, added to the horror of the situation.

In Springfield some of the heavy windows, just below the statehouse dome were blown in, falling with a great crash on the roof of the false dome, 100 feet below.

A heavy rain and wind storm, accompanied by much lightning, swept over Vermilion county, Illinois, and developed into a tornado at Rossville, where much damage was done. At the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad roundhouse several small buildings were blown down and the coal chutes were blown across the tracks.

Men and Boats Lost.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Thirteen men are believed to have perished and boats, which put out from Chicago, are reported lost in the worst lake storm in years.

TWELFTH NEGRO GIRL SLAIN

Police Fail to Find Clew to Person Who Has Killed Many Women.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13. — "Jack the Ripper" claimed his twelfth victim in Atlanta when he cut the throat of a mulatto girl and afterwards mutilated her body.

The girl, who has not been identified, was found in a blind alley. She had been murdered in the same manner as eleven other mutallo girls have been slain in the last three months. There is no clew to the murderer. The negroes are in terror

Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

GOVERNOR CRUCE.

Who Will Plead for Cheyenne and Kowa Indians at Washington.

© 1910, by American Press Association.

Smarting under threat of the agent at Segar, Okla., to stop the "willow" and "gift" dances of the Cheyenne and Kowa tribes, a delegation of Indians, headed by Chief Cloud and Chief Washee, pleaded successfully with Governor Cruce of Oklahoma to intercede in their behalf at Washington. The dances date from the time the Indians roamed the plains. The red men pooh-pooh the idea that the gatherings lead to trouble. They declare a fair measure of the white man's liberty is being denied them.

After the shooting Mrs. Hurst summoned the sheriff and told him the details of the tragedy. She was placed in jail.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED AS A CAR ROBBER

Baggageman at Lansing Is in the Law's Grip.

Said to Have Confessed Robberies on Pullman Sleepers on the Burlington Route near Savannah.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 13. — Charles Reeves, nightbaggageman at Grand Trunk station in this city, was arrested by the police at the request of Assistant Chief Mustagh of the Burlington railway detective bureau, who was accompanied to this city by Special Officer Scully of Michigan Central headquarters in Chicago, and Special Officer Henry Decke, of the same road, whose headquarters are in Jackson.

Reeves, who is a negro, was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the robberies of several Pullman sleepers on the Burlington route several weeks ago near Savannah, and the tip given the railroad detectives as to Reeve's whereabouts was furnished by another negro, who was arrested several weeks ago and is said to have confessed, according to Grank Trunk officials. Reeves has made frequent trips to Chicago, claiming that he went to visit his mother, who, he said, was sick. He was taken to Chicago.

INJURED MAN NOT HUSBAND

Queer Mixup Caused by Fact that Two Men Have Same Name.

Grass Lake, Mich., Nov. 13.—When Orren Davis of Flint, a deputy factory inspector, was here on business he fell down a shaft at the local elevator and was seriously injured. He was taken to the Lake house and a request sent by telephone to Flint for his wife to come. When she arrived she was conducted to his room. "Why, that's not my husband," she exclaimed as she approached the bed whereon lay the injured man.

And then it came out that there were two men in Flint named Orren Davis, both traveling men. The wrong Mrs. Davis took the car back to Flint, promising to find the right Mrs. Davis and inform her of her husband's plight.

IN TRIPOLI TRENCHES.

Italian Troops Firing on Combined Turkish and Arab Forces.

FIGHT BLOODY BATTLE

Turks Are Repulsed in an Attempt to Recapture Tripoli.

The first engagement of importance in Tripoli, Africa, since October 26 has been fought. In honor of the Mohammedan festival, a combined Turkish and Arab force, which apparently tried to capture the town, did not succeed.

The attack began to the eastward lines and developed all along the lines. The enemy in great strength, supported by artillery, attacked with great bravery and determination, but was unable to withstand the combined firing of the artillery and the warships which poured shells into them.

The aeroplanes greatly assisted in the fighting for eight hours. The enemy was repulsed about midday.

How Water Freezes.

It used to puzzle all thinking people why ponds and rivers do not freeze beyond a certain depth. This depends on a most curious fact—namely, that water is at its heaviest when it reaches 40 degrees F.—that is, 8 degrees above freezing point. On a frosty night as each top layer of water falls to 40 degrees it sinks to the bottom. Therefore the whole pond has to drop to 40 degrees before any of it can freeze. At last it is all cooled to this point, and then ice begins to form. But ice is a very bad conductor of heat. Therefore it shuts off the freezing air from the big body of comparatively warm water underneath. The thicker it gets the more perfectly does it act as a great coat, and that is why even the Arctic ocean never freezes beyond a few feet in thickness.

The Japanese Empire.

The Japanese empire proper is made up of four large islands, Nippon, Shikoku, Kyushu and Yeddo and about 3,800 small ones, many of them too small and rocky for habitation. In area the empire is very nearly the same as the state of California, about 156,000 square miles. It has a population of between 45,000,000 and 50,000,000, the larger part of it being engaged in agriculture and fishing. The arable land of the whole empire, not including Formosa or Korea, is about 9,000,000 acres, or just about that of the state of New York.—New York American.

PROBE'S END IN SIGHT

Lorimer Investigators to Close Chicago Hearing Nov. 24.

The senate committee now in Chicago investigating the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate announced that the Chicago session of the inquiry will end Nov. 24. If not all testimony is completed here the hearing will reconvene in Washington, Dec. 5.

Representative George W. English, of Vienna, political and personal opponent of Lee O'Neil Browne, took the stand before the committee. Otis Yarborough completed a day of cross-examination before Mr. English was called.

"Did you hear any report of Democratic votes going to Senator Hopkins?" Attorney Marble asked Mr. English.

"Yes, I heard a rumor that fourteen or seventeen votes were going to Hopkins the next day and I spoke to Speaker Shurtleff," said English. "He said that he had heard of it and if it was attempted he would denounce it. The next day the roll of the house was called first."

The testimony jumped to the day of Senator Lorimer's election and Representative English told how he walked to the statehouse with Former Representative Beckemeyer. Mr. English said Beckemeyer told him that he had been solicited to vote for Lorimer, but would not do it.

Chinkiang, a short distance from Nanking, is awaiting the result at the latter place, but the rebel flag flies on the forts.

The Real Test.

"I shall make it a rule," said the young man who is learning politics, "never to go back on my friends."

"An excellent rule," replied Senator Sorghum, "but the real test of the game is to keep your friends from going back on you."—Washington Star.

MRS. A. J WOODARD

Mary A. McRay, a daughter of J. B. McRay, one of the first Vestry men of the Episcopal church in Tecumseh, died Saturday morning Nov. 11, at the home of her step-son, George Woodard in Norvel, aged 80 years and 5 months.

She was born in 1831, and lived nearly all her life in Tecumseh. She was a member of the M E. church here.

In 1867 she was married to A. J. Woodward, who survives her. She was a good help mate and a faithful wife. Her health failing her, about six weeks ago, she went to live with her step-son.

Her remains were brought to Tecumseh Tuesday, and she was laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

Accidents will happen, but the best-regulated families keep Dr Thomas' Eclectric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

SCHOOL NOTES

Florence Clack has been absent for a week on account of illness.

In Miss Lowe's room during Sept., out of 34 pupils, 17 had at least one failure and during the month of October only 9 out of 33 had any failure whatever.

Elmer Magers has left the eighth grade and entered the schools of Adrian.

Miss Mulvany entertained the Y. W. C. A. at her home Thursday evening. The main feature of the evening was a rarebit which was very much enjoyed by all.

Grettel Conklin has been absent for three days on account of illness.

For the benefit of those who may be interested in the English work of the High School, the following may be of some value: The first year English consists of oral composition and a general review of grammer. The work is confined to the text book and the pupils are making good progress. The work in the second year is of somewhat wider scope and consists of the reading of classics, together with composition work in the form of narration, exposition, and argumentation. Much stress is laid upon the work in exposition, topics being given out that are of general interest today and that requires enough research work, that makes it necessary for pupils to read current magazines and newspapers. The object in this work is to interest them not so much in what took place before their time, but what is really happening at the present day. The Junior English classes are studying American literature. In connection with this they also read classics, and books which are assigned to be read outside. A synopsis of these books or general review is required of each pupil. The text book used by the Senior English is Long's History of English literature, In addition to work from this text the class read a number of classics, They have already completed Chaucer's, "Canterbury Tales" also a number of Bacon's essays. They are now interested in reading and studying Shakespeare's, "Hamlet." For outside reading before Christmas vacation, each member of the class is required to read one from a list of standard novels, and write a literary criticism of it. We are assured that the teacher is anticipating work of high merit here, as she refers to these criticisms as "our masterpieces."

Supt McAlpine is now giving a series of lectures to his class in teacher's course each night after school from 3.30 until he thinks best to dismiss them. He is taking up the lowest forms of animal and plant life, in the form of the protozoam, bacteria amocha and germs, also the causes and effects of transmissible diseases. Monday afternoon a very interesting talk was given on the bacillus of typhoid, and the bacterium of tuberculosis. where they live, their durability, how spread and how killed.

The course of music studied in the High School may give the impression to some that it is similar to the work of the grades, although having had the training in the lower grades, helps one to more easily comprehend the work in the High School. The text book used is "Tapper's First Year Harmony." A study of scales and intervals is first taken up and now the class is interested in the composition of melodies. Exercises in ear training are also given from time to time. Aside from the text book, the class are studying the History of Ancient Music, learning that the Egyptians, Greeks, Chinese, Japanese, Hebrews and Assyrians, had an idea of the musical thought as long as 4,000 B. S.

A surprise? party was given for Miss Lowe by the Sophomores Tuesday evening at the home of Harold Kay, the party being given in honor of her birthday. Their plans would have been carried out successful, had it not been for the over anxiety of a certain senior to find out about the affair. But this senior humbly apologizes to each sophomore, and this said senior spent much time regretting her mistake. But in spite of all this everything went on smoothly, The pupils showed their respect and admiration to their teacher by presenting to her a very pretty book of poems by Robert T. Stevenson. Refreshments were served.

An invitation has been extended to the teachers of Clinton High School to meet with the teachers of Tecumseh High School Nov. 24

If he could Seymour would Paul Hunt?

In the Physics class Mr. Smith asked the question, "why does ice float?" and the answer, "Because it is heavier than water." (Why don't a stone float?)

Friday, one half of the first semester was over. During these past ten weeks, the following pupils from the twelfth grade room, have been neither absent or tardy: Roy Cadmus, Don Hunt, Lucille Kelly, Augustus Kempf, George McKendry, Ed Sales, Elsie Sanford, Geneva Satterthwaite and Hazel Tyson.

The Physics Classes are studying "Mechanics," they expect to finish it about Christmas time. They are getting very good results from their experiments in the laboratory. Their success is largely due to the new apparatus.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT OF LAST SEASONS GREATEST SUCCESS

GRAUSTARK.

The Management of the Bradley Opera House takes pleasure in announcing "Graustark" as his next attraction, Wednesday Nov. 22. The great success scored by "Graustark" last season should induce theatre goers to fortify themselves for its coming engagement by securing reserved seats in advance. The seat sale opens Monday morning at Hay's Bakery. The same standard of excellence applies to "Graustark" this season as last and the management wishes to assure his patrons that the company appearing here is Baker & Castles Eestern company and is the same company that played the Lyceum Theatre, Toledo, last August and went from there to the Crown Theatre, Chicago, for a weeks engagement They played Grand Rapids, Nov. 12-13-14-15 (this month) to capacity business.

Scenically, "Graustark" is the most ambitious offering of a romantic nature now on tour. Especially telling is the first act, showing the hotel Regengetz at Edelweiss, Graustark, in which the electrical effects are unusually well arranged, while the throne room and bed chamber of the Princess are in keeping with the costuming and general atmosphere of the play.

A complete carload of special scenery and electrial effects is carried for the production.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1611 and he said: You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

Even Up.

"Do you think it is ever going to clear up?" said the talkative man on the front platform.

"I do, sir," gruffly replied the man addressed. "And as I'm a lawyer that opinion will cost you a fee."

"My friend," returned the first man promptly, "your liver is out of order. Better take a pill. And as I'm a doctor that squares us."—Boston Transcript.

Dirty Windows

A German professor has ascertained that in industrial cities windows which have not been washed for ten days exclude from 35 to 48 per cent of the light. If not washed for four weeks they may exclude as much as 80 per cent of the light.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Boxing the Ears.

"Don't box a naughty child's ears. Don't allow any provocation to tempt you to strike a child on the head," is the injunction contained in an article on skulls issued by the international hygiene exposition at Dresden. Corporal punishment of any kind, says the writer, is wrong, but when the head is the point of contact between the angry parent and the child the former may easily become a murderer. In a collection of skulls at the exposition lent by the Wurzburg university there are many of children as well as adults which show that the abnormally thin skull is not unusually found, even in otherwise normal human beings, and the causes of death, which are stated on cards attached to the skulls, are intended to serve as warnings to parents, teachers and guardians.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, In Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Charles Covell and wife went to Detroit Monday.

Remember the Annual church fair next week Friday Nov. 24. All donations for the various booths will be gladly received. A 10c supper will be served.

REPORT OF GOMPERS TO THE FEDERATION

Predicts Great Change In Our Method of Government.

President of American Federation of Labor Says Cant About "Mob Rule" Is Mere Drivel—Views on McNamara Case.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in his report submitted to the delegates of the thirty-first annual convention being held at Atlanta, Ga., predicted great changes in American methods of government, particularly with regard to political parties.

He gave to the referendum, initiative and recall the unqualified indorsement of organized labor and declared that a real, representative democracy had never been known in the United States because of the general absence of those provisions.

"This semi-deification of judges," he said in defense of his indorsement, "this sanctimonious cant about 'mob rule,' some of which was in President Taft's message vetoing the Arizona statehood bill, is mere drivel."

Mr. Gomper's report, which covers sixty closely printed pages and would make more than thirty columns in a newspaper, says it leaves many subjects untouched or inadequately presented. In the main the report declares for and says organized labor demands:

The referendum, the initiative and the recall.

Passage of the so-called anti-injunction bills at the next sesion of congress.

Restriction of immigration.

Further restriction of convict labor.

Legislation to relieve civil service employes from the executive orders prohibiting them to petition congress.

Uniform laws for protection of life and health in factory buildings.

A department of labor in the federal government.

Employers' liability and workmen's compensation acts throughout the different states.

Severe arraignment is made of so-called scientific management or efficiency systems.

"With the membership now more than 1,750,000, the greatest in its history, and its financial condition excellent, the organization often called the greatest altruistic institution of the times, enters the thirty-first year of its work," the report says.

"Labor's contentions of many years have become merged or have rather co-ordinated with those of the progressive of all parties. The people as a whole, irrespective of class, conditions, calling or partisan alignment have declared for freedom in fact, and not merely in name. They are taking affairs political into their own hands.

"In lieu of the political boss and his machine, we shall have leadership of intelligence, pleading for public justice, with adherents proportioned in number to the strength of the arguments. The stuffed ballot box, the false count and the perjured election returns will likewise disappear.

"Under the prevailing system of cut and dried platforms and slated nominations, preceded by fake primaries, the ballot in our hands has not been, in any adequate sense, either a protecting shield against wrong or a means of redress. We may not for some time be entirely did of the rule of parties.

"If they be an evil, they are such as are incident to all governments based on popular suffrage. I deem it unwise, or rather impolitic, to waste our energies now in efforts to abolish political parties. Perhaps they are institutional in all free governments.

"But if we can not destroy them, we many, by more assiduous and regular exercise of our privileges and rights of citizenship, do much in the way of controlling them."

Mr. Gompers takes up the McNamara case at some length. He expresses his faith in the innocence of the men now on trial at Los Angeles for alleged dynamiting outrages and denounces in unmeasured terms their removal from Indiana to California.

SUMMON ANOTHER VENIRE

Three More Talesman Placed In McNamara Jury Box.

The first venireman at Los Angeles, Cal., who was able to enter the McNamara jury box over the protest of the prosecution has been seated. He is A. Cribling, who was challenged by the district attorney on the ground that he was prejudiced against circumstantial evidence.

The first union labor man passed by both sides entered the box. He is Willett Brunner, member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. In all three talesmen were seated and there are now in the box three sworn jurors and six men who face peremptory challenges. The other man passed was T. J. Green, a rancher and stock raiser. It was found necessary to summon another venire of forty men.

CADILLAC—Ray Fuller of this city, twenty-five years old, was caught by a set screw in a shafting when he was trying to run a belt on a pulley, and was whipped about the shaft so furiously that he was dead when the machinery was stopped. Fuller leaves a wife and three-months-old baby.

MONROE—While he was walking on his way home, Joe Shinnevarr was attacked by two men and severely beaten with a club. His teeth were knocked out and his nose broken, and he was robbed of $7.20. He was unconscious when found by a young man passing by.

ASHAMED OF HER FACE

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Pickard of North Carolina. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema and that was three years ago."

This is but one of thousands of cases in which D. D. D. has simply washed away the skin trouble. D. D. D. cleanses the skin of the germs of Eczema, Psoriasis and other serious skin diseases; stops the itch instantly, and when used with D. D. D. soap the cures seem to be permanent. Nothing like D. D. D. for the complexion.

Trial bottle 25 cents, enough to prove the merit of this wonderful remedy.

We can also give you a full size bottle for $1.00 on our absolute guarantee that if this very first bottle fails to give you relief it will cost you nothing.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

GRAND RAPIDS—As the result of the recent report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters the common council is now at work revising the local building ordinance with a view of making radical changes in the restrictions in the down-town district. Every building must be made absolutely fire proof. Among the buildings affected will be the Elks' new $125,000 temple, the new $200,000 furniture temple and three other structures.

GRAND RAPIDS—For the second time within a period of thirty days a prisoner has been discharged from the county jail because of faulty commitment. Judge J. S. McDonald issued an order releasing James Leonard, who had been confined in jail since July 10. Leonard was jailed on a statutory charge which the judge held to be a civil and not a criminal offense. The order is far-reaching and its effect will be felt all over Michigan.

ANN ARBOR—George Zahn, a well known farmer, living near this city, lies in University hospital in a serious condition, the result of being thrown from an interurban car. The car was just pulling out of a switch in front of the waiting room when Zahn jumped on the car. Zahn lost his balance and pitched down the car steps, striking his head on the pavement. He sustained a severe concussion of the brain.

MILLERSBURG—With her husband most seriously ill and confined to his bed, and having seven small children, the youngest only four weeks old and the eldest fourteen years, Mrs. Albert White, thirty-two years old, died at her home here from septicaemia. GRAND RAPIDS—Benjamin Taraslewas, who is only ten years old, and his brother Stanley, eight years old, who recently stole $360 from an east side residence, have been sentenced for the theft. Benjamin was taken to Lansing to remain until he is seventeen years old. Stanley, being too young to go there, will become an inmate of the Coldwater school.

PITTSFORD—A terribly destructive wind and rain storm visited this section. The barn of Ed Hammond and store of A. Humiston at Ransom, six miles south of here, were unroofed and a valuable orchard belonging to Jesse Corncross was ruined. The damage is estimated at $15,000. Many forest trees were blown down.

PORT HURON—The large opening meeting of the coming winter's campaign to interest the men of this city in the men and religion forward movement was held in the circuit court room. Representatives from every church in the city were present and everything points to a successful campaign.

GRAND RAPIDS—Miss Anna Hefferman, who is the supervisor of the Michigan Soldiers' Home hospital, has suddenly resigned. With her went three of the expert nurses of the institution. Neither Commandant William McGurrin nor Surgeon Howard A. Grube will explain the sudden resignation.

HOLLAND—Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Huyser, living in Zeeland, celebrated their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary at their home in Zeeland on Mr. Huyser's birthday anniversary. Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren participated. Mr. and Mrs. Huyser are ninety-three and ninety-two years old.

TIRED RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every rundown or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

ALDRICH CURRENCY PLAN TURNED DOWN

Commercial Congress Committee Lets It Alone.

Resolutions Urge Issuance of Half a Billion Dollars in Bonds for Improvement of Waterways—Suffrage Rejected.

At Kansas City, Mo., Friday, after a strenuous session that extended into the early hours of the day, the resolutions committee of the trans-Mississippi commercial congress declared the Aldrich currency plan "may be" a step in the right direction, but refused complete indorsement to the plan.

The committee rejected a resolution favoring a parcels post, declaring such a law would be a menace to the development of small towns and commended the interstate commerce commission for beginning action to lower express rates on small parcels. The committee rejected resolutions favoring woman suffrage.

Summarized, the resolutions recognize and pay tribute to reclamation and drainage work; urge $500,000,000 in bonds for the improvement of rivers and harbors; indorse the establishment of a national department of health; favor government aid for construction of good roads; indorse the action of the Daughters of the American Revolution for a national transcontinental highway; favor deepening of Galveston harbor by the government; urge the federal government to pass laws preventing railroad control of steamship lines, and the national congress to authorize the president to appoint a commission for upbuilding the American merchant marine, and indorse efforts to decrease the waste from fire losses.

One of the features of the closing day was an address on "The Philippines," by Martin Egan, proprietor of the Cable-News, Manila, P. I.

"The time has gone," said Mr. Egan, "when it avails practical men to discuss the wisdom of Philippine enterprises.

"The man who proposes to sell or give away the Philippines and their peoples, the majority of whom constitute the only Christian race in the orient, does not know the temper of the Christian people of the United States. Such barter or abondonment would be an act of barbarism to the Filipino people that would make the name 'American' a reproach.

"There can be but one Philippine policy. Its course is so clearly defined no man can mistake or avoid it. It lies in the education, the uplift, the advancement of the Filipino people to a point where they shall be capable of establishing and maintaining a government, reasonably certain in an international sense, and reasonably certain of external protection."

REFERENDUM INDORSED

Victory for Socialist Element of American Federation of Labor.

At Atlanta, Ga., by a practically unanimous vote the American Federation of Labor, in convention here, adopted the referendum as the method of electing its officers hereafter.

The resolution which was adopted had been reported back unfavorably by the committee on laws. Only one member of the committee supported it. He is John Walker, president of the United Mine Workers, who presented a minority report and won the convention.

The result is regarded as a signal victory for the Socialistic element in the convention.

He pulled one out by the hair and the other by the coat collar.

Half an hour later a boy who refused to give his name found Henry and Leroy Lucas and Robert Obermeyer struggling in the water and dragged them out.

Even though this was the second appearance of "Graustark" within a year yet a crowded house and an appreciative audience greeted the players with applause and were carried along through the shifting scenes with the characters in their splendid impersonations

The play is one of deep interest throughout and each player was so well adapted to the part taken that it seemed as if we were living in the time and place and were one with them in dear old "Graustark."

AMUSEMENTS

"HUMAN HEARTS"

At the Bradley Opera House, Monday Nov. 27

Successful in its tenth season can be said of few plays but is truthfully said of "Human Hearts." A drama which provides healthfull recreation for the public and which seems to instruct while appearing in the form of amusement, is a boon to any community. So many questionable forms of amusement are thrust upon the public, the young and old alike find much in this beautiful living story to think over and enjoy long afterwards Rich in incident, in its variety of characters, in its stage settings. The spectator is carried into the delightful atmosphere of life in the hills of Arkansas.

GOOD REPEATER

"Human Hearts," a melodrama by Hal Reid, is at the American for the entire week. It is of the Hal Reid type, full of heart throbs, and although it has been produced in Toledo in in former seasons, it drew large and appreciative audiences Sunday after noon and evening.

Three of the scenes are laid in the Arkansas hills, and those of the last act in New York. It involves the crossing of the lines of a group of simple hills people and those of a scheming villian and an unscrupulous adventuress from the city. The rural settings are attractive.

Henry J. Yorkey, as Jen Mason, a tramp, supplies the comedy, and the company as a whole averages well.—Toledo Blade, Nov. 22,

MRS. T. O. MILLS

Mary Lusettie Keller was born May 16, 1840 at Bloods' Corners, Steuben, Co. N. Y. She was married to Timothy Mills February 19, 1857 and the early part of their married life was spent in the State of New York.

They came to Michigan in 1867 settling in Tipton where they lived for six years, removing from there to Tecumseh where they have since lived.

Three children were born to them one surviving Mrs. Fannie Bryan, with whom they made their home in later life, she is also survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper of Andover, N. Y.

She united with the Baptist Church in 1857 and was a good worker and faithful attendant until her health failed.

She passed away Monday morning Nov. 20 after a brief illness. Her funeral was held at the home Wednesday morning and was conducted by her pastor Rev. Hartzog, assisted Rev J. C. Rooney of Bay City, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mills. Her remains were taken to Tipton and laid to rest beside the children and aged mother who passed on before.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful showing the respect and esteem of the deceased

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me, thy rod and thy staff they comfort me."

CARD OF THANKS

To our friends and neighbors and to one and all who were so kind to us at the loss of our dear one, we would extend our heart felt thanks.

SCHOOL NOTES

The physics note books were handed in Friday afternoon. All of those that have been corrected show very good, accurate, results and some fine discussions. These books speak for good work done both in the text book and laboratory.

Mr. Smith's class in Mechanical Drawing will take up simple construction work. The pupils who have taken a year of this work before are now ready for more advanced work. Before Christmas vacation they expect to take up more advanced construction work but that is somewhat delayed now however on account of new apparatus which has not yet arrived.

Miss Caldwell's class in free hand drawing this year started out with the drawings based upon the cube and cylinder. They have also made a book on lettering. A very pretty decorative drawing has been completed and they are now interested in surface designing.

Flora Ketchum has been ill at her home in Onsted for the past week.

A Junior class meeting was called Tuesday at 3:30 to made plans for a class party to be held soon.

The Sophomores are enjoying spelling this week. This results from misspelled words found in theme writing. When such simple words as maicing, until, there, believe, able, learns, and uses, are misspelled by pupils doing the advanced work in English that Sophomores are supposed to do it seems necessary that they get down to the fundamental principles of spelling.

The Girls' Glee Club consists of a chorus of fourteen girls, their music being arranged for three part singing The Club meets now regularly once a week but soon expects to meet twice a week. Their instructor, Miss Caldwell is now planning a trio. After Christmas vacation an entertainment is expected to be given by the Glee Club.

Mildred Drake spent Sunday with her parents in Pentecost.

Mr. Baber, a representative of the Henry Holt Publishing Co., was visiting the High School Monday afternoon for the purpose of introducing some new German grammars and readers.

Miss Geddes, teacher of the third and fourth grades of East Branch has been ill for the past week. Miss Jennie Harris has been filling the vacancy.

Tecumseh Public Schools will be represented this year in the State Oratorical Association and State contest in declamation. This contest is open to both boys and girls.

The following pupils have been neither absent or tardy this year in the tenth grade room: Mable Skinner, Olive Bloomer, Ruth Curry, Veva Hardcastle, Seymour Orr, Hessie Orr, Geraldine Orr, Hazel Stahler, Lucy Harrison, Ruth Hastings, Harold Kay, Ruth McKinney, Elliot McLain; from the ninth grade room: Myrtle Springer, Ellen Snedicor, Marion Hand, Madge Jones, Vera Gilbert, Lila Snell, Nellie Pilsbury, Florence Waldron, Gertrude Peters, Gertude Hazlett, Mila Murphy, Florine Bennet, Doris Anderson, Parker Comfort, Leon McLachlin, Lloyd Aebersold, Clarence Aebersold, Joe McCann; from the eleventh grade room, Ethel Russell, Hazel Pocklington, Sarah Linton, Elwood Comfort. Those of the twelfth grade room were published in a previous edition.

Margareth Bierman has been obliged to discontinue her work in the eighth grade, on account of her eyes.

Mr. McAlpine's class in Commercial Group, have started their work in book-keeping,

Roger Anthony of Walkerville, Ont., visited school Monday afternoon.

Some new apparatus has been added to the laboratory, including a new set of draw scales for use in Physics. These are a very good help to the pupils, enabling them to obtain much more accurate results in working out the experiments of parallelogram of forces, and in finding the coefficient of friction, the scales being graduated to 2,000 centimeters. Some new tubes for measuring gas, have also been purchased for the use of pupils in Chemistry.

A Y. W. C. A. social was held at the home of Albert Haire's Thursday evening, of last week. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Leroy Kempf entered the seventh grade during the month of October

The seventh grade have been interested in studying food bulletins published by the Agricultural department, at Washington, D. C.

Nine pupils out of an enrollment of 28 in the seventh grade, have had a perfect attendance thus far. Four others in the room have had just one half days absent.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1911 and he said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

Some time ago, I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and since taking t have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." For sale by all druggists.

PERISHES IN STORM

Michigan Printer Said to Have Been Refused Shelter by Neighbor.

Charlotte, Mich., Nov. 4.—L. B. Frye a Lansing printer, attempted to walk from Charlotte to his family's home in Chester township, during the fierce blizzard which swept this district and his body was found by school children in Chester, not a great distance from his home.

Charlotte authorities are investigating a report that Frye, while in a dying condition, was twice refused shelter in a neighbor's house. The neighbor, it is claimed, turned him back into the storm because he believed Frye had been drinking.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

WAYMAN ON DEFENSIVE

State's Attorney Details Methods in Bribe Inquiry.

Sharp questioning intended to show the bribery charges in the election of William Lorimer as United States senator, were the result of a "conspiracy," was put by Elbridge Hanecy, attorney for Mr. Lorimer, to State's Attorney Wayman before the senatorial investigating committee in Chicago.

Mr. Wayman had told of his steps to prosecute Lee O'Neil Browne, who was accused in Charles A. White's confession of having paid "jack pot" and "Lorimer money" to White.

Attorney Hanecy asked Wayman whether, in bring an indictment against Browne, the state's attorney had neglected to follow up the clues that might lead to material evidence.

"We might have called Mr. Lorimer before the grand jury; he might have given material evidence, but we didn't feel we could get him," answered the witness. "In addition, we had many clues brought to us, which we didn't follow up because we didn't regard their source as authentic."

In sending out agents and detectives to investigate the confession of White that he and others accepted bribes to vote for Lorimer, Mr. Wayman said his purpose was to corroborate the story, if it were true, or to disprove it, if it were not true. He denied his purpose was solely to substantiate the story. The fact that the confession, in his opinion, was amply corroborated was due to the evidence obtained from those named by White as being in St. Louis when the "jack pot" money was alleged to have been distributed.

AUTO RACER IS KILLED

Fatal Accident on Chatham County Track Near Savannah, Ga.

At Savannah, Ga., Monday Jay McNay, driver of one of the Case cars, was killed and Joe Dawson, one of the Marmon team, was injured during the first day's practice over the Chatham county road race circuit.

Both of the accidents were directly traceable to the presence of vehicles other than racing cars on the race circuit during the time when the roads were supposed to be cleared of all other traffic in order that the racing drivers might speed their cars in preparation for the contest of next week.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES EUROPE

Sharp Disturbance in Rhine Valley is Slighter in Other Places.

The Rhine valley was shaken by a sharp earthquake which seems to have been widely felt in south central Europe. It was sufficiently severe at Mannheim to drive people in alarm from their homes and from the theaters.

There was no damage as far as is known. Reports from Vienna and Lucerne say that the shaking was felt slightly at those places.

Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)

If it does not go to the seat of trouble, heal the inflammation and stop the cough, we will cheerfully return every cent paid us for it. This shows our faith, and proves that you take no chances.

ROOSEVELT NOT IN THE RUNNING

Assures Friends Emphatically He Is Not a Candidate.

NOT PLEDGED TO TAFT FOR 1912

Ex-President States His Position in Regard to Presidency Candidly to Friendly Newspaper in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt's recent editorial in the Outlook upon the trust question has led to deductions so false and to political discussions so unfortunate that it seems expedient for an accurate and authoritative statement to be made regarding his position, particularly toward the campaign of 1912.

Such a statement can be made better perhaps by the North American (newspaper) than by any other agency.

Just one year ago Colonel Roosevelt confided to this newspaper his views regarding the use of his name as a receptive candidate for the Republican nomination and his firm purpose in relation thereto. At that time influential eastern papers were proclaiming that Colonel Roosevelt was actually pledged to support Mr. Taft for renomination, and were intimating that news of this arrangement emanated from the White House itself. Many national leaders accepted these statements as facts.

Colonel Roosevelt declared most emphatically that he had not pledged his support to Mr. Taft, privately or publicly, in set terms or even by implication. He said he would not support any man for the nomination in 1912, neither Mr. Taft or any one else. As to a statement that the president believed he would have Roosevelt's support, Colonel Roosevelt said that Mr. Taft could not believe anything of the kind; that, in fact, Mr. Taft knew that he had no such assurance and that neither Mr. Taft nor any one else had one particle of ground for such opinion.

As to the persistent suggestions that he had designs upon the nomination himself, Colonel Roosevelt was equally emphatic and explicit. At that time and on subsequent occasions, more than once in our presence, Colonel Roosevelt received tenders of support from men of wide political influence, men who will control delegates in the convention. To each and every such proposal, Colonel Roosevelt replied with emphasis and forceful sincerity that he was not in the remotest sense a candidate for the nomination and that he declined and deplored all such suggestions as were being made to him.

W. J. BRYAN IN JAMAICA

Shipwrecked Nebraskan Arrives Safely in City of Kingston.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 27. — The passengers of the steamship Prinz Joachim, which is stranded on Atwood Cay, in the Bahamas, arrived at Port Antonio and came here by special train.

William Jennings Bryan, who is one of the passengers, said in an interview that there were three lessons to be learned from the stranding of the vessel: First, the need for two wireless operators on each vessel, one for day and one for night work in case of accident; second, each steamship should carry some Lifeboats equipped with motors, and Third that a lighthouse should be built on Atwood Cay. Mr. Bryan will spend some time here with his daughter, Mrs. Owen.

San Francisco Police Descend Upon Dens and Arrest 210 Smokers.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—In a sensational raid in Chinatown fifty-seven opium joints were entered and 210 users of the drug were arrested. Six hundred dollars' worth of opium and paraphernalia valued at $2,000 were seized.

The raid was inaugurated by the state board of pharmacy in a campaign to put an end to the opium traffic in California. Of the prisoners 120 are Chinese, thirty-one negroes and the rest whites. There were only two white women in the police net.

The predicted fight on Gompers and other officers did not materialize and they were chosen without opposition.

MEXICANS AFRAID OF INTERVENTION

Ill-Feeling toward United States in Native Press.

QUOTATIONS FROM TWO PAPERS

Mexico City, Nov. 27.—Intervention of Americans in the affairs of Mexico is the fear being expressed in the Mexican papers.

Everywhere ill feeling is cropping out in the columns of the native press and the opinion prevails that the United States is carefully laying plans for interference. Quotations from two papers in the national capital show the spirit manifested.

El Pais says: "It is unquestioned that there was aid for Madero in the United States and there is persecution for Reyes, a persecution which stands as a solitary example in the political history of the neighboring nation."

El Diaro says: "The bird of evil omen hovers over the frontiers of Mexico and its name is intervention. Yesterday El Imparcial gave a note of warning conjuring all Mexicans in burning words not to forget the northern peril.

"From the north will come these new barbarians, with the elements which civilization and the art of war have placed in their hands. They are not dressed in the skins of beasts nor do they dance around the bonfire in their forests; but in their pride of race they will like vampires suck the blood of our traditions, they will merge in the sea of their conquests the crystal lymph of the national independence, a new constellation will be displayed to heaven where once floated the green, white and red."

The American ambassador has made an effort to set the natives right. In a statement he says:

"I am surprised and somewhat chagrined that the activity of my government in enforcing the neutrality laws of the frontier, clearly in the interest of peace and order in Mexico, should inspire hostile and ungenerous comment.

"In enforcing its neutrality laws on the frontier with utmost rigor and in seizing and punishing all violators of the Mexican law operating from American territory, the American government discharges the highest obligation of a friendly government.

"The attempt of these newspapers to show a difference between the attitude observed by the American government during the Madero revolution and at the present moment is a credit to neither of them, as both should understand, that the circumstances then and now are entirely different. The United States had not the benefit of the experience in guarding the frontier which it has acquired during the events of the past year. Then, too, it had not learned how expensive and disastrous revolutions are, not only to Mexico, but to the United States whose material interests here are very great."

Will Oppose Dardanelles Blockade.

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—It is stated here that Sir Gerald Lowther, the British Ambassador, has told the Porte that Great Britain will support Russia in her protest against the blockading of the Dardanelles.

PREMIER'S TASK SEEMS HOPELESS

Yuan Shih Kai's Control of Affairs Almost Nil.

DIPLOMATS FEAR DISORDERS

Legation Guards Thought to Be Strong Enough to Cope with Any Probable Situation and Prevent Massacre.

Pekin, Nov. 27.—The hopelessness of Yuan Shih Kai's task is daily becoming more apparent.

His control of affairs is hardly more than nominal even in Pekin and his authority is flouted southward to the Yangtse-Kiang. His attempts to form a cabinet have hitherto failed and none of his appointees to the chief posts has accepted. The diplomats, of course, recognize the fact that he is the premier and equally, of course, recognize his inability to enforce his authority outside of certain limits.

The anxiety over the troubles at the capital which evaporated on the arrival here of Yuan to accept the premiership are recurring to such an extent that the foreign diplomats, through Sir John Jordan, the British minister, formally reported to Yuan the dangers of possible disorders. The legation guards are constantly on the alert and may at any time be suddenly face to face with serious happenings. It is believed that they are strong enough to handle any such outbreaks and prevent a massacre unless such a thing was thoroughly organized.

The Chinese newspapers print the strangest reports about the republican movement and boldly speculate on the coming republican cabinet. The list of prospective ministers contain the names of Sun Yat San as president, General Li Yuan Hang as premier, Wu Ting Fang as minister of foreign affairs, Admiral Sah Chen Ping as secretary of the navy and General Huan Hsin as minister of war.

Meanwhile Yuan upholds the solemn farce of the throne's ascendancy. The regent, Prince Chun, on Sunday, with the prescribed ceremonies, took the promised oath on behalf of the infant emperor to recognize and maintain a constitution based on the now famous nineteen principles.

FIGHTING AT HANKOW

Republicans in Shanghai Claim Great Victory for Their Arms.

Shanghai, Nov. 27.—Beyond the fact that fighting is still going on at Hankow, the position is not clear. The republicans here claim that they have received dispatches from General Li Yuan Hang, the rebel commander, claiming a great victory on Saturday after two days' fighting. He claims to have driven the imperial troops out of the positions which they recently won. Other dispatches, however, say the fighting has been indecisive except that there has been a slight improvement in the position of the imperial forces.

The rebels began bombarding Nankin after taking the outlying forts.

1911 FOOTBALL KILLS FOURTEEN

Sixty-Seven Other Players Injured during Season.

FEWER COLLEGE FATALITIES

Chicago, Nov. 27. — Fourteen dead and sixty-seven seriously injured was the cost of football during the year of 1911. Four of the dead were the victims of injuries received in the season of 1910, which did not prove fatal until long after the closing of the season.

Only once in the last four years was the number of dead higher than this year. In 1909 twenty-three died, and the number of lives lost in both 1908 and 1910 was fourteen. While the number injured this season was in advance of that in 1910—43—it was a great decrease below 1908. In that year there were 134 players seriously injured.

The latest of the victims who was prominent on the football field was John E. Moll of the University of Wisconsin, who broke his shoulder blade during the game with the Maroons at Marshall field. Despite his injury Moll played ten minutes before he surrendered to the pain.

Whether it was the more strict enforcement of the sane" game or some other cause, the number of college and university players killed has steadily decreased during the last three seasons. There was, however, an increase in the number of college players injured. In preparatory and other teams the lists of victims remained practically the same. The following table shows the division by classes:

	Dead.	Injured.
High school	6	20
College	3	40
All others	5	7

Michigan was the heaviest sufferer among all of the larger colleges in the number of injured. There three broken legs and a half score of less seriously injured resulted from the game.

Yale also had a long list of victims, but their injuries were not of so serious a nature.

One girl was injured while playing. She was Miss Irene Butrum, a pupil at the Evansville, Ind., high school. She received a broken arm while playing with a number of other girls from the same school.

It is stated that the banker's physical condition is such that he will not be removed to Fort McPherson until after a consultation of physicians.

Two Children Die in Flames.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for the list of testimonials.

ROOSEVELT ASSAILS THE POLICY OF TAFT

Colonel Says Trust Dismemberment Is Ineffective.

Declares That Neither the Anti-Trust Law Nor Any Modification of It Can Meet Situation Confronting Government.

Theodore Roosevelt, in an editorial in the Outlook, criticises pitilessly the trust dismemberment policy of the federal officials and advocates complete govermental supervision of industrial corporations as the best means of assuring a "square deal" for both the corporations and the people.

The colonel ridicules the theory that the recent supreme court decisions ushered in an "era of competition," a belief expressed by President Taft in his Detroit speech; casts doubt on the progressiveness of those who hold to this view and characterises their attitude instead as "sincere rural toryism."

Mr. Roosevelt cites the recent settlement of the tobacco trust litigation as proof that the present national policy simply leaves a monopoly unimpaired, though in different clothes, and immune from prosecution or control.

Colonel Roosevelt declares that he went over the full trust situation with Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield and quotes from a letter written to him by Garfield relative to the steel trust suit, in which Mr. Garfield said:

"Nothing appeared before the house committee that made me believe we were deceived by Judge Gary in the Tennessee Coal and Iron absorption. The position now taken by the government is absolutely destructive to legitimate business, because they outline no rule of conduct for business of any magnitude."

Mr. Roosevelt then lines up flatly against Attorney General Wickersham and the law officers of the present administration by declaring he was not deceived in permitting the Tennessee Coal and Iron merger, which is one of the grounds upon which Mr. Wickersham has asked the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation.

Significant or not, according to the view of the reader, will be Colonel Roosevelt's declaration that the methods of corporation regulation worked out and put in force in the state of Wisconsin furnish an acceptable model for a federal system.

The writer does not mention Taft or LaFollette by name.

The editorial is one of the most caustic the colonel has yet penned, declaring that neither the anti-trust law nor any modification of it can meet the situation that confronts the government.

THREE ADMIT TARRING GIRL

Sensation Is Sprung In the Case at Lincoln Center, Kan.

At Lincoln Center, Kan., Thursday, Pleas of guilt, suddenly announced in the circuit court by three of the most prominent men accused in connection with the tarring of Miss Mary Chamberlain, the Shady Bend school teacher, carried the state's attorneys almost off their feet with surprise.

These announced pleas of guilty: Everett G. Clark, president of a Shady Bend milling company; Watson Scranton, Shady Bend farmer; Jay Fitzwater, Shady Bend farmer. Judge Grover reserved sentence.

Miss Chamberlain was in court, accompanied by her mother and brother, Manville Chamberlain.

Since Miss Chamberlain was decoyed to a lonely spot on a country road, seized by a band of more than a dozen men, her clothing torn off and her body coated with tar Aug. 7 she had remained in retirement in her home in the little Shady Bend community, where she taught school and where it is said her popularity with men caused jealous wives to urge husbands to inflict on her torture which aroused a storm of indignation throughout the state.

REAR ADMIRAL ENDS LIFE

John Yeatman Taylor, Aged and Despondent, Dies in Washington.

At Washington Rear Admiral John Yeatman Taylor, retired, former medical director of the United States navy, ended his life by shooting himself in the head with a navy pistol.

Rear Admiral Taylor was eighty-two years old, and had a notable career as a naval surgeon. His health had long been poor, and the death in an automobile accident at Wilmington, Del., two years ago of his only son, Andrew Bryson Taylor, was a severe shock to the aged surgeon.

Schoolroom Training.

Our schools are not training individuals. They treat the unfortunate pupils in the mass, as a dyer treats his cambric by the vatful. Society needs the power of the child, and there are almost as many kinds of power as there are children. But these powers are latent and need to be aroused by the magic of personality. We now leave their discovery to haphazard after the child has left the general schoolroom. An earnest start has been made by sincere citizens to compel educators to use the great possibilities of the public schools for the training of useful individuals. A few vocational and special schools have been opened. Some of the states, a few of the cities, have studied the problem of individualized education. By and by the state will awaken to the possibilities of training its children into diversified and honorable usefulness. Then a perennial supply of socialized useful individuals will be coming from the recreated public schools.—Samuel P. Orth in North American Review.

RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR COMES

M. Bakhmetieff Arrives In New York After Rough Voyage.

New York, Nov. 20.—Winds of hurricane force swept across the route of the big steamship Province of the French line which was delayed by heavy waves and arrived here with many notables aboard, including the new Russian ambassador to the United States, Mons. G. Bakhmetieff, who was accompanied by Mme. Bakhmetieff.

At times the ocean was very rough and swept the decks of the ship.

OUR STORY WINNERS OF THE TECUMSEH SCHOOLS

Judges, Mrs. W. B. Weld and Mrs. R. N Lowe

We print the following story by Albertine Mobbs of the 6th grade which received commendation by the judges but not being original, it could not not enter in the contest but is worthy of publication the outline of the story being given her by her teacher and she filling it out.

The "Story of Rollo," by Perry M. Hayden, received honorable mention, and in one way deserves special mark as he chose his own subject, and it was entirely original. The stories winning the prizes will appear in Friday's paper.

Jean ValJean

Once there lived a family by the name of ValJean it consisted of the father and three children the mother having died some time before our story begins. Shortly after her death the father was sent to prison leaving the children to care for themselves Jean ValJean being the eldest, a boy of twelve years it all fell upon him to do; his sister next younger being a cripple and the little brother five years old was to small to do anything but wait upon the little invalid.

Jean was a very courageous little fellow and every day found him ready to run errands or do anything people asked him. One day it had been very cold and bleak he had been out all day trying to find something to do that he could earn enough to buy a supper for the little ones at home but nothing could he find no one had an errand for him so cold and hungry himself and thinking of the sister and brother at home he felt very badly. Passing a bakery and seeing the bread in the window was to much for him thrusting his hand inside he snatched a lot of bread and ran for home. While they were eating the simple supper the officers found him and he was sent away to prison to stay twelve years.

After the twelve years had expired Jean ValJean grown to manhood, came home to find that his sister had died and his brother had been adopted by a family, whoes name he could not learn nor where they lived feeling very sad and lonely he went to a city to get away from the home scenes Finding the watch asleep he passed through the gates and went to an old house where the Bishop lived. As he knocked the Bishop came to the door and asked what he wanted. Jean told him his story of being a stranger and demanded a sleeping place. The Bishop's wife being a kind motherly soul prepared a nice supper for him and gave him the best room in the house to sleep in. He could not sleep the vision of the great wealth of silver the house contained was to much for him. So waiting until the house was still and all asleep he went quietly to the dinning room and packed all the silver in a basket He then hesitated should he kill the Bishop or kiss his hand. To kill him would be to cruel and to kiss his hand was beneath him so he passed out. As he was leaving the City he met officers who noticed he was a stranger and carried a heavy basket, stopping him they asked what he had. He told them silver he had taken from the Bishop. They at once took him back to the Bishop's home, where he was identified as their guest. The Bishop having heard the story of Jeans life begged the officers to let him go, saying the silver had proven to great a temptation and he would deal with Jean they went away satisfied. After living with the Bishop for some time and learning from his fatherly talks and good council Jean soon began to live a better life and one that no boy should be ashamed to copy after. The Bishop got him a position of trust which he filled with much credit to himself and employer and it was not long before he became a member of the firm,

Back in his home town there lived an old man whom people thought was ValJean. One day he was arrested for stealing some apples. Jean heard of it and was very sorry for him but did not know just what to do. That night he called on the Bishop and looked at the silver. His mind was made up. He would go the next day and tell who he was and if possible gain the old man's freedom just as court opened the next morning he arrived, told his story to the Judge, the same one who years before had sent him to prison for stealing the bread to keep his sister and brother from starving gained the old mans promise to live a better life and set an example for others as tempted gained the pardon from the Judge and at night returned home to the Bishop with the story of the good deed done through the lesson of the silver.

THE STORY OF ROLLA

Rollo was born in Newfoundland. His mother was a large Newfoundland dog and lived with some kind people. His mother's name was Jimmie. Rollie and Jimmie had great times running and chasing around. A man was coming to buy Rollo in a few days and his name was John Taylor. Mr. Taylor was a wealthy farmer. Jimmie had heard her master talk about selling Rollo and gave him advice what to do in case of an emergency. She always said, "Do as you are told, or it will bring on trouble."

In a few days Mr Taylor came and took Rolla to a station from which they were to take a train to Mr. Taylor's home. Rolla did not have a very pleasant journey on the train because he had to be put in a dark baggage car and the noise frightened him.

Mr. Taylor did not buy Rolla for himself but for his nine year old son Jay as the next day was his birthday. Jay's home was in the country. He lived in a colonial house with big pillars in the front and they had a large lawn with some big pine trees in it.

Jay was delighted with Rolla and declared it was a real nice present, the best he had ever had. In a while Rolla and Jay were great chums. Rollo was an intellegent dog and it was not long before Jay had taught him several tricks.

It was a hot sultry afternoon in July and as there was a lake with quite a few fish in it on Mr. Taylor's estate Jay thought he would go fishing. He did not want Rollo to go so he took a long rope and tied him to a tree.

While fishing; Jay got too near the edge of the boat and over he went in the water. Rolla hearing Jay's screams jerked the rope away from the tree and ran as fast as he could go towards the lake. As he saw no one in the boat he swam out to see if Jay had fallen out. When he got out to where the boat was Jay caught hold of the rope Rolla still had around his neck and after much hard work Rolla pulled Jay up on the shore both dripping wet.

When Mr. Taylor heard that Rolla had saved Jay's life he gave him a silver plated coller with his name on. After that Rolla was admired and called a brave dog by everyone.

SUNDAY MORNING AT THE M. E. CHURCH

Address by Mrs. Wm. Ward of Romeo for the W. H. M. S.

Sunday morning was a red letter day for the W. H. M. S. of the Methodist church. Rev. Kennedy in a few will chosen words, in behalf of himself and the congregration, expressed their happiness, and also congratulated themselves, on having Mrs. Ward with them to give the address at their annual meeting.

Mrs. Ward in her opening remarks stated the pleasure it gave her to be back in her old church home where she spent two such happy years while she did not pose as a speaker yet this work was so near her heart and knowing the needs of the congregation she thought she might bring something to them that would be a help in the work. She first gave a short sketch of the early history of the home missionary work and to what magnitude it had grown to the present time. It was the outgrowth of the women coming to the assistance of the southland but their perminent organization was effected in Cincinnati with Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes as first president.

It then was extended to Utah to the Western frontier and our highland mountaineers of the South and the establishment of schools for the education of deaconess to carry out this work is now carried out in our new possessions.

She spoke of many who thought money all that was required but it was the consecration of self first. Mrs. Ward gave an eloquent and polished address and was listened to with such close attention that everyone was sorry when she finished.

HOLLAND—The Reverend and Mrs. A. Livingston Warnshuis of this city, missionaries of the Reformed church, are at present stationed at Amoy, China. Since Amoy recently renounced the Manchu dynasty and raised a revolutionary flag, their safety is practically assured because of the friendly attitude displayed by the revolutionists toward the foreigners. There are several other missionaries of the Reformed church in Amoy, most of whom are graduates of Hope college.

ANN ARBOR—George Ross, aged ten years, through his father as his next friend, has started suit for $10,000 damages against Frank I. Cornwell, a prominent coal and automobile dealer, for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile accident about three weeks ago. The declaration alleges that as young Ross was riding on his bicycle, the Cornwell auto, in which were the driver, L. A. Frost, and Mr. Cornwell, ran him down and broke both ankles.

ESCANABA—Upon the application of County Prosecuting Attorney Storm the preliminary hearing of Dan McCarthy, Arthur and John Lindquist, charged with the murder of Alvin Fogarty, was postponed until Nov. 21. McCarthy demanded a separate examination from the other defendants. McCarthy's father is a well known railway engineer of this city. To his mother who visited him in jail McCarthy stoutly protested his innocence.

EATON RAPIDS—During the past four days three separate farms have been sold here at figures above $10,000. The Dr. J. B. Bradley farm, two miles southwest of town, went at $14,000; the John T. Hall farm, a short distance from the Bradley place, was taken at $11,500, and the Vaughan Brothers' farm, three miles east of here, was sold for $12,200. Each sale will bring a new family to this community.

SURPRISE

Rev. W. B. Hartzog was the happy victim of a surprise party on Friday evening, when about 75 of his friends gathered at his home. He and his wife were having a very enjoyable visit and supper at the home of Mrs. Ella Sheldon, when he was called to the telephone where it was announced that there was a couple at the parsonage, wishing to be married. Scenting a generous fee the Dr. hastened home, where he was met by the crowd, and judging by appearances he thought there were more then one couple wishing to be married sooner or later.

Mr. Albert Howard made quite a lengthy speech in which he presented the Dr. with a beautiful leather chair, and his good wife with a table cloth and napkins, as a slight token of the love and esteem of their friends, who had met together on this occasion.

Dr. Hartzog was a much surprised man, but bore up bravely under the trying ordeal, and Saturday morning found him as lively as ever after his chairing. Such events are bright spots along the highway of life, and are pleasant to remember in after years.

BANNER YEAR BEATEN

Oil Inspector Reports that Present Year Will Be State's Best.

Northville, Mich., Nov. 18.—The quarterly report of State Oil Inspector Neal for the period ending Sept. 30, shows the inspection of 5,319,717 gallons of kerosene oil, or 588,811 gallons more than for the same period last year. Total fees received, $10,726.70; total salaries and expenses, $7,761.69, leaving a net balance to turn over to the state treasury of $2,965.01.

The department has advised the treasury department that besides the $2,000 already sent in, that $14,000 more will be forwarded Dec. 15 and about $4,000 more by the middle of January, making about $20,000 net for the year. This will even beat last year's record of $17,000, which was the banner one in the department's history.

Besides inspecting oil, the department has made a canvass of nearly the whole state in the enforcement of the red can gasoline act.

FIND CACHE OF DYNAMITE

Detroit Police on Trail of Band Which Terrorized Italians.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—Discovery of a quantity of dynamite, fuses, insulated wire and other evidence in a building in the Italian district caused the police to believe they have a clew which may throw light on a reign of terror which has existed in that section for some time.

No arrests followed the discovery. Names of the people just vacating the premises were not learned, the police declare.

FIVE MURDERED IN FEUD

Italians of Detroit Give Police Mystery that Baffles Them.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 20.—Without tangible clews, the police are trying to fathom a feud in which Italians are being slain and buildings wrecked with dynamite. They believe five murders, many explosions and a great number of fights have mysterious connection.

One theory is that two rival bands have become bitterly opposed to each other.

CADILLAC—Miss Mina V. Gale, a young school teacher of Trenton, and Homer C. Teall of Ithaca, were married in Manton. Teall is a graduate of Cornell university and now runs an experimental farm near Trenton.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers can no Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Tecumseh citicen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

Thefact s are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of meret.

E. C. Brisbin farmer, N. Democrat St, Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of my trouble and did me so much good that I am seldom without a supply on hand." (Statement given December 5, 1908.)

A WILLING CONFIRMATION

Mr. Brisbin was interviewed on August 26, 1611 and he said: You may continue to use my name as a reference for Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this preparation and it acts promptly and effectively."

BOYS SAVE YOUNG HUNTER

Tie Cord About Arm After Shot Tears Away Thumb.

Newcastle, Ind., Nov. 27.—Richard Hayes, the twelve-year-old son of O. E. Hayes, a farmer living in the southern part of the county, near Lewisville, was the first victim of the hunting season in Henry county. A gun was accidentally discharged and the charge tore off the thumb of his right hand.

His companions, one his brother, tied a cord tightly about the lad's arm to stop the flow of blood, and then took him to the nearest house, a mile away, where physicians were called to attend. None of the boys are over fourteen years old.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

THUGS BEAT STATION AGENT

Economy, Ind., Railway Employe Injured by Would-Be Robbers.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 27.—Thugs assaulted Richard Snyder, telegraph operator at the C. & O. railroad depot in Economy, seventeen miles north of Richmond, while he was at work. Two men entered the waiting room, Synder, believing they were waiting for a train, went from the telegraph room into the waiting room to stir up the fire. He was assaulted with a club and fell to the floor unconscious.

Dan Murphy, an assistant telegraph operator, rushed to Snyder's assistance and the men fled. The motive for the assault undoubtedly was robbery, the men believing that Snyder was alone in the station. A posse of Economy men attempted to trail the assailants through the snow, but failed to locate them. Snyder was seriously injured, but will recover.

London and New York.

New York will never give in the same degree as London the impression of being a real city. It is on too big or too small a scale for that; its rivers are too wide—they break the sense of continuity. At Charing Cross, with eleven miles of London in every direction, one gets a feeling of mass of immensity that is lacking in little old New York, as Manhattan is properly described.—Springfield Republican.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Everett Clark and Jay Fitzwater, who were given the same sentence as Scranton, will appeal their cases, and are free on bonds.

The two men found guilty, Sherrill Clark and John Schmidt, may never go to jail. They were not actually present at the tarring and it is known Prosecutor McCanless will ask that they be let off with a fine. Motions for a new trial in their cases will be argued Dec. 18, and no sentence will be passed until then, at least.

Only three other cases are to be tried, James Booze will be tried in February on the charge of being a party to the tarring conspiracy. The cases of Chester Anderson and Delbert Kindelsparger, sentenced to ninety days each in a justice court, are set to come up on an appeal.

ATTEMPT TO KILL GOV. TENER

Pennsylvania's Governor Turns Over to Authorities an "Infernal Machine."

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—What is believed to have been an attempt to injure Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania was discovered at Charleroi, Pa., the home of the governor.

Governor Tener received it through the mail several days ago. It had been mailed from Philadelphia.

Postoffice Inspector Williams saturated the contrivance with water and after waiting some time opened it with a penknife. On the outer cover was a printed slip reading: "Memorial to state's heroes dedicated." Inside was found powder mixed with a substance as yet unknown. There is no clew to the sender.

BEATTIE ADMITS HE MURDERED HIS WIFE

Leaves Confession to His Spiritual Advisers.

One Minute After the Current Is Applied Beattie Is Pronounced Dead —Gruesome Scenes and Incidents in Prison.

At Richmond, Va., Friday, Henry C. Beattie, Jr., died in the electric chair at 7:23 a. m. as penalty for the murder of Mrs. Louise Beattie, his wife. Immediately after the execution a confession under the previous day's date was given out as follows:

"I, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., being desirous of standing right before God and man, do, on this, the 23d day of November, 1911, confess my guilt of the crime charged against me. Much that was published concerning the details was not true, but the awful fact without the harrowing circumstances, remains. For this action I am truly sorry, and, believing that I am at peace with God and am soon to pass into his presence, this statement is made."

Beattie's confession was followed by the following statement by the attending ministers:

"This statement was signed in the presence of the two attending ministers and is the only statement that can and will be made public by them. Mr. Beattie desired to thank the many friends for kind letters and expressions of interest and the public for whatever sympathy was felt or expressed."

Henry Clay Beattie was pronounced dead one minute after the current was turned on.

Beattie passed a fairly peaceful night, although his sleep was broken. When he arose he dressed with his usual care and ate sparingly. He did not appear either nervous or apprehensive, although he was incessantly under the eyes of his guards, who had redoubled their vigilance in the final moments so that the law might not be cheated.

During the reading of the death warrant the doomed man maintained his composure. He stood without a tremor.

Beattie was escorted from his cell to the death room by two clergymen of the Presbyterian church in which his father was a decon. One was Rev Mr. Dennis, the other Rev. J. J. Fix pastor of the church of Manchester, of which his father long had been in official prominence until his son's trouble prompted him to resign.

Within the death chamber all was in readiness. The chair, a solid structure of oak, would ordinarily have appeared like the chairs seen in scores of libraries throughout the land. In the somberly bare chamber, however, it seemed sinister. Straps dangled from its arms and back and shining steel clamps appeared in the light of the electrics like tentacles outstretched to clasp a victim.

The witnesses were seated, six abreast in an angle of the room. Beattie was then strapped in the chair. The warden raised his hand. Instantly Beattie's body stiffened with such violence that the straps creaked with strains, the clamps rattled as though they were castanets in the hands of death, and then that which once had been Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., relaxed.

The surgeon had gone forward and with a stethoscope had listened for another faint beating of the heart that less than sixty seconds before had lived. He stepped back.

"He is dead."

The witnesses filed out. One or two were ghastly pale as they stepped into the early morning light.

It is the general belief that Beattie died with sealed lips because of his father. There existed a deep affection between the elder Beattie and his wayward son. The father today is a broken man as the result of his son's crime, although he clung to the last to the belief that the son was innocent.

JAIL FOR 3 TAR MEN

Year Each for Clark, Scranton and Fitzwater.

Three members of the Shady Bend (Kan.) "tar party" will serve sentences in jail for their confessed participation in the outrageous attack on Miss Mary Chamberlain, a school teacher.

The three men were told they would have plenty of time to arrange their business affairs before going to jail. Attorney Milliken excepted to the sentence, saying he thought it excessive.

John Schmidt and Sherill Clark, two defendants in the "tar party" case were found guilty by the jury that decided the matter. A verdict of acquittal was returned in the case of A. N. Simms, the third defendant.

FOR NATIONAL HIGHWAY

Good Roads Meeting at Richmond, Va, Favors Cullom's Measure.

At Richmond, Va., Tuesday the post office department's interest in highway improvement was made evident at the good roads congress by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General P. V. De Graw, who came representing Postmaster General Hitchcock. Mr. DeGraw is the active head of the rural free delivery system, whose carriers travel 400,000,000 miles over country roads each year.

Senator Cullom's bill for the construction of seven national highways between Washington, Buffalo, Seattle, San Francisco, San Diego, Austin and Miami will probably receive the unanimous indorsement of the convention.

REFERENDUM INDORSED

Victory for Socialist Element of American Federation of Labor.

At Atlanta, Ga., by a practically unanimous vote, the American Federation of Labor, in convention here, adopted the referendum as the method of electing its officers hereafter.

The resolution which was adopted had been reported back unfavorably by the committee on laws. Only one member of the committee supported it. He is John Walker, president of the United Mine Workers, who presented a minority report and won the convention.

The result is regarded as a signal victory for the Socialistic element in the convention.

LOSES HEAD OVER COIN

Switchman Runs Amuck When He Finds Money Missing.

Durand, Mich., Nov. 24.—The closing of the First Commercial and Savings bank had a bad effect on "Woody" Westgate, a Grand Trunk switchman. Westgate had about $600 in the bank, it is said. He had entrusted to the bank's care an envelope containing several gold coins. He was informed that the envelope had been found, but that the coins were missing. At that, it is declared, "Woody" became violent. The engineer of a C., S. & M. passenger train was chased off his locomotive and the train was twenty minutes late in getting out. Other Durand residents were given a lively time, including A. S. Thomas, proprietor of the Junction house and lunchroom.

"Woody" finally calmed down and returned to his home, where he presently returned to normal.

MURDER CHARGED TO WALTER SAUERBIER

Arrest of the Benton Harbor Baseball Pitcher.

Gilson Crumb of Coloma Dies of Injuries Said to Have Been Inflicted by Sauerbier During "Drunken Man's Row."

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 25.—Gilson Crumb of Coloma is dead here and Walter Sauerbier, baseball pitcher and son of Former Chief of Police Sauerbier, is charged with Crumb's murder.

Crumb died at Mercy hospital following an operation. He was suffering from concussion of the brain. He was hit by Sauerbier and knocked unconscious, never regaining consciousness. A hole at the back of Crumb's head proves, so the police declare, that Sauerbier struck Crumb with some weapon. Sauerbier says he only hit the man with his bare fist and the defense will be that a fractured skull was caused by Crumb falling upon a cement sidewalk.

Crumb was a laborer and leaves a widow and children. Sauerbier is a young man, powerfully built and comes from a well-connected family in St. Joseph. He explains the attack on Crumb by calling it a "drunken man's row."

CASH FOR DEPOSITORS

State Treasurer Announces Final Dividend of Defunct Chelsea Institution.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25.—Announcement was made at the state treasury that the final dividend of the defunct Chelsea Savings bank has been ordered paid from the funds of the bank in the custody of the treasurer. With this action the state will wind up its connection with the affairs of the defunct bank of which Ex-State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier was president, and although the bank had $685,687.79 of the state's money at the time it was closed, every dollar of this amount will be received back.

The bank has paid commercial depositors dividends amounting to 60 per cent of their deposits and savings depositors 81¼ per cent, the total dividends amounting to $796,864. There is still due the state $10,889, but this amount is covered by a surety bond of $25,000 and the personal bond of Mr. Glazier's sureties as state treasurer for $150,000.

POPE ADDS CARDINAL

18 Confirmed—Farley, O'Connell and Falconio Get Red Hats.

At Rome, Italy besides the eighteen new cardinals who were confirmed, the pope selected another, whom he reserved "in pectore" (kept secret), and whose name will be published in a later consistory when the pope wishes that to be done.

Obedient to a summons from Pope Pius X., the cardinals in Rome assembled in a secret consistory and confirmed the papal nomination of the new members in the college of cardinals, the supreme governing body of the Roman Catholic church.

Of those thus honored three are citizens of the United States: Mgr. John M. Farley, archbishop of New York; Mgr. William O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, and Mgr. Falconio, apostolic delegate at Washington.

PRISON CELLS FOR 223 LONDON SUFFRAGETTES

British Women Refuse to Pay Fines in Court.

Terms of Sentence Vary from Two Weeks to One Month—Prisoners Arrested for Making Demonstration in Street.

Unrepentant, defiant London suffragettes to the number of 223, many of whom are apparently still in their teens, appeared in the Bow street police court to answer for their acts of the previous day, and were sentenced to fines or alternative terms of imprisonment varying from a fortnight to a month. The women invariably chose prison instead of a fine.

Counsel for the public prosecutor said, in speaking of the charge, that he could not adequately describe the "disgraceful and discreditable scenes of organized disorder" of which the accused persons were guilty.

From the evidence it is certain that the militant suffragettes acted to carry out a complete plan of campaign. As soon as they were repulsed by the police drawn up in Parliament square they dispersed into small groups and mixed with the crowds.

The program which was announced well beforehand was for the women to assemble at their headquarters in Caxton hall, march to Westminster and make demands from the floor of the house. They gathered at Caxton hall in goodly numbers, but fewer than on previous occasions, and speeches were made vigorously condemning the government's manhood suffrage bill as an insult to woman. Miss Christabel Pankhurst presided over this meeting. Resolutions were adopted demanding renewal of the franchise rights for both sexes.

Then the chosen deputation marched forth to storm the house of commons. A large force of police immediately broke up the procession, the members of which made their way by twos and threes to Parliament square.

The suffragettes, unable to approach in force, could not make a very imposing show. The usual method of securing arrest was for two or three to run up against a solid line of bobbies, who would gently push them back into the laughing crowd. If this course of action was persisted in often enough it would secure an arrest. Three policemen would be brought out from their reserves behind and they would take the suffragettes to the police stations, a mounted policeman making a way for them through the crowd. In this way 223 suffragists, including three men, were taken to the police stations.

There was one new feature, namely, window smashing. This was not done by the "hooligans" in the crowd.

BANKERS IN SESSION

Thirty-Seventh Annual Convention Being Held in New Orleans.

The thirty-seventh annual convention of the American Bankers' association was held in New Orleans. The program included addresses of welcome by Governor Sanders, and R. M. Walmsley, president of the New Orleans clearing house, and a response by former Governor Herrick of Ohio; the annual address of President Watts, and representatives of committees and the executive council.

Addresses of former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and several leading bank authorities rounded out the first day's sessions.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. The Turkey that Disappeared from the Pantry Shelf

When I was a girl about nine years old, I lived in North Dakota. Our family consisted of mother, father and brother, Tom, myself and the hired men. It was about the twenty-third of November or a week before Thanksgiving when my brother, Tom and I, for Tom was fifteen years of age, went hunting When we were in the woods we saw a big beautiful wild turkey.

We went home and set to work the next day making a trap to catch the turkey in. Sunday night we set the trap in the woods. It was more of a cage than a trap because it didn't kill or hurt him. We put plenty of bait into it because we knew the poor fellow would be hungry.

Monday we went to the woods, but we saw no turkey. But we didn't give up hopes. We went back to the house and played and worked. Mamma was now making fruit cakes, mince pies, puddings, bread and all such goodies

Tuesday when we went to look into the cage we were somewhat surprised to see Mr. Turkey in it eating very proudly thinking he had discovered a new house. We laughed with joy at the bold, proud fellow and thought "What would a Thanksgiving be without a turkey?"

We went back to the house and got a wheelbarrow and papa came with us and we got the turkey and proudly wheeled him home and I wondered if he thought, "what would a farm be without a turkey."

Wednesday we had to kill him and Oh! how we dreaded it because he was so big and beautiful. When the axe came down, Tom and I said "Oh" that was all we could say. Mamma dressed it and put it into the oven. That night we took it out and put it in the pantry on the shelf And we went to bed satisfied over our day's work.

Thursday morning or Thanksgiving Day, we got up as the clock struck seven. We got breakfast and called them all to breakfast when mamma said to me, "go and get the turkey dear, but be very careful not to drop it." When I reached the pantry, I looked all around and said to mamma. "Mamma, are you sure you put the turkey in here?" "Why, yes dear can you not find it?" she said in return. "Really it is not here," I replied feeling a little frightened.

By this time they were all in the pantry but Tom, and he stood behind and laughed to himself. We soon discovered it and asked, Tom, where is that turkey if you know you had better tell, "now mind." When "now mind," was said, we knew what it meant and Tom at once consented that he had hidden it to play a joke on us. He got the turkey and mamma put it into the oven.

Then we took out the rich, steaming turkey at dinner time we all ate very heartily and thought of how long ago our first Thanksgiving Day was spent with the Indians and Puritains.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

MARION—A most serious shooting affair occurred at Temple, eight miles south of here. Sheriff Hoggan of Anamosa, Ia., accompanied by Deputy Fred Green of Harrison, drove two and a half miles in the country to arrest A. B. Buffman on the charge of felony and fraud. Buffman invited them in, chatted for a time, then went into an adjoining room His wife followed and shut the door. The officers forced the door open. Buffman warned them back with a shotgun and fired at the officers. Then Green fired two shots, one taking effect in Buffman's shoulder and one in the leg. The officers left Buffman wounded. As they were leaving Buffman came to the door and fired twice, one shot hitting Hoggan above the eye, and lodging back of it. Hoggan will probably lose his sight. Buffman shot six times at the officers.

PORT HURON—When E. F. Law, a well known judge of this city, released Mabel Brown on a probation a few weeks ago after sentencing her escort, William Gilbert, to eighteen months in Jackson, he told her that she might visit relatives in Bay City for a brief time before returning to her Canadian home. She returned to this city from her visit, only to be locked up at the request of the immigration officers who had been on the lookout for her for some time.

LANSING—State Insurance Commissioner Palmer has announced that President H. G. Austin, of the Old Colony Commercial Life Insurance company of Chicago, had paid the penalty assessed against the company of $810 for failure to take out agents' licenses, and the company has been reinstated in Michigan. "The financial condition of the company was not involved in any way," said the commissioner, "and the company is able to take care of all its contracts."

SAGINAW—Railroad Car Distributor Adair of the Pere Marquette announced that the temporary car shortage being experienced just now has much to do with the high cost of potatoes. He says that there are hundreds of bushels in the Thumb district waiting to be moved to the markets During the last week prices in Saginaw have advanced from 75 to 90 cents per bushel wholesale.

PETOSKEY—Because he did not receive any financial redress when he complained of being short-changed, Frank Luellear entered a complaint against Jacob Krusel, proprietor of a soft drink emporium, and Krusel was arraigned in justice court, where he waived examination and was bound over to the circuit court. Luellear alleged that Krusel furnished him with whisky on Nov. 6

IONIA—George Austin, who is a Pere Marquette railroad conductor on trial here for the alleged embezzlement of car fares, was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court. About $300 was the amount involved, but the evidence showed that the company owed Austin and that he held it back pending a settlement, keeping all his cash slips and reports, which he made no effort to conceal

HOLLAND—The United States postal authorities recovered a mail sack which was found floating on Black lake. The string of the sack had been cut and the contents which was newspapers, was soaked. The sack was marked Minnesota and was made up at the local office. The supposition is that the sack was purloined from the station by some one who expected to make a rich haul.

GRAND RAPIDS—Waldo W. Paas, a resident of Alpine, Mich., came here, ordered $24.50 worth of tools in his father's name and then sold them in a local pawnshop. He was given sixty days for securing goods under false pretenses. The fact that he didn't order 51 cents more of goods saved him from a felony charge and a possible five years in state prison.

ULBY—Robert McGregor, prominent physician, and Mrs. Margaret Gibbs, a nurse, were arrested and taken to jail at Bad Axe. It is charged they did not tell all they knew in their testimony at the inquest regarding the deaths of John Wesley Sparling and his three sons. Suspicions of arsenic poisoning have been raised in connection with the four deaths.

PETOSKEY—When a number of neighbors forced their way into the home of Mrs. Mary Coon at Harbor Springs they found her dead in bed, and Coroner Gardner asserted she had been so since Thursday. Her friends had not noticed her about the yard, as had been her daily custom. She lived alone in the house.

HOW ONE TURKEY DISAPPEARED FROM THE PANTRY

One day about a week before Thanksgiving, little Sambo White ran to the station for he had received a letter from his uncle Josh telling that he would send him a large turkey for their Thanksgiving dinner

When the train pulled in Sambo was right up to the express car door and the first thing that came out was a large crate containing a large proud turkey. The first thing Sambo said when the turkey was on the ground was, "I will jes take yer turkey from dat dar crate and put a string round him neck, for he ben very tired of being in dat old crate," After the small rope was placed on the turkey's neck, he strutted down the road toward Sambo's house,

When Sambo arrived home the turkey was put in with the chickens for the next day he was to be killed. When morning came the turkey was placed on a large block and his head chopped off, then the large plump turkey was hanged on a low branch of a pear tree to be picked.

After the turkey was dressed and cleaned Sambo brought it in to be cooked. Sambo's mother was getting old and as she wabbled out to cook the turkey she said, "Dem dar old Johnson boys ben ober here and day wants to see dis turkey." So the three large negro boys were brought in, and if Sambo would have listened he would have heard one of the boys tell the other that he would get that turkey.

When the turkey was cooked and ready for the oven, the old negro woman took it from the kettle and placed it on the pantry shelf. When she left the pantry, she was very sure to lock the door but she did not notice that the window was left open,

That night when Sambo's house was all dark, the two Johnsons came arround the corner of the house they at once saw the open pantry window. The older boy climbed in, grabbed the turkey and handed it to his younger brother. When the older boy came out of the window, they both ran as fast as their legs could carry them to ward home.

The next morning when Sambo got up, the first thing he did was to take a look at that turkey. He looked from the top shelf to the floor but no turkey was to be seen. Sambo screamed and screamed and Mammy at once wanted to know what was wrong. She, too, looked for the missing turkey but it was not be found

Sambo at once mistrusted that those Johnson boys knew where that turkey was. Sambo cut across the fields to Johnson's house and crawled into the open cellar window. Sure enough, there on the table was the stolen turkey The next thing Sambo did was to crawl back through the window and run back home and get his gun which had not been used for twenty years. Sambo hurried back to the cellar and there hid himself behind a large box and said, "Hands up darl you young chilluns! you jes march straight up dem stairs and I will take care of dis turkey."

When the boys got to the top of the stairs their father came out of the house and said, "What does all this mean?" Sanbo told the story and the boys confessed that they took the turkey and for punishment their father said they must go without a Thanksgiving dinner.

Sambo hurried home to with the turkey and it was soon stuffed, baked and on the table. Sambo invited some of his friends and the negroes had a very happy time, but the Johnson boys went without a Thanksgiving dinner.

The History of a Turkey That was Never Caught

"Runaway" lived on a large farm with many other fowls. He was a large, handsome, turkey, for it was near Thanksgiving. One time, "run away" heard Mr. Slocum tell his wife. "I think that turkey will make a fine dinner for us Thanksgiving."

At last Thanksgiving and the time for "Runaway" to be killed came. Mr. Slocum went out into the yard and called his fowls together. All came but "Runaway." Where could he be? Mr. Slocum looked in the barn and all over nearly and could not find the lost turkey. Then he went to the house and told his wife and told his wife and children. They looked on the straw, through the stables and pig-pen. But nowhere could "Runaway" be found.

The next morning when Mr. Slocum went out to feed his fowls, the first one he saw was "Runaway." He looked very innocent as though he did not know about what had happened. But he did, This angered Mr. Slocum so that he decided to sell him.

The next week "run way" was sold to a man and went to live at his new home. This man did not have so many fowls as Mr. Slocum.

At this new home "Runaway", spent about eleven happy months Then a man came one night and carried him away in a sack He did not know what to think of this. So he gobbled as loudly as he could. His gobbling awakened his master and he, wondering what had happened to the turkeys went out to investigate. He saw the man and ran to the house for his gun. Then he pursued the thief. He followed him to a little old house, Then he ran after help and soon they had the thief. "Runaways" master had forgotten about him But the next morning went after him. He found "Runaway" still in the sack. He took him out, but "Runaway" was so weak he could not stand.

His master tried to revive him but failed. Soon afterward poor "Runaway" died. He was buried in a pleasant spot near his masters home He was never forgotten.

SCHOOL NOTES

Class pins for the seniors have arrived and they are now displaying their new purchase.

German II class have started "Der Schwiegersohn", by Baumbach.

Mr Ross, a naval cadet from Annapolis, has been spending some time at the High School visiting the different rooms and interesting boys in a physical training class. Two classes were held at the High School building Wednesday and Thursday evening of last week. He is particularly interested in the Boy Scout movement of America. He also told the boys of the training and dicipline of of a naval battleship. A great deal of interest seemed to be aroused during his stay here and the High School will welcome him again, as he expects to visit here again in about six weeks.

The kindergarden, first, second and third grades of the East Branch proves very fascinating as well as interesting. The work carried on by Miss Caswell is very successful indeed, The work accomplished by the children consists of paper cutting which is very good, and the simple drawings. They are now very busy preparing for Thanksgiving. Miss Harris is now taking the plan of Miss Geddes in the 3rd and 4th grades. In the physiology of the 4th grade they are studying the smallest form of animal life, the microbe learning how these microbes are contained in food and how they must guard against them. The lessons of cleanliness are strongly impressed upon the mind of each child and the teacher has put her teaching in practical use in that each child shall have a clean face and clean hands before he enters the school room One thing that seems to be obvious in each grade and that is the pupils interest and knowledge of the daily newspaper.

Miss Brown, teacher of the fifth grade has a fine record in attendance and tardiness, the following pupils being neither absent or tardy yet this year; Alice Hardenburg, Gladwin Orr, George Baird Harold Blesine, Charley Manley, Lucile Miller. The following have been neither absent or tardy during the month of November; Jay Crane, Percy McNie Jessie French, Howard Cheever, Paul Hoyt, Claude Hill and Mabel Lockwood.

A new pupil Albert Reeves has been transferred from the West to the East branch. The language work is mostly written, and the pupils are required to be posted on magazines to watch progress at the present time.

In geography they are required to read books from the library and give special reports before the class They are interested at the present time in studying the history of the landing of the pilgrims. Aside from all this the room is drilled in military marching which is very helpful.

C,

The English II class have finished the study of "The Vicar of Wakefield and are now going to take up "The Merchant of Venice."

Following the excellent advice given by Mr. Gray in his talk to the High School, the English II class has decided to take a course in spelling not on account of exceptionally poor spelling but because there is room for improvement. The English class has set us a good example.

The only person absent from Miss Lowe's room last week was Harold Kay. He was kept away Friday by illness.

Miss Lowe is trying a new experiment in Modern History. The afternoon class is taking up the study of each county separately which is not the order in the book. She reports the experiment is working successfully They have just completed the English history The morning class is following the plan of the book. They have just finished the study of the Renaissance with outside reports on the great artists and their work.

The freshman held a class party Friday night. The party was held at Miss Croll's house. A good time was furnished by the Crolls. Oyster soup was in abundance. It was a pleasant evening to all who attended.

"THE TRAVELING SALESMAN"

One of the most important theatrical events of the present season will be the appearance of A. S. Stern's production of "The Traveling Salesman" James Forbes' latest comedy success, at the BRADLEY OPERA HOUSE, MONDAY DEC. 11. Like Mr Forbes former success, "The Chorus Lady," this latest product of his facile pen is made for laughable purposes only. It is claimed by the management that it contains at least a thousand laughs and that not a single one of them is in the least shop-worn, but that all are original with Mr Forbes. Many interesting and human types are introduced, chief among which is that great American character, the 'drummer,' protrayed by the original Robt. E. O'Connor.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaints

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any times day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Tecumseh only at our store.—The Rexall Store. B. J. Fuiver.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact. I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United Sates.

Masses of Mussels.

The mussel's natural home is at the bottom of the sea, never in very deep water and yet deep enough to be nearly always covered at any state of the tide. For preference it likes a bed of sand or smooth, fine gravel. To this bed it attaches itself by the ligature-like growth on the shell known as the byssus, and thus, standing on end with its point to the bottom of the sea, it forms itself in a dense mass so closely packed together that not an inch of the sea floor is visible. As new ones come they do not extend the ground space occupied, but range themselves one on top of another in layers, all firmly fixed together by a living cord of connection. In this position they are exposed to many dangers. A heavy storm may break the mass to pieces and disperse its constituents far and wide. An alteration of the tidal current may sweep a sand avalanche upon them and bring about their end by suffocation. Even if they escape these dangers it is certain that bottom layers will be crushed out of existence.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Preserving Spiders' Webs.

Naturalists employ an ingenious method of preserving all kinds of spiders' webs. The webs are first sprayed with an atomizer with a thin solution of artists' shellac, and then, should they be of the ordinary geometric form, they are pressed carefully against a glass plate, the supporting strands at the same time being severed. After the shellac solution has dried the plates carrying the webs can be stored away in a cabinet. Even dome shaped webs may be preserved in their original form by spraying them with shellac and then allowing them to dry before removal from their supports. Many spiders' webs are very beautiful, and all are characteristic of the species to which they belong, so that from a scientific standpoint their permanent preservation is very desirable.

How Flying Fish Fly.

The popular notion that flying fish beat their "wings" is a mistake, if we are to rely upon the results of studies of these fish made by no less an authority than Captain Barett Hamilton. It appears that the wings are not true organs of flight, but rather play the part of a parachute or an aeroplane. The whole motive power is supplied by the tail, which acts as a propeller, and the vibration or quivering of the wings in the air currents and their occasional shift of inclination are not phenomena connected with the propulsion of the fish in its aerial flight.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

GRAND RAPIDS—On account of the pro-rata apportionment of the primary school money this fall, and which abolishes the May apportionment, the Grand Rapids public schools face the situation of closing the present semester several weeks earlier. When their budget was made up this fall it was on a basis of $1 per capital, primary money. It proved to be 50 cents. The May allowance, expected to be $6, will not be forthcoming. This means a $192,569 shortage, the teachers refusing to teach without pay.

IS SHOT; WOUNDS OFFICER

Temple Man Fights When Arrest Is Attempted—May Die.

Marion, Mich., Nov. 24.—A shooting affair occurred at Temple, eight miles south of here. Sheriff Hoggan of Anamosa, Ia., accompanied by Deputy Fred Green of Harrison, drove two and a half miles in the country to arrest A. B. Buffman on the charge of felony and fraud. Buffman invited them in, chatted for a time, then went into an adjoining room. His wife followed and shut the door. The officers forced the door open. Buffman warned them back with a shotgun and fired at the officers. Then Green fired two shots, one taking effect in Buffman's shoulder and one in the leg.

The officers left Buffman seriously wounded. As they were leaving Buffman came to the door and fired twice, one shot hitting Hoggan above the eye, and lodging back of it. Hoggan will probably lose his sight. Buffman shot six times at the officers.

NO EMBEZZLEMENT SHOWN

Ex-Lansing Postal Telegraph Manager Cleared of Charge.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25. — Ray M. Lavalley, former manager of the local office of the Postal Telegraph company, who was arrested in Grand Rapids last week on a charge of embezzling funds of the company while in this city, was discharged in police court upon recommendation of the prosecutor.

There was nothing criminal in Lavalley's management of the local office, it is said, as a settlement had been made when he left, and it was known at that time that there was an apparent shortage. Upon advice of the auditor of the district, however, the matter was allowed to rest until after the accounts had been checked up in the head office of the company, and this has not yet been done.

FIGHTING AT HANKOW

Republicans in Shanghai Claim Great Victory for Their Arms.

Fighting is still going on at Hankow, but the position is not clear. The republicans here claim that they have received dispatches from General Li Yuan Hang, the rebel commander, claiming a great victory on Saturday after two days' fighting. He claims to have driven the imperial troops out of the positions which they recently won. Other dispatches, however, say the fighting has been indecisive except that there has been a slight improvement in the position of the imperial forces.

The rebels began bombarding Nankin after taking the outlying forts.

PACKERS WIN A DELAY

Their Hearing Is Now Set for Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Judge George A. Carpenter of Chicago, in the United States district court, granted the ten indicted Chicago packers a continuance on motion of their counsel. The trial had been set to begin next Monday, but Judge Carpenter continued it until Dec. 6.

Attorneys for the government did not object to the plea for delay.

The court's first decision, later amended, was:

"I see no reason why this case should not go on Monday. It has been delayed long enough. We will begin the examination of jurors at that time, but will not call any witnesses until Dec. 6. And in the meantime the United States supreme court can hand down its decision."

Judge Carpenter then changed this decision, by saying:

"On second thought, I think there will be no hardship to the government, so I will continue the entire proceedings until Dec. 6. This gives the defendants every advantage of the

M'NAMARAS HEAR DOOM TOMORROW

Dynamiters to Be Sentenced on Election Day.

M'MANIGAL'S FATE IN DOUBT

Better Industrial Conditions In Los Angeles Seem Likely to Follow the Case—Hatred and Bitterness May Vanish.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4. — Much more cheerful than they have been for weeks the McNamara brothers, confessed dynamiters, feasted on turkey and ice cream in their cells in the county jail.

While they are now apparently indifferent to the fate that awaits them when they appear for sentence Tuesday, the entire community is awaiting the day with intense excitement. The men are to be sentenced on election day and Job Harriman, one of their attorneys, is the Socialist candidate for mayor.

Meanwhile the citizens' committee is proceeding with its plans to bring about better industrial conditions in this city and abolish, if possible, much of the hatred and bitterness that has been engendered. A meeting will be held and the plans for a joint conference of employers and laborers will be arranged.

The district attorney will make no statement regarding McManigal at this time beyond saying that "he must take his medicine."

It is believed here that McManigal will not be prosecuted at Los Angeles, but will be used as a witness in the federal cases in Indianapolis.

The bribery charges, scheduled for hearing today, have been postponed. These grew out of the alleged efforts of detectives for the defense to bribe prospective jurors.

LABOR CONDEMNS M'NAMARAS

Demand that Law Be Enforced to Its Utmost Extreme.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—The bitterness toward the McNamaras has not subsided in any way from the expressions heard at labor headquarters Friday and Saturday. On every side men demanded that the prisoners pay the extreme penalty of the law and that they be sentenced at once.

Typographical Union No. 174 is the only organization that has taken any concerted and official action since the confession. It met in a special session and adopted a resolution setting its position in the case. The members demand that justice be done and that the law to its utmost extreme be satisfied. Through this resolution they invite a sweeping investigation of the aims and objects of every union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

MORE TO BE ARRESTED

Detective Burns Seeks the Hiding Place of David Kaplin.

Chicago, Dec. 3. — Declaring that more arrests would be made in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case, following the confessions of the McNamara brothers, William J. Burns, head of the Burns National Detective agency, began the marshaling of his men to learn, if possible, the hiding place of David Kaplin, said by the detective to have aided the McNamaras.

Burns also scored Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Eugene V. Debs, the socialist, for their attacks upon him in various labor papers since the arrest of the men responsible for the blowing up of the Times building in Los Angeles, in October, 1910.

PLACE FOR DEFENSE FUND

Proposal to Use It for Relief of Sufferers from Times Explosion.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4. — From many directions come repeatedly the question: "What will be done with the large sum of money collected for the defense of the McNamaras, which has been expended only partially."

Many suggestions were made, the most popular of which, coming simultaneously from several sources, was to divide the remaining portion of the fund among those who were dependent on the unfortunates who lost their lives in the explosion of Oct. 1, 1910.

CONGRESS OPENS AT NOON MONDAY

Complete Strength of Sixty-Second Session Present.

COMPLEXION OF TWO HOUSES

First Day's Session Largely Perfunctory—Speaker Clark Says He Looks for Longest and Busiest Period in Years.

Washington, Dec. 4. — Members of both houses of congress have been arriving for several days and last night practically the complete strength of the Sixty-Second congress was in the city.

At noon today almost 500 senators and representatives assembled in the capitol at the opening of the first regular session of congress that bids fair to go down in history as one of the most strenuous sessions on record. This is the complexion at present of the Sixty-Second congress:

Senate — Republicans, 49; Democrats, 42; vacancy, 1 (Colorado.)

House—Democrats, 227; Republicans, 161; Socialist, 1; Independent, 1; vacancy, 1 (Seventh Kansas district.)

The session today in accordance with precedent, was brief and largely perfunctory.

Both houses appointed committees to call upon the president and notify him that congress is in session. Each branch also appointed another committee to notify the other house that it is in readiness to proceed with legislative business. Two new senators and five new representatives were ready to be sworn.

The capitol was spick and span in readiness for the session. A small army of employes has been at work during the recess repairing and refinishing the two chambers and the host of committee rooms in the main building, and the two immense office buildings.

Congress, after the first formal meeting, will plunge into work.

Speaker Clark has been in Washington several days and has announced that he expects a long session and the busiest in many years. An early caucus of house majority, will be called. The tariff, trust, Panama canal, currency reform and appropriation bills will be conspicuous factors of the session's legislation.

CHICAGO GETS CONVENTIONS

Practically Decided by Both Parties to Meet in City by the Lake.

Washington, Dec. 4.—According to statements made here it has been practically decided that the Republican and Democratic conventions of 1912 shall be held in Chicago. That city is favored for convention purposes by the leaders of both parties.

For a time it was believed the Democrats would meet in Baltimore, but the Baltimore boom seems to have fallen by the wayside. The indications are that the Republicans will decide to meet in Chicago the last week in June and the Democrats early in July.

Her brother, John A. Johnson, testified to the same effect.

Steamer Diamond Is Rent as Boiler Lets Go.

FIVE KILLED AND TWO HURT

Eight Others Are Rescued In Midst of Thick Snowstorm on Ohio River Five Miles Below Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Dec. 4. — Five men, including the master of the vessel, were killed, two were injured and eight were rescued in a thrilling manner when the steamer Diamond was blown to pieces by a boiler explosion in the Ohio river near Davis Island dam, five miles below this city.

Only one body has been recovered—that of a victim who was hurled into a barge that was being towed up stream. The others are lost in the twisted iron and timbers of the vessel, which sank almost immediately in mid-stream. The fact that many members of the crew were asleep above decks prevented all hands from being lost in the disaster, which was one of the worst in the history of the Pittsburg harbor.

Captain Swaney, master of the vessel, was forty-four years old and leaves a widow and eight children. Divers and an army of rivermen are working frantically to locate his body. Both the injured men are expected to die.

The Diamond took a tow of coal boats to East Liverpool on Saturday. She was returning up stream when the disaster occurred. Under a slow head of steam the vessel was preparing to enter the locks at the dam when there came a terrific explosion and the forward part raised high in the waters. Giant timbers of the boat snapped like matchwood and were sent flying out into the river. Almost immediately the Diamond began to sink.

The Alice proceeded at once for midstream and the crew started in lifeboats for the demolished steamboat. High above the decks, almost naked, were eight of the survivors signalling for help. Snow was falling heavily and almost blinded in the men in the smaller boats.

The eight were taken off with much difficulty and the body of James Friel was found in a barge at the stern of the boat.

Train Crew Held for Death.

Ashland, Wis., Dec. 4.—Fred Wilcox, conductor; Andrew McDougal, brakeman, and A. M. Hanson of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway, were arrested on a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree in connection with the death of Carrie Dillon, seven years old.

Collier Rammed by Steamer.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 4. — The United States naval collier Sterling, rammed by the steamer Dorothy, was run ashore near Cape Henry to save her from sinking in deep water and lies almost high and dry.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

Your Neighbors Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. N. G. Harpel, 56 Treat St., Adrian, Mich., writes: "I have been bothered with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble that caused me much inconvenience, and my back ached severely at times and the action of my kidneys was irregular and painful. My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

The world always looks brighter from behind a smile.

Saved His Wife's Life

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr King's New Discovery, and she began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son

People who take to much liberty lose it all sooner or later.

"Best on Earth"

This is the verdict of J. Howell, Tracy, G., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure cure of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foleys Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."

Without opiates or harmful drugs of any kind Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs and cures colds. Do not accept any substitute. All Druggists.

When you trip up, fall forward, and get up farther along.

An Alarm at Night

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y. says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." All Druggists.

Foley's Kidney Pills

Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more. All Druggists.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE TRAVELING SALESMAN"

The Theatregoers of this city will be accorded a real treat when A. S. Stern presents Robert E. O'Conner in "The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' latest comedy at the Bradley Opera House, Monday Dec. 11th.

The story of this laugh producing play revolves around the life of a typical American "drummer" on the road. This character which is followed through four acts of humorous adventure is Bob Blake, interpreted by Robert E. O'Conner, a most capable actor with a well developed sense of humor. The part of the heroine with whom Blake falls in love at first sight, is played by Bess Dunlop, and exceedingly pretty and talented actress.

There are numerous other characters incidental to life in a small western village where the scenes of the play are laid, which are so true to nature that they will be recognized instantly by anyone in the audience who has ever spent a day in a small town. There are no job-lots of shop-worn jokes in "The Traveling Salesman; everything is right up to the minute. The scene in the second act disclosing a poker game in progress in one of the rooms of the small town hotel, is worth many times the price of an orchestra seat.

Hunting In Russia.

Nearly all the dogs used in hunting wild animals in Russia not only attack but endeavor to devour their quarry. With the borzoi and gontscho it is entirely different. At an early age they are put into training with old and experienced dogs, so that they soon learn how to properly attack their adversary. They are slipped three at a time after a single wolf. When one of the dogs gets nearly side by side with the wolf he makes one bold spurt and with the fore shoulder strikes the wolf so that he is knocked over or else grips him by the neck. Each of the other dogs, coming up, strikes the quarry in the same manner as he tries to rise, finally pinning him to the earth, so engaging him until the hunter arrives. The sportsman then either kills the animal or takes him alive, the latter being much more exciting.—Wide World.

BAD ACCIDENT

Quite a serious accident occurred at the new Macaroni Factory last Friday afternoon when Jack Mathews of Battle Creek fell from a scaffolding some 20 feet from the ground. He was wheeling a barrel of grout and in some way tripped on the end of a plank

He sustained severe injuries, a badly bruised hip and a sprained wrist being the most painful. He was taken to his boarding place in the ambulance and Dr. Briegel was called who rendered the necessary aid for his comfort. The wonder is that he was not killed.

A BEAUTIFUL SERVICE

A nice audience listened to a very high-class service at the Methodist church on Sunday evening. Mr. Kennedy was at his best and delivered a sermon in sections interspersed with parts of the musical program. His theme was "the mysterious power of Personality" and was founded upon the failure of Samson. "He wist not that God had departed from him." Two beautiful anthems, "Sun of my Soul" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" were well rendered by the choir.

The cornet solo by Mr. Lester Collier was well done. A violin solo by Archie Boyd was fine for so young a musician. He is one of the pupils of Mr. Dualne Service. A tenor solo was well delivered by Mr. John Pennington as was also the contralto by Miss Mary Kreidler.

The charming Sacred Ballad given by Mrs. D. D. MacAlpine made a great impression on the audience. Altogether it was one of the most artistic programs which Mr. Kennedy, the director of the music has yet given us.

Next Sunday, Mr. Fenn the new County Y. M. C. A. Secretary, who is a singer of repute, will deliver a solo at both morning and evening services.

OSCAR P. BILLS

Word was received here Saturday of the sudden death of O. P. Bills in Philidelphia where he was engaged in business. As yet no particulars have been received. Mr. Bills was calling on friends in Tecumseh and seemed in the best of health and spirits.

Oscar Bills was born in Tecumseh and spent his early years on his fathers farm and in our schools. He was bright and ambitious and fond of study his father being of great help to him in his pursuit for learning.

In 1861 he entered the Literary Dept. of the U. of M, and graduated four years latter. On his return home he entered the bank with his father and remained sometime. After this he went west, crossing the Mississippi into the Indian Territory engaging in the business of trader with the Indians operating a cattle ranch He also engaged in the mining business in Missouri. Returning to Michigan he engaged in the banking business in Ithica in the well known firm of Church, Bills & Co. At the death of his father, he returned to Tecumseh. He started a new bank, became largely interested in the institution. As the years passed on he engaged in different pursuits and finally settled in Philidelphia where he died Dec. 3, 1911 at the age of 68 years.

His many friends in Tecumseh will regret his sudden taking away and cherish the memory of his last visit.

Woman, the Diplomat.

Herbert Spencer insinuates in one of his sociological works that the indirection, the coquetry, the finesse—nay, all the arts which we find so adorable in women—are modified forms of hypocrisy. Before the advent of civilization woman had in pure self defense to practice an elaborate deception. In order to please her brutal lord and secure predominance among dangerous rivals she had to disguise her natural sentiments and return caresses for blows and smiles for discourtesy. As she could not accomplish her purpose by force, she became an expert in domestic diplomacy. The craftier, the more guileful she was the better were her chances of survival. And thus it has come to pass that, though the necessity for intricate behavior is now much lessened, women practice today, in a more elusive and refined way, the arts which the instinct of self preservation imposed upon their barbarous ancestresses. H. H. Boyesen in "Literary and Social Silhouettes."

Peru's Garden of the Gods.

"In the Andes, half a thousand feet higher than Pike's peak, is to be found the Peruvian Garden of the Gods, admired by every traveler fortunate enough to visit it," writes William V. Alford, F. R. G. S., in the Century. "It is locally called the Rock forest, though in no sense of the word is it a forest. It simply resembles one when viewed at a distance of ten miles. The traveler may be forgiven the error of thinking it a forest as he sees it for the first time and forgets that he is no longer where trees grow, but within half an hour's ride of the highest city in the world, Cerro de Pasco, perched like a condor on the high peaks of the Andes.

"The Garden of the Gods in Colorado boasts of a few spectacular rocks, but they are few in number, and the area which they cover is not large. The Andean garden covers nearly a hundred times the ground and in beauty and interest surpasses its northern counterpart in the same ratio."

Sticking to It.

Magistrate—Now can you describe the horse in question? How big was it, for instance? Witness—It was sixteen feet, y'r honor. Magistrate—Come, come! Remember you are on your oath! Don't you mean sixteen hands? Witness—Indeed, thin, it was hands I meant. And did I say feet, y'r honor? Ah, well, I'm on my oath, so we'll let it stand. Sure, thin, it was sixteen feet, y'r honor.—London Punch.

Proved His Case.

Mother—The whipping you had yesterday does not seem to have improved you. Your behavior has been even worse today. Willie—That's what I wanted to prove. You said I was as bad as I possibly could be yesterday. I knew you were wrong.

ANOTHER ECHO FROM THE PAST

Tecumseh, Mich. Nov. 24, 1911
Editor Herald,
Dear Mrs. Stacy—

Arthur Crossman's letter in the Herald a few weeks ago interested me very much and when I read LeRoy Blood's letter of last week, it seemed to me a call to every Tecumseh boy of "auld lang syne" who still delighted in memories of his boyhood days to stand up and be counted, and here I am now saying "present" as heartily as I ever responded to Prof. Lawton's roll call.

I am going back into the fifties when LeRoy Blood, Charley Brewer, George Gulon, DeLos LeBaron, Sam Kneeland, Oscar Bills, Lamont Bidwell, Charlie Hewitt, Billy Patterson George Brewer and a long list of others were attending school at the so called "university". I was always loyal to Tecumseh. I can remember when I thought Mrs Bissell made the best ambrotypes in the United States and tell me, was there ever a man who could ever repair a shot gun or rifle as well as Jerry Allen? or cut such flowers and inscriptions on a tombstone as Fred Emerson? Did Ole Bull or Wilhunj ever coax such strains from a violin as could Eri Button? Did ever man do such work with his voice as "Uncle Sim" Davidson at a "raising bee" or an auction? Neither William J. Bryan and Col. Roosevelt could hold a candle to him. Was there anywhere a more musical family than the Conklins or in any church a choir the equal of the one that sang in the old Presbyterian church or such a sweet tenor singer as Stoughton Strong or a bigger double base-viol than DeLos LeBaron?

Were people ever knolled to church by a sweeter toned bell than that at the old steeple? Was ever such a dignified school room as that in the old court house? I trow not, and I have never tasted since such sweet cider as was made at Blood's cider mill, nor such delectable ice cream as Alfred and Joe James used to sell.

In those days Tecumseh was as typical a New England village as if it slept upon the banks of the Connecticut river instead of the Raisin. Its very architecture, as some of the old houses still testify, was of the New England type and every family excepting James Brace from England and David James from Ireland was American born and what a number of the families there were, the Adams, Bills, Bafters, Bidwells, Howlands Tribous, LeBarons, Stacys, Wrights, Woods, Andersons, Brewers, Lilleys, Hewitts, Satterthwaites, Drews, Pattersons, Hamiltons and this is but a beginning of the list,

No New England or any other village had a more skillful physician than Dr. Patterson or a more faithful minister than Mr. Nichols or a wiser counselor than Mr. Bills. Where was there such a laughing philosopher as Ben Baxter and such a helpful kindly man as Moses Wright, or one that had so many friends? And where in all the world was there so large a proportion of nice women, God fearing mothers, faithful wives and good housekeepers? Most of them did their own work but they dignified that work and their homes were neat and beautiful. And there were girls rare girls. It would not do to mention names even now, but the sun never shown upon fairer faces or more attractive ones, nor were young people ever happier or more contented or enthralled with the joy of living than were the boys and girls of the village.

Now all this will be of no interest to most of your readers, but I think there will be some to whose minds it will bring pleasant memories. I do not at all disparage madam Tecumseh for I know from recent visits that it was never so well kept, so thrifty and so attractive as today but I wanted to go back in memory a few minutes with some of the old friends who may remain and be a boy again in my birthplace.

With kind regards
Sincerely Yours
Geo. L. Graves

Can there be any stronger offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact. I felt like a different person. I have since recomended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

The Vegetable Lamb.

One of the most remarkable natural fetishes in the world is the Chinese kouchi, called by some people "the vegetable lamb." It is regarded by the natives of China as something supernatural. They believe it to be part vegetable and part animal. The plant certainly bears a resemblance to an animal, although it might be taken for a pig as readily as a lamb. Kouchi is composed principally of the plant known as rhizome and springs from seed. After attaining its full height roots and tendrils spring from the fiber and grow downward until they enter the earth. It is this peculiar formation which has caused it to be regarded with so much awe. The Chinese claim that after it has reached its full size it ceases to be vegetable and turns animal, feeding upon the tender shoots of plants which grow near it.—Wairarapa Times.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

CREEL AS OIL PRESIDENT

Elevation May Be Because Lord Cowdry Has Disposed of Interests.

Tampico, Mex., Dec. 4.—Announcement which has just been made here of the election of Enrique C. Creel, former Mexican ambassador to the United States, as president of the Mexican Eagle Oil company, gives rise to the report that Lord Cowdry has disposed of his extensive oil interests in that company to Mr. Creel and associates, who are closely affiliated with the Standard Oil company.

ENRIQUE C. CREEL.

The Mexican Eagle Oil company, which was formed three years ago by Lord Cowdry or Pearson interests, has been waging a hard fight against the Waters-Pierce Oil company for control of the refined oil trade in Mexico.

A Submerged Crater.

During the explosion of the volcano of Krakatoa, in the strait of Sunda, in 1883, a large part of the island of Krakatoa was blown away, and the sea took its place. Not long afterward measurements were made of the shape and depth of the cavity left covered with water at the northern end of the disrupted island. The results were published by Dr. Verbeek in 1886. Lately Dr. Von Bemmelen has remeasured the submerged basin formed by the explosion, and he finds that within the partial ring formed by the three remaining islands of the Krakatoa group there is a central basin, oval in shape and with a fairly level floor, having a depth over a considerable area of 820 feet. Comparison with the former measures indicates that there has been no change in the sea floor during the intervening years. There is no sign of volcanic activity.

LORIMER INQUIRY AGAIN

Witnesses for Illinois Senator's Side Subpoenaed.

General Desire Manifested for an Early Decision Regarding Right to Seat—Stephenson Affair.

Washington, Dec. 4.—In compliance with the request of Senator Lorimer the senate committee which is investigating his right to continue in the United States senate issued subpoenas for some twenty witnesses.

The committee will assemble at the capitol at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Lorimer is expected to be here Tuesday morning. Most of the witnesses summoned are those who testified either before the first senate investigating committee or during the trial of Lee O'Neill Browne. Only one member of the legislature is said to be in the Lorimer list. This is Representative Johnston Lawrence, who appeared before the committee in Chicago.

Information has reached the senate, which may or may not be correct, that Mr. Lorimer does not want a report by the committee in his case until after the primaries next April. It is not the intention of numerous senators to permit the decision in this matter to be influenced by considerations of home politics. They want the matter disposed of as promptly as is consistent with a thorough investigation, which includes, of course, ample opportunity for Mr. Lorimer to produce witnesses able to testify to pertinent facts.

The Stephenson case will be out of the way perhaps before the Christmas holidays and certainly by the end of January. The committee which investigated charges of bribery in connection with the Wisconsin senator met and discussed the character of the report which will be submitted to the senate.

It is generally conceded that the charge of bribery has not been established. Thus Mr. Stephenson's retention of his seat is assured.

MRS. PATTERSON COMING

Stood in Danger of Arrest for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 4.—Gertrude Gibson Patterson is on the way to her old home at Sandoval, Ill. She said she is bitterly resentful against the people here and will never return to Denver.

When Mrs. Patterson boarded a Burlington train for St. Louis she was accompanied by her mother, her father, her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Farnham, J. J. Hopper, a detective, and her brother, Charles Gibson.

Police authorities said that had not Mrs. Patterson left Denver when she did she would have been arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, which she did on the morning of the homicide, Sept. 25.

AT GATE OF TEHERAN

Russian Advance Guard at Capital of Persia.

Regiment of Cossacks Sent In Ostensibly to Guard Russian Legation.

Teheran, Dec. 4.—Russia's advance guard has arrived here. A company of Cossacks, ostensibly to protect the Russian legation, came in without any previous warning.

Paris, Dec. 4.—Commenting on the situation in Persia the Temps says the occupation of Russian troops will not only imperil Persia's independence, but will severely test the Anglo-Russian agreement of 1907 in regard to the spheres of influence of these governments in that country.

This is owing to the fact that a neutral zone, under the agreement, was left between the two spheres of influence and it will be difficult to dispose of this territory without arousing friction. It will take a little while for the Russians to reach Teheran and the Temps advises Persia to employ this time in reaching an equitable compromise.

The paper insists that Persia should dismiss Mr. Shuster, the American treasurer general, whom it calls "This American financier who with the haughty blindness of will of a business man is disdainful of politics and history and has disturbed Russian proteges and embarrassed England by employing Englishmen in Russian spheres of influence."

POPE'S SWEEPING DECREE

Prohibits Prosecution of Any Ecclesiastic in a Civil Court.

St. Louis, Dec. 4.—A decree issued by Pope Pius, which, under pain of excommunication, prohibits the prosecution of a priest, bishop or any ecclesiastic in a civil court, was received here.

Father D. S. Phelan, a Catholic editor, believes the decree is the result of the spectacular litigation between the late Bishop Bonacum and the late Father Murphy of Nebraska. All church disputes, the decree says, must be tried before the courts of the church. A former decree had exempted bishops, but priests were not included.

HALTS PAIR AT ALTAR

Boast of Groom Causes a Wisconsin Judge to Force Delay.

Manitowoc, Wis., Dec. 4.—Because the court was told that the young man had boasted that he would win a bride in half an hour, Probate Judge Chloupe halted the wedding of Thomas Wyer of Saskatchewan, Canada, and Miss Ethel Woods of Chicago, who have been making their home here recently.

The couple will be forced to wait the five days under the license law before marrying. The wedding was stopped at the altar when the groom was denied the permit granting him right to wed at once.

Some Shakespeare Statistics.

A Shakespearean enthusiast with a turn for statistics has discovered that the plays contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words. "Hamlet" is the longest play, with 3,930 lines, and the "Comedy of Errors" the shortest, with 1,777 lines. Altogether the plays contain 1,277 characters, of which 157 are females. The longest part is that of Hamlet, who has 11,610 words to deliver. The part with the longest word in it is that of Costard in "Love's Labor's Lost," who tells Moth that he is "not so long by the head as honorificabilitudinitatibus."

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol

New Haven, Conn.—"I was troubled with a most persistent chronic cough for a long time and had tried so many remedies and prescriptions without benefit that I was discouraged. I was persuaded by my friends to try Vinol. After taking the second bottle, my cough left me, and I must say I never felt better in my life. I can also recommend Vinol to any one in a run-down condition as the best possible remedy."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

NATIONAL SOLONS ARE AT WORK AGAIN

Congress Assembles for Its Winter Session.

Demand for Further Regulation of the Trusts—Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois Has Much Work Planned.

Important legislation will be the product of the Sixty-Second congress at its winter session, just opened.

Republican and Democratic leaders agree as to the necessity of legislation covering a number of important subjects and say that the only possibility of failure of achievement lies in a disagreement over details.

For example, the demand for further regulation of the trusts is unanimous, but the Democrats and many of the progressives want to amend the Sherman law, while the administration Republicans merely wish to supplement it with federal incorporation and other legislation.

Senator Cullom of Illinois has mapped out an extensive program for consideration, including trust legislation, the tariff, finance, conservation, and other matters of an internal character, and ratification of the peace treaties with Great Britain and France, and the loan treaties with Nicaragua and Honduras.

Senator Cullom is chairman of the steering committee of the senate, which will determine upon the program of legislation as well as chairman of the Republican caucus and the committee of foreign relations, and is the ranking member of the committee on finance and interstate commerce. Consequently he is in a position to weild large influence upon the questions which will be considered.

Just at noon almost 500 senators and representatives assembled in the capitol at the opening of the first regular session of congress that bids fair to go down in history as one of the most strenuous sessions on record. This is the complexion at present of the Sixty-Second congress:

Senate — Republicans, 49; Democrats, 42; vacancy, 1 (Colorado.)

House—Democrats, 227; Republicans, 161; Socialist, 1; Independent, 1; vacancy, 1 (Seventh Kansas district.)

Chief interest in the house of representatives centered in the speech of Representative Martin W. Littleton of New York, denouncing Henry B. Martin, secretary of the Anti-trust league, whom he said had circulated falsehoods concerning his attitude on the steel trust committee. Mr. Martin accused Mr. Littleton of being a "trust ally."

Both houses appointed committees to call upon the president and notify him that congress is in session. Each branch also appointed another committee to notify the other house that it is in readiness to proceed with legislative business. Two new senators and five new representatives were ready to be sworn.

The capitol was spick and span in readiness for the session. A small army of employes has been at work during the recess repairing and refinishing the two chambers and the host of committee rooms in the main building, and the two immense office buildings.

Congress, after the first formal meeting, will plunge into work.

Speaker Clark has been in Washington several days and has announced that he expects a long session and the busiest in many years. An early caucus of house majority will be called. The tariff, trust, Panama canal, currency reform and appropriation bills will be conspicuous factors of the session's legislation.

Russia ordered troops concentrated at Resht, capital of the Persian province of Ghilan, sixteen miles from Enzeli, on the Caspian sea, to advance on Teheran.

At Teheran, Persia, Friday, Ala-ed-Dowleh, brother of the former Persian minister at Berlin, was assassinated in front of his residence.

Ala-ed-Dowleh had been promoting an accord with the government and the ex-shah which is reported to be desired by Russia. His brother was involved in the controversy concerning W. Morgan Shuster, American treasurer general of Persia, whose dismissal has been demanded by Russia. The assassination is a sign of the growing bitterness among the people.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Taft Comes Out As the Champion of the Sherman Law.

President Taft's third annual message to congress, devoted exclusively to the Sherman antitrust act and the trust question in general, was read in congress.

The president defended the Sherman act as interpreted by the supreme court of the United States, indicated plainly his opposition to the repeal or amendment of this statute, but suggested that congress pass a federal incorporation law and supplemental legislation that "would describe and denounce methods of competition that are unfair."

To supervise corporations chartered under federal law, President Taft proposed the formation of an executive bureau, or commission, with powers akin to those of the interstate commerce commission.

Speaking of the dissolution of the tobacco trust, the president declared that in his opinion "not in the history of the American law has a decree more effective for such a purpose been entered by a court."

The supplement legislation the president desires is explained in a paragraph: "The attempt and purpose to suppress a competitor by underselling him at a price so unprofitable as to drive him out of business, or the making of exclusive contracts with customers under which they are required to give up associations with other manufacturers and numerous kindred methods of stifling competition and effecting monopoly should be described with sufficient accuracy in a criminal statute on the one hand to enable the government to shorten its task by prosecuting single misdemeanors instead of an entire conspiracy, and on the other hand, to serve the purpose of pointing out more in detail to the business community what must be avoided."

The president warns business men that the Sherman law is aimed at only dishonest methods. He demands a federal incorporation law; proposes a commission to help courts dissolve trusts and recreate the parts into legal concerns and warns against Socialism.

SALOONISTS FIGHT VERDICT

Ten Seek New Trial of Case Won by Houghton Woman.

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 5.—Judge A. T. Streeter in Houghton county circuit court has taken under advisement the motion of counsel for the ten saloonkeepers, defendants in the damage suit of Mrs. Gustave Rauhala, for a new trial.

A circuit court jury two weeks ago returned a verdict awarding Mrs. Rauhala $5,000 damages to compensate her for loss and suffering due to the inebriacy of her husband. The suit was based on the allegation that the saloonkeepers continued to sell liquor to Rauhala after Mrs. Rauhala had served them with notice to refuse him drink.

Carton has two Hollanders on their way to Michigan from New York as the first of what it is hoped will be a large force of farm hands secured for Michigan farms from among the immigrants coming to this country from the agricultural sections of Europe.

These two were secured through the aid of the authorities in New York, and the commissioner will hold a conference with a number of prominent grangers to complete plans for organizing a bureau in New York to induce the right class of immigrants to come to Michigan and relieve the shortage of farm help. Who will get the first two Dutchmen has not been decided.

SAID BOTH BOYS WOULD DIE

That Was Statement of Dr. McGregor Last August, Declares J. Sparling.

Bad Axe, Mich., Dec. 2.—The latest development in the Sparling poisoning case at Ubly is a statement made by John Sparling of Ubly, uncle of the dead John Wesley Sparling, that Cyril Sparling, the last boy to die, told him his mother compelled him to take Dr. McGregor's medicine when he did not want to take it and was afraid to take it. He also said that Cyril came to him crying and asked what he should do.

"Roy is about all in and I will go too if something is not done," is what John claims Cyril said.

Roy is still living. John Sparling also said, and was corroborated by Jacob Sparling, another cousin, that Dr. McGregor said to them last August, when Cyril became sick, that both of the boys, Cyril and Roy, were going to die and nothing could prevent it. John says that he then asked the doctor what ailed the boys, getting the reply that he (McGregor) did not know, but both of them would die.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

To the surprise of many who heard the testimony in the examination held in the case of the People vs William E Barrett and Horace L. Barrett The Prosecutor insisted upon the defendants being held for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court of this county.

All the proof offered by the Prosecutor was at the time the officers visited the hotel with the search and seizure warrant they found two cases of beer being used as part of a chicken supper by a party of about a dozen gentlemen, from among Tecumseh's active and substantial business men; a lot of empty whiskey and beer bottles found in the different guest rooms of the hotel; three unopened beer bottles found in the kitchen and which belonged to the cook, together with the fact that the proprietors of the hotel had a Government Revenue License for the current year and for the year preceding.

It seems that the finding of the empty bottles would be no evidence under the law as construed by the courts, of a violation of the Local Option Law. In explanation of their presence in the hotel, however, it is due to the defendants to say, that most of these bottles were found in private rooms of regular boarders of the hotel and belonged to these roomers, and it being a fact that their rooms, under the law, are their homes The few other bottles were found in rooms occupied by transients It is a daily occurance for the chamber-maid in making up the rooms of transients to find one or more whiskey bottles that had been left behind. These are brought down by her to the office and from there they are stored in barrels and boxes with other rubbish from the hotel.

The presence of the two cases of beer was shown by the testimony to have belonged to the guests who were at the chicken supper, and that it had neither been procured, carried into the house or served by anyone connected with the hotel It also appeared by the testimony that the only connection that any of the hotel people had with the chicken supper was the cooking of the chickens and the furnishing of the room in which the supper was held, the supper having been gotten up by members of the party. The same was proven to be true of two other parties which had been held at the hotel last winter. Proof also showed that before any of these suppers had been held in the house that Mr. Vern Barrett had consulted his attorney, Mr. Garland Gillespie, and had been advised by him that he would not violate the law so long as the guests furnished their own beer and so long as he did not par participate further than to furnish the room and do the cooking. Mr. Barrett had also sought the advice of the Prosecutor had had a letter from him saying his office wanted to be fair in all such matters and for him to act on the advice of his attorney.

The existence of the government license was fully explained in the proof. When Mr. Sly the Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue advised them very strongly to take out the license, It seems that taking out a government license is not uncommon among soft drink dealers.

The law makes the finding of intoxicating liquors in a public place and the having and keeping posted a government license for the sale of intoxicating liquors only prima facie evidence of a violation of the liquor law. Prima facie evidence is not conclusive but merely stands until explained The testimony given by the defense was in no way contradicted.

No Tecumseh people appeared connected with the prosecution and the complaint was made by the Sheriff, supposedly on the order of the Prosecutor. It seems a little strange that the Adrian officers should be so solicitous for the observance of "law and order" in Tecumseh, and so vigorously insist upon trying a case that seems as weak as this one, especially when if we are informed, the "raffle", or lottery of an automobile is being vigorovsly advertised in the city of Adrian and if it is true, as we are informed, that a big "keno" game was lately held in some Adrian Club Rooms as a means of raffling off a lot of turkeys, without apparently disturbing the morals of that good city, or attracting the attention of any of the officials.

Margaret McClue is back at school again after a prolonged absence due to illness.

The Senior German class is reading "Der Schuregersohn" (The Son-in-law.)

Geometry X class is to have a test Friday

The Freshmen have a class party Friday night at Jason Mead's.

German I and II classes are learning some German Christmas songs. They had their first rehearsal Tuesday afternoon: they sang lustily and the effect was more than could be desired.

Agnes McIntyre of Miss Leeson's room has been absent this week on account of ill health

English II and III classes are writing Christmas songs.

The Cicero class has finished the second oration against Cataline and are reviewing preparatory to a test. They have been very much interested in drawing comparisons between the Catilinarian conspiracy of 63 B. C. and the Los Angeles dynamiting case of the present day. They have found many points to indicate that Catiline was long ago, a social anarchist although the present day weapon—dynamite—was unknown to him and his colleagues.

The meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club of last Monday evening was an exceptionally fine one and the pleasant parlors of F. J. Temple and wife were well filled with the guests. Mrs. Albert Waring gave a fine paper on Madonna's illustrated by a reflectroscope which gave an added interest to her theme.

$1250 PROCEEDS OF FAIR HELD IN MANCHESTER FOR THE NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH

Entertainment Wednesday Evening Given by the Philomel Quartette of Tecumseh Under Charge of Mrs. Thos. McCann.

Last week was one of great interest in Manchester when a fair was in progress for the benefit of the new Catholic church. Special entertainment for each evening was provided by ladies who were interested in the cause Monday, Thursday and Saturday were by Manchester talent; Tuesday Brooklyn and Friday Freedom.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Thomas McCann of Tecumseh had charge. This was pronounced the banner night. The quartette from Tecumseh. Mesdames Moore, McAlpine, Ruthruff and Miss Metta McKinney were received with great enthusiasm and they were called back three times Manchester fully appreciating the good things that were presented.

The Tecumseh ladies were delighted with the cordiality shown them and happy that they could help to contribute to the church fund.

A most pleasing feature of the evening was the clog dancing by Wyley and Harold McCann, these little folks doing themselves proud and were heartily encored.

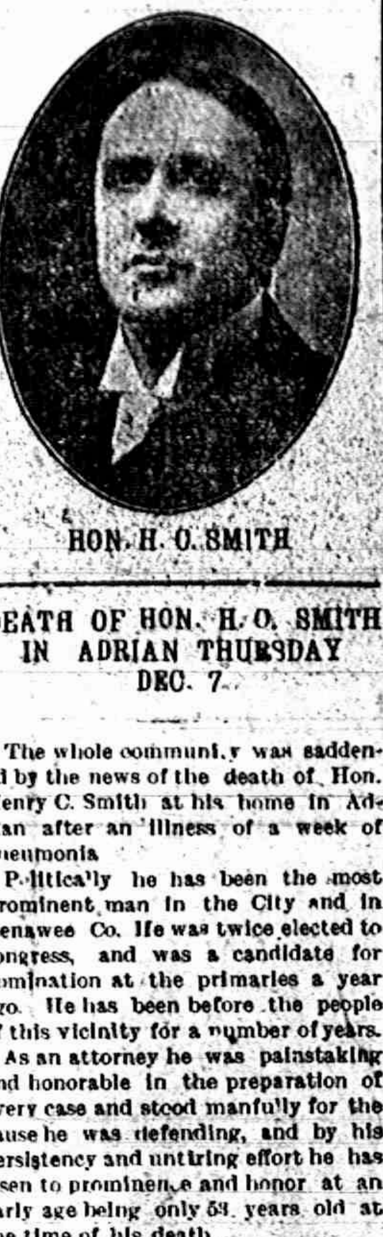
Surely no place of its size could show a better financial report than this, the fair and entertainments netting the magnificent sum of $1250.

Tecumseh was represnted by Mesdames McAlpine, Thos. McCann, Jas. McCann, Moore, Ruthruff, F. Ager, O. Palmer and Metta McKinney with Wiley and Harold McCann.

'THE TRAVELING SALESMAN"

The Theatregoers of this city will be accorded a real treat when A. S. Stern presents Robert E. O'Conner in "The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' latest comedy at the Bradley Opera House, Monday Dec. 11th.

The story of this laugh producing play revolves around the life of a typical American "drummer" on the road, This character which is followed through four acts of humorous adventure is Bob Blake, interpreted by Robert E. O'Conner, a most capable actor with a well developed sense of humor. The part of the heroine with whom Blake falls in love at first sight, is played by Bess Dunlop, and exceedingly pretty and talented actress. There are numerous other characters incidental to life in a small western village where the scenes of the play are laid, which are so true to nature that they will be recognized instantly by anyone in the audience who has ever spent a day in a small town. There are no job-lots of shop-worn jokes in "The Traveling Salesman; everything is right up to the minute. The scene in the second act disclosing a poker game in progress in one of the rooms of the small town hotel, is worth many times the price of an orchestra seat.



HON. H. O. SMITH

DEATH OF HON. H. O. SMITH IN ADRIAN THURSDAY DEC. 7.

The whole community was saddened by the news of the death of Hon. Henry C. Smith at his home in Adrian after an illness of a week of pneumonia Politically he has been the most prominent man in the City and in Lenawee Co. He was twice elected to congress, and was a candidate for nomination at the primaries a year ago. He has been before the people of this vicinity for a number of years.

As an attorney he was painstaking and honorable in the preparation of every case and stood manfully for the cause he was defending, and by his persistency and untiring effort he has risen to prominence and honor at an early age being only 53 years old at the time of his death.

Among his friends and those near and dear he was one of the most lovable men and was esteemed most highly by the rich and poor alike. Adloses a noble man, and the community suffers a great loss.

He leaves a wife and two children.

Obituary.

In the death of Benjamin F. DePuy which occured Thursday morning, November 23, 1911, this community has lost one of its best, most upright, and commendable men. The world is better for the living of such men as he, and their loss seems the greater when they are gone.

His personality was a benediction his perfect trust when meeting the perplexities of life, the steady pursuit of duty moment by moment if the way was dark, was a rebuke to those, who are ready to murmur. His mentality was of high order; his judgement unquestionable.

Mr DePuy was born in Nunda, Livingston county, New York, February 25, 1841, he came with his parents to Michigan when a lad of eleven years of age and settled on the farm which has since been his home.

November 28, 1866, he was united in marriage to Elizabeth Bramble, she dying March 12, 1868 leaving no children. His home for a time was broken up.

August 7, 1872, he was married to Almeda Spalding This union was sundered by his death and in her loneliness the widow with their only daughter Fern are left to walk life's darkened pathway. Rev. F. O. Jones spoke words of comfort and encouragement to the afflicted family.

The remains were laid to rest in the Ridgeway cemetery.

A WORD ABOUT WORMS

Don't feed the worms, Ninety per cent of your stock have them.

Worms like buzzards are found where their is decay. The food upon which they flourish is the slimy product of undigested food in the stomach and intestines of stock affected with indigestion. The ingredients we have united with salt are especially adapted to stimulate the digestive organs, sweeten the stomach and bowels, neutralize foul gases and deal a death blow to the worms.

Thousands of worm eggs are expelled with the excrement of animals affected with worms, which are then taken up with the feed and water and hatched during process of digestion. If Dr. Holland's Medicated Stock Salt is fed as directed it is ready at all times to deal death to the enemy, and this is the only successful way it can be done.

DR. HOLLAND'S MEDICATED STOCK SALT prevents disease because it is a powerful antiseptic and relieves indigestion. An animal suffering from indigestion is deficient in qunatity or bloods which also is poor in quality, and, like the contents of the stomach and intestines. if food for the germs of disease.

SHEEP are infested with over twenty kinds of worms: The Medicated Salt will destroy those worms,

HORSES are troubled with several kinds of worms. A wormy horse is a dejected, rough coated, unsightly animal,

HOGS are infested with several kinds of worms that cause various disorders and much disturbance in the stomach and intestines, and seriously retard their development,

Ordinarily worm powders are drastic in their action, hard to administer and in many cases very detrimental to stock, often raquring fasting which still futher debilitates the animal,

DR, HOLLAND'S MEDICATED STOCK SALT is not only a worm destroyer, but a tonic and conditioner.

There Are Hundreds of Tecumseh People Similiarly Situated

Can there be any stronger offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recomended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

Greatness and the Chain.

No man can be a great officer who is not infinitely patient of details, for an army is an aggregation of details, a defect in any one of which may destroy or impair the whole. It is a chain of innumerable links, but the whole chain is no stronger than its weakest link.—George S. Hilliard: "The Life and Campaigns of George B. McClellan."

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Montiecllo, Ill.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures those weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head!

M'NAMARAS PLEAD GUILTY OF CRIME

Action Comes Suddenly in the Los Angeles Court.

James B. McNamara Admits Responsibility for the Times Building Explosion and John J. for the Iron Works Affair.

James B. McNamara was sentenced by Judge Bordwell at Los Angeles, Cal. to life imprisonment and John J. McNamara to fifteen years.

A plea of guilty of the murder of Charles Haggerty by dynamiting was made by James B. McNamara at Los Angeles, Cal.

John J. McNamara entered a plea of guilty to the charge of dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron works.

Both men withdrew previous pleas of not guilty.

Judge Bordwell came into court and as was his custom he announced the case: "The people of the state of California vs. J. B. McNamara charged with murder. Defendant in court. Are you ready to proceed, gentlemen?"

Lecompte Davis, of counsel for the defense, arose from his chair as the judge finished his statement. He said:

"After long consideration, if it pleases your honor, and after consulting with counsel in this case, we have come to the conclusion that we shall enter a plea of guilty."

There was a stir in the court room as Mr. Davis finished his brief statement.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, said:

"I have saved a human life out of the wreckage I hope. I do not believe that the judge will sentence him to death. His life is the best that I can expect. For six months I have carried a terrible burden. We have sought every possible loophole and have tried our best to grope our way out of the maze, but about two weeks ago I discovered from the county authorities the evidence which they had in addition to their evidence I had further facts which, if they had discovered, would have only added to the hopelessness of Jim's plight."

District Attorney Fredericks said:

"I can't say at this time whether we will ask the court to deal leniently with the prisoners. But when a man comes forward and makes a confession that saves the state a large amount of money he is entitled to some consideration."

The crime for which James B. McNamara and John J., the secretary and treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' association, were arrested and placed on trial in Los Angeles was the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times newspaper and printing plant.

At a few minutes after 1 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1, 1910, while the Times' staff was getting out the day's paper, the building, situated at Broadway and First street, was wrecked by dynamite. Time clock bombs had been used, it was ascertained later.

The effect of the explosion was frightful. One whole wall of the building collapsed. Floors gave way and crashed to the cellar. Flames arose from the debris. Firemen and police took twenty-one bodies out of the wreckage. Some had been killed instantly by the explosion. Others, caught by the sweep of flames, were burned to death. A number of the dead were union men. Many of them were married and had children.

Later in the morning, a bomb was found in the home of General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times and an uncompromising opponent of the closed shop. This bomb let go in the street just after detectives who had been examining it were frightened away by the rattle of its mechanism. Other bombs were found, cunningly contrived mechanisms, in which an alarm clock and a can of nitroglycerin were the chief components.

"I had the personal assurance from both John J. and James B. that they were absolutely innocent when I visited them in jail in Los Angeles in September," said Mr. Gompers. "My confidence has been imposed upon. I am shocked at the news."

"What effect will this termination have upon labor unions?" he was asked.

"Well, it will not do the labor unions any good," said Gompers. "The unions of this country have been imposed on. We have collected, at the last report that I know of, $190,000 for their defense.

"My attitude has always been the denunciation and the discouragement of that sort of thing," continued Mr. Gompers. "It has to be stamped out—it must be stamped out if the labor unions will endure. The labor movement is one of peace, not the destroying of poperty and lives."

REBELS WIN AT NANKING

Purple Hill, Last Position of Imperial Troops, Is Captured.

The last position of imperial troops on Purple hill at Nanking, China, was captured by the revolutionists. The attack culminated in a bayonet charge, which routed the loyalist soldiers, chiefly Manchus, and drove them into the city.

Three thousand Woo-Sung troops made a magnificent ascent up Purple hill. They scaled almost precipitous sides of the mountain in the face of the fire of the loyalists, who fortified the ridge below. It is reported there were 200 rebel casualties.

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol

New Haven, Conn.—"I was troubled with a most persistent chronic cough for a long time and had tried so many remedies and prescriptions without benefit that I was discouraged. I was persuaded by my friends to try Vinol. After taking the second bottle, my cough left me, and I must say I never felt better in my life. I can also recommend Vinol to any one in a run-down condition as the best possible remedy."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

ARE EMPLOYED IN JUTE MILL

John J. Manifests No Feeling Upon Beginning Long Term, but His Brother Became Much Depressed at Sight of Grim Walls.

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—James B. and J. J. McNamara have spent their first night behind the somber walls of San Quentin prison.

The prisoners, who were brought up from Los Angeles on the night train, arrived at Port Costa, thirty miles from this city, shortly before 7 a. m. All the way up from the southern city they were held under the closest guard and were kept handcuffed. They occupied a stateroom on a Pullman with an officer in attendance all the time and even when they retired for the night they were in irons.

At Port Costa Sheriff Hamill and his deputies quietly removed their prisoners from the train before most of the passengers had awakened. In the chill of the half light of the early morning the officers and prisoners and a little band of newspaper men who accompanied the party from Los Angeles stepped from the Pullman and waited on the dock for half an hour. Then all boarded the little steamer Caroline, which had been ordered by wire to take the officers and prisoners to San Quentin. The big prison is on the bay shore just across the bay from this city and about thirty miles from Port Costa.

As the boat drew near the prison the sheriff pointed out the place to the McNamaras where they will spend many years. As his eyes swept over the long stretch of grim walls James B. McNamara almost sobbed and his eyes filled, but his brother showed no sign of emotion. Rather he looked with interest at his future home and made no comment.

At a little wharf near the prison the boat landed and the prisoners were soon in the prison office. After the usual preliminaries, measurement, bath, shaving, the men donned the prison garb and were assigned to their cell. The men will occupy the same cell No. 18.

Both prisoners were put to work in the jute mill today. This is the usutl course for all prisoners, but after a time they will be given other work.

CASE OF THE PACKERS

Jury to Try Them in Chicago Nearly Complete.

J. Ogden Armour Appears in Court for the Second Time Since the Case Opened.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Completion of the jury that is to try the packers on the charge that they violated the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust law in fixing the price of fresh meats is near, attaches of Judge Carpenter's court declared.

J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., appeared at the morning session of the trial for the second time since the case began.

He greeted the other defendants with a smile, and was kept busy during the session answering telegrams and messages which were brought to him by messenger boys.

Mr. Armour listened attentively to the cross-examination of talesmen by John Barton Payne, one of the attorneys for the packers. Mr. Armour kept his hands in his pockets and swayed back and forth in his chair during the proceedings.

SAY TREATY IS DOOMED

Russian Official Organ Frowns upon American Pact.

Passports Bill Now Before Duma Contains Nothing Relating to American Jews.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.—The passports bill, which has now been laid before the Duma, does not contain anything bearing on the agitation in the United States for passport rights in Russia for American Jews.

The Novoe Vremya in an editorial ascribes the American agitation to electioneering. It says the American claim for recognition of the passports of American Jews in Russia is judicially and politically invalid. The paper expresses the belief that the Russo-American commercial treaty is doomed before agitation. Russia, it says, is not indifferent to this for although she would lose nothing economically by its abrogation the logical development would be the exclusion from America of hundreds of thousands of Russian Jews who would stay in Russia to her detriment and American advantage.

The Jews in the United States, the Novoe Vremya declares, wish such exclusion and that is the real motive for the present agitation. They are driving the American politicians with a pitiless whip.

SAGINAW — In their strenuous efforts to free Fred J. Martin from the $25,000 libel suit started by Mrs. Madeline Clements Wanner of Detroit, the defendant's attorneys filed a demurrer in the circuit court, alleging that the bill of complaint has no legal standing. The demurrer will be argued Dec. 11. So far all the motions of Mr. Martin's attorneys have been denied by Judge Gage.

WOULD BE ASSURED IMMUNITY

Affidavit Said to Be in Existence Detailing How He Ordered Explosion of Dynamite Under French Lick Hotel.

Indianapolis, Dec. 11.—Though United States District Attorney Miller, who has returned from Washington after a conference with the federal authorities regarding the dynamiting investigation, refused to discuss the rumor that H. S. Hockin has offered to tell all he knows to the grand jury in exchange for immunity from prosecution there seems to be no doubt that Hockin or some friend for him has made overtures to the government.

Hockin has succeeded John J. McNamara as secretary treasurer of the iron workers and is now virtually the executive officer of the organization. Prior to the arrest of McNamara Hockin was a member of the executive board and there is an affidavit in existence showing that he made threats against a contractor who was erecting a building with nonunion labor and two nights following the threats the building was partially wrecked with dynamite. The affidavit declared that Hockin instigated the explosion.

Immediately following the attempted destruction of the new hotel building that Tom Taggart was having erected at French Lick Detective Morgan of this city went to French Lick and began an investigation. He was on his vacation and the inquiry was not undertaken at the instance of the authorities. After several days' work Morgan became convinced that a man named Harry Underwood had placed the explosive in the building and that it was done because nonunion iron workers were being employed. It developed that shortly before the explosion, not more than two days, W. S. Hockin, a member of the executive board of the iron workers, was at French Lick and declared that if the labor was not changed there would be trouble. Morgan placed Underwood under arrest and the prisoner made a confession which he signed and swore to. Morgan has the confession now, but all efforts to find Underwood have proved futile and it is believed that he has fled the country.

Walter Drew, attorney for the Erectors' association, is here and will remain during the federal grand jury investigation.

RAT PUTS CITY IN DARKNESS

Causes Short Circuit When It Runs Behind Switchboard.

Wabash, Ind., Dec. 11.—Wabash was without electric lights and electric power for forty-five minutes because a big rat, which had been making its home at the water and light company's power house for three months, scaled a wall and crawled behind a switchboard.

The rat was reduced to a tiny pile of charred bones and ashes when it touched the switchboard wires, but it caused a short-circuit which put the entire plant out of commission.

STARVING FOR MONEY

Finance Is Present Master of Situation in China.

Imperial Ministers Are Making Desperate Efforts to Secure Loan, but Are Unsuccessful.

London, Dec. 11. — The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says finance is gradually becoming master of the situation in China. For four days the minister of finance has been making desperate efforts to borrow 3,000,000 taels ($1,800,000.)

The bankers hesitate to advance the money and are waiting on the American group of financiers who are doing their utmost to persuade the Washington government to reverse its decision against loans.

The revolutionists regard loans to the imperial government at this juncture as a breach of neutrality, and if any such are engineered reprisals will be inevitable among innocent and isolated Europeans in various parts of the country. Among the many divergent rumors now in circulation the only one on which all agree is that the empire, from the Amur to Tonquin, is starving for money.

WU TING FANG IN COUNCIL

The proposals of Yuan Shih Kai include one that each province shall be autonomous, but that all shall be federated under the present emperor.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

Your Neighbors Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. N. G. Harpel, 56 Treat St., Adrian, Mich., writes: "I have been bothered with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble that caused me much inconvenience, and my back ached severely at times and the action of my kidneys was irregular and painful. My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

The world always looks brighter from behind a smile.

Saved His Wife's Life

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

People who take to much liberty lose it all sooner or later.

"Best on Earth"

This is the verdict of J. Howell, Tracy, G., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure cure of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foleys Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."

Without opiates or harmful drugs of any kind Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs and cures colds. Do not accept any substitute. All Druggists.

When you trip up, fall forward, and get up farther along.

An Alarm at Night

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y. says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." All Druggists.

Foley's Kidney Pills

Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more. All Druggists.

FUNERAL OF HON. H. C. SMITH IN ADRIAN SUNDAY DECEMBER 10

The funeral of Hon. Henry C. Smith was conducted at Christ's Episcopal Church in Adrian at one o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 11.—Mrs John Caurey, living west of here, was awakened about 4 o'clock in the morning by a bad dream. In her sleep she had seen her four-month-old baby die of strangulation. CHIEF CAUSE OF POVERTY

Unemployment Takes Place of Intemperance and Immorality.

New York, Dec. 10.—Intemperance and immorality are no longer the chief causes of poverty in New York city. Illness, unemployment and low pay are now the main reasons for destitution, according to the annual report of the New York Association for Improving the Conditions of the Poor.

"Poverty due to industrial conditions," says the report, "is far in excess of that produced by vices."

The association during the year 1910-11 spent $225,000 and aided 105,000 persons.

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrœa, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes: 12 tablets 25 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents, 80 tablets 50 cents. How to make Money and How to Invest It.

"First one must get an EASY job with lots of pay. Then salt all you get until you have enough to get married, and then get an automobile. The Tecumseh State Savings Bank calls attention to its statement published in this issue as made to the State Banking Department on Dec. 2. On Dec. 1st, the bank added 3 per cent interest, over $5,000,00, to the accounts of its Savings depositors. The June and December distribution to depositors for the year 1911 amounts to nearly $11,000.00. The bank still has a net balance of over $5,000.00 undivided profits on hand to make a good dividend to its stock holders, It is the desire and ambition of the officers and directors of the bank to aford every accommodation and protection to its patrons as in the past. With this motto increase the business of the bank a large percentage in 1912. And a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all can be had by starting a Savings Bank account and watching it grow.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact. I felt like a different person. I have since reccomended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

GIVES LIFE FOR SON

Miner at Pittsburg, Kan., Drops Dead After Carrying Boy to Safety.

Pittsburg, Kan., Dec. 10.—William Kennedy, a miner, gave his life when white damp was discovered, that his son might live. It happened in a room of Wear mine, No. 20, and when the deadly air was noticed a dozen men rushed for safety.

At an entry Kennedy found that his son, Joe, was missing. The father seized a cart and re-entered the room. With the assistance of two or three volunteers, who stepped in to aid him, the father placed the unconscious son on the car and pushed him to the door. There the father fell, overcome by the poisonous air.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Counsel for Senator Lorimer Argue Its Relevancy.

Harvester Company Counsel Denies $10,000 Was Offered to Settle Tax Suits.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Emphatic protests were voiced by members of the Lorimer investigating committee of the senate when Elbridge Hanecy, attorney for Senator Lorimer, sought to introduce into the case charges against the International Harvester company.

The witness whose testimony was declared by the committee members to be irrevelant was Maxwell Edgar of Chicago, secretary and attorney for the Illinois Tax Reform association, who instituted suits for the payment of $500,000 back taxes on stock of the International Harvester company.

Mr. Edgar charged that Clarence S. Darrow, supposedly representing Edgar A. Bancroft, general counsel of the International Harvester company, offered to pay $10,000 secretly if the tax suits were compromised.

Edgar A. Bancroft, in reply to the charges of Mr. Edgar, asserts Edgar was never offered anything, but that, on the other hand, Edgar offered to agree to an increase of $4,000,000 in valuations after the Harvester company had proposed an increase of between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000, provided he (Edgar) was paid $40,000 or $50,000.

Other witnesses were John A. Bingham of Vandalia, Ill., whom the late Joseph S. Clark, Democratic representative accused of receiving money for his Lorimer vote, sought to have appointed postmaster, and Charles H. Simmons of Chicago, who testified regarding money which he saw Charles A. White borrow from Lee O'Neill Browne. Mr. Bingham admitted that Senator Lorimer used his influence in his behalf after receiving a letter from Clark. Mr. Simmons said he saw White borrow $25 from Browne in the lobby of the Briggs House the day after White claims to have received the Lorimer money.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures those weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head!

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cures liver ills.

Jean Valjean Didn't Fit in China.

The eloquent advocate, Maitre Gans, once went to China with his cousin, Marcel Bing. When they found themselves at Sinanfou, in the heart of the Celestial empire, they made the acquaintance of a certain Ian, an underprefect, who prided himself on his literary attainments. He begged them to dine with him and served them a European repast, of which the first dish was a preserve of hot gooseberries. In the course of the feast he apprised them that a beautiful French novel had just been translated into Chinese. "It is," Ian explained, "the history of a very honest brigand. He succors a poor unfortunate girl. He is the defender of the weak, and he has much trouble to escape a gendarme who has sworn his destruction. Do you know this writer? He is called 'Igtorio?'"

"Victor Hugo," corrected M. Gans, who with infinite perspicacity had comprehended that the novel "Les Miserables" was meant.

"Perhaps," said Ian, "it may be that I do not pronounce well. In China we call him Igtorio. His romance is interesting, but it is a little disconcerting. There never was an honest brigand in China."—Cri de Paris.

How Battles Are Won.

Napoleon had this to say of the way in which battles are gained: "In all battles a moment occurs when the bravest troops after having made the greatest efforts feel inclined to run. That terror proceeds from a want of confidence in their own courage, and it only requires a slight opportunity, a pretense, to restore confidence to them. The art is to give rise to the opportunity and to invent the pretense. At Arcola I won the battle with twenty-five horsemen. I seized that moment of lassitude, gave every man a trumpet and gained the day with this handful. You see that two armies are two bodies, which meet and endeavor to frighten each other. A moment of panic occurs, and that moment must be turned to advantage. When a man has been present in many actions he distinguishes that moment without difficulty. It is as easy as casting up an addition."

EXPECT TO FIND NO MINERS ALIVE

Rescuers Work Hopelessly in Cross Mountain Mine.

ONE HUNDRED MEN ENTOMBED

Tremendous Explosion, Which Swept Through 27 Cuts, Making Cave In Two Miles Long, Leaves Hundreds Sorrowing.

Briceville, Tenn., Dec. 11.—The last vestige of hope that some of the 100 miners caught in the explosion in the Cross Mountain coal mine of the Knoxville Iron company are still alive has been abandoned. Eight bodies have been recovered and identified as follows:

Lee Poalston, Parlie Rolen, Taylor Ault, Charles Kesterson, Will Farmer mine foreman, James Foust and Herman Sharp.

Black damp has made its appearance, presenting a new obstacle to the rescuers. Practically no headway is being made in penetrating the wreckage. That any of the men who may have escaped the explosion still live in the gas-filled chambers is regarded as impossible.

President Stephenson of the Knoxville Iron company had 175 coffins brought here from Knoxville, and they were taken up the side of the mountain and stacked against the mouth of the pit. This grim spectacle brought a great hysterical sob of grief from the wives, mothers and sisters of the entombed men, who braved snow and rain and wind to stand transfixed before the entrance to the main shaft of the mine in the hope that by some miracle their husbands, fathers, brothers or sons might be rescued alive.

The federal experts report that the explosion swept through twenty-seven cuts, making a cave-in two miles long, extending from the main cutting to the headings. The men must have all been in the cross cuts when the explosion occurred. These cuts are filled with thousands of tons of slate and coal and twisted timbers.

In addition to the eight bodies recovered fragments of other bodies have been found in the wreckage. Most of the bodies are terribly mangled, indicating the terrific force of the blast.

More than 10,000 people rushed here, attracted by the news of the catastrophe, and as a result the town's food supply is practically exhausted. The town officials have ordered food rushed from Knoxville.

The explosion occurred about 7:20 a. m., a short time after the large day shift, which averages about 200, relieved the smaller night shift. Those on the outside heard a dull rumbling and at once guessed the cause. The lamps of miners at work in the nearby Thistle mine were extinguished by the concussion of the explosion and the miners rushed forth, at first apprehensive that the explosion had occurred in their mine.

News of the disaster was telephoned to nearby mines and relief parties of miners were hurried to the scene. Little cottages of the entombed men were soon emptied of the wives, mothers and daughters, who hurried, panicstricken to the mine, there to lend their frenzy and grief to the 1,500 others who gathered within a few hours. The government rescue service was notified and mine rescue car No. 7 stationed at Middlesborough was ordered to the scene, reaching there shortly after noon.

Briceville has been the scene of most of the mining troubles which have occurred in Tennessee early in the nineties. It was the center of the Coal Creek war, when miners drove back state troops and stopped the state from employing convicts in the mines. Then in May, 1902, came the awful Fraterville disaster, and now the Cross Mountain mine explosion.

MRS. VERMILYA VERY ILL

Woman Accused of Murder Is Suffering from Effects of Poison.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya, who is charged with the murder of Arthur Bissonette, probationary policeman, and suspected of having caused several other deaths, is critically ill in the hospital of the county jail.

"While some of the reports in regard to Mrs. Vermilya have been much exaggerated," Dr. Thomas Hogan, jail physician, said, "it is a fact that she is very ill. It is the effect of the arsenic which it is said she administered to herself after she was put under arrest.

"I do not think there is immediate danger of her death, but she will be ill a long time before she fully recovers."

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol

New Haven, Conn.—"I was troubled with a most persistent chronic cough for a long time and had tried so many remedies and prescriptions without benefit that I was discouraged. I was persuaded by my friends to try Vinol. After taking the second bottle, my cough left me, and I must say I never felt better in my life. I can also recommend Vinol to any one in a run-down condition as the best possible remedy."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

MICHIGAN IS WORTH BILLION IN FARMS

Half of the State's Area Is Used for Agriculture.

Some Interesting Facts and Figures Concerning Michigan Culled from the Thirteenth United States Census.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The census bureau has issued a bulletin on agriculture in Michigan which is full of facts and figures of general interest. It shows that Michigan, which ranks eighth in population among the states, is twenty-first in land area, and that more than half the state's area is in farms, which are valued, with their buildings, equipment and stock at $1,088,859,889.

The average value of farm land per acre for the state is $32.48.

During the last decade the population of the state increased 389,191, or 16.1 per cent; the number of farms, 3,699, or 1.8 per cent; the land in farms, $1,378,916 acres, or 7.9 per cent; while the improved land in farms increased 1,032,828 acres, or 8.8 per cent. During this period the average size of farms increased by more than five acres.

Farm property, which includes land, buildings, implements and machinery, and live stock (domestic animals, poultry and bees), increased in value during the decade 1900-1910 nearly $400,000,000, or 75.7 per cent. This great increase is made up of increases of nearly $192,000,000 in the value of land, and of almost $127,000,000 in the value of buildings. There is also an increase of nearly $80,000,000 in the value of farm equipment, which include implements and machinery and live stock, of which nearly three-fourths represents the increase in the value of live stock, and the remainder the increase in the value of implements and machinery. In considering the increase in the values of agriculture the general increase in the prices of all commodities in the last ten years should be borne in mind.

The total wealth of the state in the form of farm property is over a billion dollars, of which 82.8 per cent is represented by land and buildings, 12.7 per cent by live stock, and 4.6 per cent by the implements and machinery.

RETURNS FROM HAVANA

President of Board Investigating Cause of Maine's Destruction.

ADMIRAL VREELAND

WASHINGTON—The verdict of the Vreeland board of United States naval experts who have examined the exposed wreck is that the primary cause of destruction of the United States battleship Maine in Havana harbor was the explosion of a submarine mine or some similar contrivance.

WITNESS FOR LORIMER

Banker Shaw of Bement, Ill., Placed on Stand.

At Washington, Monday, Homer E. Shaw, banker of Bement, Ill., who while a member of the 1909 legislature sat near White and Beckemeyer in the house at Springfield, declared before the Lorimer committee that White said he would "vote for 'Bill' Lorimer if he got a chance." Shaw said he advised against it as political suicide. At the special session Mr. Shaw said White admitted the prediction had come true.

"Did any one ask you to vote for Senator Lorimer?" asked Senator Johnston.

"I was asked if I could vote for him."

Q.—By whom. A.—Lee O'Neill Browne. I told him I couldn't, and he said all right.

Q.—Did you ever hear of corruption in the legislature? A.—Just as there has been talk for fifty years.

"Did you hear of any inducements to vote for Senator Lorimer?" asked Senator Fletcher.

"I heard Harry Shephard had been promised the removal of a postmaster."

Shaw admited he knew in advance of Senator Lorimer's impending election.

Much of the afternoon session was taken up in the reading of testimony from the Browne trials.

HOCKIN DELIVERS WRITTEN RECORDS

Surrenders Books and Papers of Iron Workers.

Negotiations with Him Are Put Through Without Knowledge of U. S. District Attorney, Who Makes No Promises.

At Indianapolis, Ind., books and papers of the iron workers' organization that were overlooked when the building was searched soon after John J. McNamara's arrest have been delivered to the United States authorities by H. S. Hockin and representatives of the Erectors' association.

It is believed that the surrender was made in pursuance of an arrangement that guarantees Hockin immunity from arrest. The United States district attorney says he has made no deal with Hockin, but there is reason to believe that others have promised immunity if Hockin tells all he knows.

The books and papers were removed secretly Saturday night from the Iron Workers' offices in the Central Life building and were taken in taxis to the federal building. United States Marshal Schmidt was present when the records were taken from the vault and placed in the taxicabs.

It has developed that the negotiations which have been made with Hockin were without knowledge of the United States district attorney. This was done because the district attorney throughout the case has shown no disposition to lend a kindly ear to any suggestions of immunity to anyone. With this attitude of the district attorney known, negotiations were handled with the iron workers' official in a way that would keep the district attorney absolutely free from any suggestion that "immunity" or "light penalties" would be granted.

A search is being made for Harry Underwood, the iron worker who made affidavit that he placed the explosive under the new French Lick hotel after the visit of Hockin to French Lick, at which time he is declared to have threatened trouble if union labor were not substituted for the nonunion men employed on the building. He said that he once knew an iron worker named Underwood, but he did not remember his first name. It seems that Underwood belonged to a Louisville union, but after his arrest at French Lick and confession to Detective Morgan he fled the country and no one seems to know where he now is.

Detective Burns reached here and will remain for several days to assist in the federal grand jury investigation.

BOYS ACCUSED OF THEFTS

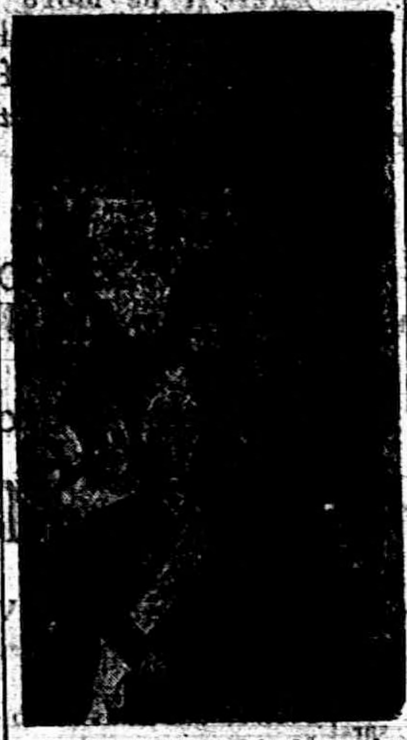
Kalamazoo Police Think They Have Cottage Robbers.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 11.—Officers believe they have landed in jail three boys who for months past have been making raids into the country, stealing anything of value they could find and get away with. The first arrest was of Lloyd Trumbull, who is alleged to have stolen a horse a few nights ago. It was through his capture that officers arrested Ernest Osborne and Ralph Whipple.

Officers believe that the boys can tell them something about the robbery of twenty or twenty-five cottages at Long Lake and the thefts of grain harness and other articles.

INDIAN MAHARAJAHS.

Types of Potentates Who Greeted King and Queen Mary at Delhi.



DELHI, INDIA—The loud roar of an imperial salute of 101 guns welcomed George V., the king-emperor, and Mary, queen-empress, on their arrival from Bombay.

The king and queen and the vice regal party then repaired to their camp, of which Circuit House, built by Lord Curzon in 1903, is the center.

Crowds of picturesque humanity, from the rajah in his silks to the half-naked wallah, gathered to welcome the emperor, and they formed a perfect picture. Mingling with them were bejeweled Indian princes, army and administrative officers, native and British private soldiers and a large number of foreign tourists.

GAS COMPANY BRINGS SUIT

Harry Brusse of Holland Arrested on Charge of Libel.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 11.—Former Mayor Harry Brusse of Holland, Mich., was arrested here upon a caplas sworn out by the Holland City Gas company, in which he is charged with slander. Damages of $20,000 are also asked.

Brusse, before moving to Kalamazoo a few months ago, charged that he was offered a bribe of $5,000 by the gas company if he would use his influence to secure an extension of the gas franchise at a higher rate than charged at present.

The gas company claims this statement is a libel, and had the former mayor arrested. He was later released on bonds.

Brusse intends to move back to Holland this week and he says he will make it interesting for those who are fighting him. "I will give to a grand jury every bit of information I have and if an investigation is started some one will go to jail," he says.

The circuit court of that district has been requested to call a grand jury.

CADILLAC—The Williams Bros company of this city has just bought of A. F. Anderson a tract of the old Ward timber estate near Elmira which is estimated to contain 60,000,000 feet of pine and hardwood logs. The logs will be brought to Cadillac to be converted into lumber.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

Your Neighbors Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. N. G. Harpel, 56 Treat St., Adrian, Mich., writes: "I have been bothered with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble that caused me much inconvenience, and my back ached severely at times and the action of my kidneys was irregular and painful. My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

The world always looks brighter from behind a smile.

Saved His Wife's Life

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

People who take to much liberty lose it all sooner or later.

"Best on Earth"

This is the verdict of J. Howell, Tracy, G., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure cure of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foleys Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."

Without opiates or harmful drugs of any kind Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs and cures colds. Do not accept any substitute. All Druggists.

When you trip up fall forward, and get up farther along.

An Alarm at Night

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y. says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." All Druggists.

Foley's Kidney Pills

Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more. All Druggists.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

How to Send by Express to Insure Safe Delivery

A few hints for shipping Christmas presents by express are given by an express official of long experience, who yearly sees many packages crushed for lack of proper packing or sent to late to arrive after Christmas. Says he:

"Ship your package early, by December 18 if possible. The express company will give you a small label to paste on the package reading, "Don't Open Until Christmas." This will insure the package reaching its destination before Christmas.

"Use wooden boxes for packing. Glass or fragile articles should be well protected.

"Write the address in full, state, county, city, street and number, on the box or package with ink or crayon. Tags are frequently torn off and lost.

"If you want to prepay charges write the word 'Paid' in large, plain letters on the package."

"Write your own address in full somewhere on the package, following the prefix 'From.'

"Enclose a card in each box or package giving your name and address of the party to whom sent."

"This in order that should the outer marking be destroyed the inner mark will insure prompt forwarding and delivery."

"If not convenient to ship in a wooden box, use strong wrapping paper (not newspaper), and tie with strong cord."

"If package contains anything of perishable nature, write word 'Perishable' in large, plain letters on the box to insure special attention and first delivery."

"If you will observe these suggestions you will assist greatly in insuring the prompt delivery of your gift in good condition."

"Insist on a receipt and see that the amount paid is marked on the receipt and package, and the value of the package declared thereon."

HONORS TO A FORMER PUPIL OF THE TECUMSEH HIGH SCHOOL

We clip the following from an exchange:

Prof. Melville M. Bigelow, of Boston, has just been elected a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the most famous of American societies. "I am sure," says the letter informing Dr. Bigelow of the honor, "you will find pleasure in having your name inscribed on a roll which bears, among other great names those of Washington and Franklin."

Dr. Bigelow was the son of Rev. W. E. Bigelow a former pastor of the M. E. church in Tecumseh, and attended the high school, afterwards graduating from the U of M. At the present time Dr. Bigelow is Dean of the Boston Law School, and for a number of years has given the final lectures in the law school at Ann Arbor and the Chicago University. He is a cousin of Mrs. G. N. Stacy.

The Country Store was under the management of Bredow, Cutting and Boyce, and was all that its name implied.

The Baby Booth under the management of Mrs. L. I. Bidwell was pleasant and attractive and everything was disposed of.

The "Old Woman in Her Shoe" attracted much attention. Mrs. Etta Freeman dispensed sweets and cleared $18 for candies.

If there is a lack of aprons in town it is not the fault of the ladies for they sold $35 worth.

The dinning room under the supervision of Mrs. J. H. Smith proved very appetising and about 2[illegible] tickets were sold.

Facts About Indigestion and Its Relief That Should Interest You

Although Indigestion and Dyspepsia are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good-looking, good-smelling, and good tasting food, because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve Dyspepsia. We are so confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give them a reasonable trial according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c. package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment. In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in the community only at our store—The Rexall Store. B. J. Pulver.

Can there be any stronger offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain across the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United Sates.

OLD INVALID BADLY BURNED

Trying to Extinguish Blazing Newspaper, Vassar Woman Is Set on Fire

Vassar, Mich., Dec 11.—Mrs Eltham Teetzel, an invalid woman of seventy-five years, while sitting in a chair near the stove, was badly burned. A spark from the stove set fire to some newspapers on the floor near the old lady. She bent over to smother the blaze and her clothes caught fire.

Her screams brought Alfred Stone, a carpenter, who was working on the house, and he finally succeeded in putting out the fire, but not before she was so badly burned that the doctor thinks she cannot recover. Her husband had just gone down town to

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results. It is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

The Famous "Green Man of Brighton."

In October, 1806, an individual was to be observed at Brighton, England, who walked out every day dressed in green from head to foot—green shoes, green gloves, green handkerchief and other articles to match. This eccentric person lived alone, knew nobody, and in his house the curtains, the wall paper, the furniture, even the plates and dishes and the smallest toilet articles, offered an uninterrupted sequence of green. Having started on his career, there was obviously no reason to stop, and with full consistency he carried this scruples so far as to eat nothing but fruit and vegetables of the same green color. The consequences were extremely disastrous. One fine day the green man jumped from his window into the street, rushed forward and performed a second somersault from the top of the nearest cliff.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature R. V. Pierce, M.D.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Myrtle Grady entertained a little company of schoolmates Thursday afternoon at her home.

GEORGE V. IS CROWNED

Proclaimed Emperor of India Amid Scene of Splendor.

At Delhi, India, Tuesday King George V and his consort Queen Mary were proclaimed emperor and empress of India. The culminating act of the English monarchs' accession to the throne of the vast Indian dominions took place amid a scene which for richness of color and magnificence of decorations probably has never been surpassed in modern times.

Crowning of the rulers was followed by an act of generosity on the king-emperor's part of which a slight hint had already been given. The viceroy proclaimed that the king-emperor was to give a large sum to promote popular education and that further handsome gifts would be made.

A great crowd from an early hour thronged the huge amphitheater that had been erected in the Durbar camp. The bright tissues and sparkling gems of the many Indian princes and the smart uniforms of the soldiers contrasted strongly with the white dresses of the European ladies and the sober garb of civilian officers.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

SAGINAW—The attorneys for John A. Russell in the case of Joseph Reis, et al., against the Saginaw and Flint railroad et al, in which the courts are asked to establish liability against the present and former stockholders of the S. & F. to the amount of $54,000, argued a motion that the defendent, Russell, is not required to answer the bill of complaint. If the judge's opinion is against Mr. Reis the case will be appealed, and if it is sustained it means that the Saginaw people who invested their money in bonds are out $54,000.

HASTINGS—The monster locomotive on the southbound passenger train of the C., K. & S. "sideswiped" the locomotive on a freight train standing on a siding at Schultz station, seven miles south of here, tearing off its cylinder. Herbert Hewitt, fireman of the freight train, jumped and was picked up unconscious. Both trains left the rails, and forty passengers were badly shaken up, but not injured otherwise.

PETOSKEY—W. E. Tuttle, who is proprietor of a gentlemen's furnishing store, filed a petition in bankruptcy for $8,560. Forty creditors hold notes against him, the First National bank of this city being the principal creditor. E. H. Gilbert, receiver, expects to hold a trustee sale later, and believes the funds received from the stock will cover all liabilities. Mr. Tuttle has been in business here ten years.

LANSING—A large number of citizens are writing to Governor Osborn to intercede in behalf of Albert Fisher, a sixteen-year-old boy serving time in Jackson prison for burglary. It is not believed, however, that he will parole or pardon the lad at present at least, in view of the record made by the judge who sentenced Fisher to prison on Sept 11, 1911, which is on file in the executive office.

HILLSDALE—R. Stanton died while he was being brought home from Albion where he was injured. He left here at 3 o'clock as brakeman on a Lake Shore freight run to Lansing. At Albion he went between cars to make a coupling, was caught and terribly crushed. It was thought he might live and was placed aboard train for home, but died at Litchfield. A widow and one daughter survive.

CHELSEA—Roy Meyers and Leon Mortloc, young men, were brought before Justice Witherell here, charged with having broken into the Ypsi-Ann ticket office last Monday and stealing $350. They admitted their guilt and implicated Carl Kouthlaner. All three are boys between fifteen and seventeen years of age. As yet their case has not been disposed of.

KALAMAZOO—Within a few short hours after Henry Pitts, a well known resident of Kalamazoo, had written to his sister in England telling her that he was recovering from a serious illness, he received a letter from her telling of the death in England of his mother, brother and niece. The three had died within a few days of one another.

GRAND RAPIDS—As a result of the "no dice games" edict recently put into force here twenty-five clerks are hunting for new jobs and three cigar dealers have closed their places of business. Local dealers, heavily stocked for the Christmas trade, are hard hit and more stores will close within the next few days.

KALAMAZOO—Fire breaking out in the Oscar Cumbinsky company's four story rag shop caused the death of one man, the serious injury of another and a property loss of $20,000. William Compton, a traveling salesman from Toledo, was struck down by a fire engine on the way to the fire and died an hour later.

SAGINAW—While at work at a fire in the Boston store in this city, Captain [illegible] of truck No. 1, rescued a woman, the only occupant of the apartments above. She had fallen beside her bed, overcome with smoke. The fireman carried her down the ladder and across the street, where she was revived.

ESCANABA—Retiring to her bed at the usual hour with her mother, Mrs. C. Sthall, Margaret Sthall, ten years old, awoke and found her mother dead with the mother's arms around her. Examination showed that Mrs. Sthall had been dead for hours, having expired from heart disease.

KALAMAZOO—Horace G. Osborne has just secured his release from jail by returning to the jewelryman the diamonds he secured under alleged fraudulent means. He also paid interest on the time that he had kept the jewels.

CADILLAC—The little seven-year-old daughter of George Riker, who was bitten last summer by a spotted adder, is having convulsions which have lasted several days, due directly to the effect of the bite.

BIT OFF TONGUE IN FIGHT

Kalamazoo Man Refused to Name His Assailants.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Dec. 12.—In a fight Fred Cramer, aged twenty-four, bit off part of his tongue. Cramer and four or five other men were loitering about the street when an argument started a general fight.

Cramer was so badly injured that he was taken to a doctor's office and later removed to his home. He refused to tell who his assailants were.

CHUN QUITS REGENCY

Father of Child Emperor of China Steps Down.

Prince Chun, the regent, and father of the child emperor of China, has abdicated.

His place as guardian of the throne is taken jointly by Shih-Hsu, a Manchu prince and former president of the national assembly, and Hsu-Shi Chang, vice president of the privy council.

Prince Chun has been the chief figure in China since the death of the emperor, Kwang Su, and the empress dowager in 1908. From the dark days which followed the death of those rulers he emerged the ruler of China.

Prince Chun's regency was at no time a smooth one. He tried to hold a middle ground, which pleased neither of the Manchu reactionaries nor the native progressive

ATTACKS THE EDDY WILL

Christian Science Founder's Adopted Son May Combat Bequests.

A decision at Concord, N. H., affirming the right of Ebenezer J. Foster-Eddy of Montpelier, Vt., adopted son of Mary Baker Eddy, to bring action to set aside certain large bequests to the Christian Science church in the will of Mrs. Eddy, has been handed down by Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States circuit court.

The decision overrules an interlocutory motion filed by Henry M. Baker, executor of the will, and other defendants.

Turned It to His Advantage.

An instance of the usefulness to others of illegible handwriting is included in the vast collection of anecdote and fable that deals with the writing of Horace Greeley. One compositor could never get used to his appalling scrawl, and, in rage at the continual "typographical errors," Greeley sent a note to the foreman ordering him to discharge the man at once, as he was too inefficient a workman to be any longer employed on the Tribune. The foreman did it, but the compositor got hold of the note and took it to another office, where the foreman, after much puzzling, finally read it "good and efficient workman and long employed on the Tribune" and promptly took him on.—London Chronicle.

The Idea.

"Come, dear. Can't you hurry a little? We'll soon be too late to go to church at all."

"Oh, no, dear," she said softly while slowly buttoning her gloves; "we can't be too late. I've got on my new suit."—Ladies' Home Journal.

HOW WEAK WOMEN

May Be Made Strong at Small Expense and No Risk

There are hundreds of women in this vicinity, weak, thin, run-down, tired out and nervous. Such women need Vinol just as much as did Mrs. Jane Pepper, of 2307 Howard street, San Francisco, Cal., who says:

"I have used Vinol for some time with particularly gratifying results. I was run down, weak and debilitated, and my appetite was gone. After taking several bottles of Vinol I found my condition greatly improved, and do not hesitate to recommend Vinol to anyone similarly affected."

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, but a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

RUSSIAN TREATY BEFORE CABINET

Matter Stirred up by Sulzer May Prove Serious.

RESOLUTIONS ARE OFFENSIVE

Senator Cullom of Illinois Urges on President Course Calculated to Terminate Treaty and Preserve Diplomatic Equilibrium.

Washington, Dec. 18. — President Taft called a special meeting of his cabinet to consider the proposed termination of the treaty of 1832 with Russia. The session was hours long.

The president's official family was called together for the purpose of discussing chiefly the advisability of the to the senate on the Russian passport to the senate onthe Russian passport question. Senator Cullom of Illinois has been urging the president to notify Russia of the desire of the United States to terminate the treaty and then send a message to the senate informing that body of his action. Senator Cullom contended that that would be the proper and most satisfactory course for the president to pursue. It would afford the senate committee on foreign relations an opportunity to sidetrack the Sulzer resolution passed by the house of representatives, which Russia regards as offensive, and would make it easier for the senate committee to report favorably a diplomatic resolution which would accomplish the termination of the treaty but save the feelings of the St. Petersburg government.

Other members of the foreign relations committee have been advising the president to send a message to congress merely recommending the termination of the treaty and waiting for authorization by congress before acting.

Others of Mr. Taft's advisers have counselled him not to send any communication to congress, but to await the passage of a suitable resolution, at least, by the senate.

All of these proposed courses take it for granted that the termination of the treaty will be authorized by the senate soon. There is no longer any doubt that the treaty will be denounced.

It was after receiving all this conflicting advice that Mr. Taft assembled the members of his cabinet at the White House. Those who attended the meeting were Secretary of State Knox, Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary Meyer, Secretary Nagel, Secretary MacVeagh and Secretary Wilson. The three remaining members of the cabinet, Secretaries Stimson, Fisher and Hitchcock, were out of town.

HONOR FOR MAINE DEAD

Bodies to Be Brought to United States for Burial.

President Taft Expresses Wish to Secretary Meyer that They Receive Due Naval Consideration.

Washington, Dec. 18. — President Taft, in a letter to Secretary Meyer, expressed his wish that the bodies recovered from the wreck of the Maine in the course of the work of uncovering the battleship in Havana harbor be brought to the United States with every possible naval honor. The president suggests that they be brought up on board of one of the big ships accompanied by a convoy. His letter is as follows:

"I have just heard that the bodies of a number of the dead sailors of the Maine will shortly be brought north. I would be glad if you would make the transportation of the remains one of dignity befitting the fact that they lost their lives for their country. I would like if possible to have the remains brought up in one of our large vessels, convoyed by another. Very truly yours, WILLIAM H. TAFT."

ACTOR HACKETT MARRIED

Takes as Bride Former Leading Lady, Miss Beatrice Beckley.

Milwaukee, Dec. 18. — James K. Hackett, the actor, was secretly married late Saturday afternoon in Milwaukee, but the news of the ceremony did not get out until after he had left for a week's engagement in St. Louis.

The bride is Beatrice Mary Beckley, who gave her address in the marriage license as London and her occupation as none. Miss Beckley, however, is a former leading woman for Mr. Hackett.

Reick Buys New York Sun.

New York, Dec. 18. — William C. Reick, assisted by financial friends, has obtained control of the New York Sun; also control of the Laffan news bureau and the real estate at 170 Nassau street, known as the Sun building.

Delhi Durbar Ends.

Delhi, India, Dec. 18. — The great durbar with its round of festivities lasting since the arrival of the king-emperor and queen-empress on Dec. 7, was brought to a conclusion.

TWO NATIONS TO OFFER MEDIATION

Japan and Great Britain May Already Have Done So.

OTHER MEASURES MAY FOLLOW

Imperialists and Revolutionists in China May Be Brought to Terms by Efforts of Friendly Neighbors.

Tokio, Japan, Dec. 18.—It is unofficially stated that Japan and Great Britain have offered or are about to offer to mediate between the Chinese government and the rebels, and will adopt further measures if this is refused.

The newspaper Yorozzu says Japan on Dec. 11 notified China of her intention to make such an offer and said an agreement had been made with England by which the two governments would act in concert in the matter. Mr. Ijuin, the Japanese minister at Pekin, was notified of this action on Dec. 16 and it is understood that he informed Premier Yuan Shih Kai and the rebel leaders at Shanghai that Japan and England were instructing their respective consuls general at Shanghai to offer to mediate.

The Jiji Shimpo adds to the above that if the terms suggested by Japan and England are refused they will take decisive measures. The foreign office refuses to confirm or deny the story, but says its publication was not authorized. It adds that it is impossible to make a statement now, owing to pending negotiations.

Some action of this sort has been expected for several days. Japan recenetly sent Counsellor of the Foreign Office Matsui, who was at one time charge d'affaires at Washington, to Pekin, where he has held frequent conferences with Yuan Shih Kai. It is reported that Sir John Newell Jordan, the British minister at Pekin, left for Shanghai on Dec. 16.

A dispatch from Shanghai reports that Japan and England have notified the revolutionists that they are prepared to guarantee certain terms of peace.

GATHER FOR CONFERENCE

Representatives of Chinese Combatants Arrive at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Dec. 18.—Tang Shao Yi, the senior government delegate to the peace conference here, and his associates have arrived. Wu Ting Fang and the other representatives of the republicans were already here awaiting them. The negotiations looking to a cessation of the political revolt and the establishment of a stable government will be carried on in the foreign concession.

The feeling here regarding the outcome of the negotiations is very pessimistic.

MEATS MAY BE LOWER

Action of English Government May Reduce Prices.

Employes of Big Packing Companies Think It Will Depress Cattle Values and Farmers Will Feel Effect.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—A probable reduction in the retail price of all kinds of fresh meats was discussed in packingtown as a result of the action of the English government in barring the men who are under indictment for violation of the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust act from bidding on contracts for British army canned meat supplies.

Generally throughout the yards employes of the big packing firms said the effect of the English government's action would be to lower the values of cattle on the hoof and that this would have its reflection in the retail price of beef.

"The farmers will have to bear the expense. Meats will be cheaper and the producers naturally are the ones who will have to suffer," said one man connected with one of the big concerns.

HELD FOR SON'S DEATH

Mrs. Carrie B. Sparling Is Arrested After Four in Family Die.

Bad Axe, Mich., Dec 18.—Mrs. Carrie B. Sparling, widow of John Wesley Sparling, who died under mysterious circumstances, and three of whose sons also are dead, was arrested charged with the death of one of the sons, Cyril.

It is said that Dr. R. A. McGregor, who was bound over to the circuit court charged with the murder of Cyril Sparling, will be freed and the entire blame for the death of the four men placed upon the shoulders of the wife and mother.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater. but not if Electric Bitters be used. as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on arth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

CHEF

Self Raising Pan Cake Flour

is a scientific blend of buckwheat, old fashioned yellow corn meal and whole wheat flour.

Buckwheat alone is too heating for some people—especially for children. To remedy this and to make it more nutritious we use whole wheat flour which also makes it more digestable.

Old fashioned yellow corn meal gives it a richer flavor.

The proper blending of these three ingredients make more toothsome and more wholesome cakes than would be posible from any one of them used alone.

The leavening properties and salt are thoroughly mixed in by machinery.

Add milk or water to CHEF self raising pan cake flour and you are ready to bake.

Two pounds and a half in a dust proof package sell at retail for fifteen cents. Full directions for using printed on every package.

HOME WEDDING AT BRITTON, MICH

A pretty but quiet home wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bachman on Thursday evening, united the lives of their daughter, Miss Viva C. Bachman and Mr. Charlie F. Brown.

The bride and groom entered the parlor unattended promptly at five o'clock where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. S. Main, pastor of the Christian church, in the presence of only the immediate families. An elaborate wedding dinner succeeded the congratulations and later Mr. and Mrs. Brown left over the Wabash for a short wedding tour, after which they will be at home to their friends at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Cupples of the kindergarten West Branch, is ill this week. Miss Genevieve Halliday is filling the vacancy.

The lecture given by Dr. L. G North Monday morning to the Physical Geography class proved very interesting. He began with the geological origin of the Grand Canyon, describing it in every detail, the coloring, width and depth. As a comparison of the depth, the stand pipe was used as an illustration, the canyon being forty times as high as the stand pipe.

About twenty-four freshman enjoyed a very pleasant time at the home of Jason Meads Friday evening One very pleasant feature which was enjoyed by all was the ride to the Mead home in a lumber wagon, an occasion which always causes much fun and merriment. After games and refreshments the tired freshmens returned to their homes.

The juniors gave a party at the Parish House Friday evening, about thirty being present. At the close of a pleasant evening refreshments were served and the juniors departed to their several homes.

Flora Ketchum spent over Sunday at her home in Onsted.

The third and fourth grades of the West Branch, instead of a Christmas tree will have a Christmas pie and a short program for the children.

Little Raymond Taylor has been absent from Miss Cowan's room on account of illness.

Miss Ellen Smith of Ridgeway, visited the High School Thursday.

Blanche Snyder was called upon to teach the Senior English class Thursday

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was postponed until this week.

Vie Temple and Lillian Kennedy have been absent from the seventh grade on account of illness.

C

The Sophomore and Junior English classes are writing Christmas stories. Much interest has been aroused The one who writes the best story will have his or her story read at the Christmas exercises Friday afternoon. This alone ought to be a sufficient reason to attend the exercises held at the Union School.

The Freshmen had an algebra test Twenty-one out of twenty-seven passed.

EAST BRANCH SCHOOL

The first and second grades have been writing Christmas stories. Such work has been done as to please the teacher They have improved their language work to a great extent.

The pupils of the third and fourth grades are going to give each other Christmas presents.

The fifth grade is making little baskets.

Hope Halliday of the fifth grade in Clinton visited school last week.

The sixth grade had a contest giving definitions of words. Edna Taylor won. They also had an old fashioned spelling bee.

BASKET BALL

Those basket ball "girls" (?) that came down from Clinton Friday to play our boys were quite a fine lot of young fellows and played well, but were defeated the score being 25 to 5 in favor of Tecumseh.

BEFORE THE STUDENTS COURT OF LAST APPEAL

Adrian College students like all growing boys have a large appetite and also a special preference for pie as what boy has not, so last Saturday night after the game the occupants of the North Hall adjourned to the basement and had a good square meal on pie, cheese, etc. when the good aunty who presides over this department saw the ruin wrought in her Sunday supplies for dinner made complaint and 19 appeared before the Court and plead guilty. Their fate is not known but it is thought that several will not come back next year.

SEARCH FOR BIBLE

All seasons are alike to the Hudson Post poet as is evidenced by the following clipped from the Adrian Times,

Some one let the poet out of the box up in the Hudson Postoffice the other day and this is the damage he did:

There was a panic in Adrian court house upon a recent day, for the thing greatly wanted seemed to be far away; we know not for what purpose a Bible was demanded, but when they searched the building they returned empty handed; nearly all of the officials had heard of such a book, but find a copy of it they knew not where to look; in many a desk a pack of cards showed almost constant use, some of them with corners clipped, which raised a perfect deuce; but finally the janitor, who had hunted all around, in an obscure, forgotten place, an unused Bible was found.

Adrian Phone Rate Must Drop

Lansing, Mich., December 8—As the result of an order the state railroad commission has issued the rate for telephone service in Adrian will be reduced after Janurary 1 from $5 to $3 for the use of two phones in business places. The rate is for monthly service. The order was issued after a hearing on the complaint filed by Deputy Dairy and Food Commissioner James Helme, who has vigorously objected to the rates charged by the telephone company since the consolidation of the two companies.

THE CORN CROP

Statistics from all over the country go to prove that with an increased creage, the corn crop is much less than ten years ago. This falling off is attributed to weather conditions, which have been most unfavorable. The value however has increased rapidly.

MONEY AHEAD

At a meeting of the Horticultural Society of Lenawee County held at the Court house in Adrian Dec. 13, H. C. Bradish reported a sum of money $54.43 in the Lenawee County Savings Bank, that had been deposited by a former treasurer some 30 or 40 years ago, and had been overlooked until now, it was voted that the money should lie there until the society needs it for some particular purpose. The meeting was a very interesting one throughout, many interesting plants and shrubs were shown and discussed.

ADRIAN BASEBALL

The management of the Adrian Base ball business seem unable to report the prospects of their next season's work, though the report should have been given two weeks ago. Numerous applications are being received from all over the country.

It is thought the Club will not have as many pitchers reporting in the spring, as they had last year, Every man will be signed who looks like a player, and will be given a chance to prove his worth.

COMMUNICATION

Tecumseh, Mich., Dec. 14 1911

To The Editor;—

The Editor of the Tecumseh Herald having assumed the entire responsibility of an article in the issue of December 9th 1911, I wish to say a word to the Herald, about the misinformation from which the editor evidently wrote the article in question, "To the surprise of many who heard the Testimony" surely it was no surprise to any person who has any knowledge of the value of testimony, as governing the actions of a justice of the peace, Mr. Hosmer did just what it was his duty to do under the law This examination of W. E. and H. L. Barrett was not a trial on the merits of the case, Mr. Hosmer, could not enquire at this examination whether Barrett Brothers were guilty of selling or giving away any of the liquors mentioned in the Local Option Law His inquiry must be has a crime been committed, if there has been an infraction or the law, is there probable cause to believe W. E. and H. L. Barrett to have been guilty thereof. Now it is generally believed that Barrett Brothers own and conduct Hotel Barrett, if that supposition is correct, I think that you will agree with me that they should be held responsible for the conduct of the house: Not being at the examination I cannot vouch for the accuracy of the statement that testimony was given strongly intimating that the liquor used at the banquet, was furnished by others than the Barretts, that being true, there arises a doubt as to who the guilty parties are, what follows, the Justice of the peace must certify the case to the Circuit Court, where Barrett Brothers, can be heard by a jury of their Peers, where they can explain why they had taken the precaution to procure a U. S. Tax receipt, why the banquet was held in the cellar, who owned the beer, and any other matter that their Attorneys think should be brought to the attention of the jury. It seems to me if such an accusation were against you or me we would court the fullest investigation.

This is not written in criticsim of any person, but to correct the eroneus notion that certain ones cannot be disturbed in having their own sweet will, regardless of the law. Obedience to the law is liberty.

Can there be any stronger offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C, Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact. I felt like a different person. I have since recomended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

MOB BURNS THREE NEGROES

Reports Say Trouble Arose Over Land Being Occupied by Blacks.

Two negro men and a woman were cremated by a mob of white tenants who objected to the occupancy of land by negroes near Savannah, Tenn., according to reports received.

The lynching is said to have taken place ten miles from Clifton, Tenn.

The three negroes were traveling to a gin with a load of cotton. They were waylaid and tied to the wagonload of cotton, it is said, and the mob, after building a fire underneath the wagon, stood guard until the negroes were cremated.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

OFFICIALS LOOK FOR A STRANGER

Perhaps Concerned in Fort Riley Incendiarism.

REIGN OF TERROR FOR MONTHS

Outrages Began in March Last with $250,000 Fire and Number Several Attempts to Set Fires and Blow Up Property.

Junction City, Kan., Dec. 18.—Government officials engaged in the investigation of the recent series of explosions and fires at Fort Riley are searching for a strange man who was in company with Michael Quirk the night of Sept. 13 last, when Quirk was arrested while trying to enter the pumping plant at Fort Riley.

This man, garbed in soldier's uniform and who carried a package in his hand, escaped while John Hartung, a special watchman, was placing Quirk under arrest. Quirk has steadfastly refused to disclose his companion's name.

Night and day since early last spring Fort Riley has been under more than double guard. Sentries have been posted constantly at the homes of commissioned officers and guards have spent each night in the cellars of these homes in order to frustrate threats of the destruction of the houses by dynamite.

The first and one of the worst pieces of incendiarism was the firing, on the night of March 14, of the quartermaster's storehouse. It was totally destroyed. The loss was a quarter million dollars. The next fire was March 20, when the cavalry ordnance building was discovered on fire. The discovery was made in time to save the structure without much damage. An attempt not only to burn a building but to burn soldiers was made the night of June 3. Mattresses were taken from a room of the building and piled against the messroom door. The bedding then was soaked with kerosene and set on fire. This happened at 11 o'clock at night. Early discovery of the flames saved the building and probably many lives.

The government bridge across the Kaw river connecting part of the Fort Riley reservation was dynamited at midnight June 24. The explosion was on the side of the river where no water could reach it. In order to save any part of the structure it was necessary to tear away a part of it before the resulting fire spread. The morning of June 18 fire destroyed Troop A stable and killed twenty-seven horses.

What is believed to have been an attempt to cut the fort entirely from its supply of water and in this way put it at the mercy of a fire was the blowing up of the water main on the night of Aug. 9. The last fire was Sept. 9, when flames were discovered in a trash can in the administration building. Very little damage was done.

Army Chaplain Set Free.

Olustee, Okla., Dec. 18.—Rev. Chas. M. Brewer, former army chaplain, who is alleged to have been implicated in the dynamite outrages in Fort Riley, Kan., returned here, having been released on his own recognizance by Deputy Sheriff Collins.

DR. C. H. MAYO OPERATED UPON

Attack of Appendicitis Makes Quick Work Necessary.

IS NOTED MINNESOTA SURGEON

One of Brothers Who Have Made Rochester, Minn., Known All Over Country Is Patient for New York Surgeon.

New York, Dec. 18.—The operation for appendicitis on Dr. Charles Horace Mayo, which was performed at the Presbyterian hospital was pronounced to have been unusually successful and Mayo's condition was said to be good.

Unless something very unexpected should happen there is no danger that Dr. Mayo will not return speedily to good health. Dr. Mayo left his home town, Rochester, Minn., last week to come to Washington to attend some medical meetings of the Southern Medical association. On Friday he was taken ill and thought that the trouble was gall stones. A visit to Dr. Joseph Blake in New York resulted in the announcement that it was appendicitis and an operation was decided on as soon as Dr. Mayo could be prepared for it.

Dr. Blake, who had operated on Cornelius Vanderbilt a few hours before for appendicitis, performed the operation on Dr. Mayo. After it Dr. Blake said it had been successful and this was borne out by Dr. Mayo's comparatively restful night and freedom from much fever.

Dr. Mayo is forty-six years old and the younger of the Mayo brothers, whose skillful surgical operations are known all over the world.

Hundreds of patients from all the quarters of the globe have travelled to the little village where the Mayo brothers have made their home. Now they have a hospital of their own, St. Marys, in Rochester, where hundreds of patients can be accommodated.

Singularly enough the operation which Dr. Mayo has undergone is one in which he and his brother have been very successful.

NEW LEAD IS STRUCK

Intimations of More Bribery in 1909 Illinois Legislature.

Lorimer Investigators Hear Accusations Against Dell D. Brownback and Denial from Him.

Washington, Dec. 18. — Jackpotting methods in the Illinois legislature were studied by the committee investigating the corruption in the election of Senator Lorimer.

An entirely new lead was struck in intimations of bribery connected with the judicial reapportionment bill in the 1909 sessoin. Former Representative Dell D. Brownback, who voted for Lorimer, was asked whether he had told Leslie Taylor of Taylorville that it would cost $500 or $600 to make a change in the bill desired by Taylor. Brownback denied knowledge of such a deal and said he did not know Taylor. The latter had been subpoenaed and Brownback will be recalled.

Representative Morton D. Hull gave an account of the mysterious boosting and subsequent killing of the bill to forbid breweries from owning saloons. He thought this an instance of jackpotting methods and quoted Oliver Sollitt to the effect that Lorimer's election also was involved in the deal.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED

King Is Happy Over Conclusion of the Moroccan Negotiations.

London, Dec. 17.—The house of parliament were prorogued and will reassemble Feb. 14. The king's speech was read in the house of lords before a small gathering of the members of the two houses.

It was brief and colorless, merely expressing happiness over the conclusion of the Moroccan negotiations between France and Germany, and otherwise dealing almost solely with a recital of recent domestic legislation and the social amelioration to be expected from its enactment.

HOW WEAK WOMEN

May Be Made Strong at Small Expense and No Risk

There are hundreds of women in this vicinity, weak, thin, run-down, tired out and nervous. Such women need Vinol just as much as did Mrs. Jane Pepper, of 2307 Howard street, San Francisco, Cal., who says:

"I have used Vinol for some time with particularly gratifying results. I was run down, weak and debilitated, and my appetite was gone. After taking several bottles of Vinol I found my condition greatly improved, and do not hesitate to recommend Vinol to anyone similarly affected."

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, but a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

MANY HOTEL GUESTS IN PERIL FROM FIRE

Open Board of Trade at Chicago Destroyed.

Fire Spreads to the Kaiserhof, Victoria and Stafford Hotels and Creates Great Excitement —Many in Peril.

At Chicago Tuesday one thousand guests of the Kaiserhof, Victoria and Stafford hotels, near South Clark and West Van Buren streets, were driven from their beds at 2:30 a. m. when fire swept the Open Board of Trade building at 323 South LaSalle street, spread to the three hotel buildings in the rear and threatened them with destruction. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

Many lives were endangered. For a time it was feared that several firemen had been killed. Police and firemen, after a two-hour search of the ruins, concluded that no bodies were in the wreckage.

There were many narrow escapes and sensational rescues of panic-stricken people.

The Open Board of Trade building stood at 323 La Salle street, directly across the street from the board of trade. In the rear and facing Clark street stands the Kaiserhof hotel. Half a block away in Jackson boulevard is the Grand Pacific hotel.

Panic-stricken guests fled from those hotels in scant dress and suffered intensely in the cold. Guests in the Victoria hotel, 332 South Clark street, also were driven out.

The fire was the most stubborn that the department has had to contend with in years. Every available engine was called. The streets for blocks around were jammed with fire-fighting apparatus. Street cars and elevated trains were stalled for three hours.

The greatest excitement prevailed in the Kaiserhof hotel. The flames shot across the alleyway and threatened that building with destruction. Bellboys, porters and others ran from floor to floor and awoke the 300 men, women and children guests. Seizing what valuables they could, the guests ran terror-stricken from their rooms, down long flights of stairs and into the street.

Like scenes occurred at the Victoria and the Stafford. In the latter place smoke poured into the rooms before the danger became known. A number of guests were affected by the smoke and had to be assisted to the street.

The fire started from an unknown cause in the basement and spread so rapidly that the entire building was in flames when the first engine arrived. When the roof fell every engine that could be spared from other parts of the city was sent to the scene.

The second and third floors fell with a crash that was heard for blocks. This led to reports that an explosion had occurred and that three firemen who were fighting the flames in the basement had been killed.

Meantime, huge volumes of smoke spread throughout the loop district, electric lights were extinguished and the downtown district was plunged into darkness.

On almost every corner scantily clad men, women and children stood shivering in the cold until the policemen permitted them to return to their rooms in the various hotels.

KILL FORTY-TWO MOROS

American Scouts Suffer No Fatalities in Fight.

Forty-two Moro outlaws were killed in an engagement with a detachment of American scouts. There were no fatalities on the American side. The battle took place in connection with the campaign for suppressing organized brigandage among the Moros.

The disarmament of the entire Moro population of Mindanao and Jolo was ordered by the American military authorities three months ago following a number of murderous attacks on Americans. Since that time the troops have been actively engaged in carrying out the order.

Most of the chiefs gave up their weapons peaceably, but there has been a series of sharp engagements with bandits. The casualties among Americans have been few.

SCORE IN STREET FIGHT

One Killed and Two Rushed to Hospitals in Dying Condition.

In New York Tuesday twenty men most of them disguised or masked, met in two squads in Thomas Jefferson park on the water front shortly after midnight and began shooting. The battle continued until the police arrived. Then men, revolvers in hand, ran in every direction. Some of the fugitives stopped and fired at the police.

The dead body of one man was picked up by the police and two other combatants were rushed to the hospital in a dying condition. Five other men were arrested, but none of them would talk about the affair. All were foreigners.

GEORGE H. SWEET IS PLACED BEHIND BARS

Head of Closed Banks Charged with Larency.

Bondsmen, Hearing That Other Warrants Are To Be Issued, Decide to Surrender Sweet to the Court.

Jackson, Mich., Dec. 18—George E. Sweet, of Detroit, the former head of the closed banks at Munith and Whitmore Lake, was placed under arrest in this city on a charge of grand larceny preferred by John Bacon and Emmanuel Harr of Munith. He is now confined in the county jail awaiting some action on the part of his attorney, Max Finkelston, of Detroit.

Sweet's examination on the charge of larceny brought by William Dixon of Munith several months ago, was set for Friday, but as negotiations looking toward the settlement with the depositors were in progress in Detroit, the examination was not taken up. Sweet has been out on $500 bail furnished by John Bacon, J. C. Leece and George Mayer, but these men decided that they did not care to assume any further responsbility in the matter, especially as it was rumored that other warrants were to be issued against Sweet, and they surrendered Sweet to the court. The case against Sweet, on which the three men had become his bondsmen was dismissed, and he was immediately arrested on a new complaint charging grand larceny of $53 16.

STATE TO BE SHORT $152,000

Will Begin New Year with Deficit, Instead of Even, as Was Expected.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 16. — Because of an under-estimate as to the probable deficit in the general fund of the state on Jan. 1, 1912, the state's financial account will show a shortage on Jan. 1 of about $152,000 instead of a balance, as was expected last winter.

Governor Osborn was informed of the true condition in a letter from State Accountant Fred Z. Hamilton, who states that while he estimated last February that the amount needed to square the state's shortage would be $561,000, it has since developed that $650,000 was needed and that other drains have developed which increase the amount agreed upon by Governor Osborn and the legislature with which to balance the account.

The situation indicates that state expenditures have been increasing faster than was appreciated and the wiping out of the deficit which has existed ever since the primary school money was separated from other state moneys, appears to be a more difficult task than expected.

SHOOTS FATHER IN QUARREL

John Trowbridge Is Now In Ionia County Jail as Result of Fracas.

Ionia, Mich., Dec. 16.—In a quarrel over money matters, John Trowbridge shot his father, William Trowbridge, in the face, inflicting a wound which it was at first thought would prove fatal, but from which the victim may recover. The shooting occurred on the Trowbridge farm, three miles east of Belding.

Immediately after the shooting the elder man declared that his son, upon his refusal to give him some money he had asked for, drew a revolver from his pocket and fired, missing. Then he fired again, and this shot struck the father just below the left eye, taking a course downward, cutting off the tongue and lodging in the lung.

In the county jail John Trowbridge admitted the shooting. He said that when his father swore at him and grabbed him by the throat he became frightened and excited, seized the revolver, which was lying on a sewing machine, and fired.

PROBING BOMB PLOTS

United States Grand Jury Starts Investigation in Indianapolis.

At Indianapolis, Ind., after weeks of preliminary work and probing by government agents in many parts of the country where explosions have taken place, the federal grand jury began its investigation of an alleged nation-wide conspiracy by which more than 100 structures were blown up and in which dynamite, nitroglycerin and other explosives were carried into at least seventeen states.

A detailed list of 100 explosions in structures erected by firms employing nonunion workmen, as furnished to the government by the National Erectors' association, has been prepared for the grand jury.

TREATY WITH RUSSIA WILL BE ABROGATED

Act Will Be Accomplished without Giving Offense.

Serves Notice on St. Petersburg of United States' Intention to Cancel Pact, and Then Tells Senate What He Has Done.

With no offense to the Czar's government, the treaty of 1832 with Russia, against which the Jews of this country have been protesting for many years, will be terminated.

Formal notice has been served on the government at St. Petersburg of the intention of the United States to end the treaty Jan. 1, 1912. President Taft took the situation into his own hands and through the United States ambassador at St. Petersburg on last Sunday made the first move toward the cancellation of the treaty. The president notified the U. S. senate of his action and asked for the approval and ratification of that body.

President Taft's procedure in terminating the treaty was in marked contrast to the method proposed by the house of representatives in the Sulzer resolution. Instead of boldly accusing Russia of having violated the terms of the treaty President Taft served notice of the desire of the United States to terminate it on the ground "that it is no longer responsive to the political and material relations of the two countries" and because the treaty has given "rise from time to time to certain controversies equally regretted by both governments."

The president not only refrained from any direct reference to discrimination owing to race or religion, but accepted the opportunity to emphasize the long-standing friendship between the two governments and to express an earnest hope for its continuance and final negotiation of another treaty of "friendship, commerce and navigation."

As a result of the president's diplomatic handling of the situation any likelihood of Russia regarding the termination of the treaty as an affront has disappeared and state department officials are certain that the relations of the United States and Russia will continue on the same cordial basis that has existed for years. There is good reason to believe that Russia has already informed this government that she is willing to enter into a discussion with a view to negotiating a new treaty.

The senate committee on foreign relations, with a view to ratifying the president's action, side-tracked the Sulzer resolution, the wording of which gave extreme offense to Russia, and substituted a joint resolution, diplomatically phrased in accordance with the president's message.

The leaders of the house, including Representative Sulzer himself, indicated that no serious attempt will be made to play politics with this question.

DEADLOCK IN PERSIA

Cabinet Would Dismiss Shuster, but Mejliss Will Not Agree.

If, as is now stated, the Persian cabinet has agreed to dismiss Shuster, the decision is as yet ineffective, as the Mejliss refuses to sanction the cabinet's proposals.

As a result there is a deadlock which, it is believed, Russia will terminate by advancing her troops next Thursday.

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

Your Neighbors Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. N. G. Harpel, 56 Treat St., Adrian, Mich., writes: "I have been bothered with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble that caused me much inconvenience, and my back ached severely at times and the action of my kidneys was irregular and painful. My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

The world always looks brighter from behind a smile.

Saved His Wife's Life

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

People who take to much liberty lose it all sooner or later.

"Best on Earth"

This is the verdict of J. Howell, Tracy, G., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure cure of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foleys Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."

Without opiates or harmful drugs of any kind Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs and cures colds. Do not accept any substitute. All Druggists.

When you trip up, fall forward, and get up farther along.

An Alarm at Night

That strikes terror to the entire household is the loud, hoarse and metallic cough of croup. No mistaking it, and fortunate then the lucky parents who keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound on hand. H. W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y. says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." All Druggists.

Foley's Kidney Pills

Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney and bladder trouble disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more. All Druggists.

JUST A REMINDER

At this time of the year when peace and good will prevails, a gentle reminder of the needs of the poor among us will not come amiss. It takes so little to make another happy that a small sum set aside to help in the good work would not be felt and many homes would be made brighter, not alone the very poor but those who have so few of the luxuries of life, and only by close management make a living. And the old people who have so little to brighten the way, Let us remember these also.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM ROBERT WILSON WHO IS LOCATED IN CUBA

Quantanamo, Cuba,
December, 9 1911.

Dear Editor:—

Now that I am nicely settled in the land of sunshine for the winter and having a little time I thought a few lines to my friends back in Michigan would not be amiss. I can hardly imagine how the cold weather you are having there would seem, sitting here as I am with the doors and windows wide open and a few misquitoes buzzing around. In order not to make this letter too long I will begin at once and tell of my trip which was a most enjoyable one.

I left Tecumseh Nov. 8 for New York by way of Toronto. In Toronto I met a friend of mine who has a similar position as chemist with the same Sugar Co., we arrived in New York Friday, Nov. 10. Our steamer sailed Saturday afternoon giving us a day and a half to see the city. We took in all the city we could in so short a time and was rather glad to get on board.

Promptly at one o'clock the steamer moved slowly out of the harbor and we were out on the Atlantic bound for a strange country. The trip down the uneventful and pleasant. We encountered no rough weather and no one on board was sick. Wednesday morning Nov. 15, I was awakened about five o'clock by a great deal of bustle and commotion on deck. Dressing hurridly I went out and a beautiful sight met my eyes. We were entering Nipe Bay, Cuba, and in the light of early dawn, palm trees and all manner of shrubbery could be seen on either side of the comparatively narrow channel. As it rapidly became lighter we could see mountains looming up a little way inland.

The ship came to anchor in the middle of the bay as the water is to shallow to admit docking. Breakfast was served and about ten o'clock a small ferry came out and took us ashore to Antillia. I am thankful that Antillia is not a typical Cuban town as it gives one a bad impression. In fact it can hardly be called a town only a mere stopping place until you can get out and on your way. We had plenty of time to see the whole town before our train left for San Luis where we were to stay over night and take the train the next afternoon for Quantanamo.

It was very hot in Antillia when we landed about noon but by train time it was very pleasant. We made the acquaintance of some Americans going our way and had a very pleasant journey to San Luis where we had to say good by to them as they were going to Santiago.

If I live to one hundred years old I'll never forget our night in San Luis. It is an inland town of about 8000 inhabitants. We enquired as to the hotels and were told there were two but it made little difference which one we put up at as one was as bad as the other. The preference was given the Washington if any because we would be apt to hear more English there. It was dark when we arrived at the station and when a cabman yelled "Hotel washington" we made a rush for fear he would overlook us. There was no need of that as we were the only passengers getting off and he was equally afraid of missing us. We climbed into the hack, a rackety old rattle trap, drawn by a pair of broken down ponies. After a short ride over the roughest road I believe I ever had the pleasure to ride over we pulled up to what shall I call it? It had the appearence of a stable and I remarked to my friend that I guessed he was going to unhitch the horses first, but no, he spoke the one word "Hotel" and a lot of other jibbering to which I answered "Yes I guess so," and he started off, we following. Through a dirty bar-room, into a back alley and up a back stairway and at last found ourselves in our room. It was fairly comfortable but resembled a room in a lodging camp more than a room in a hotel.

The next morning we found our way as best we could to the dining room and then and there we realized what it is to be a stranger in a strange country. We could'nt understand a word of Spanish and no one in San Luis could understand English. We were about to give up thoughts of getting anything to eat when the waiter got an idea. I don't see how he got it as ideas are mighty uncommon with these folks. He went out and got a sample of everything they had and brought them in. After tasting them all we selected such as we could eat and managed to make out a meal. When we came back for dinner the waiter didn't stop a moment but brought in the same kind of eatables we had ordered for breakfast.

We had a great time in San Luis that day as everything was new to us and I guess we were new to some of them judging by the fun the street urchins had. A couple of small bootblacks followed us and even after we had a shine still wanted a job the next block. We got tired at last and told them every way we could to clear out but they refused until at last my friend said "policeman" and the way they scattered was good to behold. You can bet we used that one word pretty regular after that with good effect.

The town itself is nothing beautiful. The streets are narrow and dirty. Every one through the country comes on horse back. The horses are left standing on the sidewalk, what there is of it, and in one case I saw a man ride right into a store, too lazy to get off his horse and on again.

We were glad to get aboard the train in the afternoon for Guantanamo. The train arrived in Guantanamo about eight o'clock at night and we took a hack to the Venus hotel. The Venus is a fine hotel in every way very pretty both inside and out. The service is fine and English is spoken.

The next day we saw some of the town, and reported at the Company's office. The next afternoon, Saturday Nov. 18 we came out to the plantation or estate as it is called, where we were received by the English speaking portion of the population. At present there are six Americans at the mess, some chemists, some civil engineers. It is very pleasant here. We have good quarters and, by hiring a cook and running a mess, we have things cooked the way we want them.

The climate is fine and healthy. It has rained some tho but the rainy weather is practically at an end now until May. The plantation is situated in a valley with moutains on all sides. The temperature is neither hot nor cold, but just right. The thermometer registers from seventy to eighty five during the day, and drops to about fifty at night. The nights are simply grand. The atmosphere is very clear, and the stars never seemed to shine so brightly. My work so far hasn't been hard, and if there were only a few more Americans here with a slight touch of more civilization, I would be content to end my days in the land where the flowers bloom the year around, and where fruit of all kind is abundant. I am afraid if I am not careful this will become a volumn, so will have to bring this feeble attempt at a description of my trip to an end, so wishing you every success I am

Yours Very Truly
Robert B. Wilson.

GOOD ROADS, FOR THE PROFIT OF FARMERS AND MERCHANTS

With the abominable roads that prevail at the present time which are a disgrace to Lenawee Co. and loss to our merchants of many thousand dollars. We surely think the subject of good roads comes home in a forcible manner and is well worth looking into and studying to find what is needed to improve them and the best kind of road to construct.

One of our merchants remarked that $15,000 would no more than cover the loss to our business men at this time of the year and all owing to the condition of the roads.

Is'nt this a subject for our business men's club to take up?

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

It is with sincerity we say, no one can wish you a Happier, Merrier Christmas than we.

We have appreciated your favors of the past year, small or large, and hope for a continuance.

We trust the past year has been one of happiness and prosperity to you and yours and that the coming year will be just as happy and properous, if not more so.

If there have been dealings in the past year, not just satisfactory or to your liking, they were unintentional, believe us, on our part and hope you will give us an opportunity this coming year to make amends. Believe us to be.

Sincerely.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

There Are Hundreds of Tecumseh People Similiarly Situated

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since then, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, in fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and shall continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United Sates.

Climate and Food.

In the arctic regions human food is almost exclusively animal, because that is the only sort which is available in quantity. In the tropics, where vegetable food is abundant and animal foods readily decay, plant products are and always have been of very great importance in the diet. In temperate regions all kinds of food may be enjoyed; and it seems reasonable to suppose that all kinds have always been eaten as they are today

Light itself is a great corrective. A thousand wrongs and abuses that are grown in darkness disappear like owls and bats before the light of day.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.509 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

BRANDS POOLE AS THIEF

State's Attorney Declares Prisoner's Son Was In Danger of Death.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 18.—Direct charges that robbery was the motive of John Poole in the Kemper murder were made by Attorney Grant Hall in his closing argument for the state. In substantiation of his theory, the attorney declared that a sum of $22, which Kemper had on his person prior to his death, was taken from his pockets and that Poole was the thief.

In effort to cite further the desperate character of the defendant, the attorney made the assertion that Poole know no respect for his family, and that his own son, Emory Poole, would have met a fate similar to Kemper's "had he so much as intimated that he had observed anything wrong on the afternoon of the murder."

Attorney Hall recited numerous instances by which he strove to show that Poole had demonstrated he would shoot to kill "to carry out his thievish designs."

M'NAMARAS IN PRISON

Gates of the Penitentiary at Quentin, Cal., Close on Dynamiters.

The walls of San Quentin mark the boundaries of the world for James B. and John J. McNamara.

The prisoners, who were brought up from Los Angeles on the night train, arrived at Port Costa, thirty miles from this city, shortly before 7 a. m. All the way up from the southern city they were held under the closest guard and were kept handcuffed. They occupied a stateroom on a Pullman with an officer in attendance all the time and even when they retired for the night they were in irons.

To Give Him the Sack.

Two noblemen in the reign of Maximilian II.—1564-1576—one a German, the other a Spaniard, who had each rendered a great service to the emperor, asked the hand of his daughter in marriage. Maximilian said that as he esteemed them both alike it was impossible to choose between them, and therefore their own prowess must decide it; but, being unwilling to risk the loss of either by engaging them in deadly combat, he ordered a large sack to be brought and declared that he who should put his rival into it should have his fair Helena. And this whimsical combat was actually performed in the presence of the imperial court and lasted an hour. The unhappy Spanish nobleman was first overcome, and the German succeeded in enveloping him in the sack, putting him upon his back and laying him at the emperor's feet. This comical combat is said to be the origin of the phrase "Give him the sack," so common in the literature of courting.

The Day of the Carver.

Carving was once a serious thing. The sixteenth century carver was a professional. He had to make the joint fit the guest. The size of his slices was the thing. Then he had to know his guests and cut accordingly. A lord, for instance, at the table and a pike was dished up whole. Small fry, and the pike came on in slices. The same procedure with pig. The rank of the diners decided whether it should appear at table in gold leaf or naked, whole or sliced. With bread too, there was a difference. New or three days old baked was at the discretion of the carver as he sized up the visitors. And as for the apportioning of the tidbits according to precedence there was no end. The old time carver, in fact, was born and then made.—London Standard.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

BIRMINGHAM—While he was despondent by reason of long-continued ill health, Thomas G. McKinney of this village went to his barn shortly after noon and hanged himself to a rafter with a tie strap. After peeling potatoes for dinner for his wife he left the house and as he did not return as soon as expected, Mrs. McKinney sent her son, Newman, aged eight, after his father. The boy came back with the word that his father was "sick." Mrs. McKinney then investigated and found her husband dead. He had jumped from a box with the strap around his neck and strangled to death.

ALLEGAN—The trial in this city of a law suit which created great interest and was attended by probably as many people as any hereabouts since the celebrated Grange store case six years ago stirred up the people of southwestern Allegan county, was that of John and Royal Reeder, father and son, charged with assaulting George Barnes and his son in a cornfield, brought on by a dispute over the dividing of the shares. They were found guilty and the father was sentenced to spend twenty-five days in jail and pay a fine of $35 and $40 cotss and the son fined $35 and $40 costs.

KALAMAZOO—A number of former and present employes of the Standard Paper company told in court how they had been ordered by the superintendent of the plant to turn on the secret by-pass through which the company is alleged to have stolen over $20,000 worth of water from the city. William Hewitt, an engineer at the plant, told how the water could be made to run around the meter without registration. There was a way that a fastening could be removed without breaking the seal put on the meter by the city.

ALLEGAN—A great deal of interest is being shown in the decision of Circuit Judge Padgham that he will call a grand jury at the instance of the officials of the Holland City Gas company, for the purpose of probing the alleged bribe-soliciting by the company in its attempt to secure an amendment to its franchise. The gas company has sued Ex-Mayor Brusse of Holland for heavy damages for alleged slander in saying he was offered $5,000 to influence legislation in is favor.

ALMA—Met in this city, at the train by a large delegation of citizens, entertained by Ami W. Wright, millionaire lumberman, Ernest Thompson Seton received an enthusiastic welcome here. Classes in the public schools as well as the first hour classes in the college were suspended while Mr. Seton delivered a talk. In the evening he gave an illustrated lecture at the opera house.

ADAIR—Peter Burgett, living in this place, didn't know his gun was loaded, and while cleaning it preparatory to going on a hunting trip, he received a charge of shot in his right shoulder. The flow of blood caused his parents to think his lung was shattered and three doctors worked over him. He will recover.

VASSAR—George L. Truax, a blacksmith living in this town, purchased a driving horse and was having it kept in a transient barn. For reasons unknown, some person put carbolic acid in the horse's mouth and on its tongue, which tortured the animal. A reward has been offered for the offender.

JACKSON—A term of from five to fifteen years' imprisonment in Jackson prison was the penalty imposed by Judge Parkinson on Charles Caswell, Joseph I. Fischmeister and Walter Moull, confessed box car robbers. The court recommended seven and one-half years.

BENTON SPRINGS—Henry Clymer, a farm hand living near here, burned to death in a fire which destroyed his home here. His charred body was found sitting upright in a chair. It is thought that Clymer has built a fire in a stove and then had fallen asleep

FLINT—Life imprisonment in the state prison at Jackson was the sentence imposed upon Andrew Pixley, who was convicted by a jury in circuit court of the murder of Mort Keyser last July. Pixley requested Judge Wisner to send him to Jackson.

[illegible]

"Here!" called the impatient guest. The obsequious waiter came to his side, says Judge.

"Seems to me that soup I ordered is a long time getting to me."

"Yes, sir, but you must remember, sir, that you ordered turtle soup."

One of the Chorus Girls Who Were Acquitted in Stokes Case.

NEW YORK—Misses Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad were acquitted of the charge of attempting to kill W. E. D. Stokes. The jury which freed the chorus girls believed the story that they shot Stokes in self-defense. It was not impressed by Stokes' account of the gun play and the circumstances that led up to the shooting. Persons who talked to the jurymen said that it was evident that they considered Stokes, as well as the chorus girls on trial. The verdict surprised both sides.

ROYALTY IN SHIPWRECK

Sister of King George and Duke of Fife in Peril.

The Oriental Steam Navigation company's steamer Delhi, from London for Bombay, conveying the Princess Louise Victoria Alexandra Dagmar, sister of King George V., with her husband, the duke of Fife, and their daughters, with many other passengers on their way to Egypt, has gone ashore on the south of Cape Spartel, on the coast of Morocco, at the entrance to the Straits of Gibraltar.

Several tugs have gone to the ship's assistance. Her position is considered so perilous that the British cruiser Weymouth also has been ordered to leave here for the scene with a detachment of artillery in charge of a life saving apparatus. Rough weather prevails.

After some time the women and children were taken off the Delhi by tugs assisted by the French cruiser Friant.

Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to.

Other organs act more slowly and less effectually.

Blood is thin and sluggish.

Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system.

That's what makes you feel old.

Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, back-sliding organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cods' livers, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic iron added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life.

REPRISAL SOUGHT BY THE RUSSIANS

Attacks on Czar's Troops May Cost Persia Dearly.

PUNISHMENT TO BE SEVERE

Reinforcements Are Ordered to Tabriz and Official Paper in St. Petersburg Is Shouting Itself Hoarse for Bloody Revenge.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 25.—The peace which was promised by the yielding of Persia to the Russian ultimatum now seems more distant than ever.

The conflicts between the Persian fidais and Russian troops at Tabriz, Resht and Enzeli will not only stiffen Russia into not withdrawing the troops she sent to enforce the ultimatum and compliance with the agreement, but will bring a large increase of Russian forces into the distressed country.

The Russian government has decided to punish these attacks severely. Prime Minister Kokovtseff and Foreign Minister Sazonoff held conferences on the situation and subsequently the viceroy of Caucasus was ordered to rush the biggest reinforcements available to Tabriz. Persia will immediately be made to pay dearly for the hot-headed action of her northern patriots.

The Novoe Vremya quotes the head of the Persian department of the foreign office as saying that nobody expected the anti-Russian agitation to take such a violent turn. The central government, which, after accepting Russia's ultimatum, ordered the Tabriz authorities to co-operate with the Russian consul in restoring order, had nothing to do with the outbreak which was clearly the work of the dregs of the revolutionary movement. Russia, this official said, would now take the matter in her own hands and teach the fidais a lesson which they will not be likely to forget. There will be no question of mercy.

The Novoe Vremya editorially endorses the foregoing emphatically and calls for a bloody revenge. Among other things it says that the hesitating voice of diplomacy must be replaced by the uncompromising roar of cannon. It adds: "In this case true humanity needs the exercise of cruelty. Wherever Russians are attacked a Russian must take over the administration. The population of Tabriz must be punished and must indemnify the families of the slaughtered Russians."

WOOL GROWERS OBJECT

Rates Proposed by Tariff Board Not Deemed Sufficient.

Secretary of Wool Growers' Association Issues Statement Concerning Schedule K.

Washington, Dec. 25. — Representatives of the interests affected by the tariff are beginning to flock to Washington, and naturally the wool men are first to arrive on the scene.

In a statement given out here by N. S. W. McClure, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association, it is made known that that organization does not approve of the rates for schedule K proposed by the tariff board. In fact the Wool Growers' association will fight for higher rates on raw wool than those that are deemed to be equitable by the tariff board.

Secretary McClure points out that the tariff board, in estimating cost of production here and abroad, failed to take into account interest charges on the investments in the property involved. He makes a comparison of interest charges in this country and Australia, which is a big producer of wool.

RICH CATTLEMAN ONCE A NEWSBOY

Kansas City Lad Makes Fortune in Texas.

ED. JACKSON A MILLIONAIRE

After Driving Street Car and Herding Sheep, He Goes Into Business for Himself with Surprising Success and Dies Wealthy.

San Angelo, Tex., Dec. 25.—Ed. Jackson, who began his career thirty-five years ago as a newsboy in Kansas City and later worked as a sheep herder in west Texas, is dead, leaving an estate of more than $1,000,000 in land and cattle.

Jackson was fifty years old and a bachelor. A legal contest is expected over the distribution of the estate. It is said that he has bequeathed the sum of $100,000 to a penniless Mexican washwoman and her two small children. Jackson was one of the most picturesque characters of west Texas, likewise one of the most eccentric.

Jackson supported his widowed mother by the sale of newspapers in Kansas City. They had removed to Kansas City from Kentucky when he was ten years old. Later he worked as a street lamp cleaner in Kansas City and on the two managed to save enough to remove to Austin, Tex., where the boy drove a street car and supported his mother.

In 1880 Jackson came to San Angelo and herded sheep at a salary of $10 per month, taking his pay out in sheep from his employer. Two years later he had a flock of his own and in 1885 he took up 100 sections of land from the state, which he sold for $300,000 in 1898 to St. Louis parties.

His only relative is a half-sister, Mrs. W. L. Caldwell, of Sonora.

500 MINERS ON STRIKE

Demand Reinstatement of Machine Miner Who Has Been Transferred.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 25. — Five hundred miners employed in the Tecumseh mines at Bicknell went on strike when the company failed to reinstate a machine miner as demanded by the officials of the Indiana district of United Mine Workers. The company officials say he was transferred from machine work because he failed to take proper care of his machine. The miners' officials say they found that the man was competent and careful.

Secretary Philip Penna of the Indiana Operators' association has called a meeting of all Indiana operators for next Wednesday to deal with the situation. He says it is the most advanced demand ever made by the miners' organization toward control of the mines.

Reaches Home from Alaska.

Anderson, Ind., Dec. 25.—Holland Eliason, who has spent the last six years in Alaska, arrived here to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eliason of 1527 Cedar street. This was the first trip back to the states since leaving here six years ago. He reports that he has done well in the northern region, and expects to return north in the early spring.

GRAND TRUNK IN HUGE COAL DEAL

Buys 31,000 Acres of Mineral Land in Ohio.

TO SUPPLY FUEL FOR ROAD

Another Big Deal Said to Be Pending, by Which Forty-One Mining Companies in Belmont and Jefferson Counties Will Merge.

Pittsburg, Dec. 25. — The Grand Trunk railroad of Canada has purchased the Rail and River Coal company's mines and will operate these for the supply of fuel for the railroad almost exclusively.

The sale includes 31,000 acres of coal land in the No. 8 seam, Pittsburg vein, in Belmont county, Ohio. There are six mines in operation, with an output of 750,000 tons of coal per annum.

The capital stock of the Rail and River Coal company was $2,500,000, and there are $2,500,000 in bonds outstanding. It is said that the Rail and River Coal company secured about $3,000,000 for their properties and the Grand Trunk has guaranteed the bonds. The railroad assumes all the obligations.

It is said the Grand Trunk railroad purchased the 31,000 acres of land with the six mines in Belmont county, Ohio, because of the impending deal that is going through to consolidate forty-one mining companies in Belmont and Jefferson counties. Dan R. Hanna, one of the largest owners and operators of coal in No. 8 seam, has agreed to dispose of his properties to the new combine. M. S. Lissman & Co., New York, are underwriting the stock and representing capitalists of London and Amsterdam.

The new consolidation will represent a capital of $30,000,000 and an output of 13,000,000 tons of coal annually. Among the large companies that are named in the combine are: The Osborne and Saeger interests of Cleveland, Belmont Coal mining company, Loraine Coal and Dock company, Thomas and Edward Johnson of Columbus, owners; Pittsburg-Belmont Coal company, Pittsburg-Cleveland Coal company, Roby, Somers & Co. of Cleveland, St. Clair Coal company, Troll Coal Mining compny, Purseglove Coal company, and Youghie Coal company, with numerous smaller operators.

WICKERSHAM WILLING

Would Prosecute Cotton Bears As Well As Bulls.

Interview with the Attorney General in New Orleans Just Before Sailing for Panama.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 25.—"If facts were presented to me showing that the bear interests had conspired to decrease the price of cotton in a way that acted as a restraint of trade I would certainly prosecute the bears as willingly as shave the bulls."

This was the statement made here by Attorney General Wickersham just before embarking for a visit to the Panama canal zone, accompanied by Mrs. Wickersham, Ambassador and Mme. Jusseraud of France and Ambassador and Mme. J. Loudon of the Netherlands.

In giving a reason why the department of justice had not taken action against the cotton bears as well as the bulls the attorney general explained that no facts revealing a conspiracy to depress the price of cotton had been brought before him. He said it would be hard to show how the depressing of the price of cotton would interfere with interstate commerce. In fact, he thought, the result would be the reverse of "restraint."

"The criticisms aimed at my department in regard to this," continued the attorney general, "are unfair. It is contended that if I prosecute the bulls I should also prosecute the bears. This is simply the popular argument."

Lightning Kills Few

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

You can't butter it when you have to swallow pride.

Your Neighbors Experience

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. N. G. Harpel, 56 Treat St., Adrian, Mich., writes: "I have been bothered with a severe case of kidney and bladder trouble that caused me much inconvenience, and my back ached severely at times and the action of my kidneys was irregular and painful. My ankles were some times swollen and when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills spoken of highly, I began taking them. The effects were immediate and good as well as lasting, and they shall always have my highest praise." All Druggists.

Saved His Wife's Life

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., "if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds its the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup and whooping cough. 50c. $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by C. A. Wright & Son.

People who take to much liberty lose it all sooner or later.

"Best on Earth"

This is the verdict of J. Howell, Tracy, G., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure cure of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foleys Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."

W. Casselman, Canton, N. Y. says: "It is worth its weight in gold. Our little children are troubled with croup and hoarseness, and all we give them is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. I always have a bottle of it in the house." All Druggists.

The Truth About Maisie

She Proved That Sometimes "the End Justifies the Means"

By AGNES G. BROGAN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911

The boyish looking young pastor of Trinity church frowned darkly and removed a footstool which stood in his way in a very unclerical manner while the sweet faced old lady who sat near by folded a letter which she had been reading aloud.

"Well, David," she asked, "what shall we do about it?"

"There is just one thing to be done, of course," her son answered promptly; "we must send for my brother's child and ask her to make this her home."

The old lady readjusted her spectacles and referred again to the letter. "Richard was ambitious to be a great artist," she said slowly, "and I can picture the lifelong struggle which ended only in defeat. But at the last he remembered his mother.

"'Take care of my little girl,' he writes. 'She is an irresponsible, thoughtless creature, sound and good at heart. Watch over her, I entreat you, and use your influence, if possible, in persuading her to leave the stage. A letter addressed to her proper name, "Miss M. E. Randolph, Golden Butterfly company, New York," will be forwarded wherever she may be.'"

And so it happened that Miss Randolph, sitting in her dressing room at the theater a few days later, was handed a letter, and her large dark eyes grew wider and brighter still as she read this kindly invitation to become a member of the parsonage household.

"Your grandmother and I will do all in our power to make you happy," the note read, and the girl smiled at the superscription—"David Paul Randolph, pastor of Trinity church, Eastville, N. Y."

She leaned forward and made a little face in the glass, then turned to get a better view of the golden wings suspended from her shoulders. "My dear uncle-minister," she confided to her charming reflection, "I don't really believe you could make me happy—in Eastville."

Telegrams in Eastville were usually associated with death or disaster, so when David Randolph received a yellow envelope his mother waited in suspense as he read the brief message.

"What is it?" she asked impatiently, while his puzzled expression changed to one of amusement.

"The Golden Butterflies have arrived in New York," he answered dryly, "and I am to meet 'Maisie' at Eastville station at 9 o'clock tonight."

"Maisie," the old lady repeated doubtfully.

Rain came pelting against the study windows, and the wind, screeching down the garden path, threw wide the door. A girl stood there in the aperture, wearing a fur trimmed scarlet cloak, whose hue rivaled the firelight; she tilted back her head in order to glance from beneath the huge brim of a plume decked hat.

"You did not hear me knock," she announced. "I'm Maisie."

The young pastor came forward quickly. "Your telegram has just reached us," he explained. "I expected to meet you on the 9 o'clock train."

Maisie laughed. "I intended to leave New York later," she said. "When you know me better you will learn that the unexpected usually happens where I am concerned."

With a sudden impulse the elder woman took the other, scarlet cloak and all, into her embrace.

"Granddaughter, don't go back to that life," she said. "Stay and take your father's place in our home."

The girl drew in her breath sharply. "I will stay as long as you wish," she replied, "if you will like me for my own sake."

So the Golden Butterflies packed up and left New York, while Maisie remained at the quiet parsonage. The hitherto silent house now rang with her gay songs and laughter, and the creases and lines which "dull care" had traced upon the tired pastor's face vanished. Maisie laid aside the scarlet cloak and monstrous hat at his bidding, and with a sigh of regret folded away the orange silk which had caused such a tumult of criticism among his congregation. She even endeavored to smooth back the riotous curls which had been her pride and appeared at church one day with neatly banded hair and attired in a gray gown of severe simplicity. It was pleasant to remember, as the pastor went about his duties, that Maisie would be there to welcome him when he returned, and he would hasten his steps in anticipation. It was pleasant also for the old lady to sit resting in the twilight as Maisie sang the half forgotten songs—ending up, perhaps, with a very modern burst of ragtime. But gradually a cloud appeared upon this happy horizon; the girl herself grew restless and dissatisfied; she spent afternoons in the city, returning at evening silent and depressed.

"Do you think," the young minister asked haltingly, "that it is the old life calling her back?"

His mother hesitated a moment. "David," she said presently, "did it ever occur to you that Maisie may have a lover?"

His face turned strangely white. "You mean"— he asked abruptly.

"A letter came for her this morning with the name of a theater stamped upon the envelope," the old lady replied. "Maisie gave a glad cry when I brought it and ran up to her room. Later she came down and, bidding me goodby, left for the city, making no explanation." The old lady paused again.

"Mrs. Thayer saw her coming from the stage entrance of a vaudeville theater after a matinee performance a few days ago," she added impressively.

"She is not acting fair," he exclaimed passionately. "If she has grown tired of our quiet ways why doesn't she say so? We would not force her to stay. I am going to find Maisie now," he cried, "and make her own the truth."

His mother followed him to the door, and her voice trembled. "Oh, David," she said, "it will be hard indeed to let her go."

He was just in time, no more. The great crowd came flocking through the doorways of the theater, and the young minister grimly stood waiting beneath a sign which informed him that this was the stage entrance. He was conscious of many questioning glances from various members of the company who passed laughingly on their way. Maisie came last, and his heart hammered painfully as he saw her. She carried a sheath of crimson roses in her arms, and a distinguished looking man accompanied her. She stopped in astonishment at sight of David.

"You?" she breathed.

"Yes, Maisie," he answered quietly. "I have come to take you home."

She held out her hand to the man at once. "Goodby, Tom," she said gently, then turned to walk obediently at David's side. In silence they traversed the streets and boarded a waiting train; then he leaned toward her.

"Oh, little girl," he said earnestly, "why did you not tell us you longed to go back to the stage—that you were tired of our simple home life?"

She looked up at him with tear bright eyes. "Because," she answered distinctly, "I have never been on the stage; because the hours spent in your home have been the happiest ones of my life."

"My dear niece," he was beginning when she interrupted him wildly.

"That is also untrue," she said; "I am not your niece. Oh, let me tell my disgraceful story quickly, and when it is over and you have bidden me goodby believe that your kindness has not been wasted, even upon an impostor. Can you think what it means to be homeless, utterly friendless? That was my condition. My father, a poor professor of music, left mother and me years ago to struggle on alone; she sewed day and night to earn our bread, while I attended school. When she died a year ago I suddenly realized my own helplessness. A modiste for whom mother had sewed finally agreed to give me small parts to embroider, and it was a happy chance which led me thus to meet that little theatrical favorite, that warm hearted girl, your niece, Marion Randolph. She kept me busily employed, paying generously for my work and later declared that we had become too necessary to each other to be parted, so we traveled on together, while I made myself useful to her in various ways. Marion had a faithful lover, manager of the company, and when her father died in Chicago he insisted upon taking care of her at once, and they were married, with myself the only attendant. Soon after came your letter offering this greatly admired and petted little actress the shelter of a peaceful home.

"Oh, how desperately I wished that the offer had been made to me!

"'If we might only change places, Marion,' I said regretfully. And in a moment she was urging, suggesting delightful possibilities. 'Why not?' she insisted. 'You will suit them much better than me. Tommie can provide all the home I want. Go for a time, anyway, and when they have learned the truth, Maisie, they will love you too well to let you go.'

"Marion can persuade, indeed, when she tries, and, carried away by her enthusiasm, I recklessly entered into the plot and followed the telegram she had sent, even wearing the clothes she had provided."

Maisie's voice faltered.

"I have been happy, happy, until my numbed conscience awoke to reproach me continually. When the Golden Butterflies came to New York I sought out Marion, telling her that I must confess, and she sent a note saying that if I was determined in my purpose she would be waiting, ready to take me away with her. The man whom you saw me with a short time ago is Marion's husband."

The faltering voice broke into a little sob.

"Please," the girl begged, "do not tell your mother all until I have gone away."

She followed the young minister blindly down the aisle, and when the train rushed panting on again he turned to her eagerly.

"Oh, Maisie, dear," he said. "Do you think we could let you go?"

"But I have deceived you," she repeated wonderingly. "I am not your niece. Do you not understand?"

"I understand many things now," he replied. "Man can get along without a niece, little girl. What he really needs is a wife."

And a little old lady sitting alone in the firelight looked up as the two figures appeared in the doorway, a sort of subdued happiness seeming to infold them both. The girl's eyes shone starlike above an armful of strangely crushed and drooping roses.

"Maisie," the mother cried, "you have come home?"

"Yes," her son answered joyously. "Maisie has come home to stay."

Browning and a Cabman.

The gondoliers of Venice are supposed to know their Tasso and Ariosto. The following little incident leads to the supposition that Browning's "Ride to Ghent" may possibly be found in the poetic repertory of the London cabman: A neighbor one day saw Mr. Browning alight from a hansom. The cabby looked at the fare in his open palm with an air of dissatisfaction and, wheeling round, delivered himself of this parting shot: "You may be a good poet, but you're a bad paymaster."—Mrs. Andrew Crosse in "Red Letter Days of My Life."

His Calling.

"What are you doing now, Wigglethorpe?"

"Settlement work."

"Settlement work? You don't look the part."

"That's what I'm doing, just the same; I'm collecting bills for old Spotcash."—Exchange.

An Easy Task.

Lover (mournfully)—Have you learned to love another? Flirt (who had just broken off her engagement with him)—Oh, no, George. I didn't have to learn. The man is very, very wealthy, and the love came spontaneously.

TWO WORKMEN KILLED

Six Others Are Injured in Collapse of Bridge Span.

Philadelphia, Dec. 25.—Through the collapse of a bridge span on the Medford branch of the Pennsylvania railroad half a mile below Haddonfield, N. J., two men were instantly killed and six others injured—some, it is feared, fatally.

All were workmen employed on the road.

Same Thing.

"Reggie invites me out to dinner every other evening."

"I suppose you just dote on him?"

"I table d'hote on him!"—Satire.

A WAIL FROM THE TAX PAYERS

We Give a List of Those in the Village of Tecumseh Whom the Tax Affects the Most, and Whose Taxes are Over $100

ONLY $17 ON $1,000 FOR DISTRICT NO. 7

As one stood in the office of the tax collector it was amusing and affecting to hear the exclamations as well as wails that went up as each one asked the amount of their taxes, and each one asked the question. Why are our taxes so much higher? The Herald representative thought there would be no better way than to compare last years taxes with this, which will show where the increase lies:

The State tax	1910	$1 96
" " "	1911	8 50
The School tax	1910	3 64
" " "	1911	7 50
The County tax	1910	1 19
" " "	1911	1 70
The township tax	1910	91

With minor taxes in the same proportion.

It will be a comfort to our tax payers to know that this is the last year that we have to pay on the big bridge.

It might also be of interest to our tax payers to know how our taxes have increased in the last six years. We also give a list of those in the village of Tecumseh whose taxes are over $100, Wellington's Subtle Retort.

Wednesday, 19th October, 1836—Lord Fitzgerald made us laugh at dinner today with a story about John Wilson Croker, whose pertinacity of opinion is well known. He was laying down the law after dinner to the Duke of Wellington and, according to custom, asserting the superiority of his own information on all subjects, having even flatly contradicted the duke, who had mentioned some incident that had taken place at the battle of Waterloo. At last the conversation turned upon the use of percussion caps for muskets of the army when Croker again maintained a directly opposite opinion to that which was urged by the duke, who at last good humoredly said to him, "My dear Croker, I can yield to your superior information on most points, and you may know a great deal more of what passed at Waterloo than myself, but as a sportsman I will maintain my point about percussion caps."—Thomas Raikes' Journal.

The Larch In Labrador.

The soil and atmosphere are so cold and dry in faraway Labrador that scarcely any vegetation thrives at all. The larch is a species of pine tree which is found in all northern countries, but its growth is so stunted in Labrador that a specimen found on the most southern part of that dreary land was but nine inches in height and the trunk was but three-eighths of an inch in diameter. A careful examination of the miniature tree revealed its age to be at least thirty-two years, for there were that number of ring growths shown in its small trunk. The very cold currents pouring down from the north and the fact that Labrador has less sunshine than Alaska, together with several inland climatic conditions, make the summer seasons shorter and colder than are those of Alaska.—Exchange.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

There Are Hundreds of Tecumseh People Similiarly Situated

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Tecumseh residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says: "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer troubled me, in fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and shall continue to do so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United Sates.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R 504 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

GOVERNORS SEE GOTHAM SIGHTS

ARRIVE ON ALFALFA SPECIAL

Colonel Bill Hanley, Chaperone of Party, Looks Like Bryan but Insists that He Is Not the Famous Nebraskan.

New York, Dec. 11. — Colonel Bill Hanley of Oregon, who owns 240,000 acres paved with cattle and an interest in a concern owning 600,000 acres, who is mistaken often for Colonel Bryan has arrived in town.

In Bill's party were eight governors of western states, lieutenant governors and about forty-five other folks. The following governors were in the party: Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho, Governor Adolph C. Eberhardt of Minnesota, Governor E. L. Norris of Montana, Governor T. L. Oddie of Nevada, Governor John Burke of North Dakota, Governor Robert Vessey of South Dakota, Governor Oswald West of Oregon, and Governor Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming.

Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California sent Colvin Brown to represent the governor, California and the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915. Lieutenant Governor Fitzgerald of Colorado represented Governor Shafroth of Colorado. Governor Marion Hay of Washington was proxied by J. E. Barnes.

The governors are travelling about the country to advertise their section of the country and boost their own states.

Ex-Governor Brady of Idaho first thought of this plan to bring all the governors of eleven western states east on a train filled not only with chief executives, but with banners strung along the "Alfalfa special," as the party has come to call the train, nuggets, alfalfa, potatoes, pumpkins, wheat, lots and lots of grain and alfalfa and things.

The governors and their party got into the Jersey City train sheds aboard their special from a stormy night at Philadelphia. At 7:30 o'clock they came up for air in their dining car beneath the train sheds. Ahead of the dining car was a car bearing a banner about the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, 1915. In turn ahead of this car were cars bearing banners which read: "Oregon and Idaho;" "Montana and Washington;" "North and South Dakota," and "Wyoming." Also there were sleepers, baggage cars and an observation—buffet car—fourteen cars in all.

Commissioner Waldo, Commissioner O'Keefe, Commissioner Thompson, Commissioner Edwards and Robert Adamson and members of the Rocky Mountain club's reception committee went to Jersey City in the police boat Patrol and brought the governors to Manhattan.

The governors were banquetted at the Waldorf Astoria by the Rocky Mountain club, of which John Hays Hammond is president.

BARBER NOT AN ARTIST

Missouri Judge So Decides in Opinion on State Occupation Tax.

Macon, Mo., Dec. 25.—The barber is not an artist in the meaning of the statutes, according to Judge Shelton in deciding a case from Bevier. Evan Williams was, with other barbers, assessed an occupation tax of $5.25. The barbers refused to pay the tax on the ground that their trade was not denominated in the statute.

City Attorney Waldo Edwards insisted that artists were named and that the supreme court has referred to "the art of barbering. Judge Shelton held that a barber was a laborer and not liable for an occupation tax.

Pullman's Little Joke.

S. S. Beman, the architect, had the most to do with the building of the town of Pullman, although acting on certain suggestions from the founder of the colony. When plans had been completed and the perfunctory work of execution was under way the architect said to the car company chief:

"Now that we are well started, Mr. Pullman, I want to ask you if you have given any thought to naming the town."

"A great deal," said Mr. Pullman. "I think it is only fair that you should have recognition, and I have decided upon a composite name that will immortalize you and myself at the same time. We will do this by taking the first syllable of my name and the last syllable of yours."—Chicago Post.

GLAD CHRISTMAS THE WORLD OVER

President Taft Gets a Box from Aunt Delia Torrey.

ROYAL FOLKS ENJOY HOLIDAY

Daughter of King and Queen of England Buys Bathrobe for Her Brother—Christmas Trees in Two Courts.

Millbury, Mass., Dec. 25. — Aunt Delia Torrey sent her annual Christmas box to "Nephew Will," addressed to William H. Taft, president of the United States.

Aunt Delia marked the bundle "handle with care." The contents of the box has been kept a bit of a secret, though Aunt Delia hinted that the White House tastes would not lack for some homemade jellies for Christmas dinner made from grapes and apples grown on the Torrey place.

Aunt Delia also spoke mysteriously of some other goodies, maybe a plum pudding, or possibly some of her famous apple pies.

"The president has recovered from the cold which troubled him," says Aunt Delia. "He is very busy with his cares of office and with looking after the interest of the people."

The feast over, the emperor and empress stepped out into the hall into the famous shell room, where were the imperial Christmas trees, one for each member of the family. SHOOTS HIS STEPSON DURING A QUARREL

Saginaw Man Is Held Pending the Outcome.

Several Family Rows Have Occurred Because John McCarty's Wife's Children Insisted Upon Living with Him.

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 26.—John McCarty, forty-five years old, is held at central police headquarters pending the outcome of an investigation of the shooting of John McCarty, twenty-four years old, his stepson, which took place at the former's home. The wound is not serious.

The story given to the police by McCarty is that his wife's children, three boys, Mike, Frank and John, insisted on living with him, which he resented. Several times family rows have occurred and this time everything was set for the climax. The boys went to their mother's home, it is said, and McCarty ordered them away. Mrs. McCarty entered the argument and took her sons' part. One word led to another, McCarty says, until the three threatened violence. Mike, the oldest boy, he says, started for him and he drew his revolver, saying: "If you come a step closer I'll spill your brains on the floor." John took up the cause and rushed in. The revolver cracked, the bullet taking effect in his right leg above the knee.

The police were notified and McCarty placed under arrest.

Gov. Osborn Names Saginaw Democrat to Succeed James H. Thompson.

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 25.—W. B. Mershon has been appointed member of the state board of tax commissioners to succeed James H. Thompson of Lansing, who has resigned.

While the governor was in the city the announcement was made. The appointment was a complete surprise, as nothing had been given out of the governor's intentions. Mr. Mershon is a Democrat, and he succeeds a Republican. Mr. Mershon is well known in Saginaw and throughout the state.

The governor says he feels elated in having Mr. Mershon accept the position, as he is fitted in every respect to fill the office.

"It is my strong desire to remove politics of every kind from the state tax commission," said Governor Osborn. "I am determined to make it a bi-partisan, non-partisan, non-political body, and Mr. Mershon's appointment will do that."

Owosso Man Struck by Train Near Saginaw While Wife Plans Joy.

Owosso, Mich., Dec. 26.—While under stress of domestic infelicity, Mrs. Henry Lyon received word that her husband had been killed by a northbound Michigan Central passenger train, near Swan Creek, eight miles south of Saginaw.

Lyon was employed by the Owosso Carriage and Sleigh company. On returning to his home from work he and his wife had a disagreement and he left, but his wife had no thought of his staying away or leaving the city. It is thought he went to Chesaning and later, while in a confused state of mind, walked north on the track toward Saginaw instead of returning to this city. He was fifty-three years old.

TAFT ABROGATES THE TREATY WITH RUSSIA

Action Is Ratified by the Senate and House.

President Notifies St. Petersburg of United States' Intention to Cancel Pact, and Then Tells Senate What He Has Done.

With no offense to the Czar's government, the treaty of 1832 with Russia, against which the Jews of this country have been protesting for many years, will be terminated.

Formal notice has been served on the government at St. Petersburg of the intention of the United States to end the treaty Jan. 1, 1912. President Taft took the situation into his own hands and through the United States ambassador at St. Petersburg on last Sunday made the first move toward the cancellation of the treaty. The president notified the U. S. senate of his action and asked for the approval and ratification of that body.

President Taft's action was unanimously ratified by the senate after debate, the motion being presented by Senator Lodge.

The house also passed the Lodge resolution ratifying the abrogation of the treaty. The joint resolution was signed by Vice President Sherman, which action perfected the legislation.

President Taft also signed the resolution.

President Taft's procedure in terminating the treaty was in marked contrast to the method proposed by the house of representatives in the Sulzer resolution. Instead of boldly accusing Russia of having violated the terms of the treaty President Taft served notice of the desire of the United States to terminate it on the ground "that it is no longer responsive to the political and material relations of the two countries" and because the treaty has given "rise from time to time to certain controversies equally regretted by both governments."

The president not only refrained from any direct reference to discrimination owing to race or religion, but accepted the opportunity to emphasize the long-standing friendship between the two governments and to express an earnest hope for its continuance and final negotiation of another treaty of "friendship, commerce and navigation."

As a result of the president's diplomatic handling of the situation any likelihood of Russia regarding the termination of the treaty as an affront has disappeared and state department officials are certain that the relations of the United States and Russia will continue on the same cordial basis that has existed for years. There is good reason to believe that Russia has already informed this government that she is willing to enter into a discussion with a view to negotiating a new treaty.

COMMISSION RULE SAFE

Act of the Illinois Legislature Is Upheld.

At Springfield, Ill., the commission form of government act for all cities, passed by the general assembly in 1909, was pronounced constitutional by the supreme court in an opinion in which the supreme court affirms the decision of Judge James A. Creighton of the Sangamon circuit court.

This case is one in which the city of Springfield obtained a peremptory writ of mandamus directing Charles H. Edmands, treasurer and collector of Sangamon county, to turn over to William H. Bowe, city treasurer of Springfield, appointed by the city commissioners, $67,000 which belonged to the city and which Edmands held in the county treasury.

Edmands appealed to the supreme court, alleging that the bill never legally passed the legislature and that it was not a complete act without reading into it the provisions of the old city and villages act.

PETOSKEY—The city of Petoskey's water supply question is about to be settled as the result of action taken by the city council which let a contract for six six-inch wells to be driven as soon as possible, the wells to be cased in rock. In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater. but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at C. A. Wright & Son's.

Stateroom No. 24

A Coincidence Leads to Serious Results

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association 1911

"All right sir," said a steward of the liner Polyhemnia, scheduled to sail in two hours. "This way, sir." And, seizing Mr. Jones' hand baggage, he led him to stateroom No. 24. Flinging the door open, there were a trunk and hand baggage, ladies' wraps and other articles, while on the stand was a bouquet of flowers.

"What's this?" growled Mr. Jones. "This is the main deck, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"And No. 24?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what's this baggage doing here?"

"I don't know, sir. I'll go to the purser's office and see."

While the steward was away Mr. Jones examined the baggage in the stateroom. Putting the trunk around where he could see the name painted on the end, he was astonished. There was his own name with the prefix of a Mrs. before it—"Mrs. E. R. Jones." Mr. Jones had no wife, had no idea of taking a wife and wouldn't have a wife if she brought him a fortune. At the same time there was a peculiar feeling at seeing woman's paraphernalia in his stateroom—that is, all except the flowers, for on examining a card attached to them he saw that they had been sent by a man, and this brought a tinge of jealousy. A fur lined cloak lay on the berth, umbrellas and parasols were strapped together, and baskets, some of them marked with the letter J, were on the floor

Then Mr. Jones got a scare. When a young man, while roistering with a lot of boys and girls, he had gone through a mock marriage ceremony. He had been told afterward that the girl was meditating an attempt to prove the ceremony legal, and it had worried him. Suppose that she had since concluded to take his name—what a frightful supposition. But, no; that $500 fur lined cloak could never belong to Becky Stoddard. And yet he did not know what changes had come to her as well as himself. She would now be forty years old and might have acquired means. Forty! Mr. Jones was forty himself, but at that age men do not usually covet women so advanced in years.

HE COULD SCARCELY REFRAIN FROM KISSING THEM.

While these things were passing through his mind the steward came back with a record of assignment of rooms which showed No. 24 to have been given to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones.

"There's a blunder here," said Mr. Jones. "I am E R Jones, but I have not a wife, and, what's more, I don't want one."

Now, it is a well known fact that our destinies are often turned in this and that channel by some trifling circumstance. Mr. Jones, happening to turn his head after saying with great acerbity that he didn't want a wife, saw standing in the aisle a very pretty woman looking him straight in the eye. She had heard him say that he had no wife. If this were all perhaps the statement would have been of no importance. But she had also heard him say that he did not want a wife. This part of his remark acted upon the lady like a slap in the face. Outwardly she did not retaliate. Inwardly she made up her mind that if she got an opportunity she would make him eat his words.

"Is this No. 24?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the steward.

"Has my baggage been put in?"

"There's baggage here, ma'am."

"Mrs. Jones' baggage?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"There's been a mistake, madam," said Mr. Jones, doffing his hat and showing a small bald spot on the top of his head—"a very curious mistake. My name is Jones too."

"Indeed!" said the lady in a tone which indicated that she fully understood the situation.

"And, singularly enough," continued the gentleman, "I have the same initials that are on your trunk. I am Edward R. Jones."

"Indeed!" the lady again said, not intending to convey any meaning.

"An odd circumstance, isn't it, that two persons of the same name should be assigned the same room?"

"Very."

"And still more remarkable that one should be Mr. and the other Mrs.?"

"Quite so."

"It affords me great pleasure, I assure you, to give way to you."

"You are very kind, but I think it would be more just to discover to whom the room really belongs. Steward, can't you bring the purser here?"

"I think so, ma'am. The crowd isn't coming aboard yet."

The steward went for the purser, and the lady, entering the room, the door of which was hooked open, invited Mr. Jones to sit down, but he chose to remain standing. It occurred to him to ascertain whether the lady were wife or widow.

"I wonder," he said, "if your husband's initials stand for the same name as mine. I am Edward Richard Jones."

"My husband's name was Edwin Riker Jones."

"Ah, I see! There is a difference after all."

The lady

card attached to the flowers, sniffed at them and, choosing a rose, took it out of the water pitcher and handed it to Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones bowed, smiled all over and endeavored to put the stem in his buttonhole. Failing in the attempt, Mrs. Jones inserted it for him, bringing her round white fingers in close proximity with his lips. He could scarcely refrain from kissing them.

The steward came back with the purser, who said a room had just been given up which Mr. Jones could have, to which Mr. Jones assented; then, bowing very low and backing respectfully out of the stateroom, he left the lady looking after him with a curious expression on her face. It was a blank look in one sense and one full of meaning in another. It meant a great deal, but Mr. Jones could not interpret it.

There was one circumstance connected with the brief meeting that meant a great deal. That was the bestowal of the rose. It enabled Mr. Jones to address Mrs. Jones, when he met her again, on friendly terms. Without it he would have felt constrained to wait for her to speak to him. As it was the day after sailing, the weather being fine and the ocean smooth, Mrs. Jones being on deck in her steamer chair, Mr. Jones approached her, doffed his cap and entered into conversation. The sun was glittering on the water, merry young men and maids were playing shuffleboard, the deck stewards were handing 11 o'clock bouillon—in short, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were in the midst of one of those scenes of idle comfort that are afforded by an ocean liner when old Boreas is asleep.

Though Mrs. Jones was still young she was a widow and even before marriage had had a natural insight into the management of men. It was her design to make herself attractive to Mr Jones, and how did she go about it? Did she charm him by the depth or sprightliness of her conversation? No; she let him talk to his heart's content. she drinking in every word he was saying. The only subject she seemed able or at least willing to discuss was the singular coincidence of a Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jones who were not married and had never seen each other before having been assigned to the same room. She kept harping on this subject, thus leading him to dwell on it till he began to wish he was married. And once a man begins to wish for the double state and his ideas of a partner in that state become fixed on any one woman it is merely a question of time with him, provided the woman consents.

They were taking the Mediterranean trip, and there were thirteen days during which Mr. Jones couldn't get away from her without jumping overboard. She made no mention of the remark she had overheard. He had not attached any especial importance to her having heard it and had already forgotten it himself. It did not occur to him that so small a thing was to be the turning point in his whole life.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones parted at Naples to meet again at Venice. Moonlight on the Grand canal was the cause, subsidiary to that of the stateroom, which turned Mr. Jones from a bachelor to married man. He proposed in a gondola to the sound of music from floats, or, rather, Italians screeching out of date songs. Love, moonlight and the entrancing scene made the songs seem delicious harmony. But Mr. Jones didn't need romance to plunge him into matrimony. He had some one to drag him there. He awoke to a consciousness of having, after all, wanted a wife.

But the question that troubled Mr. Jones was, Did the widow wish a second husband, and if so did she wish him to fill the position? All that Mr. Jones could get out of her was that she would take his proposal under consideration. She was going to Switzerland, where she would remain until a few days before sailing from Genoa. If he could meet her in that city she would give him his answer.

Mr Jones spent the rest of his sojourn in Europe not in sightseeing, but in waiting. A week before the sailing of the vessel on which the widow was to return to America he appeared at Genoa and fretted and fumed till the widow appeared. Meanwhile she had concluded that she wanted Mr. Jones more than revenge. She gave him a decided "Yes." They were married at once and the same evening went aboard the steamer.

"Upon my word," exclaimed the groom, "she's the Polyhemnia!"

Mrs. Jones led the way to their stateroom. On reaching it her husband made another surprised remark:

"And stateroom No. 24!"

A Pittsburg man once submitted a Pittsburg story to a New York magazine and got a wire from the editor:

"Will accept story if cut out libel."

So the Pittsburg man hurried over to New York and asked the editor whom he had libeled.

"You have libeled your native city, sir," was the reply. "Why," said the editor, turning over the manuscript, "don't you say here on page 23 that the heroine clutched the air desperately?"

"Yes. Go on."

"And then two paragraphs further down you say she washed her hands. Well, that"—

The editor frowned angrily at the author.

AMUSEMENTS

Probably there never was a more difficult part written than the leading role of "Parepa", the "Octoroon", in Arthur C. Alston's southern drama "At The Old Cross Roads," requiring an actress of great emotional ability, as well as dramatic force, to portray this very important character. Realizing this fully, Mr. Alston was more than particular in his selection of the one to originate the character and finally decided upon the well known actress, Miss Estha Williams, who, after reading the manuscript over thoroughly, appreciated the possibilities of "Parepa" from a dramatic standpoint and signed contracts with Mr. Alston, not only to originate the role of "Parepa" but to take full charge of the stage direction as well superintending the scenic, property and electrical equipment for the entire production. This is no easy task, and an assignment that is placed only in the hands of a thoroughly competent man as a rule.

To prove that Mr Alston's judgement was correct in this, the play is now on its twelfth annual tour, appearing before unusually large audiences which is proof as to the pleasing qualities and manner in which "At The Old Cross Roads" has been rehearsed and staged from the birth of the piece up to and including the present season.

"At The Old Cross Roads" will be the attraction at the Bradley Opera House the first week in January.

FIND DEAD MINERS UPRIGHT IN CARS

Sixteen In All Recovered at Bryceville Colliery.

Hope That Any of the 100 or More Entombed Men Will Be Taken Out Alive Has Been Abandoned by Officials.

At Bryceville, Tenn., eight lifeless miners recovered late in the night sitting upright in a train of mine cars in cross entry No. 24, two miles from the mouth of the Cross Mountain mine, brought the list of known dead from the explosion in the Knoxville Iron company's mine Saturday morning up to sixteen.

Eight of the bodies are still in the mine, the other eight having been brought out and identified by relatives.

Whistling of the special train bringing coffins at 2 o'clock in the morning brought another horror to the little town. The special brought 175 boxes, and they were piled near the mouth of the mine.

It is apparent that the seven men were on their way to work in the motor driven cars when the death blast overcame them. Among them were father and son sitting side by side.

Rescue work was continued by two crews of twelve men each, who worked in two-hour shifts before midnight.

A great fan which has been rigged up at the entrance forced much of the after damp out of the main entry and the workers were able to proceed more speedily and with greater results.

Though the list of known dead during the night placed at sixteen, hope that any of the 100 or more men imprisoned will be taken out alive was abandoned.

A pall of sorrow hung about the mouth of the mine, as thousands congregated, some standing for hours and others moving momentarily from one point of vantage to another.

Three men live to tell the tale of underground horrors folowing the dust explosion which last Saturday entombed 100 or more miners employed at the Cross Mountain mine of the Knoxville Coal company.

Will and Milton Henderson, father and son, and J. E. Smith are the men rescued after having been captives in the mine for forty-four hours. They were found in cross entry No. 17, in a chamber where they had bratticed themselves in from the deadly after-damp. All three were conscious and able in a few minutes in the fresh air to walk to their little homes and rejoice with their families.

"Bill" Henderson, the oldest of the rescued men, came out of the mine smoking his pipe and resisted efforts to carry him home.

The explosion occurred at 7:30 a. m. soon after the day force of miners had entered the pit. Nearly all the men were at work in the vein where the explosion took place, or in rooms adjacent thereto. No one had a chance to escape.

Those above ground were given their first intimation of the explosion when the earth trembled. An instant later a sheet of flame shot out of the shaft, followed by a tremendous boom.

The inhabitants of the town about the mine knew instantly what the sound meant. Women and children, the families of the miners, ran toward the shaft, some in tears and others screaming. All feared their relatives below the ground might never escape alive.

The officials at the mine assembled a force of men at the mine's entrance as quickly as possible to ascertain whether rescue work could be accomplished. They were compelled to turn part of this force into a guard to prevent frantic women from hurling themselves into the shaft in their determination to learn the fate of their husbands.

Women and children clamored to be allowed to make their way inside the mine to aid in the rescue.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Christmas Party given by the young men of Tecumseh was a very pleasant affair, and though not as largely attended as usual, yet the hours were delightfully spent.

The K. of P. Hall was beautifully decorated with Christmas decorations, various colored lights and banks of green foliage. Hart's Orchestra furnished the music. The refreshments were served by the Pythian Sisters in the dining room below. Dancing continued until midnight.

MACARONI FACTORY

The Detroit Free Press of Dec. 24, has a fine cut of the "Uncle Sam's Macaroni Factory" with good description of the same. The plant has the backing of the prominent banking interests of Tecumseh headed by P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, and will not only be an ornament but a great thing financially for the town.

The Making of Chipped Glass.

Sheets of glass that are covered with a shell-like raised pattern are in use for screens, partitions, electric light fixtures and other purposes. This chipped glass, for the pattern is often really chipped out of the surface, involves a process that is interesting. The sheet of glass to be treated is placed under a sand blast in order to give it a grain. This ground surface is next treated with a solution of good glue, and the glass is placed in a drying room on a rack, where it remains for some hours. Next the sheets of glass are removed to the chipping room, where they are placed on edge back to back, with the coated surfaces outward. This room is heated by steam coils, and when the heat is turned on the glue reaches its utmost degree of desiccation and curls off the glass in pieces from the size of a dime to that of a silver dollar, but it adheres so closely to the glass that in its effort to get free it tears a piece off the surface, the result being a beautiful pattern.—Harper's Weekly.

The Logical Name.

"What a queer name for a child," said the woman who had just moved next door. "Are you sure they named it Breeze?"

"Yes, indeed, and it is a most natural name for the child," was the reply.

"I suppose it's the outcome of a cheap joke on the father's part," sighed the new neighbor. "When the child is naughty he is likely to suggest a spanking Breeze."

"Not at all, though I'll mention that to him," said the other. "You see, the family name is Storm. Before she was married the mother's name was Wind—Augusta Wind. Upon marriage her name became Storm, of course, making it Wind-Storm. Now, when the little girl was born they were puzzled about selecting a name. They could not agree until some one said a little Wind-Storm might be called a Breeze. The little one is just like her mother, and a little Gusta Wind is"—

But the new neighbor wouldn't stay to hear the rest of it.—New York Press.

Getting the Bank's Help.

Financial ability is not alone the power of getting moneyed men's ears and interesting "big capital." The bank is the bulwark of small business. Given an enterprise that has a legitimate excuse for being and available assets, if it is backed by men of integrity, it can always command the support of its bank for working capital. Yet it is astounding how many small businesses start without even conferring with a bank or banker. This is a mistake. The man who wants to finance a small concern successfully should get acquainted with his bankers, keep them in touch with the business and afford them every opportunity to analyze its condition. There is no finer security than the confidence of your bank, and the cost of getting capital in this way is very small indeed compared with the cost of underwriting more or less inflated issues of stock.—Business.

Never.

"Never" is a word which is wrongly defined in the dictionary.

In that book we gather the understanding that "never" means not at all, forevermore.

But—

Each day in our broad land young women vow that they will never forgive young men.

Men lift their right hands to high heaven and swear that they will never take another drink.

Husbands promise never to forget to write every day.

Wives promise never to make another extravagant and foolish purchase.

Candidates aver that they will never run for office again.

Women say they will never speak to some one any more.

In all these cases "never" means any length of time from one hour to four days.—Life.

Broke Three Legs.

"Yes," said the small boy to the reporter, who was looking for some news to put in his paper; "mother fell downstairs and broke three legs."

"Pshaw! What are you giving me, youngster?" cried the reporter. "Don't be too funny. Your mother hasn't got three legs."

"I didn't say she had," retorted the wicked boy. "The legs belonged to a table which mother fell against. She wasn't hurt at all."

HELD FOR SON'S DEATH

Mrs. Carrie B. Sparling Is Arrested After Four In Family Die.

Bad Axe, Mich., Dec 18.—Mrs. Carrie B. Sparling, widow of John Wesley Sparling, who died under mysterious circumstances, and three of whose sons also are dead, was arrested charged with the death of one of the sons, Cyril.

It is said that Dr. R. A. McGregor, who was bound over to the circuit court charged with the murder of Cyril Sparling, will be freed and the entire blame for the death of the four men placed upon the shoulders of the wife and mother.

FIRST FAMILY REUNION

On Monday, the 25th, Christmas day at their residence Cor. Pearl and Logan Streets, Mr. and Mrs. Peola F. Feightner held a very pleasant reunion

For a number of years an endeavor has been made to assemble as many of the immediate family as could be induced to attend an old fashioned family gathering. Their efforts were crowned with success this year as noted above. After the usual greetings of the day and visiting host and hostess announced dinner and the following guests and relatives sat down to a most bountiful repast of turkey and the usual concomitants accompanying a function of this character. After an hour consuming the many delicacies spread before the guests the role was called and the following answered present.

Mr and Mrs. Peola Feightner and son Lucius, the latter now employed in Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sweet, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sweet of Ann Arbor,

After the bountiful repast a number of remembrances both useful and ornamental were distributed to the different ones, none being forgotten. Then Lucius Feightner favored those present with a number of musical selections from his baritone horn which was highly appreciated.

This first family gathering proved to be such a decided success that it was voted to make it an annual affair provided there came no serious changes. These family gatherings once in each year renews and cements friendships and acquantances and makes lifes pathway a little brighter and with all worth while.

Those from out of town left for their homes the following day all feeling that it was good to have been there and also to have had the privilege of visiting the beautiful city of Tecumseh.

FARMERS' UNION

The Farmer's Union will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holdridge on Tuesday Jan. 2, 1912. Election of officers Dinner.

Fore Feet of a Horse.

"It's a funny thing," said the old animal trainer, "but you can't train a horse to walk on his fore feet because he ain't built that way. Take the dog or cat animals and they'll not only walk on their fore feet, but they will go up and down stairs with their hind legs in the air. It's a little harder to teach than walking on the hind feet, but it is merely a matter of patience and of knowing how, but get a horse off his hind legs and you have a lame horse. Dozens of trainers have spoiled from one to twenty horses apiece trying for the trick, but the nearest any one ever came to it was an English trainer who had a jackass that could stay up for a little while, but even the Jack was strained and soon had to be destroyed. Horses taken into upstairs theaters will go up the steps as agile as cats, but when they come down they have to be backed down. That's one reason why horses used in hill work break down so quickly. It's not the long, hard pull uphill; it's the holding back going down."—New York Sun.

The Garden of Eden.

In some of his lectures Professor Robert W. Rogers of Drew Theological seminary expressed his opinion on the location of the garden of Eden. He thinks that the garden of Eden was somewhere in the region lying between the rivers Tigris and Euphrates. In an address before the Harlem branch of the Y. M. C. A. some years ago he said:

"When the search for the holy grail ceased in the middle ages the human mind took up the problem of the location of the garden of Eden. This has been put in many places—Armenia, Utopia, Atalantis (the prehistoric continent) and equatorial Africa. Christopher Columbus thought that Venezuela was the place, and because there is an Adam's peak on the island of Ceylon others have put the garden there. It has also been found in Palestine and at the north pole."

Immense Cost of Roman Feasts.

The amount of money often expended by the wealthy Romans on their sumptuous meals appears fabulous. Vitellius is said to have spent as much as 404 sestertia (about £4,220 of English money) on his daily supper, and the celebrated feast to which he invited his brother cost no less than £40,850. It consisted of 2,000 different dishes of fish and 7,000 of fowls, with other equally numerous meats. His daily food was of the most rare and exquisite nature. The deserts of Lybia, the shores of Spain, the waters of the Carpathian sea and even the coasts and forests of Britain were diligently searched for dainties to supply his table, and had he reigned long he would, observes Josephus, have exhausted the great opulence of the Roman empire.—London Standard.

Must Have Tired His Jaws.

It might be well for those who adopt the one meal a day system to become chewers at the same time. A chewer, according to dietetic experts, is one who chews all things so long as they have any taste left in them. Gladstone, it is recorded, used to take thirty-two bites to every mouthful of food. This would be considered dangerously rapid eating by the modern school of chewers. "I have tried chewing conscientiously," writes Eustace Miles. "A banana has cost 800 bites, a small mouthful of bread and cheese 240 bites, a greedy mouthful of biscuit (while I was walking on a Yorkshire moor) more than a thousand bites. It still seemed to taste about as much as at first, but I knew that taste by then, so I swallowed."—London Chronicle.

Poole Is Convicted.

At LaFayette, Ind., Tuesday, John W. Poole, slayer of Joe Kemper, his farm hand, was found guilty of murder in the first degree and will serve a life term in the Michigan City penitentiary.

RICHARD ANDERSON DIES AT CHEYENNE, WYO., FROM PNEUMONIA

Word was received here Sunday night by relatives of the death of Richard Anderson at Cheyenne Wyo., after a brief illness. He was well known in Tecumseh, being a son of the late Webster Anderson, and had formerly been connected with the Webster Anderson dry goods firm. His work had always been in the dry goods business. At one time he was manager of a big dry goods concern at Bay City, and also had held a position in a large dry goods house at Tuscola, Ia. About a year ago he sold out his interests in Tecumseh and went west.

Mr. Anderson was born here and spent his boyhood and young manhood here. He was 54 years of age, and is survived by two sisters and one brother, Mrs. B. H. Jannsen of New York city; Mrs. H. T. Dunn of Tecumseh, and Raynor K. Anderson of this village. His body arrived in Tecumseh today to be laid to rest in Brookside.

Three years ago Webster Anderson, Seaton W. Anderson, John L. Anderson and Richard E. Anderson were all actively engaged in the same business in Tecumseh. Within this period all four have been taken by death.

MRS. M. J. TREMAINE

In the death of Mrs. M. J. Tremaine the community received a great shock, for while they knew of her illness none looked for such an ending.

She was one who endeared herself to all who knew her and her cheerful smile and pleasant words will be missed by all. Her neighbors and friends will miss her coming and going among them but will rejoice that she is at rest in her Father's home, free from all care and pain,

Her love for her church, the Methodist Episcopal, which she joined in early life was great and while her health lasted she seldom missed its services.

Caroline E. Randall, daughter of Albert and Caroline Randall was born in Hudson, Mass, July 14, 1835. When three of age she moved with her parents to North Bay, Oneida Co, N. Y. In January, 1854, she was married to M. J. Tremaine of Vienna, Oneida Co., N. Y. to which union were born four children, C. Adele, Myron Albert, J. Eugene and Myron B.

In 1880 they moved to Tecumseh, where they resided until 1894, when they took up their residence in Hyde Park, Chicago. They lived here until the death of Mr. Tremaine in in 1902. Since 1905 she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Rosacrans of Tecumseh. Her death followed a severe illness of several weeks' duration, and occurred Dec 24, at 4:30 in the afternoon at the age of 76 years.

Two children survive, Mrs. Fred Rosacrans of Tecumseh and Rev M. Tremaine of Roodhouse, Ill.

The funeral was held from the Rosacran's home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, the services were conducted by Rev. G. N. Kennedy of the Methodist church, Burial was at Brookside.

ROBERTA HELEN WILSON

Roberta Helen Wilson infant daughter of Sydney and Helen Wilson died suddenly Wednesday morning while lying in her mother's arms. She had been ill but two or three days. The little one was but six months old and had won her way into the hearts of all who saw her. Our sympathy goes out to the sorrowing parents who lay their darling away until they shall join her in the home above.

The Last Dueling Clergymen.

"When did clergymen cease to fight duels?" is a startling inquiry in London Notes and Queries. It will be news to many of us that they were ever fond of that exhilarating pastime. But, as a matter of fact, the Rev. Mr Allan fought a duel with Lloyd Delany, Esq., and killed him in Hyde park in 1782. He was convicted of manslaughter and fined 1 shilling plus six months in Newgate.

Mrs. C, Stevenson, Wyandotte and East Potawatamie St., Tecumseh, Mich., says, "I cannot say too much in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the great benefit I have received from their use. I never used another remedy that did me so much good. Since 1906, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions, getting my supply at Wright & Son's Drug store and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys. The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp, shooting pain accross the small of my back which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did so, getting them at Wright & Son's Drug Store. After I had taken this remedy a short time, my pains and aches disappeared and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering, no longer trouble me, In fact, I felt like a different person. I have since recomended Doan's Kidney Pills to a number of my friends and small continue to do so."

MESSAGES TO CONGRESS

President Wants Tariff on Wool Cut and Reform in the Currency.

President Taft sent to congress the long expected report of the tariff board on schedule K of the Payne tariff act, and with it a message recommending that rates on wool and woolens be materially reduced.

The president urges that the government continue the work started by the sanitary district of Chicago.

GEN. REYES CAPTURED

Mexican Revolutionist Taken after Battle with Federals.

General Reyes was captured near Linaires, state of Neuvo Leon, Mex., about thirty miles from Monterey, according to a telegram received here from General Trevino, commander of the northern military zone of Mexico.

The capture was after a battle between the federals and followers of Reyes. Reyes' forces were defeated and disorganized, fleeing in all directions, General Reyes being captured alone. Reyes was subsequently taken to the town and by orders from President Madero he was paroled, the only conditions being that he not attempt to leave Linaires.

President Madero gave instructions to give General Reyes every reason.

Free Liver Remedy

It is well to stop a physical ailment at the first signs of its approach, and that is especially true of liver trouble, which can eventually give rise to so many serious complications. Many have liver trouble and imagine it is indigestion, and hence take the wrong remedy.

When the liver does not store up sufficient gastric juices it becomes sluggish, and in this way disturbs the stomach and bowels, with which it is supposed to work in harmony. Then comes the sallow complexion, the pimply face, the dull pain in the forehead, the thinning of the blood, etc. A very quick and sensible way to stop the trouble as well as to cure it is by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which contains ingredients especially intended to promote the activity of the liver.

Among the many thousands who have written the doctor about the results achieved with his remedy, and who are glad to make the facts public so that others can help themselves, are Mr. Jas. Kennedy, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. S. A. La Rue of Smith's Grove, Ky., and many others.

These, like thousands of others, started the use of Syrup Pepsin with a sample. If you will send your name and address you can also obtain a free trial bottle. This will prove to you that liver trouble is promptly cured with this remedy or money will be refunded. Having tried it, you can then buy it in the regular way of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and the latter is sufficient for an entire family.

This remedy is a vast improvement over cathartic tablets and salts, which only do good for the time being. Syrup Pepsin is permanent in its results, is pleasant to take and does not gripe. It is especially good for all those who cannot stand a violent purgative.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R.409 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

RUSSIA TO RETALIATE

Proposal in the Duma for the Raising of Duties.

At St. Petersburg, Russia, a legislative proposal to provide for tariff war schedules applicable to the United States at the expiration of the Russo-American treaty of commerce and navigation of 1832 has been introduced in the duma by ex-President Guchkoff and other signers representing the Octoberist and nationalists parties, which control the majority of the duma.

The bill proposes to raise existing Russian duties by 100 per cent and also to impose a duty of 100 per cent on articles which are admitted free under the present Russian tariff.

The necessity for the proposed legislation is explained in an accompanying declaration in which it is stated that the regular American tariff schedules which will be applicable to Russian goods at the expiration of the treaty of 1832 will be so high as to have a prohibitive character and that they greatly exceed the Russian normal tariff and navigation taxes which would be naturally applicable to American goods in the absence of a treaty. Double tonnage tax on vessels is also proposed.

PERSIA FORCED TO YIELD TO RUSSIA

W. Morgan Shuster Will Lose Job by Surrender.

It Was the Demand of Russia for the Dismissal of American Treasurer General of Persia That Started Crisis.

Persia has given to the Russian minister, S. Poklevski-Koziell, verbal assurance of its intention to comply with the demands in the Russian ultimatum.

This means that W. Morgan Shuster, American treasurer general of Persia, will lose his job.

It was Russia's demand for the dismissal of Mr. Shuster that precipitated the crisis and led to a Russian army invasion of Persia. After fighting had begun at Tabriz Russia gave Persia an ultimatum. The national council at Teheran agreed before the time limit expired to insist no longer on Mr. Shuster's retention.

It was charged by Russia that Mr. Shuster insulted one of the czar's envoys while Russian officials were collecting taxes in the northern part of the kingdom.

Mr. Shuster defends his course in the following terms:

"The British foreign minister's statement that I distributed pamphlets attacking Russia and forced three Persian ministers to resign and sought to Anglicize the Persian service is untrue. The two ministers therein designated resigned because they declared the prime minister was lukewarm toward the establishment of efficient financial control."

RICHESON CUTS HIMSELF

Alleged Slayer Inflicts Injuries with Tin—Not Trying Suicide.

Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is confined in jail in Boston, Mass., waiting trial on the charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, cut himself with a piece of tin. It is said that the aim was not suicide.

The wound was inflicted in the vicinity of the groin and counsel for the accused man stated that Richeson attempted to mutilate himself, inflicting injuries which made it necessary for physicians to complete his act by an operation at the prison hospital.

500 DIE IN MASSACRE

Russians Kill Women and Children at Resht, Persia.

A massacre occurred in Resht, according to official Persian telegrams received in London. These state that on Sunday 500 Persians were killed by the Russians, many of them being women and children. The people, it is said, have been exhorted not to fight and not to give the slightest provocation, but the massacre still continues.

Resht is the capital of the province of Ghilan and has 40,000 inhabitants. The government house has been bombarded and many government officials and police have been killed. Private houses have been demolished.

According to other dispatches the Russians killed four unarmed Mohammedans in the Armenian quarter of Tabriz during the fighting in that city.

"The people of Persia," says one dispatch, "are stupefied at the attitude of Russia, especially as these outrages have followed immediately on the acceptance by Persia of the second Russian ultimatum, and when Persia has shown every desire and disposition to conciliate Russia and establish friendly relations."

PETOSKEY—John W. Cook, for years a resident of Petoskey, suffered a serious accident when his hair and beard caught fire from a blaze caused by pouring oil on smoldering coke. Mr. Cook would have been burned to death if his daughter had not appeared and extinguished the blaze.

LANSING—A. Leroy Brown, who is the proprietor of the Orpheum theater, who was convicted in the circuit court of keeping his theater open in violation of the Sunday closing ordinance, was fined $100 or ninety days in the city jail by Judge Wiest.

ANN ARBOR—Henry Mill, who was convicted of firing the barns of Henry Platt of Ypsilanti and of Arthur Gergherty of Superior, was sentenced to serve two to fifteen years in the Jackson state prison. The judge recommended the former time.

GRAND RAPIDS—From the serious injuries received by the premature discharge of his gun, Joseph Persetratt of Sand Lake is dying in a local hospital. Two fingers were blown off and his hip was shattered by the accident.

WELL KNOWN MINISTER

Restored to Health by Vinol

Rev. D. Schneider, who is a well known minister in Rice Lake, Wis., writes:

"I had a very severe stomach trouble last year from which I was kept in bed three months. I had engaged the services of a doctor, but to no avail. I then read of Vinol and determined to try a bottle. Before it was used up I was out of bed, and four bottles made me a well man. Vinol is a splendid medicine, and I can gladly recommend it."

Prominent men from all over the country do not hesitate to endorse this wondeful tonic.

For twelve years Vinol has been sold on the "money back" plan, and every year strengthens its popularity and proves by continued tests that it will do what we claim for it.

SEASON'S HONORS IN ENGLAND

Famished Timber Wolf Spreads Panic in Chicago District—Crowds Enjoy Summer Temperature in Paris.

London, Jan. 1.—The customary New Year's honors do not contain any sensational appointments. There are three new peers, ten baronets, twenty-seven knights and five privy councillors. Among those made barons are Thomas Skinner, a director in many corporations, including the Commercial Cable company and the Canadian Pacific railroad and founder of the stock exchange year book; Lionel Phillips, the Transvaal mining magnate and partner in the firm of Weinher, Beit & Co. The knights include Rider Haggard, the novelist; Beecham, the pill man and father of Thomas Beecham, the composer and producer of operas, who has given money lavishly for philanthropic purposes. The new privy councillors include Robert L. Borden, the Canadian prime minister. The decoration of knights commander of St Michael and St. George is conferred on Col. Hon. John Morrison Gibson, lieutenant governor of Ontario, Canada; Joseph Pope, under secretary of state for external affairs of Canada, and Mr. Boville, the Canadian deputy minister of finance.

NEW YEAR IN PARIS

Boulevard Crowds and Students Enjoy Summer Temperature.

Paris, Jan. 1.—Summer weather permitted Parisians in great crowds to parade the boulevards all night and usher in the new year in the usual fashion and exchange New Year's greetings. A great crowd of students paraded from the Latin quarter and cut up their usual pranks, which were enjoyed by the crowds.

Seated on the terrace of a cafe were some notable persons. At one table sat General Diaz, ex-president of Mexico. Near by at another table sipping iced champagne was Lina Cavalieri, the prima donna, and escorted by a scion of the Vanderbilt family.

WOLF LOOSE IN CHICAGO

New Year's Parties in Neighborhood Declared Off Without Notice.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—A big, savage gray timber wolf is running at large in the lumber yard of the Western Lumber company, at Thirty-Third street and Wentworth avenue. The entire neighborhood has turned out to aid the police in their hunt for the brute, which is famished to the point of desperation and has already attacked two men.

Mothers living near the lumber yard were terror-stricken and refused to allow their children to leave the houses, several New Year's Eve parties in the neighborhood being canceled in consequence.

American Ambassador Leishman Hears Lehar's New Opera.

Berlin, Jan. 1. — John G. A. Leishman, the American ambassador at Berlin, saw the new year in with a theater party given by Willing Spencer, the second secretary of the American embassy. The party witnessed a performance of Franz Lehar's new opera, "Eve."

Mrs. Leishman is expected to arrive here with her daughters and son Jan. 8. Her first court function will be the presentation of six or seven American debutantes at the Schleppencour on Jan. 9.

GIRL SEES SISTER KILLED

Fourteen-Year-Old Daughter of Decatur Man Crushed by Train.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 1. — Rosa, fourteen-year-old daughter of Aaron Troutner, met instant death by being run down by a Toledo, St. Louis and Western switch engine when she attempted to cross the tracks returning from the country, where she had been visiting.

The father and sister witnessed the tragedy but were powerless to aid her. The family moved here from Chicago but three weeks ago.

Cabinet in Turkey Resigns.

Constantinople, Jan. 1.—The cabinet resigned in consequence of the obstruction of the opposition, the members of which absented themselves from the sitting of the chamber of deputies, which rendered impossible a discussion of the proposed modification of the constitution.

PROTESTS AGAINST HOOK

Judge's Path to United States Supreme Court Is Not Smooth.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The protests which the Oklahoma corporation commission, the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, and Governor Aldrich of Nebraska have made against elevation of U. S. Circuit Judge Hook to the supreme court as the successor of the late John M. Harlan were received at the White House and laid before the president. There were intimations that the Ohio state railroad commissioners might join in the protest.

All three protests received at the White House are based upon the fact that the judge enjoined the authorities of Oklahoma from enforcing an order for a two-cent rate law.

HORSES SOAKED WITH OIL

Seven Burned to Death, Sixteen Rescued, in Incendiary Blaze.

Chicago, Jan. 1. — Twenty-three horses in the stable of Charles Langsman, a teaming contractor, were drenched with kerosene and then the building was set on fire, according to Fire Attorney Sullivan.

Seven of the animals burned to death and firemen rescued the other sixteen. A wagon in the stable, which is at 720 West Congress street, was found piled with hay which had been soaked with kerosene. The building and its contents were insured for $8,000. Langsman is being detained by the fire attorney, as is Charles Rosseau, watchman for the stable.

FROZEN TO DEATH IN WOODS

A. J. Benson Had Started from Aurora in Delirium Toward Chicago.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 1.—The frozen body of Andrew J. Benson of Dekalb, Ill., who left a sick bed in a delirious condition on Dec. 15 to go to Chicago to invite his two daughters to a home Christmas gathering, was found in a snowdrift in the woods on the J. S. Moore farm, near LaFox, Ill., twenty miles from the Benson home.

Benson had been sought by hundreds of friends and relatives for weeks.

ROOSEVELT NOT NOW CANDIDATE

Will Be, However, if Call Comes Strong Enough.

JOHN BURROUGHS INTERVIEWED

Naturalist Friend of Colonel Gives His Opinion, Which Is Held to Be Significant Because of Their Intimacy.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 1. — That Theodore Roosevelt will be a candidate for president again if the call comes strong enough for him to respond to it is the statement made by John Burroughs, the author-naturalist, in an interview published in the Poughkeepsie Courier.

Much significance is attached to this prediction on account of Mr. Burroughs' intimacy with the former president, who when chief executive of the nation honored Mr. Burroughs by making a special trip to visit him at "Slabsides," his home near here, and later he had Mr. Burroughs as his guest on a hunting trip in the west. The two have many tastes in common.

When Mr. Burroughs was asked his views on the events of 1911 he said: "In politics I think the turning of the people to Roosevelt as significant. I doubt if the Democrats will have sense enough to nominate as good a man as Wilson. If they do the people will support him. Roosevelt is not a candidate at present, but if the call comes he would consider it his duty to respond. I do not believe that Taft will be president again.

"As to events, the punishment of the McNamara brothers will be far reaching in its effects. It will put labor unions on their guard and make them get rid of the anarchists. They have a cause and this will tend to put them on safe grounds.

"The trend of the times? We are always blundering along toward better things. There are many currents and counter currents in literature, science, business, everything, but still going up to higher things. The evolution is always upward.

"This great craze for automobiles is having a marked effect on the people, but I can't say if it's good. It brings them more into the open. The auto has come to stay, but I think its use will sober down. I don't care for automobiles myself, unless I'm in a hurry to get somewhere, because I belong to a class that don't hurry. I like to live, to use my eyes and ears, and be in harmony with the fields and woods. An automobile gives too big a slice of nature, but much in masses. It may be good, but its a question."

FREE MARRIAGE LEAP YEAR

Justice of Peace Makes Offer to Brides Who Propose to Sweethearts.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 1.—George R. Thompson, a justice of the peace, offered to marry free of charge and at any hour of the day or night, any couple if the bride makes affidavit that she actually proposed.

The offer holds good throughout 1912, leap year. "If a man is so slow that his sweetheart has to wait until leap year she ought to be rewarded by a free ceremony," said the magistrate.

60 LYNCHED IN 1911

Number Slightly Less Than That of Any Recent Year.

All but Two of the Total for Twelve Months Are Negroes, with One Woman Among Victims.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The lynching record for 1911 shows a distinct, though slight, improvement over the records of previous years. The number of persons lynched since Jan. 1—sixty—is slightly less than that of any other recent year. All but two of the sixty were negroes. Of the fifty-eight negroes, one was a woman. The crimes charged against these victims range all the way from insult to criminal attack and murder.

Georgia leads with the most lynchings—seventeen. Lynchings occurred in thirteen states. All of these were southern states or border states excepting Pennsylvania, which supplied the only instance of the year where the victim was burned at the stake.

Contrary to the record of previous years, the majority of the victims are not accused of crimes against women. The victims accused of attacks upon women number eighteen, while thirty-one were accused of murder.

How It Became a Corporation With Limited Capital and Unlimited Dividends

By F. A. MITCHEL.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"Mr. Clarkson I am happy to see you. Be seated. Will told me that you would call. Indeed, he showed me the letter which said you were coming."

The gentleman grew red in the face. "He showed you the letter, Mrs. Field?"

"Certainly. Do you suppose men can receive letters that their wives are not permitted to read?"

"But—but Will is only just married, you know."

"Certainly. The day before marriage and the day after marriage are very different. During the first he is single; during the second he is double."

"Good gracious! I did not know that marriage turned an honorable man into a dishonorable one."

"If we can't be honorable toward two persons we must decide in favor of the one to whom we have made definite pledges—that is the wife. However, I will do Will justice to say that he did not show me your letter. I learned of its contents in another way."

"How?"

"I am not prepared to make that clear just now. But enough of my having become aware of your feelings toward the woman who has robbed you of your friend. I can understand those feelings and have a proposition to make. I will divide Will with you. Instead of you and he being Damon and Pythias, we will make the firm Damon, Pythias & Co., I to be the company."

"Two men and a woman!"

"Why not? Will loves you, and you love Will. Will loves me, and I love Will. It only remains for me to love you and you to love me to make a delightful trio."

Clarkson drew a few short breaths and looked about him like one fearing to be caught in a trap.

"Oh, but Will!" he rejoined. "Would such an arrangement please him?"

"He will be delighted with it."

"How do you know that?"

"Before he went away"—

"Went away? Has he gone away?"

"For a month."

Clarkson looked more frightened than ever. The lady continued:

"We had a talk about this letter of yours in which you mourn your friend as lost to you and speak so bitterly of the woman who has taken him away from you. It was decided between us that we should take you into the copartnership."

"Take me in?"

The tone and expression on his face when he said this were so comical that the lady failed to repress a smile.

"Yes, take you in," she repeated.

An idea seemed to strike him, and he brightened. "There's an advantage in that," he said. "Another woman couldn't"— He checked himself.

"Right! I will see that no other woman gets you away from us."

"I rather like that. But tell me about Will. Don't newly married men usually go away on honeymoon trips?"

"They do."

"Well?"

She thought a moment before replying. "Will's affairs are now in his wife's keeping, and some of them—this one particularly—are not to be divulged."

"But I thought I was admitted into the firm."

"So you are. But there is reason in all things. I am to know Will's secrets and yours. You are not to know Will's nor Will yours."

"Well, I like that! Do you call it reason?"

"Certainly. What else would you call it?"

"Oh, I suppose it is—since you say so."

"Now I propose to make up for lost time. You and Will have loved each other since boyhood. Will and I have loved each other for several years. The chain between you and me is alone wanting. It was agreed between Will and me before he left that I was to take you in and form this bond between us."

Mr. Clarkson started and again looked wildly about him.

"I don't know," he said, "that I ever heard of an arrangement like this."

"There's always a first time for everything."

"There's one advantage in it," musingly, "that I have already mentioned. To be frank with you, I'd rather steer clear of women—matrimonially I mean. It's all right for Will to go in for that sort of thing, but I don't. This arrangement will be a barrier for me, won't it?"

"I'll guarantee that no woman shall come near you. To facilitate matters we will let them all know that you belong to the firm of Damon, Pythias & Co. by making yourself at home here. For a starter Will left a pair of tickets to the theater for tomorrow evening. Have you any engagements?"

"N-n-o."

"Oh, if you don't care to go I can dispose of the tickets." She looked a trifle miffed.

"I shall be delighted."

"Very well. Now we will talk of other matters. It has been quite warm lately, hasn't it?"

"Yes—no. I haven't noticed. How long did you say Will is to be absent?"

"A month."

"Won't you miss him very much?"

"Of course. I love him dearly, as he loves me. But here comes in the advantage of a trio. I shall have you."

Clarkson started as if a bomb had fallen on the floor before him and was sputtering ready to explode. If he had been looking at his companion he would have seen a very animated expression on her face.

"I was not aware, I didn't know," he stammered, "that a lady married to the man she loves could let him go away a few days after the wedding and be contented with the company of his best friend."

"You forget that this is a tripartite arrangement, wherein three persons are made one. But cease to bother yourself about that. The secret of remaining comfortable in this world is not to worry. By this arrangement Will and I have endeavored to obviate the necessity of you and he loving each other. It behooves you to accept the situation and be content."

"You have both certainly been very kind. I shall endeavor to prove myself worthy of your confidence and conduct myself"—

"Conduct yourself! Of course you will. Now don't trouble yourself any more about trifles. Just fall into the situation naturally and all will be well."

He left her, wondering what it all meant. Surely there was some mistake. Was this woman so innocent that she supposed such a partnership as she proposed could endure without danger?

The head of the firm of Damon, Pythias & Co. remained away quite long enough to produce a volcano in the breast of the junior member.

The lady maintained the same position she had taken at the first meeting with Clarkson, talked about love existing between the three of them just as innocently and bore herself just as circumspectly at the last as at the first of Damon's absence. The only difference in her bearing from what he might expect of his friend's wife was a growing disposition to sensitiveness with regard to his treatment of her. In one respect the intimacy was a success. No other woman was permitted to get near enough to Clarkson to endanger his single state. As for the purity of the junior member of the firm and her loyalty to the head of it there was no question.

Nevertheless before his friend Damon returned Clarkson was in love. Indeed, the evening before the arrival of the man who had permitted this unique arrangement Mr. Clarkson made two statements to the lady. The first was that he loved her madly, the second that he proposed to retire at once from the firm and never see her again. He then left her with an expression on her face denoting an internal upheaval, but whether she was offended with him for making the avowal he could not tell.

The next day, while Clarkson was packing a trunk preparatory to a long journey, he received a telephone message from his friend Field, inviting him to a meeting of the firm of Damon, Pythias & Co. at dinner. Clarkson tried to beg off, but failed, and, after numerous excuses which seemed to surprise and offend his would be host, at last consented.

On his arrival Field took him into his sanctum and said to him seriously:

"Bob, before we dine something needs to be straightened out."

Clarkson shuddered.

"Before my departure I was struck by your letter. We both regretted the separation that must naturally result between you and me on account of my marriage, for you know that two bosom friends cannot be the same after the marriage of one that they were before. She said the thing to do was to bring you into the family. When I asked her how we could do that she proposed to marry you to her sister Cynthia. She suggested that while we were on our wedding trip Cynthia should play with you the farce of Damon, Pythias & Co. From what I hear she played her part well, but now that we have arrived at the climax she has broken down completely. She is terror stricken lest you may think she deliberately set out to catch you, whereas she really entered upon it for sport."

When Field began to impart this knowledge Clarkson was looking at him like a beast at bay. As Field proceeded this expression changed to surprise, curiosity, hope, and finally broke into a beautiful smile.

"You'll find her in the library," continued Field. "Go in and straighten it all out. You have half an hour before dinner, and I'm quite sure that's more than enough."

"But do you think"—

"I don't think; I know. We'll celebrate your engagement at dinner. I've ordered the wine on ice."

Clarkson went into the library and in exactly forty minutes emerged with the blushing Cynthia, the smile on Clarkson's face having broadened to radiant joy.

"Only ten minutes late," cried Field merrily. "Bob, this is the real Mrs. Field. Come on; the dinner's waiting, and the wine is icy cold."

When the quartet were seated at the table and all had been served the host took a bottle of champagne from a cooler beside him and, cutting the cord that held the cork, fired a salute in honor of the newly engaged couple. Then, filling all the glasses, he raised his own to his lips and gave the following toast:

"To the Damon & Pythias company."

"Limited," suggested Clarkson.

"Not much," retorted Field.

"There'll be no more capital introduced."

"That may be," said Field, with an idiotic grin, "but think of the dividends."

Strange Timekeepers.

To ascertain the time at night the Apache Indians employed a gourd on which the stars of the heavens were marked. As the constellations rose in the sky the Indian referred to his gourd and found out the hour. By turning the gourd around he could tell the order in which the constellations might be expected to appear.

The hill people of Assam reckon time and distance by the number of quids of betel nuts chewed. It will be remembered how, according to Washington Irving, the Dutch colonial assembly was invariably dismissed at the last puff of the third pipe of tobacco of Governor Wouter Van Twiller.

A Montaguis Indian of Canada will set up a tall stick in the snow when traveling ahead of friends who are to follow. He marks with his foot the line of shadow cast, and by the change in the angle of the shadow the oncoming party can tell on arriving at the spot about how far ahead the leader is.

Fighter of the Family.

The tough little boy with the red air and freckled face pushed up against the neat little boy and said impudently:

"My sister can lick your sister."

The neat little boy did not argue the matter.

"And my big brother can lick your big brother."

The good little lad winced.

"And my ma can lick your ma."

The quiet lad shifted from one foot to the other.

"And my pa can lick your pa."

There was a flash of pink shirt waist, the sound of some hard object coming in contact with a spongy substance, and the quiet little lad stood triumphantly over his adversary, quietly waiting for him to push his nose back into the center of his face where it belonged.

"But just remember this," he observed quietly, "you can't lick me."—Youngstown Telegram.

AMUSEMENTS

THE PLAY'S THE THING

Which is proven by the fact that Arthur C. Alston's, "At The Old Cross Roads" is now rejoicing in its twelfth annual tour through the principal cities of the country. It is also true that Mr. Alston, sole owner and manager of this successful play, is wide-awake to what the theatre going public wants and is determined to supply that want. With this end in view, a most excellent combination of players and specialty artists have been secured for this season—also a complete company of negro singers, dancers and comedians, direct from the southern states, who will introduce the latest melodies, dances, etc., etc. during the enaction of the play.

This is the same company and production that played the National Theatre, Chicago, week of Dec 17th, they went from there to Louisville, Ky. for a weeks engagment. They play Adrian the night before playing here and go from here to Kalamazoo, Tecumseh being about the smallest town they will play. They carry their own band and will give a parade at noon on day of the show also a band concert in front of the theatre at 7:30. The prices are within the reach of all. See ad on page 3.

The Old Man's Plea.

He got eight years in Sing Sing, but nevertheless the plea for mercy of Joseph Amos Washington Bruen was one of the finest prose poems ever uttered in the general sessions of New York. The old [illegible] the court as follows:

"'Deed, yo' honah, I can't say much. Mah record am sure against me. I hab served moh time than sixteen years in prison for de same offense. All I have to remark (an' I hope yo' honah will not be too stern) is dat I just simply can't keep away from a hencoop nohow when I heah dem pullets callin'."

Rudyard Kipling expressed the very same idea when he wrote those two familiar lines:

For the wind is in the palm trees, an' the temple bells they say:
"Come you back, you British soldier; come you back to Mandalay!"

The chicken habit once formed is as tenacious and irresistible as the Burma girl habit.—Boston Globe.

Can't Beat the Head Waiter.

"You can't get ahead of a head waiter," said a man who spends a great deal of time at one of the New York hotels. "Of course the tips at a hotel like this mount up, and, as there are several restaurants, if you give $15 or $20 to the head waiter of each one of them it is too much. I sweetened one head waiter, but neglected to give the autocrat of another restaurant anything. Soon I found that it was very difficult for me to get a table in that restaurant. The head waiter would always be looking another way or a table that I fancied had been engaged. I got even by giving my waiters extra big tips, and it soon got so that when I entered the restaurant half a dozen upraised fingers would beckon me. But soon the head waiter was on to my game, and it got so that almost every table offered me was claimed by the head waiter on the ground that it was reserved."—New York Sun.

Multiplying by Machinery.

The clerical staffs of many of the big insurance companies have of late years been considerably reduced by the employment of mechanical calculators. One of these, the invention of a German, is a compact little affair resembling a music box. It may be made to perform almost instantaneously the most portentous sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication by one or two factors, division, squaring and cubing. It is required, for instance, to multiply 531,975 by 924. The first factor is set by touching the little knobs representing 531,975. To multiply by the other factor you turn a handle four times, push along a slide one place and turn the handle twice, then push the slide another place onward and push the handle nine times. The long multiplication is now done without a possibility of error so far as the machine is concerned, and the dial shows 491,544,900. In the same mechanical way may be done all the other arithmetical processes.—London Globe.

Both Died as They Wished To.

Tennyson, who was a shy, reserved man, could never understand Robert Browning's love of society. He had been heard to remark that Browning would die in a white choker at a dinner party. The two poets died as they would have wished to die—Robert Browning in the grand Palazzo Ressonicco, with his son by his bed side, and Lord Tennyson in his beloved Surrey home, surrounded by his loved ones.

Spoiling the Game.

Bertie—I don't want to go to bed yet, sis. I want to see you and Mr. Shepherd play cards. Lucie—You wicked boy, to think we should do such a thing! We never do it! Bertie—But I heard mamma tell you to mind how you played your cards when Mr. Shepherd came.

SOCIAL EVENTS

ENTERTAINED

Miss Zilla Mills entertained at dinner Friday. Covers were laid for ten. A most delightful time was spent with music and good cheer.

Miss Minnie Mulvaney entertained a party of twenty of her young friends Saturday evening. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH

$125 Realized from Their Dinner and Evening Entertainment

The Ladies of St. Peter's church served a delicious dinner on New Years day, and took in $62 for dinner tickets alone. The siege on turkey was fierce and resulted in a perfect rout. No need to mention that the other good things presented to the guests were fully appreciated.

But the real delightful time was left for the evening when the dancing began. 66 couple were present. The music by Will Coller and wife was fine and kept the merry dancers tripping lightly until near the midnight hour. Light refreshments were served and the day was pronounced a great success.

ADAMS—ASHLEY

Dec 6, 1911—City Assessor Glover J. Ashley and Mrs. Jennie Adams of this city were quietly married last night at 7:30 at the home of the bride, 23 A[illegible] Street [illegible] D. Garvel of the Maple Street Methodist church performed the ceremony.

The marriage was kept very secret and this morning there were many surprised people in Battle Creek, when they were notified over the phone that the couple had been wedded and were leaving soon for a journey. While Mrs. Ashley called up her friends to bid them good-bye, Mr. Ashley telephoned to the City Hall and informed his associates there he was starting on his honeymoon trip.

They left this morning at 11:20 for a six weeks or two month trip in the West. They will visit Salt Lake City and will also go to California before returning home. They are to reside at the groom's home 28 North Michigan Avenue.

Mr. Ashley is the oldest man in the point of service on the Board of City Assessors, having held his position for the past fourteen yerrs. Both he and his bride have many friends here.

Mrs. Ashley has lived in Battle Creek for about twenty-five years, and is a member of several popular social clubs.

Mrs. Ashley was formerly Miss Jennie Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of Tecumseh, sister of W. D. Ross. Battle Creek Journal.

REMINGTON REUNION

The seventy-second annual reunion of the Remington family was held Saturday December 23, at the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmore of Macon. The rooms were very prettily decorated in red and not withstanding the bad roads covers were laid for thirty-six and a social time was enjoyed by all. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. Temple, son Fred and daughter Anna of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pennington and family of Rives Junction, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Temple and family, Misses Addie Gooding add Georgiana Conklin of Tecumseh, Mrs. H. Neeham and children of Saline, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Conklin, Misses Gretel and Irene Conklin, Mr. and Mrs Morris Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gooding, Mrs. Wilmot Collins and Miss Nellie Gooding of Macon.

A wonderful Machine.

The machine by which railway tickets are printed gives an exhibition of intelligence or what looks very like it. Railway tickets are not, as might be supposed, printed in large sheets and afterward cut up. The cardboard is cut into tickets first and printed one by one afterward. The little blank cards are put in a pile in a kind of perpendicular spout, and the machine slips a bit of metal underneath the bottom of the spout and pushes out the lowest ticket in the pile to be printed and consecutively numbered. It is of no use trying to print a bad ticket. The machine finds out an imperfect blank in an instant and flatly refuses to have anything to do with it. Tear off the corner of one of the bits of card and put it into the spout with the others in order to see what will happen and it refuses to budge again until somebody comes and removes the impostor. Pull out the damaged ticket and the mechanism will set briskly to work again.—Philadelphia Record.

When Women Carved.

In George I.'s reign it was the bounden duty of the mistress of a country house to carve for her guests. Etiquette demanded it of her, and no one might relieve her of her arduous task, not even the master. To the latter was only assigned the easy labor of passing the bottle and looking on while each joint was placed in turn before his wife or daughter, as the case might be, and by her rapidly manipulated. Carving became one of the branches of a good feminine education, and there were professional carving masters who taught the young ladies. Lady Mary Wortley Montagu took lessons in the art three times a week and on her father's public days made a practice of having her own dinner an hour or two beforehand. A guest who did not receive his portion from his hostess' own fair hands would have considered himself much aggrieved.—London Spectator.

MOSES BARTLETT

Moses Bartlett of Clinton, passed away suddenly Dec. 27th of Brights disease with dropsical tendencies.

He was sitting at the dinner table alone, when his daughter heard a fall, and going to the dining room found he had passed away.

He was 98 yrs. of age and had always been a hale, hearty man, and has been able to be upon the street until within a few weeks.

He was a man well known in Tecumseh.

He was a native of Vermont, coming to Michigan when 17 yrs. of age, living in Bridgewater until 1861, when he settled in Clinton where he resided, until the time of his death. He lived for 75 years within 15 miles of where he first made his home. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Will Eccles and Mrs. Sarah Stevens, one granddaughter, Mrs. Alex Kennedy, and two great-grandchildren, Doris and Donald.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Dean Channer of Adrian, on Friday afternoon Dec. 29 with burial in River side.

Geographical Puzzles.

"There are lots of puzzles in geography," said the geographer.

"Why, for instance, has the northern part of most countries got a reputation for being harder headed and more businesslike than the south? The Scotsman and the Yorkshireman we know. France has their counterpart in the Norman, who is distinguished for his phlegm, his energy and his business qualities, and rather pities the lazier and more hot headed south. Similarly the Prussian is the Scotsman of Germany. Northern Italy is a hive of industry, and the man from Milan regards his compatriot from Naples as a lazy and fractious child. And it always is really so, but why?

"And why, when a city stands on a river, is the northern half always far more important than the southern? Look at London, Glasgow, Newcastle, Bristol and Liverpool. The great streets and business and fashion and theater districts are always on the north bank.

"Why, too, have all the great migrations in the world's history gone westward and none east?"—London Answers.

Reasons For Pride.

There was present at a certain big dinner in England many years ago an American woman of prominence who was somewhat annoyed by a tactless Englishwoman who undertook to banter her and who said:

"I take it for granted that you have no coats of arms in your new country."

"Of course no American family could have one unless it was borrowed from English ancestry," replied the former American.

"For instance, has your family any especial cause for pride over your grandfather?" persisted this particularly tactless female cad.

Then the American woman opened up and replied as calmly as possible under the circumstances, "Not much perhaps, only that my grandfather on my mother's side received Burgoyne's sword when he surrendered at Saratoga and my grandfather on my father's side received the sword of Cornwallis at Yorktown."

Dodging Mother Meng.

Infant prodigies are not unknown in China, and Chinese Buddhists find it easy to account for them, says a correspondent of the London Chronicle. According to the doctrine of the transmigration of souls, persons passing through hades on their way to the wheel of life (which relaunches souls into the bodies of babies or animals just being born) have to cross a bridge. Before mounting the bridge they are stopped by an old hag called Meng, who, ladle in hand, compels each soul to drink a mouthful of the waters of forgetfulness, for which the popular name is Mother Meng's soup. Those who drink of this forget all that they had passed through or had known in their former life and thus on being reborn into the world are entirely ignorant. Some, however, manage to dodge Mother Meng and enter the world full of knowledge, which they display as soon as they can articulate.

A Stolen Kiss.

It seems strange that because a man steals a kiss his girl should break the engagement, but that is what a Germantown clubman is telling his associates.

"Oh, she objected seriously to my stealing a kiss," he said.

"Oh, nonsense!" interrupted one of the group. "Nell is too sensible to do a thing like that."

"But she did," the other protested. "You see, she caught me stealing it from another girl, and immediately she protested that stealing was a crime of which she certainly did not approve."—Philadelphia Times.

The Maid and the Weather

A RICHMOND woman has in her employ a colored cook who has managed to break nearly every variety of article that the household contains. The mistress's patience reached its limit recently when she discovered that the dusky servitor had broken the thermometer that hung on the house porch.

"Well, well," sighed the lady of the house; in a most resigned way, "you've managed to break even the thermometer, havn't you?"

The maid replied in a tone equally "Yessum; and now we'll have to take de weather just as it comes, won't we?"

Tecumseh People Have Found that this is True

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench.
A little cause may hurt the kidneys
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine,
A splendid remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that has cured thousands.
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true kidney remedy.

Many Tecumseh people rely on it.

Here is Tecumseh proof.

George O. Chaplin, carpenter, N. Ottawa, St., Tecumseh, Mich., says; "I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in praise of Doans Kidney Pills in December 1905. I have taken this remedy on different occasions since then and have always found that it acts as represented. My kidneys were disordered and made me miserable. Knowing of several people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with success, I obtained a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store and began their use. The results were satisfactory and I am in hopes that other kidney sufferers will profit by reading of my experience."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United Sates.

DISCREDITS ARSENIC THEORY

Brother of Alleged Poison Victim Tells of Strange Disease.

Bad Axe., Mich., Dec. 16.—Ray Sparling, brother of Cyril Sparling, for whose death Dr. Robert A. MacGregor of Ubly and Miss Margaret Gibbs of Port Huron are facing trial, apparently strengthened the cases of both defendants on the stand. Dr MacGreror was arrested on a murder charge after a coroner's jury decided that Cyril Sparling died of arsenic poisoning, and Miss Gibbs is charged with being an accessory.

The witness declared that his three brothers, Cyril, Albert and Peter, all dead, suffered from a disease, the exact nature of which he refused to disclose. He added that they took considerable medicine. Mrs. Carrie Sparling, the mother, attended the examination. She professes belief in the innocence of the doctor and nurse.

Free Sample Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the basic touble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unnecessary but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with salts and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mr. O. F. Wisher's of Sycamore, Ill. and Mrs. Carrie Culler's of 336 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

FOR BACKACHE

The Useful Verb "To Get."

There is no word, long or short, in the English language capable of performing so much labor in a clear, intelligible sense as the verb to get. And here is an old time specimen of its capabilities:

"I got on horseback within ten minutes after I got your letter. When I got to Canterbury I got a chaise for town, but I got wet through before I got to Canterbury, and I have got such a cold as I shall not be able to get rid of in a hurry. I got to the treasury about noon; but, first of all, I got shaved and dressed. I soon got into the secret of getting a memorial before the board, but I could not get an answer then. However, I got intelligence from the messenger that I should most likely get one the next morning. As soon as I got back to my inn I got my supper. When I got up in the morning I got my breakfast and then got myself dressed that I might get out in time to get an answer to my memorial. As soon as I got it I got into the first chaise and got to Canterbury by 3 o'clock, and about tea time I got home."—Ave Maria.

Problem in Gain and Loss.

A well known physician of Chicago was attending old Pat, a faithful janitor, but a querulous patient.

"Mistaken, Pat."

"Sure, I'll ask my daughter. Mary Ann, what day would it be?"

"Doctor's right, father. It's Thursday."

"Och, now, is it, then? I ask your pardon, doctor. But since it's Thursday when I thought it was Friday was I gainin' a day or losin' six? Hould on! I know, doctor; 'tis accordin' to whither this is last week or nixt"—Housekeeper.

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 25.—Nine sections compose the program for the five-year campaign for the uplift of Saginaw, which is the sequence of the four-day campaign of the Men and Religion forward movement which came to a close in Saginaw several days ago.

Training an Elephant.

In training the elephant to perform tricks advantage is taken of the fact that the feet of the animal are peculiarly sensitive and he dreads any injury to them. Many of his tricks are based upon this principle. Thus he is made to place one foot upon a low pedestal; then the other foot is tapped gently, and he raises this and places it beside the other—to get it out of harm's way. The hind feet are treated similarly in turn, the front feet being hit every time they are placed on the ground. In this way all four feet are finally placed upon the tub. The trick of inducing an elephant to partake of a meal is very simple. Animals will naturally eat anything placed before them, and it is only necessary to open a bottle of "pop" once or twice and present it by hand when the animal may be trusted to find out for himself how to get at its contents. In all such cases the essence of the training consists in infinite patience, kindness and constant repetition, showing the animal over and over again how a thing is done in precisely the same way and then forcing him to do it himself.—Scientific American.
